

General assembly today

On January 31, '73, there will be a General Assembly held in the Auditorium. The purpose of this assembly is to amend the various articles in the NAITSA Constitution.

Article 1 (a) reads:

Eight or nine month courses including welding - $30.00 of which $6.00 will go towards athletics.

Amended to:

Eight or nine month courses including welding - $30.00 of which $10.00 will go towards athletics.

Article 1 (b) reads:

Day courses over 10 weeks - $30.00. $6.00 of which will go towards athletics.

Amended to:

Day courses over 10 weeks - $30.00. $10.00 of which will go towards athletics.

Article 4 (a) reads:

Student's Council or Council shall mean the bona-fide representatives of DEPARTMENTAL clubs which participate in Student's Council meetings, plus the elected members of the Board. Each council member shall represent one vote on all matters brought before council.

Amended to:

Student's Council or Council shall mean the bona-fide representatives of TECHNOLOGY clubs which participate in Student's Council meetings: brought before Council.

Article 5 reads:

Meetings of the Council shall be called by six day's notice in writing, mailed to each member. Any 10 members shall constitute a quorum.

Amended to:

Meetings of the Council shall be called by six day's notice. Any 10 members other than the elected executive shall constitute a quorum.

Article 15 (b) reads:

$150.00 plus tuition for Vice President, Treasurer, Secretary, Activities Chairman, and Publications Chairman. The $300 payable in February and the tuition payable in September.

Amended to:

$300.00 plus tuitions for Vice President, Treasurer, Secretary, Activities Chairman, Athletic Chairman, and Publications Chairman. The $150.00 payable in February and the tuition payable in September.

Addition to article 24 (g):

All nominees must have an average of 60 percent or better in their academic studies.

Article 26 reads:

The Board through the Secretary shall submit all nominations to the President of the Institute for his approval, within 24 hours after nominations are closed.

Amended to:

The Board through the Secretary shall submit all nominations to the President of the Institute for his academic approval within 24 hours after nominations are closed.

Addition to Article 30 (a):

Re: Athletic Board.

The books, accounts and records of the Athletic Board may be inspected by any member of the Executive or of the Society at any time upon giving reasonable notice.

NOTE: There will be a motion made by the Publications Committee regarding advertising commissions be paid to the Editor of the NUGGET.

These above are the proposed amendments. Explanations of the amendments will be given on the 31st of January at the General Assembly in the Auditorium.

Anyone who wishes to have a copy of the NAITSA Constitution may get them from the Student's Executive offices (E-133) or Student's Services (E-134). These changes are proposed for the betterment of the Society and it cannot be made without the support of the student body. Please attend the assembly, as we need 200 people to constitute a quorum.

Stan Kwong,
President,
NAITSA.

THE LAST NUGGET

Wednesday, JANUARY 31, 1973

Issue 17

Volume Eight

The Nugget Newspaper Staff decided yesterday, to make this edition of the Nugget their last ~~NAITSA~~ regular edition for the 1972-73 Publication year.

The decision was reached after Dale Harsh, Nugget Editor, resigned from his position because of lack of support from the Student Body.

In an interview with the staff last evening, he said that all attempts to gain staff from the student body seemed futile and that continuing as the sixth Editor of the Nugget would be personally damaging under present conditions. He went on to mention that those 'present conditions' were not tolerable for the almost non-existent staff.

Brent Stumph, Sports Editor, (since Issue One) spoke words of wisdom about disbanding the NUGGET with... "Okay, okay, sure, GREAT". And when asked his opinion about Dale Harsh's resignation he exclaimed in disbelief "did Dale quit?"

Arthur Allen said "I'll be back at ten O'clock" and went on... "which is true, I'll be coming back at ten to do my corrections for the column"

Mark Farrel explained "It's not what a lot of people think it is". "Rome wasn't built in a day, and it took a lot of people a little time...." "to do it...". "like, sure, I do have a lot more I'd like to say..." "like, how can I say it?" "like who's going to listen?" "Like, it isn't worth it".

Dave Borynec, Layout Editor, was overjoyed. "Now I'll have a lot more time to invest in my course. A four page rag every week should take almost no time at all. Ads will take care of that..." "Hell, screw it, let's go to the bar like the rest of the dudes around NAIT".

"Ahem", said Keith Russel, one of our graffiti men, "I'll have to go all the way to the South Side now to pick Howard up for a beer at the K-wing ~~room~~, but that's okay, I'll manage somehow".

M. Jerry Sedmack, NAITSA Sports Rep, said "far out".

Milton Taylor, PR ossifer, said "ah shit... And I was just getting the 'All That Fits' column together." "At this time I would like to thank all the Student Body for all the help on the way down".

Kathleen McConagy, Publications Chairwoman was quite serious in saying "well, I'm getting married anyways".

Yearbook Editor, Les Biri, said "now we'll really take some pictures". We expect he was anticipating the leftover NUGGET funds to be transferred to the Yearbook account.

2"QUITE SIMPLY, without getting to specifics, THE STUDENT EXECUTIVE AND SOME CLOSELY ASSOCIATED CLUBS AREN'T GETTING THE SUPPORT FOR SOME OF THEIR NECESSARY OPERATIONS. NAITSA ISN'T VERY TOGETHER AND RE*ORGANIZATION IS DUE, NOT ONLY IN THE NUGGET, BUT ALSO IN NAITSA AND IN STUDENT RELATIONS WITH THE ADMINISTRATION.

The NUGGET situation continues with the Editorial on page two...

Queen week

Queen Week at NAIT for 1973 was held the week of Jan. 15-19. There were six contestants this year being represented by different technologies throughout NAIT.

The Queen candidates were:

Betty Desrosiers, sponsored by Plastics - Materials Technologies
Suzanne Perras, sponsored by RTA and Photography.
Jill Douglas, sponsored by Electronics.
Kim Davies, sponsored by Drafting.
Jane Robinson, sponsored by Marketing.
Jocelyn Klassen, sponsored by Business Admin.

Queen Week activities kicked off on Monday with a pie eating contest and a tug of war. Tuesday brought on a Queen Painting competition and a pyramid building contest, which was held in the gym. Wednesday was the fashion show and the Queen tea.

Thanks is extended to the Bay for their kind assistance in supplying the fashions (which are available at all three stores) and to the "Diamond Mine" for their fine jewelry showing.

The fashion show was made possible through the efforts of two of last year's Marketing grads, Kathy Von Kliest, Sue Nueman and Kathy Burch of second year Marketing.

Artistic ability found itself at work on the ice statues, which were in the process of being completed for Thursday evening. Also on Thursday, the student body showed its democratic powers by voting for their favorite queen. In all, 820 ballots were cast, with 57 spoiled.

Friday was an uneventful day as preparations were made for the Queen Ball. It was well attended and an extremely good time was had by one and all. The crowning took place at about 11:00 with Mr. Carter presiding. The first runner-up was Jill Douglas, and Miss Congeniality (as chosen by the girls) was Suzanne Perras.

Deanna Korbisser, Miss NAIT 1972 then relinquished her position to Miss NAIT 1973, Kim Davies.

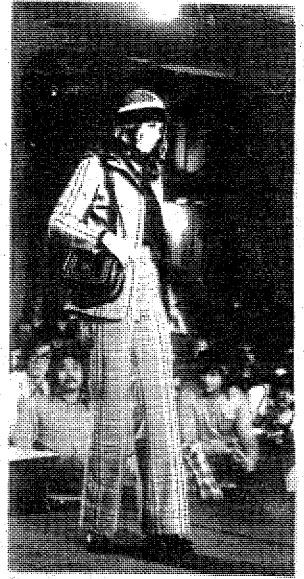

It should be understood that there are three different factors which determine the final outcome of the contest: The contest is not won by beauty alone. Queen Week is based on a point accumulation:

- 30% - participation of the sponsoring tech.
- 40% - competition between the candidates themselves.
- 30% - popular student vote.

As such, no one factor can determine the winner of the competition as shown by the very close results in this year's contest. The success of Queen Week depends upon the participation of the student body as a whole.

In conclusion, Queen Week involves a great amount of work, time and effort by many people. Gerry Gurba outdid himself this year to make it a success, and thanks are again extended to all the rest of the people who helped make Queen Week '73 what it was.

Arthur Alan

It seems that Instrumentation is still hanging onto the Challenge Cup with relative ease. If some technology doesn't get it together soon and come up with a good challenge for them, Instrumentation may get the idea that they're unbeatable. All a technology has to do is think up a good contest to challenge them to such as, how many plates of chips and gravy they can eat, or how many dimes they can lose in the food vending machines, or how many times they can park in the visitor's parking lot without being caught, or how many pieces of silverware they can steal from the cafeteria, or how many times they can get into the Kingsway from 8 - 10 PM without waiting in the line up. There are many contests to choose from, so pick a good one and get out there and please beat Instrumentation.

We may be thankful at N.A.I.T. for having such a student president as Stan Kwong. We could have one like the student president at Mount Royal College who was recently busted on a number of charges. It's not that Stan is angelic, it's just that he never gets caught. Has anyone noticed Stan Kwong's hair of late? Yes it certainly is curly and he has had a permanent. Of course knowing he has a black sash in gung-fu, who's going to say anything? I will. It looks cute Stan.

And who is that dashing well-dressed figure hanging around the student executive offices these days? Why it's Conrad Sirdiak, the student treasurer with a pile of new clothes. He confessed that there's a very good reason for his change from jeans to his suave attire of suits. He's sophisticated now.

The last student council meeting on Wednesday, January 24th was taken up mostly with announcements. The student council executive announced that the student ride board will be in operation soon, as the last problem in getting it organized has finally been surmounted. The cards that were ordered for the board were too big, so the executive got together to find a solution. After three meetings, five sub committee assemblies, two group seminars, seven royal commissions and thirteen petitions to the president, the executive has finally decided to cut the cards smaller to get the ride board in operation. Yea student executive.

The P.R. department announced that if anyone wants to announce anything in the Nugget, all they have to do is announce it to the P.R. Department by filling out an announcement form which will then be announced in the announcement section of the Nugget. The Yearbook staff announced that if anyone has any pictures concerning N.A.I.T., they should take them to the Yearbook office, and they will be published in the Yearbook. The funniest announcement however, came from the Commercial Cooking. They announced that they're angry about remarks made in this column, and by students in general several weeks ago about the pollution in the cafeteria. These poor boys in Commercial Cooking got their feelings hurt a little, so will everyone please stand up, salute the cafeteria kitchen, say you're sorry and refrain from making any comments about the food, because we don't want to hurt those poor boys feelings again, do we?

And isn't it about time people started cold turkeying everyone in the halls again?

NUGGET STAFF FOUND

Late Saturday night, the entire NAIT NUGGET staff was found immediately outside the Avonair Curling Club. Sgt. Johnson, upon making his regular rounds of the South Parking Lot, discovered the NUGGET staff, several portions of typing machinery, and part of what seemed to be the door to E128. An investigation will be held by city police.

just another pretty face

Following Queen Week recount, a recount of the votes produced a startling upset when it was discovered that the unknown Miss Bio-Science who was running secretly was the true winner. The reason she was not seen during the week, was because she was kidnapped by a raping motor-cycle gang and only recently decided to let them go!

When caught with her pants down, 'Miss Bio-Science' replied, "My girdle is killing me."

When it was discovered that 'Miss Bio-Science' had won, she was given a standing Ovation by the entire Biological Sciences group.

Credit goes to:

Kim Davies (real 'NAIT Queen') for flowers, crown banner and good humor.

Janice Jarema for the dress and bra (?).

Donna Kimball for the see-through panties.

Cliff Milroy for many hours of work. (Some of which were for the pictures).

Malcolm Orr for unknown reasons!!!!

AIT UNKNOWN QUEENS.

Mr. (?) Nicholas Kotyk

Mr. Nicholas could very well be the next NAIT Queen. The only competition he could get could be from objections from other candidates. Something about him being a natural beauty. Here is a complete resume of a truly great guy (?).

Born in Foam Lake Saskatchewan on Oct. 8th '50, he attended Foam Lake Elementary School from grades one to four in the humility of small town Saskatchewan. His further education was in Edmonton, becoming aware of the big city through the two years at Montrose School and continuing to Baldwin School for two years applying himself to finally become a High School student at Queen 'E'.

After the years of high school, and the wonderlust of a questioning young man, he suffered through eight months of work at Simpson Sears to travel the expanse of America. He lived in Detroit working, but circumstances found him unemployed the next year. Being able to straighten himself out, he moved back to Edmonton and worked at Greenhouses, poultry farms and when the opportunity came, he went back to high school to win qualification for the Alberta Ecology Corps. In the AEC, he was at McLennan and worked three months after which Nick was back in Edmonton working at greenhouses, printers and the Post Office. He quit his job at the Edmonton Bulliten to study at NAIT in Electronics. The Electronic technology stifled the urge to become an expression of what he is. Mr. Nicholas Kotyk is now in RTA; a field that gave him a true expression....

"To be able to know why and what you're doing can only bring you happiness. You have your beliefs and I have mine. I bend as much as possible to accept your views and shall not ask you to accept mine. Love is all. You have to have it. I have no intention of hurting anyone. If I hurt anyone, it will only hurt me more. You know what it is like to have a practical joke backfire?"

"So I shall flow. When I find where I am, I shall rejoice but until then, I shall remain mellow."

"You can't go looking for what you want and it won't come to you. I like what I'm doing. I enjoy going to NAIT very much. I made the decision to either quit school or to get into RTA. I am very happy that I was able to make the transfer. Being able to play Radio is a lot of fun. It's funny how things work out though. People's attitude toward different things. No matter where you go in life, if you are having a good time, someone has to spoil it. A person could have the best job in the world, but if he works with steps best job in the world, but if person he works with steps the way, it no longer is good.

Someday I hope to play at real radio station. Until then, I shall flow.

Music is a reflection of person. I mainly listen to music which is pleasant to the ear. I really don't care who wrote or who sings it. If a song has anything to say, it applies to me as I listen to it. It may be just one particular verse in an entirely bad song, but I will listen for what it says to me. Treat your music very carefully.

My weakness is pretty. Let that speak for itself. I can't change the world, but I can talk to my friends. I find it easier to communicate to one person at a time. At you know that they're listening. So just let it flow and time will come."

Records

BELOW THE SALT - STEELEYE SPAN (CHR - 1008)

Having a particular aversion to traditional English folk music reviewing Steeleye Span's newest album does pose a problem. Below The Salt, Steeleye Span's second album, is a modernization, however slight, of old English ballads, some of which are 600 years old.

SALT an interesting album despite the content, probably because some life, both musically and vocally, has been breathed into songs which are usually monotonous derges. The songs all have their roots in old English ballads and folk collections with credit being given to the source of each particular selection. EG. "Royal Forester, subtitled the Aborigines Meets Superwoman. The first English text appeared in Anchovy Ram's elementary drum tutor, Halfway To Paradise, published in 1293.

Maddy Prior, who sounds a bit like Joni Mitchell, provides vocals with everything from mandolin to tabor as back-up instruments. It is because of the face-lifting and production that Steeleye Span gives these selections, that makes them bearable, if not enjoyable, though purists will probably shake in their silk stockings and knickers. So draw ye up the bridge, grab a cup of mead and slap Steeleye Span on the Victrola to warm those cold, lonely nights in the castle.

GYPSY COWBOY - New Riders of the Purple Sage (COL. KC 31930)

Many rock bands nowadays are jumping on the country and western bandwagon. The New Riders of the Purple Sage, however, are the band, and the wagon for that matter. Belonging to the Grateful Dead family of musicians it is only natural that the music of NRPS is related to that of the Dead. The New Riders though have added nothing to country music other than quality. They play it as it should be played, naturally without any pretentious inflections.

NRPS consists of John Dawson (vocals, rhythm guitar, guiding light) David Nelson (lead dobro and mandolin) Dave Torbert (bass) Buddy Gage (pedal steel) and Spencer Dryden (percussion & drums). Spencer Dryden is the former drummer for the Jefferson Airplane wisely riding with the purple sage after the airplane started having trouble getting off the ground. Buddy Gage, pedal steel extraordinaire, paid his dues in the Great Speckled Bird before becoming a full fledged Rider on the last album.

GYPSY COWBOY is NRPS' third album and is a digression, rather than a progression, for the better. Their first album, their best, featuring the San Francisco guru Jerry Garcia on pedal steel was country and western music pure and simple. POWERGLIDE, the second album, was an experiment in country rock with the accent on rock, an idiom better left to lesser groups.

On GYPSY COWBOY NRPS have returned to what they do best. GYPSY COWBOY has all the advantages of country music without the usual accepted disadvantages; nauseous vocals, simplistic chord structures and banal lyrics. The New Riders have separated and churned country and western music into a sound that is smooth as cream and above all pleasing. GYPSY COWBOY also comes a long way in achieving technical parity with England. The New Riders along with Harry Nilsson are turning out some of the most finely produced albums this side of the big pond. If the Byrds had only known what they started with SWEETHEART OF THE RODEO. □□□□□ A. Bialowas

SON OF SCHMILSSON - Harry Nilsson (RCA LSPX 4717)

SON OF SCHMILSSON is without a question Nilsson's most commercial release. It borders on being overproduced and unlike NILSSON SCHMILSSON exploits the resources of the studio. Like NILSSON SCHMILSSON it boasts an array of impressive guest stars. Included on 8 of the 11 tracks is Nicky Hopkins on keyboards, plus Paul Buckmaster, Klaus Voorman, and "George Harrysong" (slide guitar on you're breakin' my heart).

Most of the songs are immersed in nostalgia and sentimentality, the blatant example being REMEMBER (CHRISTMAS) which once and for all proves Nilsson as being a singer's singer. The album's opener, TAKE 54, is a hard rocker in which Harry semi-comically complains about the difficulty of making a hit record without having a bit of loving inspiration close at hand. YOU'RE BREAKIN' MY HEART which closes the first side rubs RCA's nose with the fact that "I'm so popular I can say fuck on record and you can't do a thing about it." Don't count on hearing this song on AM radio, though. Side two commences with SPACE MAN, a song about a lost astronaut in orbit, which more than equals Elton John's ROCKET MAN. The worst cut on the album is JOY a vain attempt to satirize country 'n western music. Not far behind is the LP's closer, THE MOST BEAUTIFUL WORLD IN THE WORLD, which coupled with overlush orchestration and inane lyrics makes for a most embarrassing, second rate Beatles GOOD NIGHT.

Hopefully with this release Nilsson has gotten musical satire out of his blood (take a look at the cover) and will once again return to the non-pretentious days of NILSSON SINGS NEWMAN where it was the singer, not the song, which made the album.

It seems that everyone is either on strike, or boycotting someone these days. You can't buy a Kraft product for fear of incurring the wrath of farmers and so-called "concerned" students. They complain that Kraft has a monopoly on the cheese markets. We've got our own monopoly right here in Edmonton! Both the junior and professional teams are directed by the same man, Bill Hunter. We are constantly bombarded in the press by promises of "exciting junior action" and "major league hockey". Contrary to what Bill would like you to believe, there are other teams and leagues in the city. On December 1st, before 3,000 howling fans the U of A Golden Bears bombed the Oil Kings 10 to 1. A favorite past-time of the crowd was baiting Brian Shaw with choruses of "ass-hole Shaw!". It was a comfort to me to hear that many other people don't care for Shaw's "style". The myth of Hunter's hockey supremacy is over! Throw off your chains of oppression and tell Bill Hunter where to stick his six bucks. I am forming a "Boycott Bill Hunter Committee". Workers; there are other teams to support in town. The U of A Golden Bears are in first place in the Western Collegiate League. They play a fine, fast and clean brand of hockey, and their matches are usually announced somewhere in the Journal. Last winter, 'ol Bill and his pals pulled the financial support out from under the Motor City Maple Leafs (I guess to pay Jim Harrison his contract) The Leafs went belly-up and were soon followed by the cities other junior team, the Movers. Somehow, players and supporters of both clubs got together to form the Edmonton Mets of the AJHL. They play at the JP arena, and again watch the Journal for games. If Hunter is so concerned about being "community minded", why does he have his farm team in Penticton B.C.? There are numerous other amateur leagues in the city, who play for the love of the game, not six dollars! If you can remain blind to the politics, there's always minor hockey on the rink just down the block. And so, comrades, there are alternatives to the hockey of Czar Hunter and his mad monk Shaw. You just have to care enough to look...

For those of you who still enjoy following the Oilers, they had one of their typical up-and-down weeks. Monday night, leading 3 to 1, most of the 2,700 fans were holding their breath. The

Oiler toughy

Everyone knows who the Oiler's GM is, dynamic Bill Hunter. Fortunately for Dwayne Egert, Accounting & Finance, his entry was the first one drawn and he won the two Oiler Tickets to the Oiler-New York Raider's game this Thursday at the Gardens.

This weeks question is a real toughy.

What is the combined total age of all the players on the Oilers?

The closest answer will win, so get out your thinking caps or Ouija boards, and try to figure out a reasonable estimate.

The Oilers have a double-header this week against the Raiders, and this weekend Bobby Hull and his Winnipeg Jets come to town. Get your tickets early for that one.

Oilers have been known to blow 2,3 even 4 goal leads with ease. Such was not the case, as the boys played a solid third period and coasted to a well-earned 6 to 1 win over Chicago Saturday night. The vastly improved Philadelphia Blazers moved into town for a weekend set. Without Derek Sanderson, they are a young but promising defensive team. Jack Norris and Bernie Parent traded fine performances through 60 minutes of scoreless play. The game was tight checking with Blazers outshooting Alberta 34 to 23. Danny Lawson waltzed in alone at 2:38 of overtime and beat Norris for his 39th goal. After playing a good game, the Oilers still lose.

Twenty-four hours later, the team played another improving game, as they won 4 to 2 with the help of a starry performance from Mr. Norris. The defence continued to make glaring mistakes and take cheap penalties, but it's a win and two more points.

This isn't sports, but after 25 years of fighting, Vietnam has a shaky ceasefire. Tricky Dick, in one move, has brought the remaining troops home (or sent them to Laos) and ended the draft. If Nixon sticks to his word, and the ceasefire turns into some semblance of peace, he will become the first American President to lose a war gracefully.

THE Referendum

Last year the NAITSA executive reviewed the financial status of the various departments within itself. It was recognized that an increase in fees was necessary. It appeared that NAITSA needed about 4 additional dollars per person to go towards its general fund, used by all departments except the athletic board.

But the lack of funds was first experienced by the Athletic

Hockey Ooks lose in the net

Calgary is 200 miles to the south of Edmonton. It's a nice drive unless, unless you're a NAIT Ookpik.

In their last series of games, before this weekend, the Ooks played the kind of hockey they have had the potential of playing all year. In Calgary, however, it seems that when it rains it pours. For the Ookpiks it poured pucks!

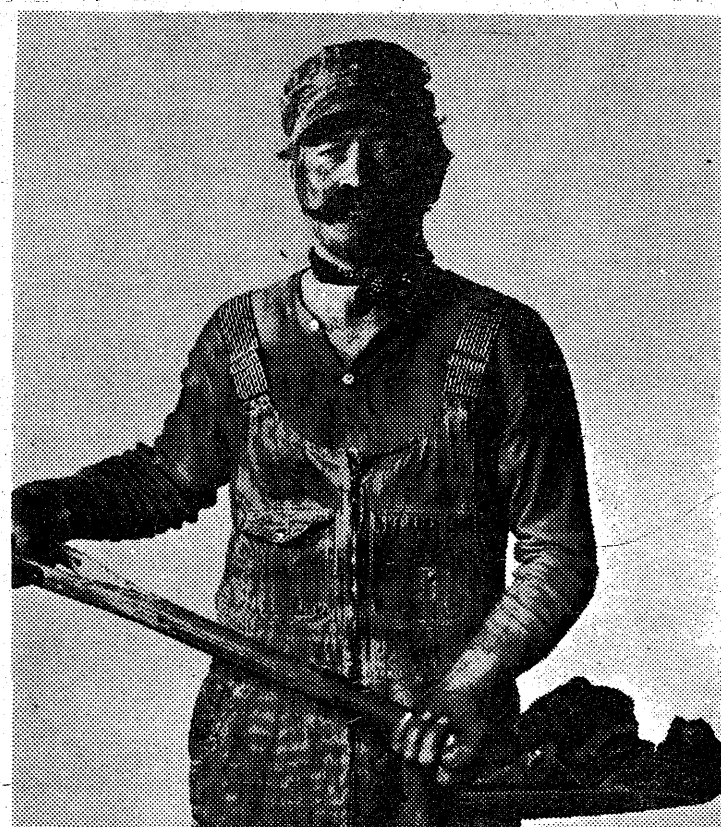

In the game Friday against SAIT, it was SAIT 8, NAIT 3. The Ooks couldn't do anything right. Even though they controlled the puck and most of the game, they just couldn't find the net. SAIT obviously had no trouble.

Mount Royal bombed NAIT 12-0 in a game plagued with Ookpik injuries. Playing with no more than nine players for the last period and a half, the team couldn't hold off the powerful Cougars. With only nine healthy bodies though, very few teams could hold off anybody.

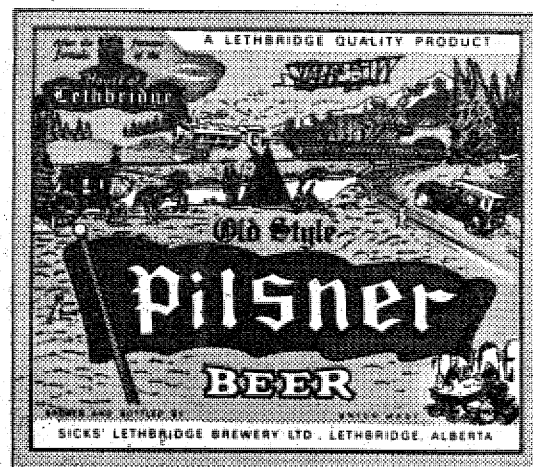

Even withstanding these losses, the Ooks can still make the playoffs. Third place is now out of reach but fourth spot should belong to NAIT by season's end.

This Friday, SAIT is in town as guests of the Ooks, in their last home game of the regular season. Game time is 3:00, at Grand Trunk Arena. This is your Hockey team, so lets go out and give them the support they have deserved so much this year.

ON TO THE PLAYOFFS!!!

Lopsided Murderball victory

Murder Ball is not, as the name suggests, a game where opponents try to murder or kill each other....they just try to cripple them for life!

Such was the case in the Murder Ball game for the Challenge Cup that saw the weak Administrative Management team unmercifully beaten by Instrumentation. The final score was about 13-0, but no one really knows for sure because after a while it got hard to keep track of all Instrument's points.

Because of the lack of any good conduct rules, both teams were as dirty and mean as possible, resulting in a little lost blood, sore muscles, bruises on top of bruises and seemingly broken bones, on both sides.

The Administrative Management team lost mainly because of a lack of support. Only SEVEN brave lads dared to compete against some of the more obese members of the Instrumentation squad, which was somewhat of a disappointment, seeing as how Administrative Management belongs to Business Administration, which is by far the largest tech. in the Institute. Shame on you Business Admin!

Volleyball Oaks show well

The first ACAC Volleyball Tournament was held this weekend, the Men's team winning it all and the Ladies placing fourth.

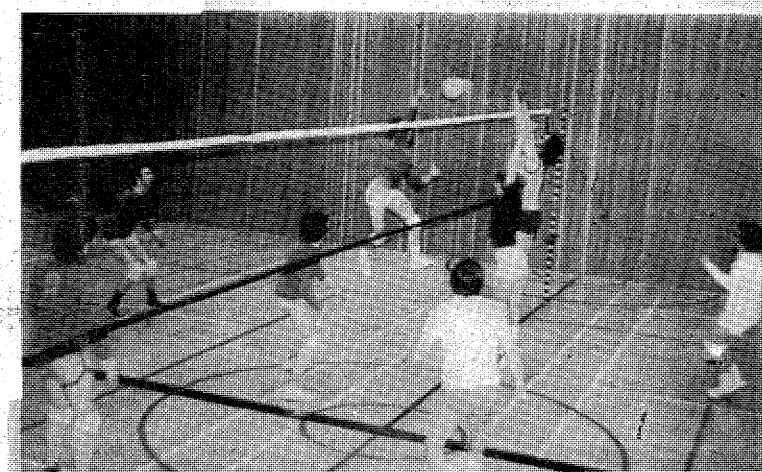

The Men's tourney saw eight teams from the colleges and institutes in the ACAC league, competing in a double round-robin event at Victoria Composite High School. Playing some of the best volleyball that league has ever seen, the Oaks won 12 of their 14 games, to take top spot. Mount Royal was next with 11, then came Lethbridge with 9, Olds and Medicine Hat with 7 each, Red Deer with 5, SAIT with 3 and Camrose with 2. The Oaks lost once each to Olds and Mount Royal, winning the rest with ease.

In the Women's Tourney, held here at NAIT, the same colleges were represented, except for Lethbridge. Medicine Hat won that one without losing a game. They never really had any serious challengers throughout the tournament. Mount Royal was second, Red Deer third, NAIT and Camrose tied for fourth and SAIT and Olds tied for sixth. The Oopkikettes won 5 of their 12 games.

In keeping with their usual style of play, the Basketball Oaks went cold. This time it was against SAIT. After a 41-28 half time score, favoring NAIT, the Oopkiks decided it was time for a rest, and in the first ten minutes of the second half, SAIT was able to catch, and pass, NAIT's hoop score. With two minutes to go the Oaks were 4 points up, but SAIT again passed them and led by two with only 10 seconds remaining. After valiant shooting attempts at the basket, NAIT couldn't put it thru and Calgary managing two more points before the buzzer, won 67-63.

Roman Vovtiesenhausen, was NAIT's top scorer with 22 points.

Saturday's game wasn't much better. After shooting only 17% in the first half, the Oaks were down 32-17 to the Mount Royal Cougars. The second half was played much better, as NAIT got hot and narrowed the gap substantially. Final score was 70-61, with time running out on the Oaks. John Jenner played what was his best game of the season, getting 26 points (a personal best) to lead the NAIT squad in scor-

Coach Owchar's Basketball Oaks still have a chance, however slim, of making the playoffs. With a 4-9 win-loss record it doesn't seem too likely, but if the right teams lose there's still that chance.

Our Women's Basketball team was also in Calgary over the weekend and they split their games. The first was a win against SAIT, 46-41. Brenda Brown got 22 points in that one. Something must have happened after that though, because the next game was a 56-18 disaster, with Mount Royal winning too easily.

Referendum

erate under that financial situation, so it was proposed that a $4 per person increase also be included. This $4 per person would go to the Athletic Board to be used only for sport's expenditures. That's why a positive vote is so important at the General Assembly Vote on the total $8 increase ($4 for NAITSA and $4 for the Athletic Board) The Athletic board DESPERATELY needs the money.

The problem that had arrived, which this referendum will rectify, is the fact that on the ballot sheet last year, all it stated was that there would be an $8 increase in fees for NAITSA, but it was understood that $4 only was to go to NAITSA and $4 to athletics. The $8 fee increase was voted in by the Student body. The problem is that the Athletic Board will NOT be getting the $4 because it was not specified on the ballot. Consequently, we have to rectify this on Wednesday. Remember, this is NOT a fee increase. The money is there, but in order for it to be given to the Athletic Board, it has to be incorporated into the Constitution.

All you will be voting on is a Constitutional change. You will have a chance to ask any questions about how your money is being spent and why this money ($4) is being reallocated.

Tomorrow, during Common Hour, in the Auditorium, you will have a chance to find out just what is going on and most important of all, you will be able to vote.

-Discussion of the new Activities building is also on the agenda.

More Intramural news

Men's Intramural Volleyball has ended, with Telecomm defeating Earth Resources 20-19 in an extremely close game, as can be seen by the score.

In Men's Archery, Ray Neumeyer, H. Fried, Larry St. Jean and Claude Uzelen finished in that order with scores of 128, 118, 115, and 114. Neumeyer, Fried and St. Jean are all from Forestry which makes one think that prowess with a bow and arrow is a prerequisite for that tech. Uzelen is from Earth Res.

In Women's Archery, after the first of two rounds, Colleen Fenwick (Architecture) leads with 39 points, Carol Carter (Chem) is next with 27 and Carol McDonnell (Chem) is 3rd with 21. The next round is not until next month.
