

War Resistor Information Program

Draft dodgers and Military AWOLs from the Vietnam War era should contact W.R.I.P. on Winnipeg immediately if they wish to clarify their legal status and attempt to have their charges, (if charges still exist), dismissed at no charge to them, said Tim Maloney.

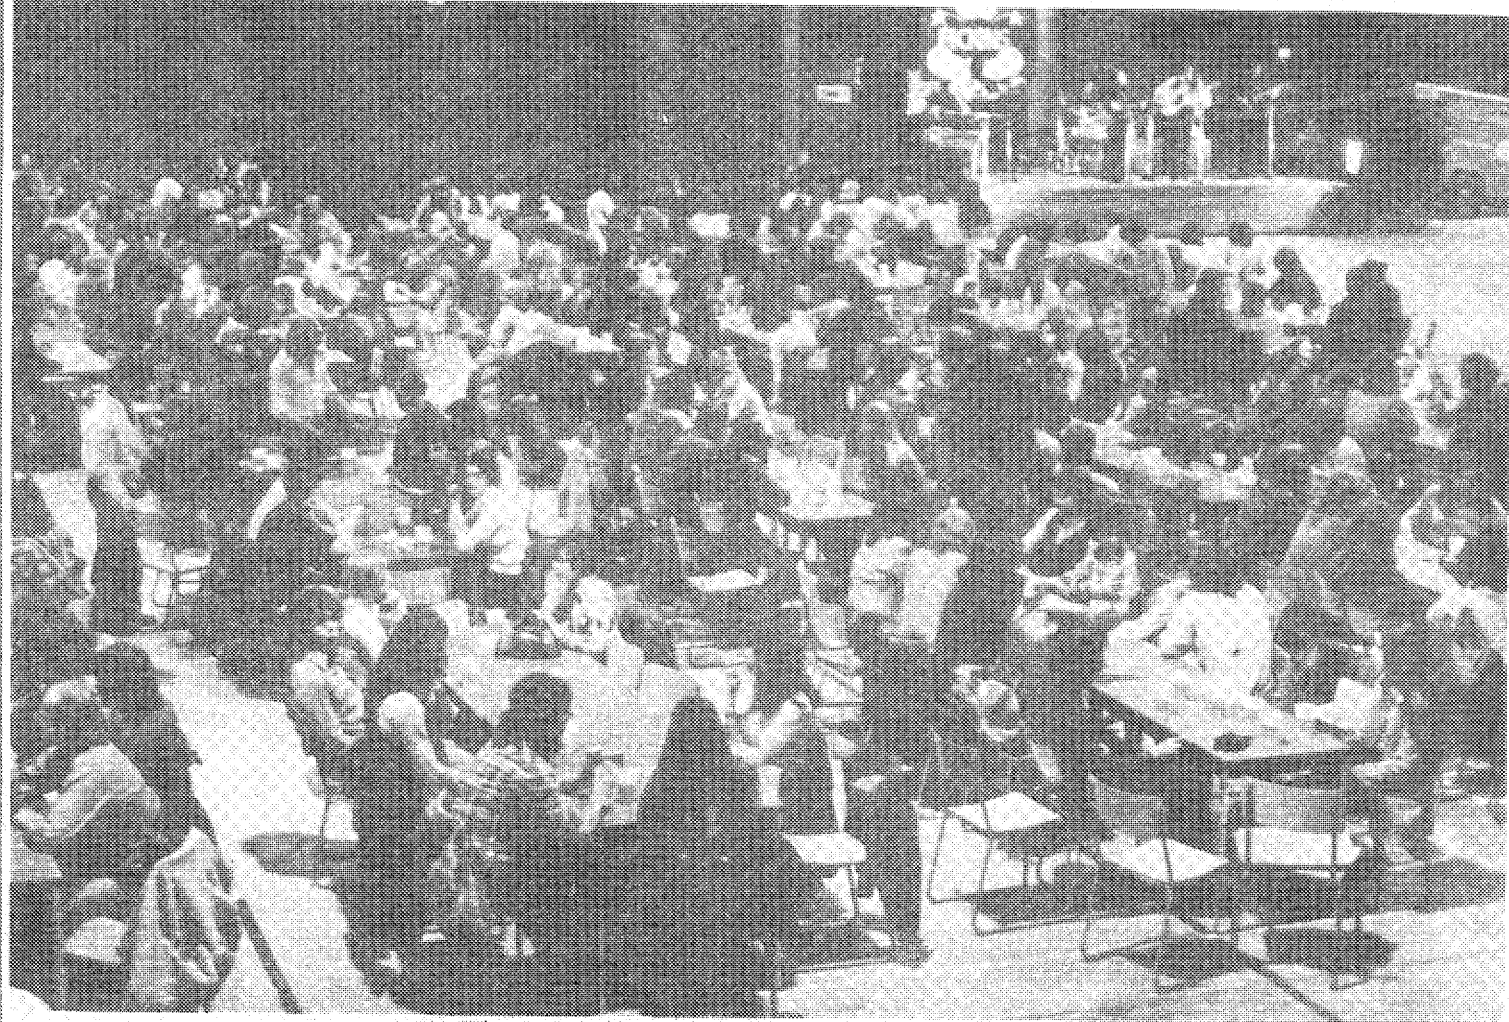

Because President Ford's Clemency Program was proven not applicable to war resisters in Canada, the National Council of Churches in New York has undertaken their own program of reconciliation, he stated.

Four counselling centres have been set up in Canada as well as two draft counselling centres and one Military counselling centre in the US. They are staffed by full-time lawyers and counsellors.

Most of the draft charges can be dismissed while the men remain in Canada, and administrative discharges are available for most AWOL's which would only require a safe, short-term visit to certain military bases, he added.

An interesting figure that was revealed by Mr. Maloney, is that of the 192,000 men who evaded the draft, only 4,400 men are still under investigation or indictment for a Selective Service violation. This means, he said, that thousands of men are living needlessly in exile as they are unaware that they no longer face prosecution. WRIP has the official list of men who are wanted. To determine their legal status war resisters in Alberta and Saskatchewan should phone WRIP COLLECT at (204) 774-9323.

Mr. Maloney repeated, that if the men are still wanted in the US, an analysis of their Selective Service file by WRIP's lawyers can lead to dismissal of their charges. The reason that so many of the draft evaders are no longer wanted is because the personnel employed by the Draft Board did not fully understand the complex Selective Service Law and therefore committed legal and procedural errors that would render it impossible for a US attorney to prosecute. For Military AWOLs an analysis of their files has sometimes lead to men receiving honorable discharges and they are thus free from prosecution.

WRIP has been performing this function for the past 6 months, so as to reunite those men who opposed the war in Indochina with their families, though the men merely want to visit in the US. Of the 1,500 men who have contacted WRIP, 750 no longer face prosecution in the US. The rest of the cases are still pending.

In addition Mr. Maloney said, WRIP is also building a unified body of supporters to fight for a universal and unconditional amnesty.

BINGO

Has the Provincial government finally allowed Bingo in the Activities Centre? It looks like it, but actually you're looking at the crowd on hand for another NAITSA first . . . the Beerfest. One thousand boozers piled into the multi-purpose area (sometimes known as the arena) to laugh to MacLean and MacLean, dance to Pickins and drink beer.

For the MacLeans, it was their fourth appearance here at NAIT this year, but they still haven't lost their loyal NAIT fans who laugh at every joke, no matter how many times they've heard it. Pickins visited NAIT for the first time, and were enjoyed by all, especially the country-rock freaks. And of course, one can never say enough about that beautiful brown elixir, that barley brew of the gods . . . BEER! For more pics turn to page seven.

Floorhockey Ooks enter city final

The high flying Ooks came out victorious this weekend with another two wins. The team now enters the city final - a best of three series - on Thursday.

Originally scheduled to play in a three team round-robin with the Beverly Barbarians and the Flames, the Ooks ended up playing a two game series with the Flames.

The series began with three teams and had the Barbarians playing against the Flames last Thursday. In the third period of that game with what seemed like a Barbarian victory ended with the Barbarians being thrown out of the play-offs. What had seemed to most, at the Thursday game, like a good call by chemotherapy will not replace radiation treatment in the near future, there is a possibility that a new and better treatment for cancer will be found. At this time, there are eleven or twelve advanced human tumors which can be treated by drugs and surgery, usually very successfully.

The one problem with chemotherapy drugs is that they are toxic, and while killing cancer they also kill healthy cells in the body.

Tremendous outlays of money are being spent on cancer research. In 1974, $5,296,988 was spent. This year, 1975, $6,036,551 will go towards finding a cure.

Chemotherapy offers hope in cancer research

By SUE COLLINS

The Canadian Cancer Society held its 5th Annual Cancer Society Lecture on Thursday, April 10 at the University of Alberta. The public lecture - "The Present Status and Future Promise of Cancer Chemotherapy" - was presented by Dr. Frank M. Schabel Jr., Director of Chemotherapy Research at the Southern Research Institute in Birmingham, Alabama.

Dr. Schabel was born in Great Falls, Montana in 1918. He received a Doctor of Philosophy degree in Bacteriology and Parasitology from the University of Chicago in 1950 and joined the Southern Research Institute in 1951.

In 1968, he became Associate Professor of Experimental Pathology and in 1972, Professor Chemotherapy is a very new field of medicine. 30 years ago it was thought that cancer could not be treated by drugs or chemotherapy. Although

Abortion seminar gives understanding of controversy

Very few people seem to understand the Abortion controversy - yet we continue to hear about it daily. There seems to be no greater problem or opportunity in our world today than that of sustaining human life itself.

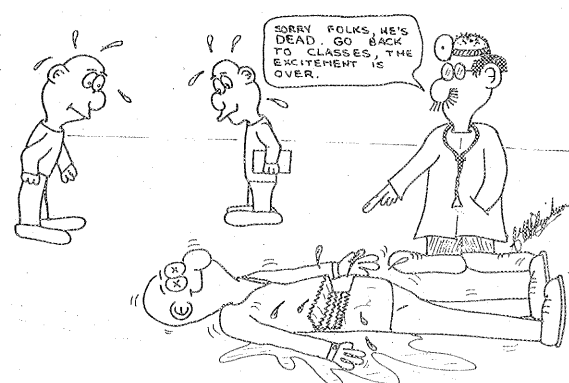

There will be an Open Seminar on Abortion, featuring the topic "Life: A Right or a Privilege."

Speaking at the Seminar will be Dr. Eloise Jones MD, a practicing psychiatrist from Saskatoon. She had at one time recommended approximately 500 therapeutic abortions. She contributed to the book Death

Before Birth.

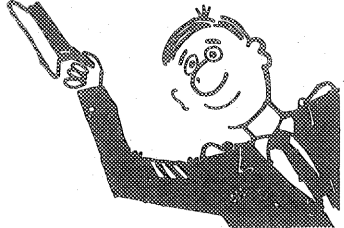

Also speaking will be Professor Alphonse de Valk, CSB Author, Professor of History, and Editor of the Chelsea Journal. His book Morality and Law in Canadian Politics: the Abortion Controversy is the only book of its kind in Canada which traces the historical development of the Abortion controversy.

The Seminar is on Saturday - April 26 at St. Joseph's High School 10830 - 109 St. Registration starts at the door at 8:30 a.m. For advanced registration phone 423-1901.

Commissionaires Corner

PARKING - STAFF VEHICLES

A situation has developed where - by staff having several (more than one) vehicle(s) - are attempting to park in the VISITORS stalls with one vehicle and in their authorized parking area with the other.

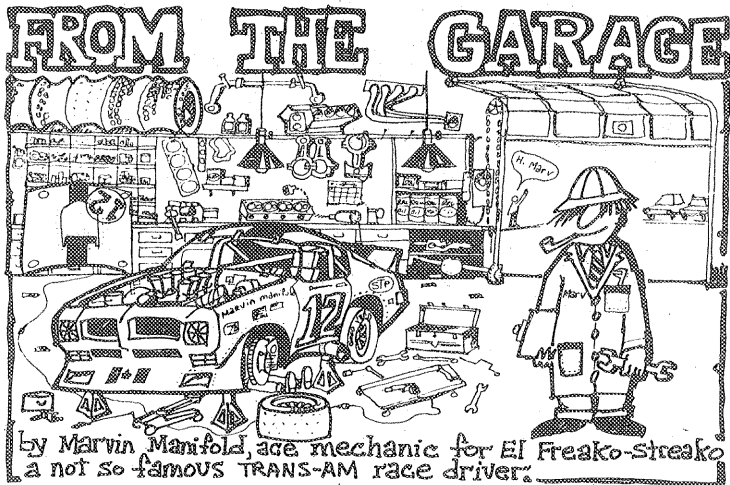

It is to be realized that they are paying for one stall ONLY.

There is an argument that a wife is as entitled to park in the VISITORS stalls as any other visitor.

This is very true and would be possible - but alas - there are always some who abuse a privilege and use this reason for parking in Visitors when in reality they are parking only for the sake of convenience. (Too lazy to walk from their stall to their work or other area.)

There is an alternative however, and that is to call the NCO (Grey 394) I/C Commissionaires and arrange for the (other) vehicle to be parked in Visitors stalls. In this case the identified vehicle will be parked - If space available - for and as a visitor.

Commissionaires on duty cannot tell this difference and so it has been decided to not allow anyone with stickers to park in the Visitors stalls.

Dear Marv;

I am the not so happy owner of a 1972 Datsun 510 with 28,000 miles on it. As the car seemed to be bouncing around more than usual on bumps I took it to my service station and they said the shocks were shot. How come? I thought shock would last longer than 28,000 miles.

NOT SO HAPPY

Dear Not So Happy;

Unfortunately most car manufacturers "cut corners" in order to get the initial cost of your car low enough to keep their price competitive with other their price competitive with other makes.

I would recommend that you purchase a higher quality shock than purchasing an "original equipment" unit.

MARV

Dear Marv;

I've heard that if the driver of a car transporting one or more passengers, makes his passengers buckle up their seat belts, that, if an accident occurs the driver can't be sued for as much money by the passengers. Is this true of what?

Signed
A DRIVER

Dear Driver;

Not being a lawyer myself I'm not totally clear on this circumstance however it would appear that the drivers' making his or her passengers buckle up is "taking reasonable precautions for the general safety" of the passengers." At any rate in any accident you always "lose", its just that with a seat belt/shoulder harness on, you lose a lot less.

You've just been granted three (3) wishes by your Fairy God-mother. Unfortunately you were inebriated when you made your first two, those being that you turned your girl/boy friend into a frog and the other, that you are at this moment very "horny". Now that you're sober, what is your third wish?

For my own sake, I'd better turn my girlfriend back to normal. It's not that she's the boss, it's just that I like her. Then we could worry about my horniness together.

one of the few times the flames were close the referee against a Barbarian player didn't seem that way to the Barbarians. In their rage to the referee's decision, the bench cleared and the players attacked the referee, beating him up physically. The referee sustained four bruised ribs and bruises over the face and body. It was a rather unfortunate incident nearing the end of a great first season of the league. Considering the seriousness of the Barbarian's action and to compensate the league and the referee, it was decided to evict the team. The Barbarians were leading 10-1 at the point when the referee called a penalty against a Barbarian player. In his dispute over the call, he hit the referee with his stick and was given an automatic game misconduct. The player's eviction from the game was what stirred up the rest of the team.

It was then decided to let the Oaks and the Flames play a two game series. NAIT gave the Flames quite a white-wash on Saturday, and Sunday with scores of 10-4 and 17-3, respectively. Neither contest was very close with NAIT displaying a good team effort and leading in goals throughout both games.

In Saturday's game, the Oaks lead 3-0, 6-1 and 10-4 after each period. Both teams were matched in penalties with each team drawing 33 minutes each. The hot shooters for NAIT were Boris Luciw with 5 goals and 1 assist, Alex Ciesielsky and Orville Zerbin with a goal and an assist each, with other singles going to Jerry Jalbert, Wally Losinski and Barry Larson.

Defenceman Howard Hebson popped his shoulder in the first period and was unable to play for the remainder of the game or on Sunday.

Sunday's game was even more widespread with Oaks leading 6-1, 12-1 and 17-3 after the periods. One thing that should also be noted is that the Oaks had no penalties at all, a feat which isn't too common in floor hockey. The Flames received 9 penalty minutes plus a 10 minute misconduct.

The Oaks played one of their best games all season having all players either score or assist and displaying great passing ability, something most teams lack. Goal scorers for NAIT were Boris Luciw with six goals, Alex Ciesielsky and Orville Zerbin with a 3 goal performance each, Barry Larson with two goals and singles going to Wally Losinski, Byron Gray and Dale Bawol. No major injuries were sustained other than the ordinary bruises.

Thanks to all the fans for their support (I think there were about a dozen altogether for both games.) Anyway, the first game of the finals is on Thursday evening at 9:30 pm. at Jasper Place CHS and the second game is on Sunday at O'Leary CHS. Watch for the big poster outside of Student Services for more information of game times. Come out and give the Oaks the support they readily deserve and cheer them on to victory in the city finals.

Intramural Floor Hockey

Building Construction Technology captured the I-M Floor Hockey Championship last week defeating Gas "B" 8-4. BCT went through regular league play undefeated before meeting Survey in the first play-off game. That game was won 4-3 by BCT. In overtime. In the semi-finals BCT met Earth "A" who had not lost a floor hockey game in two years. At game end it was BCT victorious by a 6-2 score. In the championship game Gas "B" jumped into an early 2-0 lead. Before the half had ended BCT managed to tie the score at 2-2. The second half of the game was the most exciting as both teams forgot their defensive play and concentrated on offense. The turning point came when BCT was two men short with the score tied 3-3. Morris Letawsky scored two quick short-handed BCT goals and BCT went on to win the game 8-4. Scoring for BCT was Morris Letawsky with four, Alex Ciesielsky with 2, and Dick Demontigny and Fred Winkel getting singles.

You know skiing is almost over when the city ski shops put away the ski equipment and begin to sell bicycles and pack sacks. The snow has begun to disappear from the streets and the golf courses will open in a couple of weeks, a sure sign of summer.

It has been a mixed up year firstly there was almost no snow and secondly the weather was unusually warm, this caused a definite lack of enthusiasm. Driving to the mountains to scrape your skis over rocks didn't appeal to many.

Those of you who need new equipment should consider making a purchase now as almost any offer will be accepted by ski shops who without exception have large overstocks. The poor weather this winter can act to your advantage if you buy skis at a bargain price.

Whoever wants to go skiing again this winter will find very good to excellent skiing (if you can believe ski reports) at all Alberta and BC resorts. Sunshine will stay open until May 19 and Marmot Basin until May 4 so there is still time to go for one more trip.

It seems pointless to continue this column into the summer season so I will say goodbye and hope you are able to make it out at least once more this year. Enjoy your summer and perhaps you can if you feel so motivated, take over this space next year.

The best rugby film of the century

The Edmonton Rugby season is just about ready to get into full swing, and anyone interested in the sport will have an excellent opportunity to see and hear what its all about next Wednesday during common hour.

During that time there will be a showing in the auditorium of the film featuring the U.K. Barbarians vs. the New Zealand All Blacks. This film has been called the best rugby film of the century by "Rugby World" and numerous other publications.

LaZerte kids prove Shakespeare is easy

By BRENT STUMPH

It can't be done. Shakespeare is one facet of live theatre that is simply out of the league of high school productions.

The School Board said it, the school administration said it, other high school drama departments said, it but M.E. LaZerte Drama students proved everybody wrong.

In a refreshing performance of Romeo and Juliet, the LaZerte troupe came out smelling like a rose (that by any other name would smell as sweet).

Under the direction of Fine Arts Department Head, Millard Foster, the Drama 30 kids decided to attempt Shakespeare for their year-play, and so chose the greatest love story of all time. Very few high schools have ever attempted Shakespeare, even fewer have been successful.

"People said we couldn't sell Shakespeare," commented Mr. Foster. "Well we can. The attitude of those involved has been just tremendous. And you know why? Because people don't do what they want to do, they do what they really want to do."

Susan Zwaenepoel was Juliet, Henry Van Ryk was Romeo. Both were excellent and complimented each other very well. Mr. Van Ryk seemed to enjoy the many scenes involving moments of tender, passionate embrace, and was quite convincing when he didn't want to leave Juliet's balcony.

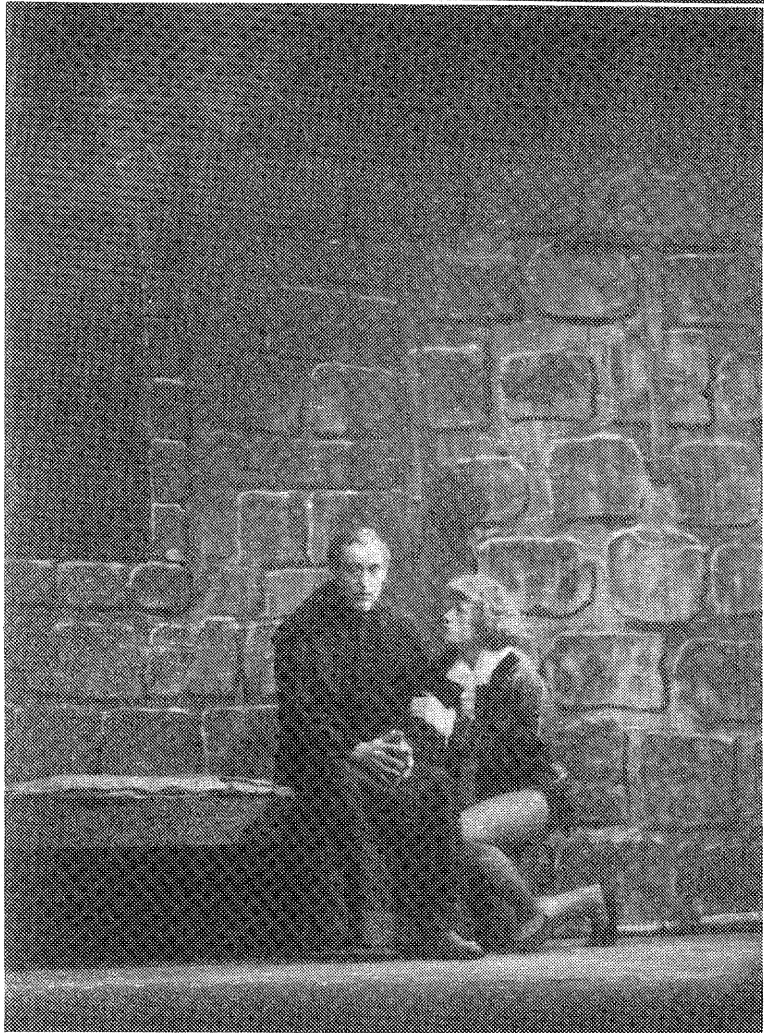

Karen Koons put in a sparkling performance as Juliet's nurse, almost stealing the show. Bob Jahrig delivered an outstanding character portrayal as Romeo's friend Mercutio and Richard Besse was hilarious as Peter, a servant boy in the Capulet household. Peter Wood, the school librarian, and obviously a great fan of Shakespeare, played Friar Laurence.

The cost of the production was over $5,000, most of that amount going towards the totally fascinating set. Costumes were also a very large expense.

The cast hopes to raise some money to help pay for the production, through a Wake-a-Thon, in the near future.

Surprisingly enough, some NAIT people were involved in the play. Terry Zeissler, an Architecture student, designed the set, and Les Klar, NAIT's fencing team coach, handled the sword fights. Others were involved in promotion, set construction, etc.
