Shoe shine, Sir

ONLY THE GREAT OOK KNOWS FOR SURE AS TO WHETHER OR NOT HE'S GETTING A SHINE THATS "FIT FOR A OOK."

SHOE SHINE AND A SONG SIR!

A SLIGHTLY DIFFERENT APPROACH TO SHOE SHINING WAS TAKEN BY THIS GROUP OF SHINERS.

Shinerama has come and gone for another year. Last Friday 930 students from NAIT turned out to show their support of Cystic Fibrosis children. This was the largest turnout for Shinerama in its 9 years of existence at NAIT. Approximately 25 percent of the full time students attending NAIT raised $16,000 and almost surely won the 10 kegs of beer from SAIT although no definite figures are available at this time. Business Administration had the largest turnout of about 75 shiners with Architectural a close second with 70, which is quite a feat considering that Architectural is quite a bit smaller than B.A.

Dental Laboratory Technology, I am sorry to report was the only technology in the institute that didn't have any shiners out. I presume from this that they can sure strain their muscles for intramurals but its to much strain for them to shine shoes for charity.

Overall the Students Association was more than pleased with the response that you , the students gave in support of Shinerama. I'm sure that during the rest of the year we will be able to count on your good participation for some of the great events we have coming up.

As to who exactly won the Keg of beer for the most amount of money raised per capita of students in a technology no winner has yet been decided but will be mentioned in the next edition of the NUGGET.

Vice-president.

Canadians May Face Draft

OTTAWA (CUP) --Canada's youth may face compulsory military service if Defence Minister Barney Danson has his way.

Danson, in remarks following a speech to Toronto Liberals on Sept. 26, said he favours a compulsory standing army for Canada and would like to open public debate on the idea.

The man who brought Katamavik to Canadian youth this year said young people should consider the armed forces as an alternative to unemployment insurance. He also urged young Canadians to join the reserve.

Danson, a wounded veteran of the Second World War, said each day friends and constituents who are concerned about the lack of motivation in their children have raised the question of compulsory service.

"A lot of people are asking "Should we?" he said. "It's heartbreaking to see talented, intelligent kids without the challenges to exploit," he said.

But he said compulsory military service is not imminent.

'THE LONGEST SHINE'

For some of Shinerama '77' started back on Monday, September 26th sometime around 8:00 a.m. in the morning and ended Friday September 29th at 1:00 a.m., but for most Nait Students Shinerama '77' started and ended sometime Friday.

And results, were they worth it? YOU BETCHA!

How does the figure of $16,000 plus dollars sound. Not a bad days pay for some 926 shiners.

MONDAY: Sometime around the hour of 6:30 a.m. 5 Miss Freshett candidates, 2 members of Students Association and 2 of us NUGGETORS crawled out bed so that we could all arrive at NAIT in time go down to the parliament buildings and meet the premier. This meeting was to be the first of many for the faithful 'Shinerama Staff' during the week, and the purpose these meetings offered would be considered as pre-Shinerama public relations. The premier was quite cooperative in helping NAIT Kick off its Shinerama Campaign. But the chief of the city police who we visisted a little later in the morning was very uncooperative. It was bad enough only allowing 4 of our shining crew upstairs, but once we got up there he wouldn't even let us shine his shoes, nor did he give a donation.

EDMONTON DISTRICT POLICE CHIEF

WEDNESDAY: The second day of pre-Shinerama P.R. got under way at 8:15 in the morning with the shining of President Carters shoes. Around 1:00 in the afternoon the 'Shinerama Crew' climbed into the Labatt's van and headed over to Mayor Cavanaugh's office. Once here two of our lovely Freshette candidates polished the mayors shoes too glistening shine, equivalent to the one that was shining down upon us that day. After leaving the mayors office our crew headed for CHED radio station and once there we invaded the head offices and managed to get into shine Bruce Bowie's shoes

Fund Established

CALGARY (CUP)--A fund established last spring by the University of Calgary student union to enable international students to meet this year's higher tuition costs has fallen $12,500 short of its $15,000 goal.

"The results of the fund-raising have not been as encouraging as we had hoped," said student union vice-president (academic) Blair Redlin. "The goal we set of $15,000 would have provided every foreign student with $300 but with $2,500 we have just enough money to give to the more needy students," he said.

The fund was initiated because "we felt there were many foreign students who just wouldn't be able to come here unless someone offset the $300 (increase)," Redlin said.

Priviledges!!

The technologies listed below did not attend the last Naitsa council meeting. Remember that your attendance is required to attain Kiosk privileges. Please have a rep attend the council meeting next week. The date and time will be posted.

Medical Dicta Typists; Dental Assisting; Exploration; Photography; Instrumentation; Millwork - Carpentry; Heavy Duty; Commercial Baking; Meatcutting and Butchering; Signwriting; Court reporting; Forestry; Dental Lab; Secretarial; Electronics; Plastics; Survey.

The following technologies have mail in their mailboxes in E-134. Please send a rep to pick it up.

A.M.S.; Air Cond.; B.A.S.; Bio Sciences; Building Construction; Butchering; Carpentry; Commercial Baking; Commerical Cooking; Computers; Court reporting; Dental lab; Dietary; Drafting; Earth Resources; Food Tech.; Forestry; Gas; Heavy Duty; Hydro Carbon; Instrumentation; Materials; Medical records; Mech engineering; Medical Typist; Photography; Plastics; Secretarial; Sign Writing; Survey; Teller Training; Veterinarian Sciences; Power Engineering

while he was still on the air doing his afternoon show. From here it was off to the parliament buildings to shine Lieutenant (Governor) Ralph Steinhauer's shoes. After shining his shoes, he invited us to stay for coffee and it during coffee that he told us about the various momentos he had around his expensive office as well as a little bit about his job. I must say it was quite a pleasant visit. A very interesting man.

FRIDAY: A reduced Shinerama crew met here at NAIT around 7:30 in the morning just so that we could hit all the radio stations in one more effort to get a free plug out of them to remind Edmonton that NAIT was going to be out shining shoes this day. Around dinnertime our crew got back to NAIT, headed down to the General Office and shined the shoes of some of the staff there.

In the afternoon, our crew went out, found a spot in McCauley Plaza (after driving around for over a hour trying to get a good location that wasn't already overcrowded) and settled our shoe shine box down and shined for a couple of more hours. In the evening, it was cabaret time, a final hurrah to say thanks to all the shiners.

The following people made up the 'Shinerama Crew': Elaine Cartwright, Rose Bauchmann, Gail Martin, Donna Vegera, and Miss Freshett '77' Judy Morgan. These girls as you guessed were all Freshette candidates. Rod Laliberte and Greg Lesiuk represented Student council and last but not least representing the NUGGET was Don Pazder and Rod Boyce.

And so for the members of the 'Shinerama Crew', the week on September 26th to September 29th had to be considered as 'THE LONGEST SHINE'

If the World were a Wheat Field

Excite me not with unfeeling rays of nothingness;
Let your love, like your anger, burn like the ever-lasting passionate rays of a dying sun.

Touch me not with cold things of non-living;
Let the touch of a hand create such ecstasy as the devoy fragrance of a rose may.

Move me not with fake words of emptiness;
Let your eyes speak like the many voices of the wind whispering o'er the land.

I love a golden stalk of wheat, better than a street curb;
I wish the world was one don't you?

Monica Richter

I Wish I Were.....

I wish I were...
A fury ball of sunshine spreading warmth through the land, and bringing glory to the morning softly giving a ray of hope.

I wish I were ....
The tears of the sky, bringing soothing waters to the land, washing away all the hurts and wounds inflicted; showing the world that somebody cares and that someone still can cry.

I wish I were...
The softly cooling wind, Tenderly blowing away the hurting fears, and gently soothing within, blowing far today's troubles, and breezing in tomorrows hopes and dreams.

'Cookin' by Terry Paholek

The next few weeks are going to be pretty busy. I've heard rumors that some of the technologies are going to show their stuff and host a few cabarets. This year the NAIT functions seem to be more popular than they have ever been. Like a snowball going down a laden incline would be a more descriptive phrase. This presents an excellent marketing opportunity for any technology that wants to have a cabaret. The beefest was sold out, the Chem tech. cabaret was eagerly patronized and the pubtime and Shinerama party were just packed. I'd say the fear of one failing could almost be put aside except in cases of extreme catastrophe (which are rare). The Nugget however is stopped short in their attempt to help. What we don't know we can't print. Usually these events are planned weeks in advance. Three weeks prior to the event is not too early to advertise. I's free and you get 3 weeks instead of one week, which usually means the Thursday immediately before the weekend. There's a little box beside the NUGGET door in E-wing. Just design or construct an ad about 4" x 8" drop it in the box, and you can be sure its in the next edition.

I hear that one of the business dept. is having a fling this weekend and their serving steak with all the fixin for a reasonable price. The tickets are on sale up in the tower lounge. Computer systems also leaked the big secret that their having their cabaret on the 21 of October. This one you should not miss. and if any of you saw the bridge building contest don't worry, they organized parties better than they construct bridges. Oh, by the way "Bravo" and a special hand for the chap who fell in. Civil is featuring "Buckeye" on the 14th of October. Anyway we'd like for all the cabarets to be as good as they have been so far and it would be great if all the sectors of the student body did just as well in their ventures.

Advertising has proved to be an effective tool and when its free well hey, you can't knock it.

Women's Volleyball

The coaching staff of Bob Buchan and Ron Davies would like to invite all ladies who have volleyball experience to come out to the first practise on Oct. 13 at 5:00 p.m. in the gymnasium. This year women's volleyball may have a national college championship, which would be really good for women's Volleyball in Canada. With this in mind the coaching staff is keen to field as strong a team as possible in hopes of reaching such an event, if it does come-off.

Volleyball like any other sport involves competition, enjoyment and the chance to get into tip physical condition. Another aspect that shouldn't be over looked is the social one. Meeting and being in competition with people creates friendships that will be of great importance throughout your time at NAIT and hopefully these relationships can be kept up after you graduate.

There will be a pre-season tournament in Red Deer on the 5th of November, which will give the coaches a chance to size up the talent on the team, so they can get off to a winning start in the quest for a provincial title.

December the practises are on Monday and Thursday from 5 to 7 p.m. and the coaching staff would like to see as many out as possible.

A Country Girl's Lament
Stop,
A cry to life,
Stop the hand of time.
Let me forever be a tomboy in faded denim.

Listen,
I cry to the world.
Is my song of roaring traffic and dull, gray cement?

Taste,
I cry to strangers;
Taste my lips
Are they not of sunshine on the wath and crisp, golden leaves?

Look,
A cry to the blind;
Look into my eyes of green grasses.
See the hurting pain blending my way!

But nobody heeds my anquished cries and with a torn heart
bled dry of the eagle's song and moonlit serenity
I stumble on, a numbed shell of my former self.

Standout Defensive

Performance Seals

Gridiron Victory

Dan Syroituik's "Exterminators" and "Pil's Pick-off Patrol" (under the direction of Defensive Co-Ordinator Clarence Kachman) reigned supreme last Saturday as the Golden Bear gridders salvaged a defensive-dominated 8-3 victory over the U. of Saskatchewan Huskies in Saskatoon.

With reference to the "Exterminators" (namely the pro-sized defensive line comprised of Leon Lyszkiewicz, Dave Willox, Lorne Degroot and Bill Hole), Syroituik's unit kept the Huskies passing offense completely off balance throughout the afternoon with intense pass rush pressure. Meanwhile the PPP, led by veteran safety Don "The Pil" Guy, had a field day again, pocketing no less than 5 enemy passes. Wes McHarg led the Bear pilfer squad with 2 interceptions.

Offensively talented wide receiver Joe Poplawski provided most of the spark with 7 catches for 89 yards and one touchdown. "Joe Pop converted several second and long situations with some amazing catches," verbalized U. of A. HEAD MENTOR, Jim Donlevy.

With his seven-point production, Poplawski has moved into the WIFL scoring lead (39 points).

In a back-to-back scheduling quirk, the Bears face the Huskies again this Wednesday (October 4) but on Edmonton turf at Clarke Stadium. Game time is scheduled for 7:30 P.M. Wit good weather conditions a crowd in the vicinity of 10,000 is projected.

Square Dancing

Through a Physical Education and Leisure class you can now enroll in an all-round fitness activity which is fun, highly socialable non-competitive.

The class is held Monday evening at 4:15 p.m. in the auditorium. Music and a caller, Mr. Wayne Russell are on hand to make the class, authentic and lots of fun. All second years and staff are welcome, so Mondays get out to the hollywood in the auditorium.

Mount Allison

Involved in

Strikebreaking

SACKVILLE CUP)--An employee and a student of Mount Allison University broke a legal picket line in Fredericton Sept. 21 to receive beer and liquor for a student run campus club.

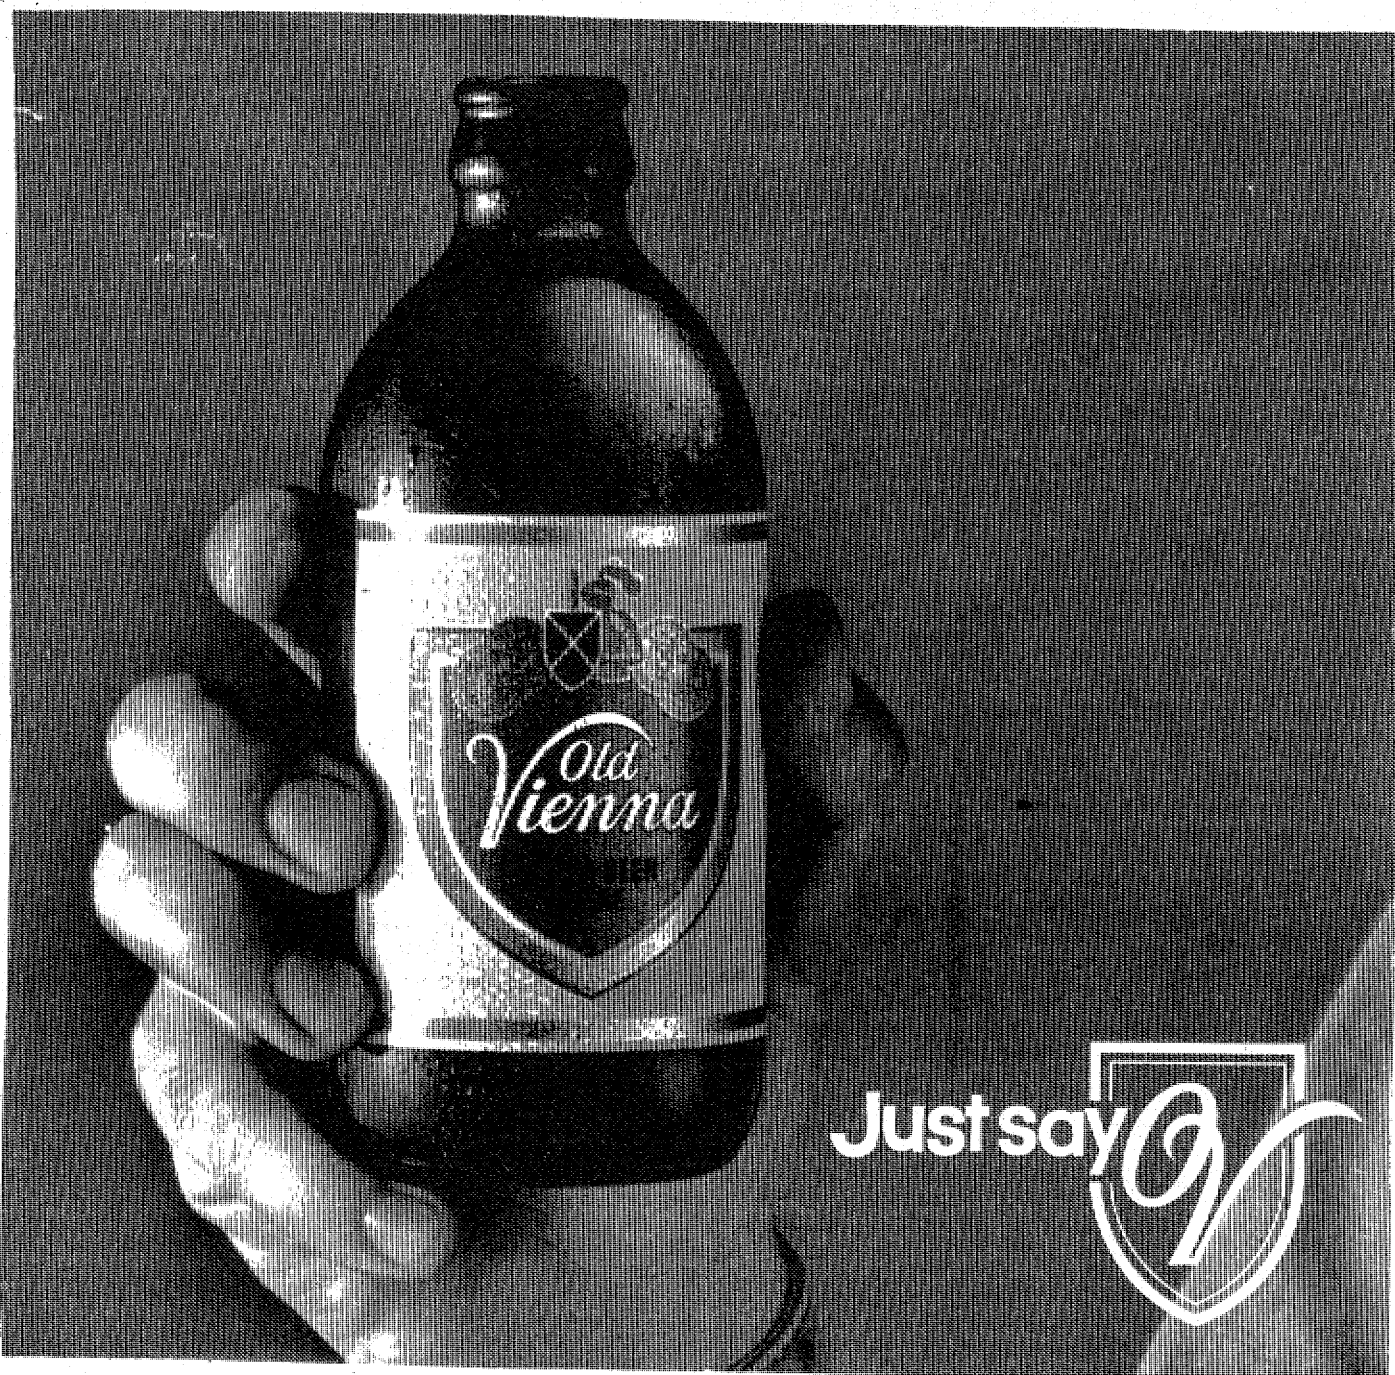

The manager of the tantra-marsh club and a part time student drove a rented van with a police escort through a picket line set up by striking employees of the New Brunswick Liquor Corporation at the Corporation's Fredericton Warehouse.

Just hours later a New Brunswick court ordered the Corporation to cease its distributing operations.

A spokesperson for the CUPE local at Mount Allison said that although the university was obviously bootlegging no the unions would hold no harsh feelings toward those involved in the incident.

The liquor employees went on strike August 19 and have been without a contract for over a year.

John Craighead, President of the Mount Allison Student Union, said he was considering crossing the picket line himself to stock the club. He added he didn't thin see the affiliation between workers and students quite as stringly as some student leaders.

Cycle Drags

Carol Flute, Trudy Dyck, Claudette Landy and Diane Brayer.

Missing Anita Dyck.

As they appeared on the track at 4:30, the sun blistered down and a thunderstorm threatened on the horizon. The girls paced anxiously waiting for the other teams to appear, goosebumps forming on their legs in the chilly autumn air.

They knew they had to win; Bio Science was depending on them. Suddenly there was a crisis; the bike had a squeak and it couldn't be found. Oil was needed! They raced over to the shopping center to get a can of oil. Time was of the essence. The race was nearly to go. They are off! Trudy raced down the track, gravel leaping up from behind. Danger was inherent; a 200 ft. puddle was ahead, with gravel hidden beneath its watery surface. The first change was due. As Trudy was swinging around the far end of the track, Carol was warming up. As Trudy screeched to a stop at pit number 8 and leaped off Carol was already racing down the track with the bike. Anita then took her turn, then Diane, then Claudy, each working to limits undreamed of under normal circumstances - ah but these weren't normal circumstances. On they went changing every two laps, racing against the keen opposition and time. The wind of the looming storm picked up and bit into their faces as they came around the south turn, but they carried on - incredible - just incredible! On they raced near and exhaust on at the door but ... suddenly they realized there was an opportunity to break the record - new energy revitalized them and they surged ahead of the opposition - keen though it was. It was over - at last 47 min. 50 secs. after the start it was over. They had won and broken the record by 7 min. 10 secs. but it didn't charge them. All through life they'll look back and know they did their part for Bio Science.

NAIT CROSS-COUNTRY WINS RED DEER OPEN RACES.

On Sat. Sept. 24 NAIT's Cross Country Team journeyed to Red Deer for the Red Deer college open Cross-Country Races

The weather was cold, wet and rainy but the races proceeded on schedule.

The women's race was a first with a distance of 2 miles, placing for NAIT was Cynthia Stout (6th) and Florence Baril (12th).

The men's race was 4 miles in length through bush trails, up hills and along cow paths. finishing for NAIT was Murry Hunt (3rd), John Ryma (8th), Peter Birss (11th), Allan Ness (16th), Bruce Moltzan (17th), Ewald Will (21st), Clayton Folkers (29th), Gus Kramer (38th), Ya Yan Chan (39th), Randy James (40th), Brett Demerai (44th).

The top four runners on each team counted for team points putting the NAIT men in 1st place, Red Deer College in 2nd, Rimby High School in 3rd. and Camrose Lutheran College 4th.

The Red Deer Faculty challenged the NAIT faculty (last year winners) to a race of 4 miles with Red Deer coming out on top this year. Running for NAIT was Frank McNamara (18th), John Reeves 22nd and Ellis Hammar (37th).

The team is now looking forward to the A.C.A.C. Cross-Country final in Grande Prairie on Oct 22nd.

Basketball

Although I'm only 5'5" in height, I am a tremendous basketball player, the only trouble is when I play against anybody of normal height I can't even shoot the basketball. But I love the game and think it is a great sport for anybody. Even though I'm small, I can do things that big people can't, so I have an advantage that basketball is a advantage that is needed for basketball.

What I think I'm trying to get at is that basketball is a game for anyone that is willing to work hard and has some ability in basketball. For you girls out there size is less of a determinant than for the boys, physical ability is important for girls and the willingness to pound up and down the court for up to 40 minutes a game.

The basketball teams to a lot of travelling around the province and its a great way to meet new people and see new places all paid for by the school. The travelling is mostly on the weekends so that it doesn't distract you from your studies.

Both the men's and ladies teams are looking for strong turn outs at their respective camps this year so don't be shy get out and support NAIT on a school team.

The men's coach is Jack Harvey and Mr. Harvey can be contacted in T311 almost anytime. Get out and meet Mr. Harvey if your interested in joining the team, he can give you all the direction you need.

Dianne Satre

Basketball coach

Mrs. Eileen Harle is the ladies manager. The coach is Dianne Satre, Dianne can be contacted in room E-32 while Mrs. Harle can be contacted in room S107. There is definitely a lot of talent for the ladies team in the institute and when tryouts start in a couple weeks a good turnout would really be a welcome sight. If your shy or not sure of your talent talk to Mrs. Harle or Dianne Satre before tryout time and they can give you the right advice. Chances are if your willing and able they will only be to happy to see you out for the team.

Ooks Inter Squad Game

Tonight, there will be some tremendous hockey talent on display. It is time for the annual NAIT intersquad game. Coach Henwood and all the players that have tried out for the team have gone through two weeks of sweat and torture I'm sure they would appreciate a good turnout of fans, to provide some incentive for the coming season. With your NAIT student cards, the price of admission is the best bargain in town --FREE.

Watch for a very high scoring game, the team appears to have an over abundance of scoring power on the forward lines. Some of the combinations used by Coach Henwood in the practices so far have been very effective although the players aren't in top shape or used to each other yet.

Once the players get into high gear, alot of teams around the league could be feeling the effects of an Ook invasion. Also after 1 game against the Ooks many opposing goalies will probably beg away from future starts against this powerful club, so they don't have their average (goals against) go sky high on them.

Anyhow, get out with the giant Ook and cheer the players on to better performances. The giant Ook will attend most of the home games and provide a hex on all opposition facing the Ooks, while also being a good luck charm for the Ooks.

Accompanying this article is the line up for the intersquad game tonight.

Well after an absence of nearly a year, I'm back and I'm back to stay. That's right I'm here. For those of you who are new around here and don't know about me well I write the unwritable, start the scandals and in general just cause havoc. Oh there's one thing, no student is untouchable and if I hear about something a student does that I don't like well it will be printed in my column. If you hear about something you think I should know about, drop a message in the unclassified box outside the NUGGET door or phone 423 on the grey phone and someone on the NUGGET staff will get in contact with me. So people fasten your seat belt cause here we go.

I managed to make the 1st beerfest of the year as me and Mary Jo were some of the lucky ones who got tickets, but I saw a few things that I didn't like there. How come only 850 tickets were sold to the beerfest. Nobody could buy cigarettes in the arena anyways so the place ain't going to burn down. I'd say the Fire Marshalls excuse couldn't hold water if you ask me. (Ha Ha)

I hear Student Council having a rough time getting things to get started well. Something along the line where everyone is yelling at each other over different things. Really breaks me up you know. Oh well if they don't get things straightened out well just have a bumbling students council, (something NAIT seems to have every year).

Did you see the nerve of that guy who wrote the article for the NUGGET a couple of weeks ago suggesting that since the Oaks were going to be the Canadian College Hockey champs this year they need a booster club. If you saw the Oaks play last year you'd know he's playing the song called 'The Impossible Dream'. Never can tell though, I watched them in practise the other day and they seem to have ONE or TWO good rookies in camp plus the returning of a lot of the veterans from last year.

How about Student Councils first cabaret of the year featuring Micheal Lewis. Did you notice that there were no bouncers to do little things like keep the people off the stage where Micheal Lewis was. As well how about running out of beer by 7:00 p.m. I hear the reason council ran out of beer was because they were too lazy to carry it into the cafeteria. I wonder what they think there getting paid for.

Hey Shinerama sure seems to have went over well. For most people anyways. A hand should be extended to some of the Freshette candidates who were able to make it to the P.R. engagements on such short notice. A finger should be extended to the people responsible for not informing the ladies earlier.

LOVE IT OR LEAVE IT: Student Council pushed all week to get students to go out and shine shoes. Last year they had 700 students out, but this year the enthusiasm and spirit was much better (926 students).

So Student Council books the large cafeteria which is big enough to hold 650 people and then try to convince half of the people who shined shoes to stay away so that they won't be overcrowded. Now that's what I would call a great way to show appreciation towards the students who spent all day shining shoes. Doing something like that is like promising your wife a rose garden and then giving here a batch of thorns. Pretty prickly if you ask me.

Shinerama

There were sure a lot of students eager to become part of Shinerama. Its too bad that not everyone could help. Argus flyer did a reasonable job until they blew the bottom guts out of their P.A. But they comprimized and were able to complete the night. I heard tell that they only enlisted their lead guitarist (Harvey Alton) last month. I thought the organist looked like he just crawled out of his grave. Anyway they still belted out a tune of reasonable quality.

The chairs and tables were awfully tight. Even the more sober patrons did their share of stumbling and falling while trying to find a place to park their butts. On the dance floor one had to be careful not to loose a tooth or gather bruises on account of flinging limbs and frolicing bodies. I'm sure there were a lot of swelled heads bright and early Saturday mornings. The 10 bottle limit per person plus the two extra beer from the door meant that each person was allotted one case of beer. This type of planning makes for gayity of the highest degree. If some of you first years didn't go shining shoes this year, don't miss it next year. Its worth it both to you (the party was a gas) and a lot of little kids who really depend on your help.

Item: Where do you go when you just don't know? Tune in to the local media and find out. The Edmonton Journal prints a guide to what's happening, entertainment wise, in each Mondays edition. At the end of every month they present a 'what to look for' column in their leisure section. The Edmonton Report covers much the same material but adds a more specific touch to it. Colin MacLean reviews movies, books, and other local events every Thursday night on CBC television. The information is there. Look for it.

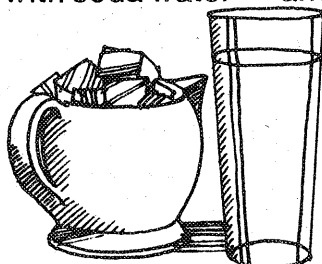

Item: The local movie fare still suffers in its summer doldrums but theatre-goers can expect a break soon. Starting this week are two movies worth checking into. 'Bobby Deerfield' gives Al Pacino yet another chance to display his acting abilities. Pacinos' offerings have been consistently outstanding. With Marthe Keller co-starring, there is no reason to imagine a variance from this pattern. 'Oh God' brings George Burns and John Denver together in comical circumstances. The Lord returns and a poor but honest type shopkeeper must convince the masses of His coming. The situation is promising and a little help from the poignant Mr. Burns should guarantee success. Laughter, it seems, is inevitable.

Comment: "If you can't print something nice, then don't print anything at all." A note to that effect was etched on a copy of one of last weeks entertainment articles, and unceremoniously tattooed to our publication chairmans' door. The perpetrator of this deed, it appears, was none other than the organizer of chem-tech cabaret the violated article referred to. As this person had not the character to confront the writer of this piece with his opinions, a confidential reply is undeserved. Hence, the copy. "You can suspect a writers style, even cast reflections on his intellect, but no one can toy with his right to print the truth." We strive for reality here, not fairytales.

Knobber Bones 'Diary of a Countryman'

Last Friday SKIPPY and I motored downtown to take pictures for the yearbook. We found a parking space way up in the highrise parking lot, got out, and looked down on the town. On every corner there was a little knot of people holding Shinerama signs, cloths, red and white cans, and shoe brushes. One or two people out of the little group were actively soliciting customers or donations off the busy sidewalks.

We took the elevator down to the street and crossed over to Edmonton Center. Norma was standing out on the sidewalk just whirling customers in thru the big main doors. We went in, and two boxes were set up in the foyer, with Gary and Bob each shining like hell. Another couple of guys were taking donations from people with running shoes on. Out of all the groups we saw that day, they seemed to be doing the best business.

Skippy and I got our shoes shined there, took some pictures, and asked about the Ook. He hadn't been around for a good two hours, so we left, and started up towards Jasper.

On the way up, the girls from Medi-tech., all white smocked and shivering, put the clamp on us. They settled for a few good pictures, but Skippy hesitated as we made to leave. He turned around and went back to get his shoes shined again. While a little cutey was shining away, Skippy fumbled for his little black book and did some active soliciting of his own.

When I finally got him away, we walked the block to Jasper and talked with a couple of lads on the corner. Less than an hour behind the Ook now.

We went all the way up to 107th, talking to the people, taking pictures, and just generally enjoying the bustling crowd. Nearly everyone on Jasper was doing well-shining like crazy and collecting from all manner of people; business people, secretaries, store clerks, housewives, lawyers, labourers, long legged hookers, and the surprise of all - a cowboy type guitar playing semi-spaced street musician panhandler. When I asked him about it he said, "Good for business," then mumbled something threatening about people messin' up his territory.

Skippy just laughed at him and took his picture. We crossed Jasper at 107th, and walked back down the way we'd came. A little group of shiners told us the OOK had just left. We hurried down to 104th, and I thought I saw him just up ahead. By the time we got thru the crowd, the OOK was just turning the corner to go south down 103rd. We ran to the corner, and there was a group of shiners. we stood looking at the OOK going down the road, trying to decide whether or not to wait and get a shot of these guys. They were great.

One guy, in a black leather jacket with great huge fringes hanging off the arms, was playing a guitar and singing for the people who stopped to get their shoes shined. Two guys wearing the red and white signs were pulling the folks off the sidewalks and lining them up. Another guy was shining shoes and telling jokes to the customers. The little group was really enjoying the whole process. They weren't the busiest people we saw, but there was something about these guys that really made me feel good. Besides the guitar player, they all looked like you normal NAIT students. And here they were, on mainstreet Edmonton, doing a super sales job on semi-concerned folks, on a slightly chilly day, when it would have been a lot nicer to be inside someplace. And they were enjoying it. I looked up and down the sidewalks and everywhere, I could see students shining shoes, taking donations, and talking to the street people, and loving it. They were really putting themselves out for the wee folks who maybe won't ever see the sunrise as often as the rest of us.

TO NAIT STUDENTS

RE: SHINERAMA

Congratulations on one of the most successful Shineramas ever! You broke a record in terms of the number of shiners that participated as well in the amount of money raised.

You will be interested to know, too, that your efforts are most sincerely appreciated by the many parents that have children suffering from cystic fibrosis.

Every year I receive letters from mothers or fathers expressing their gratitude to the NAIT students for your help in raising money for cystic fibrosis research. Perhaps one mother last year put it best by simply stating "God Bless NAIT Students".

When we finished there, the Ook was long gone, so Skippy and I left for a quick tour of the outlying stations around Edmonton. We talked to students from every part of NAIT, and both of us came away with a good feeling. A warm tingling, I suppose it was. It kept saying, "You're a good bunch of Mugwumpers, NAITERS. A real good bunch."

God Bless this part of town, and you in it.

"CivilReaks Havoc" and comes through victorious. The whole event probably would have been less exciting if computers hadn't brought their comedy team down for the day. However they weren't the losers, because Hydro-carbon didn't show up.

The crowd was of a fair size despite the cool weather and spirits and or spirit was high. Harvey Lawerance displayed his combination tight rope, high dive, swim to the shore act. I heard the water wasn't too bad. Just a bit muddy, but we all know what mud can do for your complexion. Better luck next year.

"REAR-END-IN-STALLS"
by - Sgt. - Johnston

Commissionaires have been very busy lately-tagging Vehicles that are backed into stalls. There is no grudge (or axe to grind) in this case-really not being bitchy either - it is for the protection of those patrons of parking at NAIT.

It is realized that everyone likes some sort of explanation for an action and here are the reasons for our watchfulness.

When rear windows are fogged and iced up during the winter months-backing in a stall can be dangerous for the vehicles parked. Rear visibility is poor and backing is not accomplished with the same accuracy as going in nose first.

Grass areas located at the rear of a parking stall soon have patches of dead grass. Carbon monoxide poisoning. This happens when rear ends approach the stall cement bumper blocks.

Anyone seeing a Vehicle that is parked - rear end in - immediately suspects that it is the right way to park and will copy the procedure.

Parking - rear end in - for the express purpose of making a speeding departure is a very dangerous habit. Vehicles speeding down laneways - meeting the vehicle shooting out of a stall would be disastrous.

For the safety of your own vehicle - you should warn those that are backing into stalls of the hazards that are involved.

ALWAYS ASK- a Commissionaire -BEFORE you park. This will ensure you park in a LEGITIMATE location.

WE- are always happy to SERVE - you in any way we may be able.

"Situation Adaptability"

- Evaluation For -

Management Personnel

This Test has been designed to evaluate reactions of Management Personnel to various

THIS TEST HAS BEEN DESIGNED TO EVALUATE REACTIONS OF MANAGEMENT PERSONNEL TO VARIOUS SITUATIONS. The situations are based on actual case studies from a well known educational institution and represent a cross section of test data correlated to evaluate both reaction time to difficult situations, as the soundness of each decision selected.

These are multiple choice questions. Read each question thoroughly. Place an "X" by the answer you feel is most correct, justified by the circumstances given. Be prepared to justify your decision.

THE QUESTIONS:

1. You have prepared a proposal for the regional director of purchasing for your largest customer. The success of this presentation will mean increasing your sales to his company by 200 percent. In the middle of your proposal, the customer leans over to look at you report and spits into your coffee. You: (a) tell him you prefer your coffee black; (b) Ask to have him checked for any communicable diseases; (c) Take a leak in his out basket.

2. You are having lunch with a prospective customer talking about what could be your biggest sale of the year. During the conversation, a blond walks into the restaurant and she is so stunning you draw your companion's attention to her and give a vivid description of what you would do if you had her alone in your motel. She walks over to the table and introduces herself as your client's daughter. Your next move is to - (a) Ask for her hand in marriage; (b) Pretend you've forgotten how to speak English; (c) Repeat the conversation to the daughter and just hope for the best.

3. You are making the sales presentation to a group of corporate executives in the plush office you've ever seen. The hot enchilada casserole and egg salad sandwich you had for lunch react, creating a severe pressure. Your sphincter loses its control and you break wind in most convincing manner, causing 3 water tumblers to shatter and a secretary to pass out. What you should do next is: (a) Offer to come back next week when the smell has gone away; (b) Point out their chief executive and accuse him of the offence; (c) challenge anyone in the room to do better.

4. You are at a business lunch when you are suddenly overcome with an uncontrollable desire to pick your nose. Remembering this is definitely a NO NO, you: (a) Pretend to wave to someone across the room and with one fluid motion, bury your forefinger in your nostril right up to the 4th joint; (b) Get everyone drunk and organize a nose picking contest with a prize to the guy who makes his nose bleed first; (c) drop your napkin on the floor and when you bend over to pick it up, blow your nose on your sock.

5. You've just spent the evening with a supplier who invited you to an all night boiler-maker drinking party. You get home just in time to go to work. You stagger to the men's room and spend the next half hour vomiting. As you're washing up at the sink, the sales training director walks up, blows his cigar in your face, and asks you to join him for drinks after work. You (a) Look him straight in the eye and launch one last convulsive torrent at the front of his Hart, Saffner & Marx suit; (b) Nail him right in the crotch, banking on the fact he'll never recognize your green face; (c) Grasp his hand and pump it till he pees his pants.

6. You are at dinner with a customer and his wife, who looks like the regional runner-up of the Marjorie Main look-alike contest. Halfway through dinner, you feel a hand on your lap. If you are resourceful, you will (a) Accidently spill hot coffee in your lap; (b) slip a note to the waiter to have your customer paged and see if the hand goes away when he does; (c) excuse yourself and go to the men's room. If he follows, don't come out until you have a signed order.

You're on your way in to see your best account when your zipper breaks and you discover you forgot to put on your underpants that morning. You decide to (a) Call on the customer's secretary instead; (b) Explain you were just trolling for queers; (c) Buy a handy raincoat and head for the school playground.

8. You've just returned from a trip to Green Bay, Wis. in January and tell your boss that nobody but whores and football players live there. he mentions that his wife is from Green Bay. You (a) Ask what position she played; (b) Ask if she's still working the streets; (c) Pretend you're suffering amnesia and don't remember your own name.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:

This letter may say some of the things other NAIT movie buffs feel. We have good movies coming in but the inexperienced clod called a projectionist should either by shot or given a re-fresher course on how to operate the equipment. Sunday night I went to see "Dutchess and the Dirtwater Fox" the movie was good but the projectionist (I use the term lightly) used a cinema-scope lens for a regular film. For those of you who don't know what a cinema-scope lens is, it widens the picture from special films to give a wide screen effect. "Dutchess and the Dirtwater Fox" was not such a film, and the use of this lens made goldie Hawn (who played the dutchess) look like she weighed in at 400 lbs. or 181 kg. The picture thru-out the whole movie was completely distorted.

In the future I hope that the people managing the little theatre get a projectionist that does not ruin a night at the movies for us movie buffs.

A Nait movie Buff.

Plaza 11, NAIT's latest edition was supposed to be ready this year. It's completed with the exception of parking, lockers, furniture in the student lounge, things are coming slowly but surely.

Parking stalls were limited to 43 units with plug-ins. The rest of the students will have to get charge cards with cliffs towing. For the long cold winter ahead. Maybe if we get enough students together we could get some kind of a discount on the numerous boost we'll need this winter, for all yo business students this could be a good angle to start up a business with, all yo need is a big battery and some booster cables.

There is a rumour that a big truck is going to come to Plaza 11 with a whole bunch of lockers. Until then we'll just carry all are books around and look like real keeners.

Some of the furniture has been distributed on the 1st. and second floor. But the basement which consist of BCET has no furniture in their lounges. Last week there was all kinds of furniture in the basement floor. But "apparently the couches, chairs, and tables were stolen from the 1st. floor. I don't know who was responsible for the crimes committed but I'm offering, a 25 cents reward to anybody in BCET class 2B for any information leading to the conviction.

The criteria is as good as the main campus cafeteria. The walls throughout the building are nicely painted with the exception of the basement floor, someone seems to have beaten up a couple fo the walls. There are two holes located aproximately elbow height. I fell the person involved used a elbow smash similar to "Tiger Tomasos" of stampede wrestling. The only clogs to who committed these acts of violence is the fact the criminal would have bruised elbows. So with this in mind I've checked elbows of people in Arci tech, civil, BCET, eng. d and d but it seems all of them bruised their elbows in Saturdays bridge building contest. My reward also stands at 25 cents for information leading to the arrest and conviction of these tigers with bruised elbows.
