OH NO!! More Exams
AAAAAAHHHHHH!!!!

short & sweet

Well that much feared time has arrived. The fifth quarter final exams.

The Nugget staff is glad you have taken time off your studies to read the paper. Students will do anything to get out of doing home work.

Being that the Nugget is everyone's favorite piece of literature, don't get excited when fresh copies hot off the press, miss the stands next Thursday March 1st.

As in the past there isn't any paper printed during exam week. This gives the staff all the time needed to properly blow all our exams with class.

Don't get too excited though, we'll be back in two weeks with the event of events. NAITSA Elections!

Remember nominees get your forms to run during elections. Don't leave your campaigns to the last moment.

Good luck with exams and see you in two.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:

In regards to your Entertainment Column in the Feb. 15 paper. The Holland House Cabaret with Mainstreet was not put on by Secretarial and BCET but Secretarial and Civil Engineering Technology.

We booked the hall, the band, picked up the beer and liquor, and put up all our capital to put on the cabaret.

I think we deserve some of the credit for making this function a success.

Ken Nuttall
President Civil Eng. Tech.

Sorry my mistake.

PETITION AGAINST EDUCATION CUTBACKS

CALGARY (CUP) -- A petition against cutbacks and tuition hikes will be circulated by the Federation of Alberta Students (FAS) at Alberta colleges and universities this month.

The petition asks for adequate provincial funding to keep up previously - provided services instead of cutting them back.

A questionnaire distributed among professors at the University of Calgary provided evidence that cutbacks have affected the quality of education of the U of C, according to U of C student union academic vice - president John Graham.

The government has proposed tuition hikes in order that all post-secondary institutions have similarly high fees.

FAS feels it should be everyone's right to go to school instead of a privilege, which seems to be what the government is working towards, Graham said.

The organization also feel the government should consider the amount of people who will not attend because of high fees.

"The petition needs a lot of support. Without it, students will not be able to determine what is going to happen to them," said Mark Tatchell, editor of the U of C's Gauntlet.

Graham said 25,000 signatures and the participation of all FAS members will be needed for the petition.

BUSINESS STUDENTS FORM A.M.S. COLLEGE CHAPTER

On Feb. 14, 64 Business students became charter members of the Administrative Management Society (AMS) college chapter, by a unanimous vote approving their constitution. The constitution was drawn up by the newly elected executive who had accepted office only one week prior.

With chartering formalities concluded and memberships posted to the International headquarters the executive is now free to begin developing their organization.

The AMS was formed to enhance contact between students and local Administrative Managers, primarily through monthly dinner meetings with the Senior AMS chapter. The first such meeting was held on the evening of Feb. 14 at the Plaza Hotel with 31 NAIT members along with several members of the Grant MacEwen College chapter in attendance.

NAIT chapter president, Megan O'Hara, felt the students were very well received stating that "the senior members were pleased to see us." The next dinner meeting will be held on March 19 again at the Plaza.

Future goals for the college chapter also include bringing in speakers to NAIT with specific topics of interest to the chapter members. As well it is hoped that a few tours can be arranged for this year.

A specific note to AMS members; there will be a general meeting on Wed. Mar. 7 during Common Hour. Location to be announced later.

A final note; memberships for the AMS college chapter can be obtained at the general meeting for $10.00. Open to Business students only.

INTERNATIONAL STUDENTS

KNOW HOW IMMIGRATION LAWS AFFECT YOU

Under Canada's new Immigration Act, international students wishing to study in Canada must, in most cases, obtain visas and authorizations abroad before coming to Canada.* And they must also have an acceptance from a university, college or other institute of learning and be able to prove that they have enough money to support themselves in Canada while studying.

Once in Canada international students may not change schools or courses without first applying for an amended authorization. And although visiting students and their dependents may apply for work in Canada, they must obtain an employment authorization before accepting employment.

Students whose studies will continue beyond their authorized period must apply for an extension before their original authorization expires.

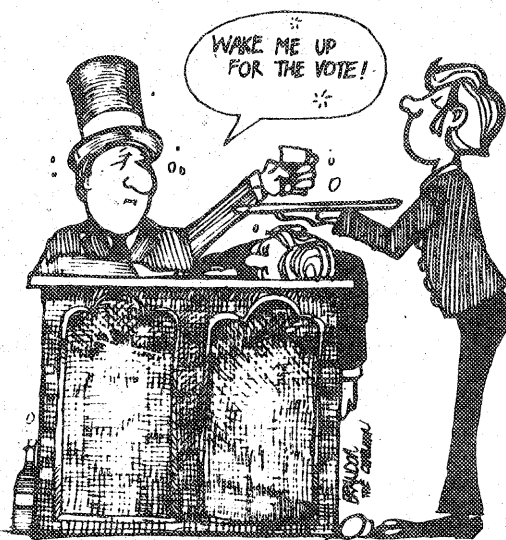

Any violation of these requirements could result in your having to leave Canada.

So if your course of study runs longer than the specified, or you plan to change your course or institution, or you want to accept employment of any kind, contact your nearest Canada Immigration Centre without delay.

In Edmonton your Immigration Centre is located at 10506 Jasper Avenue, telephone 425-7865.

* Citizens and permanent residents of the United States and permanent residents of Greenland, St. Pierre and Miquelon may apply for authorizations at a Canadian port of entry, providing they already have a letter of acceptance from a Canadian school. However, because of the complexity of their cases, students from these four regions who will be staying in Canada for more than one year are advised to apply for authorizations at a Canadian government office in the country where they live rather than at a port of entry.

TUITION PROTESTS

MONCTON (CUP) -- Everything's confused, little is certain, but the protest is continuing.

That's how Student Federation vice - president Joseph Labelle described the current state of the student protest against tuition increases and inadequate student aid at L'Universite de Moncton.

On Feb. 6, students ere forced out of the university's Phys Ed building, which they had taken over the previous day. The University's vice - rector threatened to cancel a national conference of nursing students scheduled for that weekend if the students didn't leave by 3 p.m.

This threat "threw terror into the crowd," Labelle said, and the building was evacuated.

No further occupations have apparently occurred, although protest organizers did stay overnight that night in the Administration Building. Students in departments that had been closed down were expected to return to classes Feb. 9.

A student spokesperson said students in each department were holding study sessions Feb. 8 on student aid problems and tuition increases.

Nearly 600 of the U de M's 2,400 students were not attending classes, Labelle said, including almost all students in Social Sciences.

"No one knows" what further direction the protest will take, he said. "The only thing certain is that the campus is chaotic. The whole university machine has been upset radically, drastically."

The entire student strategy committee was replaced Feb. 7 after its members collapsed under the vice-rector's "blackmail", he said. The replacements were new people "starting from ground zero again".

He expected the situation would be allowed to return to normal, with only a few incidents occurring to keep the campus "moving and upset". The next big push would come after the March break, he predicted.

Possible guerrilla tactics in the interim could include blocking off the Administration Building, he said. "You could do it with only 30 people."

One of the protestors' main objectives will be moving forward the next meeting of the university's Board of Governors, at which tuition increases will be discussed. The meeting is now scheduled for April, Labelle said, and the students hope to push it forward to "precipitate some action" and force the Board not to raise fees.

To do that, however, may require "more radical methods" than have been used so far, he said.

The protest, which started Jan. 30, has already included a boycott of classes, a march through downtown Moncton, and the sit-in. Its objectives include stopping tuition increases and rent increases, improving student aid, and removing recent cuts in unemployment insurance that effectively cut most students off UI.

The protest has not yet achieved any concrete concessions, Labelle said. However, the university administration has said it was "sympathetic with our demands", he said, although it did not agree with the "illegal occupation of buildings."

The New Brunswick government has responded to the requests for improvements in the student aid system, he said. "No one's responded to anything. I'm sure they're worried, though, because there's an election coming very soon."

He said he did not expect any immediate removal of the UI cuts, but said the protest had inspired a favorable editorial in the local daily on the effects of the cuts on students.

However, a local tenants' association now being formed with the aid of students is "going very well," he said. The students are trying to work with the association to stop yearly rent increases of $50 - 75 imposed by the city's Landlords Association.

WOMEN IN UNIVERSITIES

HALIFAX (CUP) -- At Mount Saint Vincent University, where women make up 92% of the student population, two men are running for the position of student president.

University President Margaret Fulton said she is "appalled" at the situation. She said the immediate reason it happened was because there were no students on council who had the experience to run for president. The other council seats are being contested by females only.

"The long range problem, however, is the basic problem that is evident throughout society that, when women have to compete with men they invariably back off, due to the socialization process, and let the men take senior positions."

"It goes right back to the kind of socialization process that tells women they should take the back seat," she said.

Present student union president Diane Wright said she didn't see anything dramatically wrong with the absence of a female candidate, although she felt it acted as a poor commentary on the interest taken in the university.

Candidate Frank Moran said he felt he was able to project an excellent image of the student body and the university, as well "as anything in a skirt."

Most students on campus don't appear to be bothered by the situation. Many see it as a swinging of the pendulum out of the dark ages and into the light of the fast approaching 80's. They think such a move may be the first step towards relaxing some of the school's tight residence rules, as well as the recognition of the Mount as a fully co-educational institution.

nuclear power

VANCOUVER (CUP) -- Canada should not supply underdeveloped nations with nuclear technology or fuel, Progressive Conservative MP Bob Wenman said Feb. 2.

"We should not at this time export technology or supplies because we can't be sure it won't be used for nuclear proliferation," Wenman told 30 people at the University of British Columbia.

"For example, India is using Canadian technology and fuel for purposes other than energy use," he said. India developed its first nuclear weapon with Canadian supplied technology a few years ago.

Wenman said Canada should have a moral obligation to have an international concern about nuclear supplies it releases.

"We have a tendency to cover our eyes and ears after we supply nuclear reactors and fuel and say it's gone, we don't have to worry about it anymore."

He said he thought it deplorable that previous ministers of the Environment and of External Affairs have said that Canada has no responsibility for nuclear supplies after they leave the country.

There is a great need and demand for energy in the world today and Canada should perhaps be willing to supply nations who want nuclear energy, Wenman said. But he insisted some kind of control be established.

One obvious method of control was monitoring the return of spent fuel, he said, but Canada doesn't want it back because no safe method of disposal has yet to be found.

"One answer to disposal is regional repositories, but would you want such a repository in Canada?"

In The Grooves

PETER TOSH -- Bush Doctor

Although the album cover would have you believe it's a pretty wild album it isn't. As a matter of fact it's very mild, or even better, "nice".

Nice? I couldn't find a better word to describe it overall.

The whole album has definately got a Jamaican sound to it. Funny, it was recorded in Jamaica.

Keith Richards and Mick Jagger had a hand in the production of "Bush Doctor" with vocals and guitar in a couple of songs. They didn't add any Rolling Stones sound to it though.

The lyrics via good male vocals were very important with the music making the overall sound more comfortable using the sounds of acoustic guitars, drums, synthesizer, and some other latin american instruments as well.

Kerry Croft

OUTLAWS 'playing to win'

If you're into good rock, and tend to shy away from the top 40, then this album is for you.

The Outlaws have been around for quite a few years. They made their debut in 1975 with their first album, "Outlaws". Since then they have dropped some of their country and western twinge and started to produce a solid foundation for rock. If you haven't heard of this group in the past, you will in the future.

"Playing to Win" is their best album yet. Billy Jones (lead guitar) has established a riveting sound that is easy to get along with. His work can be compared to Jeff "skunk" Baxter (Steely Dan, Doobie Brothers), it clean, fast, and sounds so good.

Best cuts are: You are the Show, Love at First Sight, Dirty City (previously recorded by Southerland Brothers and Quiver).

Here is an album that doesn't have to grow on you. You'll like it the first sitting.

AUNTIE WONDERS

Dear Auntie Wonders:

I am 24 years old and I still wet my bed!

I have had numerous operations and nothing has helped. I even went to India to take meditation to try to improve my problem but it just slowed it down. Please help me in my dilemma!

Mr. Rusty Bed Springs

Dear Auntie Wonders:

With our present times changing ever so rapidly I found myself falling further and further behind. I couldn't cope with my friend's success nor my peers surrounded by fame!

With everything around me shattering so quickly I began drinking. First it was 16 kegs of beer a day and then it was 160 oz of vodka, rye, rum, whiskey, and gin.

I couldn't get high anymore so I turned to drugs. Banana leaves, marijuana, and then rum flavored wine dipped doggie doo doo. I was really a gonner.

But I want to change, I want to live again. I want to be free for the few years I have left. My future depends on it!

I'm 6 years old and totally lost! Can you help?

Mr. Drinkum-Smokum Anything

Dear Pea-Hole:

No! Sorry! Nothing I can do! Look at it this way -- you don't have to wash the sheets.

Auntie Wonders Cares

Dear Kidstuff:

Why change? Your fine! The Friendly Giant and Mr. Dress Up smoke up before each show! Don't tell me that they're not up every morning.

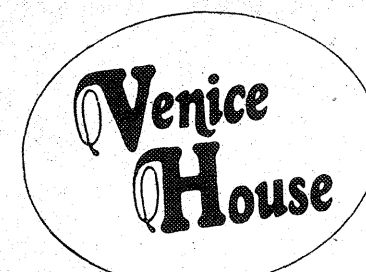

Auntie Wonders Enjoys It

The Warriors

As the title indicates, The Warriors is a show composed of warriors in action. Modern day action in the wilds of New York City at night.

At a mass meeting in the Bronx of all the larger gangs of New York, an important gang leader is killed. The Warriors get the credit for the deed although they weren't responsible.

Every gang in the city is out to get them. The Riffs, Rogues, Turnbull AC's, Okphons, Baseball furies, Lizzies, and Punks are the gangs the warriors confront on their fight to get home to their own turf on Coney Island.

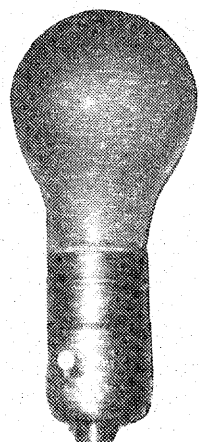

The action is intense and should keep you watching steadily as the warriors fight incredible odds. Some of the props are a little far fetched like where the Baseball furies wear mime type makeup and baseball uniforms as their "colors". The death and capture of a few warriors make the plot more realistic though.

The list of main characters entails: Tom McKitterick, Marcelino Sanchez, Terry Michos, Michael Beck, Deborah Van Valkenburgh, and Brian Tyler.

If you like lots of action, and facial expressions are not vital to a good movie in your eyes, The Warriors is well worth your time.

Earth Resources & Chem Tech CABARET

The new, revitalized FALCONCHASE put together 5 tight sets to keep everyone on their toes. The Beverly Rec. Centre was an ideal hall for a hot Saturday dance.

One thing that I noticed was the amount of people from outside of NAIT. It seemed that everyone brought their friends. Great idea! It didn't seem so much like Peyton Place. People were actually able to meet new people.

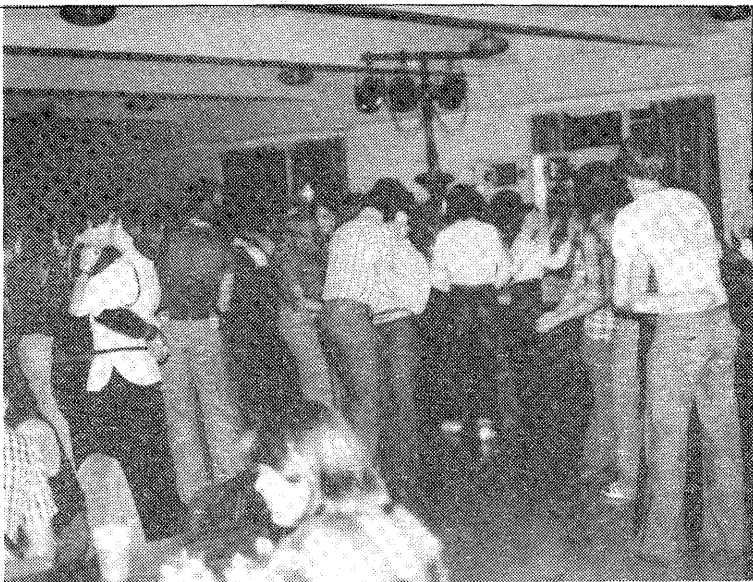

You wouldn't fit another body into the place. And everyone there really seemed to have a good time.

There were very few people sitting down while the band was playing.

Falconchase had a new toy which added a lot to the atmosphere. It was a computer running the spot lights. It was geared to the beat and tempo of the music. It gave the impression that you were at a concert. Great Stuff.

Auntie Wonders was even there. I caught a glimpse of her crawling from underneath one the tables, licking her lips!! Probably she was collecting data for her columns.

IN THE LITTLE THEATRE

"MEN"

They have 2 hand, 2 feet and sometimes 2 women.
But they never have more than 1 dollar or 1 idea at 1 time.
Generally speaking they can be divided into 2 different classes:
BACHELORS -- an elite mass of obstinacy, entirely surrounded by suspicion.
HUSBANDS -- are either prizes, surprises, or consolation prizes.
If you flatter a man, you scare him to death.
If you don't, you bore him to death!
If you permit him to make love to you, he gets tired of you in the end
If you don't, he gets tired of you in the beginning!
If you believe what he tells you, you cease to charm him.
If you don't, he calls you a cynic!
If you wear slacks and a sweater, he won't take you out.
If you wear a tailored suit, he spends the whole day staring at women in slacks!
If you approve of his drinking, he says you're driving him to the grave.
If you don't, he calls you a nag!
If you're the clinging vine type, he doubts whether you have brains.
If you're the intelligent type, he doubts whether you have a heart!
If you're silly, he wants someone bright.
If you're intellectual, he wants a playmate!
"MAN" is just a worm in the dust, he comes along, wiggles around, and finally one of us chicks or birds get him!!!

Ook hoop news

On Friday, Feb. 9, the NAIT basketball teams traveled to Camrose to play the Camrose Lutheran College Vikings only to come up with two very frustrating losses.

In the women's game, the Ookchicks were stunned by a strong individual performance from Lynn Graftoas of Camrose.

Lynn, who is second in league scoring, scored 25 points against the Ookchicks. Denise Young hooped 12 points for NAIT but it wasn't enough as the Ookchicks fell to the Vikettes 59-41.

The Ookpiiks suffered another heartbreaking loss to the Vikings. In the first half the Ooks were down by as much as 20 points but came on strong in the second half only to come up three points short. It was fairly close throughout the game with each team sporting strong offenses but NAIT's early foul trouble spelled the difference in the game. Wayne Squires slammed in 24 points and Rick Davidson assisted with 17 in the losing cause. Final score Camrose 92 NAIT 89.

On the following Tuesday, the hoop teams ended their respective season by playing host to the crosstown rivals Grant McEwen.

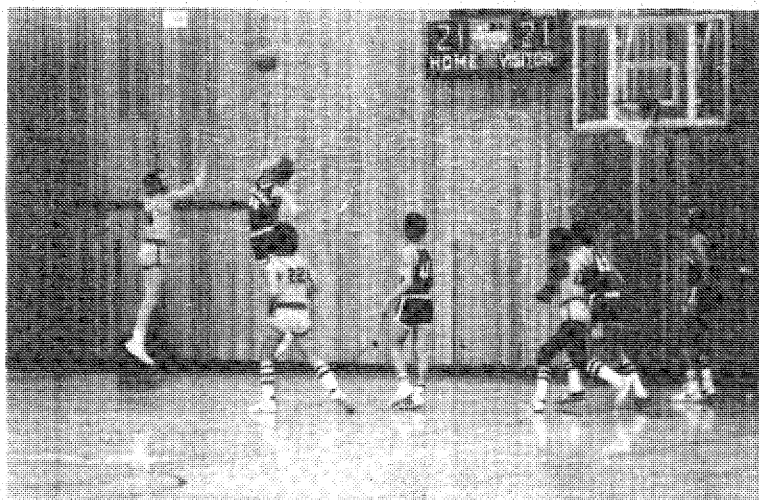

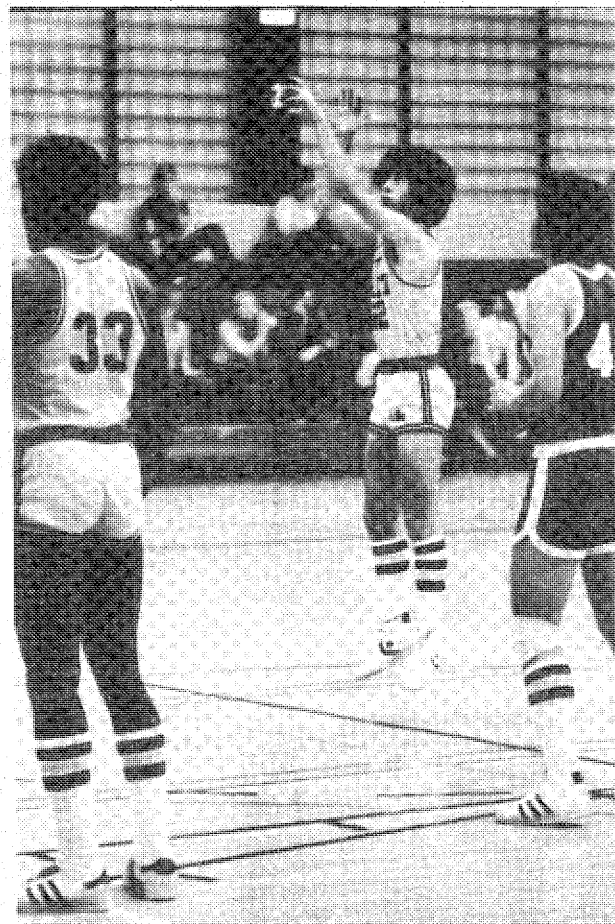

In the Ookchicks -- Griffettes game, the score was tied at 21-21 at halftime but in the second half a lapse in the Ookchicks defense allowed Grant McEwen to sink an amazing 50% of their shots. The final score of the game was 66-48 for Grant McEwen with Dallas Hurlburt contributing 11 points in the losing cause.

As for the Ooks, it was probably the most exciting game of the season if you were a spectator. The game was neck and neck all through the first half and it ended with Grant McEwen up by 1 point 39-38. In the second half NAIT quickly fell into a ten point deficit and valiantly fought back only to lose by a single point. In the last two minutes the Ooks had a possible chance at four or five three point plays but the ball just did not drop for them. Gene Gerwing led the Ooks with 12 points while Ken Plumb added 11 points in what had to be "The" game of the season for the Ooks. They went out with a lot of class. Final score 69-68 for Grant McEwen.

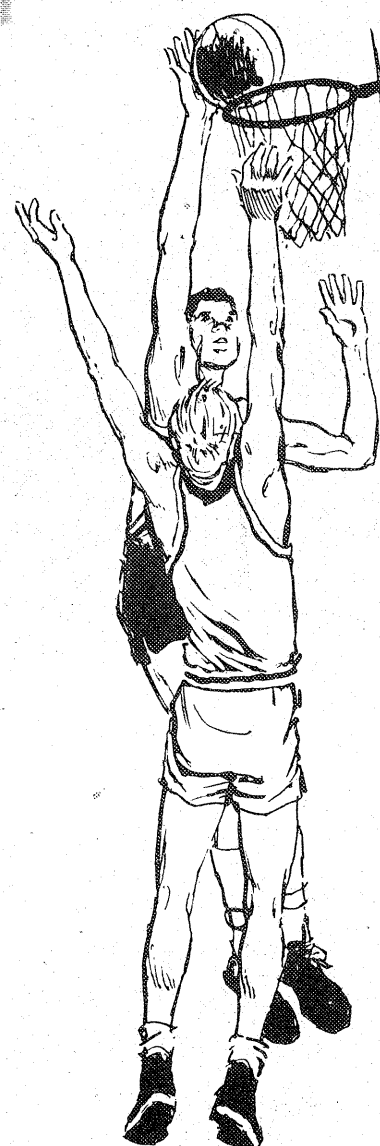

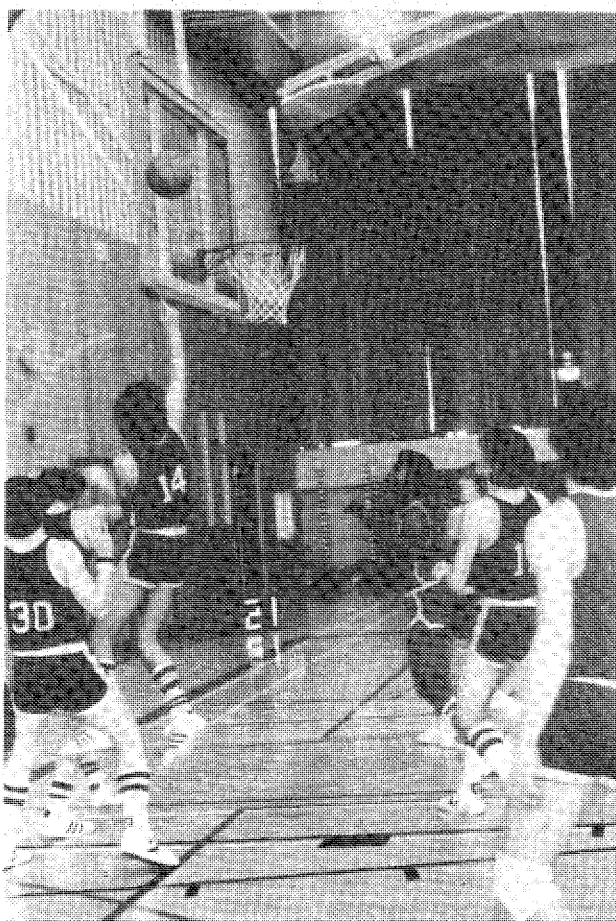

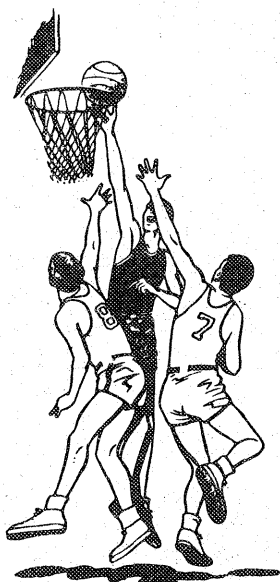

Now that the season is officially over both the Ookchicks and the Ooks would like to thank all those fans who came out to all their games this past season. Next year perhaps...

The Ooks still have a few exhibition games to play this season against a few of the city's Men's League teams. The Ookchicks will be putting their reputation on the line as they play the CHED SLAM DUNKERS during Open House. The game is scheduled for Friday March 16 at 7:30 pm. Come on out and have some fun. Once again congratulations to both the Ookchicks and the Ookpiiks who gave it all they had this past season.

hoop season over for the OOKCHICKS AND OOKPIKS

blocks and

The season is now drawing to a close for the Volleyball teams. NAIT and Grande Prairie are tied with 20 points and a share of first place in the North Division. This week - end first place will be decided as Grande Prairie is in town Saturday and Sunday for a back to back series which should provide some very fine volleyball so take a break from your studies and cheer on the Ooks. It is a very key series as the 1st place team will end up hosting the playoffs.

In women's play, the ladies who started the season showing much promise incurred a mid-season slump and as a result will be out of the playoff picture. However in their last encounter with #1 Grande Prairie the managed to extend the matches to five games losing 3 - 2. It is hoped that the ladies will be looking for revenge as they too play host to Grande Prairie on the week - end. Games get underway at 1 o'clock.

women's ice hockey champions

Who says women can't play ice hockey? The girls at NAIT proved differently. The season didn't last long, but it was great fun for all the teams involved.

The best part was getting on all the smelly equipment, but even better was taking all that stinky equipment off again after the game and heading for the showers.

The final was played on Monday, Feb. 12, the opposing teams being EDDT & Bio Sci. It was a well played game without penalties.

Bio Sci held the lead throughout the game, giving up only 2 goals and scoring 9.

The Bio Girls really appreciated the fan support and coaching from the guys. Keep it up fans! All the teams in the league should be congratulated for their effort and participation.

Many people have asked about the tabulation procedure regarding the TOP MALE & FEMALE ATHLETE, and what criteria is used. Well here is the scoop on that.

There are three major categories of sports in the Intramural program. There are the major sports like hockey, flag football, continental handball, etc., the intermediate which include volleyball, tug - o - war, 3 on 3 basketball, and finally the minor sports such as archery, cycle drag, marathon swim, etc. Now each individuals points are tabulated regarding participation and standing of there team in either of the three categories. It breaks down like this:

If you play a major sport then you are automatically awarded 4 points for participating. Now if your team comes first in its league you get 2 more points. If it wins the playoffs you get another 2 points or if you second in the playoffs you get 1 point. Thus an athlete can get a maximum of 8 points for a major sport.

If you play an intermediate sport, you get 2 points for participating. Now if you are league champions you get another 2 points. If you go on to win the playoffs, then you receive yet another 2 points. However if you are on a team that finishes 2nd, 3rd, or 4th, you get one point. Thus if you go all the way in an intermediate sport you could get up to 6 points.

In the minor sports one receives 2 points for participation, another 2 points if your team wins and those finishing 2nd to 10th get one point. Therefore you can get up to 4 points.

So now you know. If you would like to know what sports fall into what categories then either see:

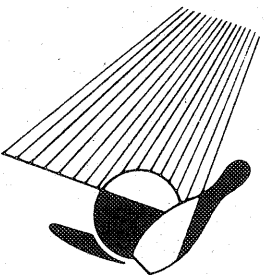

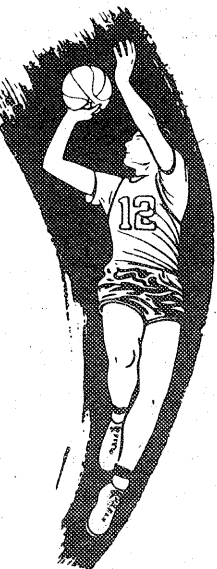

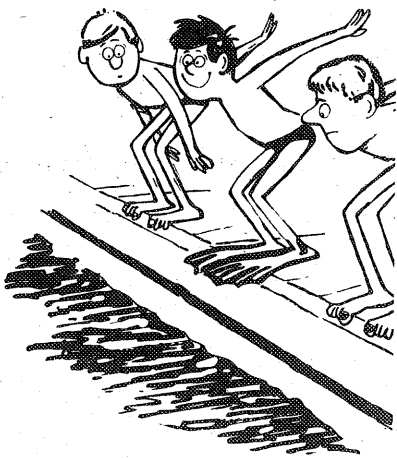

- your intramural sports rep
  - Irwin Strifler in E 135
  - Dale Toffan between 4:30 - 6:00 pm
- for those answers. Until next time enjoy.

Hockey Oaks stun Red Deer

NAIT EXPLODES

If you thought last Sunday would be NAIT's last hockey game at home, you were wrong. Fourth place NAIT defeated first place Red Deer in two straight, advancing themselves to the ACAC final against SAIT.

With the first game being played at Red Deer Saturday night, the Kings came out flying in the first period and scored five unanswered goals. However their glory was short lived as the second and third periods belonged to NAIT.

Early in the second period Red Deer's starting goalie was injured, after making a save on Peter Skrabczyk's breakaway and had to be replaced. 37 seconds after the switch, Don Awchar scored for the Oaks. Peter Skrabczyk picked up 2 goals and David Reid and Pete MacDonald added singles to give NAIT a tie at the end of the second.

Heading into the third period, NAIT had a big edge of momentum. The Kings were obviously down, after losing a five goal lead.

With 1:25 gone in the third, Brian Goodfellow scored the game winner for NAIT. After that it was strictly strong defence and good goaltending for NAIT. Rene Brodeur stopped 42 shots and maintained shut-outs in the second and third periods.

Prior to the semi-finals, Coach Perry Pearn stated his team would need:

- good goaltending
- strong defence
- discipline

if they were going to beat Red Deer. That's exactly what his hockey team did. Honourable mentions go to Rene Brodeur for his super goal-tending. To Peter Skrabczyk for his outstanding offensive play and to Bart Szoke who did a great job on defense in the semi-finals after being moved from his regular forward position.

After what I assume was a jubilant bus ride home, the Oaks prepared for Sunday's game. The NAIT team struck for first blood as Rocky Smith put the Oaks ahead 1 - 0. Two minutes later Red Deer tied the game and then went ahead 2 - 1 on a power play goal. Peter MacDonald put the puck in the net to give the Oaks a tie but it only lasted 19 seconds as the visiting Kings went ahead 3 - 2.

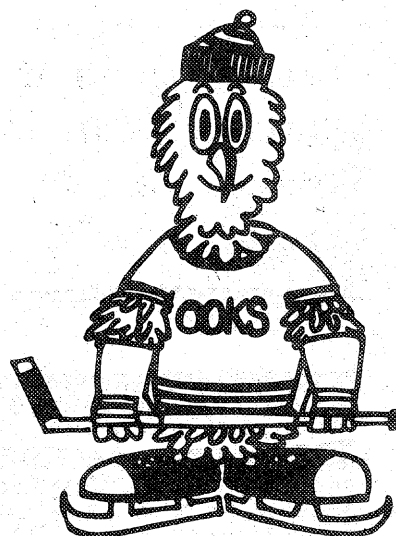

Red Deer went ahead 4 - 2 as Rick Odegard scored an unassisted goal and what turned out to be the last of the season for the Kings. NAIT started to put the pressure on and after Peter Skrabczyk just missed a goal, he got the puck back again and shoveled a back hand past Friesta. Less than 2 minutes later Dave Johnson crossed the blueline and let go a shot that handcuffed the Red Deer goalie and the fans went wild as they knew the momentum was shifting to their Oaks. (Yes there were fans there and they were not the REGULARS...what happened during the rest of the year?????).

The winning goal had to be one of the flukiest goals that I have ever seen. Dwayne Rausch let a slap shot go his side of center. It deflected off the helmet of the Red Deer defenceman and just went over the shoulder of the Red Deer goalie who didn't even move. It looked at that point if Dwayne would not make it through the rest of the game as his jubilant team - mates smothered him with congratulations. The winner came fittingly from Peter Skrabczyk as he poked checked a Red Deer player at centre and went in on a break - a - way and deked Friesta out of the net and tucked it in for his fourth goal of the series. I say fittingly enough because to my mind, "Scrapper" Skrabczyk has led the Oaks from midseason on with his tenacious checking, heads up play making and never say die attitude. He is the heart of the Ooks and of course the one who stopped many a heart with his fine goal tending was Rene Brodeur. Again on Sunday he played very well stopping 39 out of 43 shots. The Kings outshot the Oaks 90 - 52 and Brodeur was a key factor in the two game series. Although I have singled out these two players, the whole Oak team played with discipline and control and just good old time hockey. They played the best hockey I have seen them play in two years. If they had to pick a time to do it, now is the time. A sincere congratulations to the Oaks.

This week - end the Oaks will go against the SAIT Trojans in a best of five ACAC championship series. The first two games will be in Calgary, game time 2 pm. Then the following week - end the series shifts to NAIT Friday at 8 pm and Saturday at 2 pm, if necessary.
