A WARM FAREWELL TO PRESIDENT CARTER

Did you pass by the cafeteria last Thursday afternoon and wonder why it was closed? Well, it was so that Food Services could prepare it for a banquet. The banquet was for George Carter who retired on August 17, 1979, after serving as President of NAIT from 1962 - 1965 and 1971 - 1979.

The evening commenced with cocktails at 6 pm, as the guests, program heads, instructors, a few important people, and the NAITSA council, began to arrive. Among the guests were George's son, daughter, and his 82 year old mother. Everyone mingled until dinner was announced, at which time we all moved into the main cafeteria where dinner was to be served.

The cafeteria didn't even look like the cafeteria we all know. All the tables were covered with white tablecloths and there was a single carnation in a vase on the centre of every table. It really looked impressive. But the most eye-catching things of all were the two tables in the centre of the room. Each one had a beautiful ice sculpture on the end of it, and within the centre of each sculpture was a beautiful bouquet of carnations. The rest of the length of the tables was devoted to food which was superbly prepared by Food Services. A job well done!! There were glazed turkeys, glazed whole salmon, and many tasty delicacies. And they were delicious!

After dinner a "roast" was put on for President Carter. Each person at the head table gave a short and peppy speech about George's accomplishments and activities during his 11 years as President of NAIT. (These included the times that George seemed to vanish from his office, which faces the airport. Surprisingly enough it happened every time a Pacific Western Boeing 737 took off.)

Between the speeches George was presented with various gifts. They weren't ordinary retirement gifts, either. They were unique, and ranged from a power saw (George does a great deal of home building) and a Canon AE-1 with a flash attachment, to book ends and a plaque. But the most unique gift of all was: THE KEY TO STUDENT LIFE. (a beer bottle opener)

At the end of the speeches George stood up, thanked all the speakers and gave a little speech. George said that he would miss being around NAIT and all the students. As a finale George produced a pen that he has had for 17 years (and it looked like it!), and a blue briefcase (blue because it is always so cold in his office). He presented them to NAIT as something we can remember him by. We will, George.

The finale of the evening was a dance, with the music done by "Peter's Stereo". The music was fairly lively, and we all danced into the early hours of Friday morning.

From all of us at NAIT, a warm farewell President Carter. Have fun building with your new power tools!

THE UPS & DOWNS OF SAFETY

According to Traveler's Insurance Company, the following is an actual on-the-job accident report submitted to the Insurance company by the accident victim. To set the stage: the employee was assigned to repair storm damage to a building. This is his report:

When I got to the building, I found that the storm had knocked some bricks off the top. So I rigged up a beam with a pulley at the top of the building and hoisted up a couple of barrels full of bricks. When I had fixed the building there was a lot of bricks left over. So I hoisted the barrel back up again. After I secured the line at the bottom I went up and filled the barrel with the extra bricks. Next, I went to the bottom and cast off the line.

Unfortunately, the barrel of bricks was heavier than I.

Before I knew what was happening the barrel started down, jerking me off the ground. I decided to hang on. Halfway up I met the barrel coming down and received a severe blow on the shoulder. I continued to the top, banged my head against the beam, and jammed my finger in the pulley.

When the barrel hit the ground, it burst its bottom. This allowed all the bricks to spill out. I was heavier than the empty barrel, so I started down at high speed. Halfway down, I met the barrel coming up and severely injured my shin. When I hit the bottom, I landed on the bricks and got several painful cuts from the sharp edges.

At this point I must have lost my presence of mind. I let go of the line. The barrel came down and gave me another heavy blow on the head. This put me in the hospital.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor,

With regards to the article written about the BAS Cabaret, there are several factors that were overlooked or misjudged. Firstly, I will grant you that some things did not go off smoothly but what has the fact that it was held in a church basement got to do with anything? It was a nice and well set up hall which served its purpose and did not reflect on anybody's intentions of having a good time. Secondly, even though there were a few minor setbacks, everyone I talked to (including people who did not actually attend, but heard about it) responded with the phrase, "It was great!!!" and "I had an excellent time!!!" This to me is more important than what went wrong. In my opinion, if you don't intend to have a good time and enjoy yourself, you cannot expect it to be a good time. In other words, the people create the atmosphere for a good time and the band and beverages are there to make it easier and more enjoyable for them.

The BAS Cabaret WAS a good time, come out and see for yourself at the next one!!!!!!

Donna Underwood TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN

In the last edition of the Nugget there were two letters to the editor, both of which were critical of the NAITSA executive. I am not against criticism but I think it should be founded on facts and not allegations of a few louses who obviously don't know the facts and are just too lazy to dig them up.

In regards to the letter signed M.J.S. (lots of guts can't even sign his/her name) which implied that the president of NAITSA doesn't devote any time to presidential affairs is totally bullshit. Here are some facts for the writer of that letter.

FACTS:

Kees could only attend 6 out of 24 hours of his classes last week due to presidential affairs. Kees had to attend the following meetings and organize the following matters during the week of Oct 8 - 12/79:

Monday - holiday
Tuesday - Friday - interviews for new President of NAIT (Mr. Carter has retired) - 8 hrs

-finalizing parking agreements for Plaza Cinemas (51 stalls available) - 3 hrs
-clean up and follow up to Shinerama. ie. letters, etc. - 2 hrs

-council meeting and preparation - 2 hrs
-open house organizational - 2 hrs

-finalizing organization of gifts, guests, etc. for Mr. Carter's retirement dinner on Oct. 18/79

-meeting with NAIT's satellite campuses ie. Patricia, AVC, and West Jasper Place regarding communications, Nugget tickets for upcoming events, etc. - 3 hrs.

-Student Finance Appeal Board meetings - 5 hrs

-grievance meetings with a student and department heads, separately and together. - 6 hrs.

-organizational meetings for possible joint winter carnival with U of A, Grant McEwen and Concordia Colleges. - 4 hrs

-addressing correspondence ie. United Way, U of C, FAS, etc. - 3 hrs.

-selling parking stalls (Plaza), helping people that have something on their minds, going to classes, homework, the last two are optional and done rarely. - 15 hrs.

This is a total of 57 hours in a 4 day week committed almost entirely to presidential affairs.

Now that I have stated some facts about what is done by Kees in just one week, I ask MJS whoever he/she may be, to write to the editor again and back up his/her allegations with facts and not flimsical hearsay such as the bullshit he/she has been writing.

In regards to the second letter in which the writer complained about his previous letter not being published, I only have to say that I caught a whiff of that letter and it stunk!! I can not see how any person could be so sarcastic and use criticisms that cut to the bone. This type of journalism is deflatory and serves no purpose except to heal a poor looser's ego, that's right, a poor looser, we know who you are even though you are too chicken-hearted to sign your name to any of your poorly written articles. By the way you stated that you are going to write criticism on a semi-regular basis, I only hope that it is constructive criticism founded on facts and not bad feelings. By the way I think that the Editor of the Nugget (not the NAITSA executive) did a great job in editing your previous unprinted letter, he put it in the proper place, file 13.

Brian Noorman

P.S. I expect some flack from some people out there but I don't care, I can take it, therefore I refuse to get into a battle with anybody cutting each other up with criticism, because it serves no purpose and wastes space in the Nugget as well as the time of the publishing staff. If anybody cares to give me flack come see me in person in Room E129 B, I'll be glad to shoot the shit with you.

Dear Editor,

I must complain about the giant fascist coverup of the picnic incident. I have heard rumours that what they were really transporting was the left over gravy from the cafeteria, another person said they had Kees Cusveller upstairs and were trying to sew his jeans on for the weekend. But back to the topic if anyone in G-wing is going to blow us (up) again at least wait until I get my books from my locker.

NAITSA COMMENT

Hopefully by now your midterms are over and you've decided to stay till the end of the quarter. About this time next quarter (end of January, or so), NAIT will be having a winter carnival, also a queen will be chosen by you to represent the institute. Now is the chance to spot that beauty in your tech that you'd like to see as a representative. All kinds of competitions will be taking place that week. Lots of fun, also you'll get the chance to build an ice sculpture!

Every second issue of The Nugget I will be adding items to the activities calendar. This will include the lists of proposed cabarets by other techs. This Friday, Oct. 26, there will be a Pub Time at 4:30 till 8:00, a new wave group, The Models, will be playing. An admission charge of $1.50 is asked for the presale of tickets, a small admission assures us of getting 500 students and friends to come and enjoy the Pub, if no admission was charged we could only accommodate the first 500, then even if they left after a beer or two, we couldn't allow any others to participate. Hot food is being served at the Pubs and Cabarets, it will be sold at the back by the exit.

Menu for pubs - beer (4:30 - 8:00).

Menu for cabarets - beer & liquor (8:30-1:00).

November 2 there will be a late nite cabaret 8:30 till 1:00 featuring Footloose. The same group that has put out the song "Leaving for Maui". Tickets will be going on sale Monday Oct. 29 at the NAITSA Store at 8:00 a.m.; Tuesday Oct. 30 at the Plaza II - 8:00 a.m.

Please note that NAIT I.D. will be requested when purchasing tickets and at the door of the event (pub & cabaret). One guest per student with I.D. All jackets and coats have to be removed and checked in at the auditorium first before entering the cafeteria.

NAITSA is sponsoring a Talent Show. We'd like all entries to be in immediately. You can let Student Services, E134 (next to manpower), to let us know the type of act you intend to do.

Good Luck and have fun!!

Paul Joly

NAITSA Activities Chairman

Here we are in the second half of the first quarter, it's all downhill until the end of May now, at least, that's what somebody tried telling me. Next week though, is Remembrance week, and Saturday Nov. 3 is poppy day. For obvious reasons, our poppy day is going to be Friday Nov. 2. We'll have people going all over the school selling poppies for donations. If for some reason you're missed, they'll also be available at E133. If you'd like to help out to sell poppies for an hour or two, see me before next Friday.

Presently we're in the final stages of submitting a proposal for changes in the Student's Finance Act so, if you have any suggestions at all, this is your final opportunity to make them known.

Sometime during the winter either before or after Christmas we will be co-hosting a blood donor clinic with the Red Cross. Just something to keep in mind, we'll be offering some sort of award, we haven't decided what yet, to the technologies with the best percentage turnout at the clinic.

Some parking still available at Plaza II, Open House planning is going ahead, we're open for suggestions on any or all the above or something else.

See you at the pub time this Friday with The Models.

you, this isn't a very significant detail, put on the show. (It helps if you collect the money before the show. It's not essential, but it's easier, and SAFER.)

You now have the workings of a successful entertainment venture --successful financially, that is. It must be --Romane's doing it for three years plus (or so he says).

There are a few tricks you'll have to learn, mind you. (While I was up on stage, Romane gave me some special tutoring on these.) Like smothering your mike in your armpit while whispering instructions to your hypnotized (?) subject. Or waving air into the face (eyes shut of course) of an unco-operative guinea pig from the audience who won't believe he's falling down the side of a building. But the hardest thing of all is to learn to sell your own books, tapes T-shirts, as nauseum, in the middle of the show --without arousing the suspicion of the audience of the folks on the stage. But it can't be too hard, --hell, Romane did it.

But I guess he had to, his bus ticket to the next town has to come from somewhere, especially when places like NAIT show enough sense not to provide him with more than fifty or sixty paid spectators. My only regret is that I was one of them.

You know, it must get pretty lonely knowing your not going to return somewhere. I guess Romane is a pretty lonely guy.

Dear Editor,

I think I'll go on tour. It's easy. First I'll grow a little beard, get my hair FRIZZED OUT A BIT, AND BUY A PAIR OF SILVER SHOES. Then I'd hire myself a unintentionally incompetent assistant named Marvin to handle the sound, the lights, and any mistakes so I'd have someone to blame. An oversized suit and halftone posters claiming "The Greatest Show of the Ages" would round out the act. Oopps. ....I almost forgot.... I'd have to get a name. Yes, and interesting name, something mystical and appealing....say "The Great Profane".

Hell, it's easy. "The Great Romane" showed me how. During his show last Friday night in the auditorium, he gave everybody a lesson in show biz. "Give 'em the old razzle dazzle - razzle dazzle 'em. "They'll never know what you're doing -or not doing. Ah yes, Romane the Hipnotist brought this point across very clearly, very clearly indeed. Thanks to him, anyone in the audience should now be able to go out and prey as a hypnotist on unwitting students councils, students associations, and all those other people desperate for entertainment.

First, get together the above mentioned paraphernalia. Second, get a good P.R. and advertising campaign going. Next sign up contracts for shows, preferably out of the province, (or better yet, out of the country). Last, of all, and mind

Now that mid-terms are over we can relax a little and enjoy some of the optional benefits of attending NAIT. A.M.S. is here to help you achieve a more professional outlook and management know-how. Speakers, dinner meetings, publications, tours and seminars are some of the optional benefits open to A.M.S. members. We are currently planning a tour of a local petroleum industry. Get in the business groove, you've got just seven months left. Join today and take advantage of informative and fun activities while you can. Room T-603A is the place.

October 18 a group of A.M.S. members spent the day at a seminar in the elegant surroundings of the MacDonald Hotel. The seminar was fantastic. The speaker was informative and interesting. The meal was excellent. The interaction at the tables was engrossing as the members discussed pressures of inter-relationships in business. As the day progressed, we discovered why these types of pressures exist and how we can help alleviate them in the future. Better daily time management and goal setting were important areas of eliminating stress. The seminar was time well spent.

Reminder: On October 31, during common hour, Mr. Fimiak from the Department of Consumer Affairs will be discussing Small Business Bankruptcy. Everyone is welcome. Turn your free time into future investments. See you there.

PICRIC ACID. THAT'S WHO!

For those people who care, and for those who don't, we would like to set the record straight on last week's article PICRIC WHO?

Oh, it's true such a thing did happen in the G-wing on Monday, but it is not quite conceivable that the rest of the article could be believed.

To start things off the acid mentioned in the title and all through the column, is spelled wrong. Correctly it should be written as on word --picric. And although it is volatile, it in no way resembles nitro-glycerin in structure. Nitro-glycerin is a trinitroglycerin molecule ( $\text{CH}_2\text{NO}_3\text{CHNO}_3\text{CH}_2\text{NO}_3$ ) or to put it simply a 3 carbon molecule. But picric acid is a trinitrophenol ( $\text{C}_6\text{H}_2(\text{NO}_2)_3\text{OH}$ ) compound composed of three nitrite ions  $\text{NO}_2$  attached to 2,4,6 of a phenol ring.

Like nitro-glycerin, picric acid is a primary explosive (not secondary) used in just such a manner. Its yellow crystals are very poisonous and, as you all know, is highly explosive especially when in contact with metals or metal oxides. Despite picric acid's explosive tendencies it has a wide range of uses. Not one; incidentally, being the one dramatized in last week's article.

Along with being explosive picric acid is also used in the manufacturing of external medicine; dyes (starting point in manufacturing of ink, shoe polishes and leather, wood, textile dyes); matches; electric batteries; and etching copper. As for why such a chemical was kept at NAIT, is something of no great concern, for the chemical has been kept in storage since the institute opened some fifteen years ago and during that time the acid has been utilized some five odd times in experiments like the above. Due to the acids age and, probably, general uselessness it was in the best interests of all that the chemical be removed by the RCMP Bombsquad. And that is the truth about what really occurred on that Monday afternoon.

And a note to the alias Mr. Ness, the next time you get the urge to do some analytical writing on a similar topic come down to the Chemistry wing. There is always someone around you could ask. After all, that's what we are being trained for.

Dear John:

When we first met we made it through the high point with great difficulty. Later, as we started getting more relaxed we began to up-elevate. A few times we went through a very steep elevation hand in hand. Together we tried a few different angles, although we were certainly looking forward to the wedge. In a short while we will all be starting to thin out and the parting, although difficult will start to taper off. Hope it's up elevation all the way in your future. To put it quite bluntly we will miss you.

GRADE 12 DEPARTMENTAL EXAMS

The Edmonton Public School Board Trustees voted five to three last night in favour of returning to Grade 12 Departmental exams. The board was responding to interest Alberta Education expressed in returning to province-wide standard. They will recommend to Education Minister Dave King that 30 per cent of a student's final mark should be determined by province-wide tests in all Grade 12 subjects.

Last night's 4-3 endorsement also calls on the department of Education to ensure the exams are properly developed so they validly represent and measure the major subject emphasis in each subject through-out the province. It also asked for a mandatory Grade 12 curriculum, should the position be accepted.

Departmental examination were abolished in 1973 and Grade 12 students have since been assessed on their year's work.

A report commissioned by the Federal government says about five million adult Canadians are illiterate. The report says that five million can't read, write, or do arithmetic well enough to function adequately in society. It also says that public authorities are ignoring the problem. It says illiteracy increases the cost of unemployment benefits, welfare, health care and worker's compensation.

This report may sound a little extreme, but there are many cases, where after spending 12 years in school, and finally getting to University, many young people discover that they cannot read, write or add adequately. In the last few years, students have been forced to re-do high school English and Mathematics before starting their course. This neither seems fair to the student, or the University. The people who should really make a stink about the education programs are the student, because it's the students who get out of high-school feeling like they've been ripped off.

Maybe Departmental exams are the answer, and maybe a stricter selection of teachers, is another.

ROMANE

ROMANE --An Interesting Experience.

Starting about 9:30 pm Friday the 19th, Romane captured a small audience of about 50 people. The pace of the performance started off quite slow with a bizarre card trick leading up to a mind reading demonstration.

At first, Romane had difficulty drawing volunteers on stage to aid him in his mystifying adventures. But he soon helped the audience drop their inhibitions by simply walking through the audience choosing people at random. Once these volunteers were willing to cooperate, the stage was set for an evening of entertainment.

The first half ended with two interesting acts. The first began with the subjects being hypnotised (placed under a state of suggestion), then being asked to believe they were members of an orchestra. Complete with a conductor, this 15 piece group produced some really beautiful music (or at least they thought they did). Next our subjects were taken on an airplace ride to New York. Fortunately, the supposed forces didn't cause anyone to reach for an air sickness bag!

After a short 15 minute intermission, Romane started the second and better half of the show. Using only seven people this time, Romane caught the audiences sense of humour using antics such as a perceived beauty contest and creating a day we have all dreamed for, a day when it rains money. These situations were perceived and acted out by the volunteers in such a way that almost put the audience on the floor in tears of laughter.

It's a shame that more people couldn't find time to attend this mystifying event. Romane is definitely a different entertaining experience. Well worth the time and money.

BAKED COTTAGE ROLL

Cottage rolls can be found in most grocery stores. It's a roll of cheap ham, and bought by the pound. When shopping for a cottage roll pick out one with the least fat.

If you have an oven, you can make this dish, but if you cook on a hot plate you can cut slices off for small steaks. Preheat oven to 325F.

Place cottage roll on pan with lid on top.

Pour over top 3 cups of beer or gingerale.

Cover and bake in oven for 3 hours, or until tender. Eat hot or cold. The leftovers from your cottage roll serves as an inexpensive sandwich ham for lunches.

If you've got some good recipes, that are inexpensive and easy to make, drop me a note and we'll put them in Betty's Crock.

YOUR HORRORSCOPE For Friday, Oct. 26, 1979

Aries [Mar 21 - Apr 19]
Cancel your doctors appointment. you will be so sick that you won't be able to get out of bed to go and see the doctor.

Taurus [Apr 20 - May 20]
Don't drink any alcoholic beverages today. If you do, you will swallow the olive and choke to death.

Gemini [May 21 - June 20]
An airplane will have a heavy load of beef on board. As the plane flies over your house, the beef will fall out of the plane and on top of your roof. The roof will cave in and ruin your house. You will have to go and buy new furniture, but think of the good things: you won't have to go grocery shopping for years.

Cancer [June 21 - July 22]
You will be smoking in a restaurant and blow smoke in someone's face. They will get annoyed at you and start your hair on fire. Who says smoking is bad for your health?

Leo [July 23 - Aug 22]
At a friendly poker game, a sore loser will tear the deck of cards in half, smash the table into pieces, and rip the legs off of all the chairs. He will say sorry, then you will play a game of crazy eights.

Virgo [Aug 23 - Sept 22]
You will be sleeping and at two o'clock in the morning you will hear a knock at the door. You will get out of bed and slip on a roller skate, fall down the stairs, and chip your tooth on the floor. You will answer the door, and nobody will be there.

Libra [Sept 23 - Oct 22]
You will have any expensive ear operation. While you are watching cartoons on TV, a tone deaf lady will sign you a signing telegram through an open window and the sound will ruin your ears and break every glass in the house.

Scorpio [Oct 23 - Nov 21]
A secret admirer will throw pebbles at your window during the night. You won't wake up, so he'll throw bigger rocks. This will cause your window to break. It is cold outside so your lips will freeze. You will never be able to pucker-up again so you will never have anymore lovers.

Sagittarius [Nov 22 - Dec 21]
No more searching for a job. Today you will learn a trade. You will get caught robbing a gas station and you will learn to make license plates.

Capricorn [Dec 22 - Jan 19]
Don't speed today. Driving your car that is. If you do an RCMP will stop you and give you a ticket. While your car is parked along the highway, when the fuzz is giving you the ticket, a billboard will fall on top of your car and it will be totalled.

Aquarius [Jan 20 - Feb 18]
Tonight you will get to sleep underneath the stars. You will be fixing your garage roof and the ladder will fall to the ground. You will be stuck on the roof for 3 days and 2 nights. The second night it will rain and you will come down with pneumonia.

Pisces [Feb 19 - Mar 20]
Today you will wake up feeling better than you have ever felt. But is that fair, someone else in this world is feeling rotten. Don't be selfish, think of the other people. You shouldn't have a good time when someone else isn't. Have a rotten time and walk around with your head down.

"Eat to the Beat"

There is a common misconception about this band that irks all of its members--Blondie is not Deborah Harry, Blondie is a group, or which Harry is the central figure. Her unique look, which can be innocent at times and harsh at others, has contributed to the group's present level of success; but, musically speaking, the single that really broke ground for them was 'Heart of Glass', with its pulsating synthesizers and spacey vocals, from their last release, 'Parallel Lines'. On "Eat to the Beat", that same pulsating effect can be heard on a couple of cuts, such as "Atomic" and "The Hardest Part". But this album also branches off in some different directions than "Parallel Lines" explored. Some of it works; some of it doesn't. It works on the title cut, and on "Living in the Real World", both high-energy rockers. But things fall flat on "Victor"--Harry sounds like she is being stabbed to death and is screaming in pain, backed by a male chorus from a horror movie. She also has trouble carrying off slow ballads, in particular "Sound-a-Sleep"--a combination of insipid lyrics and a simplistic melody make this sound like a children's lullaby. (Or maybe that was the desired effect?) The album's new single, "Dreaming", is an adequate song but there is stronger material here to be heard. The recommended cut is "The Hardest Part",--a bouncy tune about an armoured car heist that makes crime sound like fun. With the exception of drummer Clem Burke, everyone in the band contributed material, which makes for an interesting variation in song styles. But will it be as successful as "Parallel Lines"? My guess is it will fare even better, and I think it's a superior album for the most part. The true answer, however, remains to be seen. Carol Ann Retallack

CANOE TEAM WINS BRONZE

Last Saturday, Oct. 20, 1979 the Alberta Colleges Athletic Association Canoe Championships were held in Calgary. Mist mixed with snow hung over the Glenmore Reservoir at the Calgary Sailing Club Dock. Snow early 15 cm deep covered the shorelines while canoe teams from Red Deer, Grande Prairie, SAIT, Camrose and NAIT challenged each other and the elements for supremacy.

The women's team placed third, winning a Bronze ACAC Medal for completing the 3 mile course behind Camrose and two Red Deer teams. The two starting paddlers from NAIT were Liz Thomas from Dental Lab and Tracy Grosenick from Bio Sciences. Avoiding the bunching and setting a steady pace made the change over to Wendy Rockafellow from Bio Science and Marie Hostyn from Men's Hairstyling smooth and efficient. Wendy and Marie cut the distance between Red Deer and NAIT for the next lap. Brenda Springer from Computer Systems and Carol Faulkner from Secretarial Arts worked hard to catch the team ahead. It wasn't until the medal presentations that NAIT realized she had made the medal standings as one Red Deer team was exhibition only. Congratulations to the NAIT Women's Canoe Team for their strong finish!

The NAIT Men's Canoe Team was an exciting 6 mile race. The lead canoe with Larry Lancaster from Plastics and Bob Ward from Earth Resources was outraced by the strategy and strong men's teams from SAIT, Camrose and Red Deer. The second lap saw Robert Grant from Electronics and Marty Bince from Electronics recover from a sloppy change over and an incorrect course choice, to close the gap between third and fourth place. David Murray from Electronics and Mike Breunig from Civil put on the most masterful performance of the competition powering their canoe to within one half a canoe length of third place. However the designated finish line found them in fourth position. This well fought race showed that only sixty seconds separated first place from fourth place. Well done team!!! With three quarters of the team eligible and experienced for next years competition, the NAIT Men's Canoe Crew should be ready to win!!!!

The mixed team event consisting of Michael Evans from Telecom and Michelle Kaminsky from Ladies Hairstyling; Jackie O'Rourke from Bio Science and Alasdair Mills from Bio Science; and Cip Wingrove from Millwork and Carpentry and Fab Schmidt, completed the course in fifth place. The challenge for fourth was made - but was too late. NAIT finished the six mile course strongly.

The war canoe teams found the elements the challenge!!!

Two teams finished and two teams provided the rescue boat with a test. NAIT was proclaimed true to its' northern Ookpik image by swimming in the reservoir. Despite a twenty yard handicap, NAIT finished fifth.

The season has been short and NAIT has been well represented by the 1979 NAIT Canoe Team. Thank you for a great season!! NAIT Canoe Club is on Thursday evenings at the NAIT pool.

ATHLETE OF THE WEEK

IAN SORENSEN

Ian is a second year student in Carpentry. He's been a member of the Mayfair Gold and Country Club for the past ten years. This year Ian was the low qualifier for the Alberta Amateur with a 72.

As a member of the NAIT golf team for the past two years Ian has helped NAIT become a power. In last year's championships win Ian finished 5th over-all with rounds of 77 and 81 and helped lead NAIT to a record 39 stroke victory (633). This year in Red Deer Ian finished 3rd with rounds of 77 and 81 and if not for a horrendous double bogey seven on number 14 he probably would have won the individual honours. His 158 total lead NAIT to a second place finish just six strokes behind SAIT and 23 strokes up on 3rd place Red Deer.

SOCCER

The NAIT Soccer team, under the direction of coach Stuart Brown, defeated Grant MacEwan 7 - 2 in a return exhibition game last Sunday the 21st October. George Arnazy and Will Garden scored two goals each, while Ted Chruciel, Steve Shields and Bill Mainwarin added singles. Ron Simon played an excellent game as an attacking full back, and Tony Quo Vadis had another strong game as goalkeeper.

Stuart Brown has arranged another game this Sunday at 12 noon here at NAIT, weather permitting, against PWA, and has made application to the Kinsmen Indoor League for the upcoming winter season.

Let's Talk Sports

by Gina Noce

News Brief: In an effort to unite the coaches and athletes from different teams, Dave Hoy, Greg Meropoulos and Perry Pearn, respective coaches for men's and ladies' basketball and hockey, have introduced SUPERSTAR CHAMPIONSHIP.

The Trio started planning the superstar event in September. And they are hoping it will become an annual event at NAIT.

The event will take place this Saturday October 27, 1979 at NAIT. It commences at 10:00 am and goes to 4:00 pm. "SUPERSTAR 79" wraps up in the evening with a social for all the participants.

Spectators are welcome. Here's a list of what you can expect to see: Bowling, Pool Table Golf, Balloon Relay, T-Shirt Relay, Inner Tube Relay, Pizza Eating Contest, Tug-of-War, Running Relay and 3 Leg Race. SEE YOU THERE!

News Brief: Regular Game schedules are just around the corner for basketball, hockey and volleyball. Get ready to cheer. There's no reason for NAIT team's not playing to capacity crowds at home

The athlete's and coaches are putting a lot of work and time in practices alone. The teams are putting the following amount of practice time per week:

MEN'S BASKETBALL	7 hours
LADIES BASKETBALL	6 hours
HOCKEY	7 hours
WOMEN'S VOLLEYBALL	5 hours
MEN'S VOLLEYBALL	4 hours

In my opinion, even if the teams go through the season without a win, does not constitute a reason for lack of fan support. The players, coaches and team managers (sorry if I missed anyone) deserve recognition and encouragement for waht they are doing. And only YOU can do that by supporting them.

If you're one of those who says "I don't care" sports doesn't affect me. You're wrong. The sports scene is part of NAIT's total image and NAIT's image affects you when you're going for a job interview...

FOR YOUR INFORMATION, when articles are handed in to the paper which deal with sports I must know who wrote them. However, this information does not have to be revealed to anyone else. If there's any questions or complaints about an article, they should come to me and not to the coach or other people who are involved with the sport.

CROSS-COUNTRY TEAM

Temp: -3 C.
Snow: 10 cm
Conditions: Slippery and Snowing
Reaction: You are kidding. We have to run in this.

These were the conditions and reactions of the Cross-Country runners in the ACAC Fall Sports Weekend held in Calgary on Saturday, October 20.

Despite the conditions, NAIT finished very well, placing second in the mens event and third in the womens event.

The course was run through the Glenmore Reserve area of Calgary and was an excellent cross-country route. Then it began to snow on Friday morning making the course very slippery and treacherous.

Our runners came through with flying colors. Two individuals put in fantastic efforts to finish first in their respective events. Julie McDonald (Architecture), finished first in the womens event while Ken Nowosiad (Civial), finished first in the mens event.

The individual NAIT team results were:

Womens Event:
1st-Red Deer College
2nd-Camrose Luthern College
3rd-NAIT
4th-Grant McEwen Community College
5th-SAIT
6th-Grand Prarie College

Mens Event:

HOCKEY

OOKS WIN CONSOLATION

by Paul Graham

The Ooks' hockey team was victorious in the consolation round at a pre-season tournament held in Red Deer. The tournament, held last weekend, featured five teams, NAIT, Red Deer College, SAIT, Camrose and Mount Royal College.

The Ooks started play on Saturday night, with a game against the SAIT Trojans. After a scoreless first period, NAIT opened the scoring at 5:56 of the second on a goal by defenceman Dave Johnson. But SAIT scored with 30 seconds remaining in the middle frame to send the two teams into the dressing rooms tied at one. Both teams exchanged goals early in the third period. The Ooks on a goal by Dale Miller and SAIT on a goal by ex-Colorado rookie Don Cairns. Then at the midway point of the third period, SAIT took the lead for good.

Trojan defenceman Perry Pyett dumped a shot in from center ice that accidentally went off the skate of NAIT defender Larry Leblanc and into the net. SAIT led 3-2. Then the boys from down south made it 4-2 on a goal that was offside to everybody except the men in the black and white uniforms. With three minutes remaining the Ooks closed out the scoring on a powerplay goal by Jeff Elkow. Final score, Trojans 4, NAIT 3.

The loss ended any hope the Ooks had for winning the tournament. It also sent them to the consolation final, being held the next afternoon. This time the Mount Royal Cougars, another Calgary team, were the opponents. The Ooks had little trouble with the Cougars, thrashing them 9-1. Ralph Bell led the Ooks with three goals while Gerrard Jubinville pocketed two. Other NAIT markers came from Len Parsons, Bryan Pierce, Rob Morrison and Larry Leblanc. Jim Grant, making his first start in net for the Ooks, played very well, in stopping 27 shots.

The Ooks hold their league opener on Tuesday October 30th at the NAIT arena. The Camrose Vikings are the opposition and game time is 8:00 pm. Make sure you keep Tuesday night open, so you can cheer on the Ooks.

Friday night at 5:00 and 7:00 the NAIT mens and womens basketball teams take on the Grant MacEwan Community College Griffins in their first test of the season. Both schools teams appear to be stronger than last year, so the matchup should prove to be interesting entertainment, to say the least.

This years' Ookchicks feature a solid nucleus of returning players led by point guard Denise Young. With the addition of a strong crop of rookies including Diane Butterfield (former Alberta Jr. Team member) the Ookchicks should improve on their seventh place finish in the conference last year.

On the mens scene, the Ooks will be led up front by returning forwards Wayne Squires, Doug Omichinski, Gene Gerwing and Rick Davidson. The Ooks also look stronger in the backcount with the addition of Len Parsons, Brent Burn and Dave Bowley.

The Ooks will travel to Grant MacEwans Millwoods campus for this contest, the first of three games to determine supremacy in the capital city. The team needs YOUR support. Let's show those punks at G.M.C.C. what a real school spirit is all about.
