EDITOR'S NOTE

With the finals being only two weeks away we realize that it is difficult to think ahead any further than the first week of March. Somewhere in the back of everyone's mind however, is the day when we will be able to walk away from here, smiling as we read the diplomas in our hands. What comes after that? Most of us will optimistically enter the job market ready to apply our newly found skills. This job market, as you all know, is not going to welcome us as it did the grads of bygone years. Instead, we are going to have to pound a lot of pavement before we find a job that pays in excess of minimum wage, and provides us with a challenge. This brings us to the point of this editorial. In order to make job hunting easier come spring we have got to start to prepare now, and NAIT is trying to give us all the help it can. There will not be an annual Career Day as there was in past years. There was simply not enough employer interest to merit one. Therefore we must make the most of every possible job finding opportunity made available. The most important one this year is Open House, which is scheduled for March 18th and 19th. This is not just a chance for prospective students to see us, but it is also for prospective employers to see what we have to offer.

Along with the planned advertising campaign, there have been invitations sent to approximately nine hundred people in order to bring the business community to our doorstep. Just imagine the job potential that will be here!

The best way to take full advantage of what Open House offers is to partake in your Techs display, or to volunteer in one of the many other areas where you can speak to the public. Talk to your tech rep. Find out what they have in mind for Open House. Everyone is still in the planning stage - volunteer your ideas and your time. March 18th and 19th will see a transformation from the normal NAIT student activities to a showcase for the public. Perhaps one of these people will be your next employer! Can you afford to miss this chance?

Between now and mid March, the "Nugget" will be printing more information on display specifications and, of course, awards: Watch for it and plan to get involved now.

LETTERS

Dear Editor';

In the past few weeks you have had in your Rumor Has It column something about a group called the E.F.F.U. (or the B.F.F.U. depending upon which issue you read.) Perhaps you could use your infinite resources and find out what the E.F.F.U. really stands for.

I am scared to think that they are another terrorist group bent on killing, maiming, looting, pillaging and all that other dreadful stuff that terrorists seemed to be obsessed with throughout the world.

What could they possibly want here at NAIT? After all we have fair instructors, lots of homework, a Students Association that do nothing but look out for the best interests of their fellow students (cough, cough).

If you do find out that they are a bunch of criminals, I suggest that you publish your findings for the world to see and expose whatever dirty little plan that they might have come up with. Do not worry that you could be killed for being an informer, what better way to die than by telling the truth. You would become a martyr, you would have respect. For all this death is only a small price to pay.

I demand that you do your duty and find out what this group really is and what it stands for. You must do it to protect your institute, the very place that gives a captive audience for your paper and the money to print it.

The world has had enough terror and bloodshed, now is the time to do your part and help rid the world of these petty crooks, if you do not I will know that one of your staff is a member and will soon turn this paper into little more than a comminko propaganda sheet, and try to brainwash the students of NAIT and turn the place into a battlefield. The choice is yours Nugget. I await your reply.

APOLOGY...

I would like to apologise to my Co-Editor for changing her name on last weeks masthead. This was a silly thing to do and I hope that she can find it in her heart to forgive me. I also hope that she does not have any plans for revenge because I still have that picture and it is all ready for publishing. Once again I am sorry and it might never happen again.

The Other Nugget Editor.

THE NUGGET LAWS OF EXAMS...

- 1- THE harder the exam the more you need to go to the john.
- 2- THE more important the exam, the bigger the mental block.
- 3- THE amount you cram for an exam is in direct proportion to the amount you will forget when exam time comes.
- 4- THE question you never have time to finish is always the one that is worth the most marks.
- 5- THE easier the teacher, the harder the exam.
- 6- THE time that you budget per question always ends up being about 1/10th the amount of time required to complete it.
- 7- IF the class average is high "But", the teacher says "it could have been higher if it wasn't for a few students", you end up as one of the "few students".
- 8- IF it takes the instructor a long time to mark your exam, you know you did awful.
- 9- THE teachers idea of a good exam, is your idea of a bad one.
- 10- THE best mark in the class is never yours.
- 11- YOU can never get a 100 percent, because if you do, the instructor will deduct a mark for not spelling his name correctly.
- 12- IN conjunction with number eleven, an instructors name changes in spelling in direct proportion to the number of students who almost got a 100 percent.
- 13- IF you feel that you did well...you didn't.
- 14- NO matter where you sit when exams are handed out...you are always the last to receive one.
- 15- THE time that it takes to finish a question is in direct proportion to how badly you flubbed it.
- 16- WHEN you finish an exam early and leave, the odds increase (depending upon how early) as to the number of pages that you forgot about.
- 17- THE longer and harder the exam, the faster that your calculator dies.
- 18- THE longer and harder the exam, the more your pencil tends to break.
- 19- EVERY good answer is inevitably the wrong answer.
- 20- IF you change answers on a multiple choice exam, you're sure to pick the wrong one second time around.
- 21- SURE fire answers-aren't.
- 22- WHEREVER you sit in the classroom, the person in front of you will have a musical calculator.
- 23- WHATEVER you study will not be on the exam.
- 24- ANY derogatory comment that you make about your instructor during the term is sure to be repeated to your instructor as he marks your paper.
- 25- BUILD up your confidence before an exam...You will need it when you get your exam back.
- 26- IF you skip a class, it is certain that the material will be the major content of your exam.
- 27- IF you spend a whole night devising fool proof cheat sheets, the exam will turn out to be open book.
- 28- THE hardest exam is always scheduled for 8:00 a.m. Monday morning.
- 29- IF an exam seems to be going well...you obviously don't know what the hell is going on.
- 29- ANY question on an exam is guaranteed to be completely different from any you have done in class.
- 31- IT is guaranteed that your instructor will have a fight with her/her spouse just before marking your exam.
- 32- AN answer written on the hand is safer than two in the memory.
- 33- IF you say that you will be early at the exam room to get a good seat, you always end up being later than the rest of people who had the same thought. Consequently the worst seat.
- 34- THE later you are for an exam, the slower the traffic.
- 35- THE room the exam is in is always the one that you have never had to find before.
- 36- THE question that is worth the most marks is the type of question that you did not study for because you knew it wouldn't be on the exam.
- 37- THE day that you have to write the most exams is always the day that you forgot your change for the coffee machine, your cigarettes, and your wallet.
- 38- THE exam you thought you were writing tomorrow is always the exam you have to write today.
- 39- THE types of questions that you couldn't figure out on the assignments you had to do, are the types of questions on an exam.

DR. R.C. RAT-TRAP

Dear R.T:

I am in desperate need of your Help! I am over 20, good looking, and still a virgin. What's worse is that I'm a man!

Before you start coming up with great solutions, You had better know that I don't "party", drink to excess, smoke, or do drugs, nor am I about to start.

What I don't understand is why, everytime I go to the bar (50 times during the past year) I always seem to end up drinking alone. I can't even pick up a hooker when I can afford it (they all say they are busy).

Signed,
Lonely and Desperate.

Dear L&D:

Yours is a hard problem is solve, or a tough cherry to pop(if you will excuse the pun).

I once was in the same position that you are in, this was many years ago of course, and made a small discovery. Women actually hate nice guys. Most women dislike guys that stay away from the better things in life. Let's face it, those women who don't partake in these things are looking for an excuse to start.

What better excuse than a boyfriend who drags her out to wild parties, turns her onto good drugs, and not only drinks to excess but past excess.

I respect your right to remain clean in mind and body but if you want to meet chicks you might be looking for a long time. The paper pervert has no problems finding women and look how crude and wild he is, I am beginning to think that he could drink me under the table, and that would be something to see.

My suggestion is to start to lighten up. Learn some good crude jokes, women love it no matter how much they complain. Deep down inside they are just as crude as guys can be but they have had to hide it better. Learn to drink a little more, or at least pretend to. Finally some chick will tell what a disgusting drunk you are and you should get out of her life, and that will be the girl that is right for the real you, if by that time you can remember what you were really like.

RUMOR HAS IT!

Rumor Has It...

Once again one of our ace reporters "Eye Spy" has been busy around the hallowed halls of this institution. This weeks report is that a tower student who goes by the alias "Beaker"???, was noted modelling Gloria Vanderbuilts new 1983 spring and summer line of exotic swim wear. In order to do the job professionally, Rumor Has It "He" is going through?? Will there be another showing at the next cabaret?? We will be waiting in anticipation.

Rumor Has It...

The new vending machines change dispensers that have been around school were placed as a test for the incoming apprentices. If they accomplish this feat within their two month stay, they are invited back for next year.

Rumor Has It...

Eye Spy has again found out that a tower student by the name of Brad made his first? public appearance as a Chez Peirre, Mr. Nude Edmonton strip tease artist at a weekend cabaret. Rumor has it that his fig leaves will either be framed for placement in the front lobby or put up for public auction.

Rumor Has It...

Commercial Cooking Students who are out to rule NAIT are in the process of baking a cake "Bomb" to be displayed at the next general council meeting. This ought to spice up one of their meetings for a change!

Rumor Has It...

In order to raise money for their graduation, Secretarial Arts Students are planning to sell tickets to their annual stair climbing event. For one whole day they plan to not use the elevator unless they need to go three or more floors. The exact date of this has not been released, but everyone who uses the elevators is eagerly waiting.

Rumor Has It...

One of the NAIT Bowling team members was extra zealous in his Saturday night victory partying. By early morning he had seemed to develop a strange affection for small dark places. Luckily, someone was there to keep him from afraid of the dark.

BY YOURSTRAULY
THE BLACK HAND

Dear R.T.

All this talk about your wild drinking habits is nothing but a hoax. I have never seen you at cabarets of any of the bars around town. I think that you are the biggest bullshitter in the institute. You are probably just a normal everyday student that is living out a fantasy, care of this paper.

You might as well come clean and identify yourself and show people what a wimp you really are. After all somebody will find out and if you give yourself up now it would look better and people would only laugh for two or three weeks instead of two or three months.

As for your perverness that is all just a smoke screen, designed to keep people from knowing who you really are. Get off it R.T. you are just a phony as well as the Paper Pervert who is probably just a figment of your overworked imagination.

Signed,
A Disbeliever.

Dear A.D.

Since I have managed to keep myself anonymous from the students and staff, how the hell do you know that I have not been to any cabarets or bars?

The Paper Pervert is as real as the schnozz on your face. If you are jealous that is your problem, next time try a little beer and valium when you get upset and you realize that YOU are the ordinary student.

I will repeat myself one more time. I keep my identity secret not out of fear but to give the students here something to think and puzzle about. Besides it keeps the morality squad from dropping over and checking out my pad.

Signed,
R.T.

Dear Generallee Insane:

It is good to hear that the beer fest was a good time, I was out taking in another cabaret at the time although I did intend to check out the Golden Garter, by the time I left the one I couldn't even find the steering wheel. It sure was a good thing that there were two nice cops that offered to give me a lift home home, at least it was close to home,(it took me awhile to figure out how my bedroom window suddenly had bars on it).

It is sad to hear that Electronics had claimed another victim. I hear alot of that happens, although I think that it was a plot of Botsfordchinni to get rid of my loyal fans. I hope that he will be happy in his new location up North and that the women will be good to him. I think a wake would be a good idea. Make it an all nighter with a least ten kegs, but be ready to buy more in case more than five people show up.

As for finding two women to take his place why don't you find four and we can make it a double date. I always said that two heads are better than one. Besides it would be nicer to try somethink a little different, and it might relax us for finals. Go for it.

Thanks for another saying, it is one to put in the old scrapbook. Hang in there and don't let your class load get you down.

Signed,
R.T.

First Annual BAS Beach Bash

Once again, BAS has put on another successful cabaret. The BAS Beach Bash was held Saturday night at the ACT Recreational Centre in Rundle Park, with the ASI Stereo Dance Show playing great music throughout the night.

Although the evening got off to a slow start, it soon became apparent that the small crowd in attendance were out to have a good time.

In keeping with the theme of the cabaret, the majority of people who attended dressed in appropriate beach were complete with frisbee's, a skateboard and a football-which were kept in good use all evening.

The highlight of the evening came when the 2 best dressed "people" - one with a wig and stuffed halter top; the other with 2 fig leaves - did a dance for the audience. Perhaps they should quit school and seek full-time employment in this field!

Even though this cabaret could have benefited from better student support, those that did attend were treated to an excellent time.

Bursary Programme

THE CANADIAN ARMY WELFARE FUND

The Canadian Army Welfare Fund has established an Educational Bursary Programme to encourage and assist dependents of former members of the Canadian Army (Regular) or Canadian Army Special Forces (Korea) who served between October 1, 1946 and January 31, 1968. Selection of recipients is based on financial need, scholastic ability, and length of service in the Canadian Army.

Bursaries are granted for full-time tuition at a Canadian university, college or at a community college or technical institute requiring not less than two years, leading to a certificate, diploma or baccalaureat degree. Applicants must not be older than 25 years of age, single, and able to provide details of their parents' Army service, i.e. rank, service number and length of service.

Application deadline: July 1, 1983

Applications are available at: Financial Aid and Awards, Room 117 - Counselling.

It's You

Snow flakes fall, soft and cold,
But I can't feel them, as each other's hand we hold.
Night-time falls and it's dark outside,
But I don't care with you by my side.
Your warmth and beauty light the way,
And by your side I want to stay.
For you, my love, are my Guiding Light,
Your presence seems to make things right.
And I can't hide from your searching eyes,
Your beauty draws me to the skies.
Eyes that shine like starlight bright,
Hair like silk, so soft and light,
The gentle curve of chin and cheeks,
Are like the moon at summer's peak.
And how can I, so meek and humble,
Dare talk with you and do not stumble,
On words which mean so many things,
While spirits soar on skylarks wings.
And all of this because of you,
Oh please, my dear, say your love is true.

COOL CAT

by Dennis Brownlee

It was a sunny Sunday morning in Black Bush, Saskatchewan. Neighbors watched as Mrs. Blackheart got into her Audi and was off for early morning mass. Mrs. Blackheart was a widow, and the neighbors whispered that her constant nagging and her herd of cats had driven her husband to an early grave. Cats had been seen peering through the windows from early morning until darkness fell.

It was now nearing noon, and Mrs. Blackheart was just returning from church. As she entered her home the screeching, stamping and squealing of a rock band could be heard coming from next door. "Come my pretties! Mama has your liver ready". She grinned broadly as they lined up for dindin. The pounding from next door went on and on. "For now, my pretties, we will have to put up with this ungodly noise, but their time will come and they will pay for their sins". Her head throbbed to the thumping of the drums. "Now my pretties we will continue our little lesson". She pulled a string, a manikin dropped out from the roof; instantly a swarm of cats - the thing torn to bits. The twang of the guitar drove her to the phone. "We'll put a stop to the devil's work"! She dialed Mr. Hardrock's number, and let the phone ring until she heard his voice. "Is that you Mr. Hardrock? Can you hear me Mr. Hardrock? A parcel was delivered to my house by mistake. Would you come over and pick it up"? "Oh yes I sure will, I'll be over right away", answered Mr. Hardrock. "Good we'll see you in a minute, bye", replied Mrs. Blackheart. "Now remember our plan, my babies, I'll seduce him into the bedroom and when I open the bedroom door, you cuties can have your fun." Soon there was a knock on the door. It was Mr. Hardrock. "How's she going, Mrs. Blackheart?" says Hardrock. "Oh I have a few aches but I think if I take a couple of aspirins I'll be fine in the morning. I have your parcel. It's up in the bedroom; you'll have to come in and get it. It's pretty heavy". They walk to the bedroom together. Mrs. Blackheart is grinning from ear to ear as she opens the door.

The cats remembered the plan very well. They tore Mrs. Blackheart to shreds. Mr. Hardrock returns home and the beat goes on.

6:59 a.m. Roll Call:

"All right, last item. The Captain has expressed a warning for those, who shall remain nameless, who attended last night's soiree at the Johnson Hotel. Said partygoers would have been arrested had Captain Furillo not had a discussion with the captain of Midtown. I know no one knew that the boys from Midtown had planned last night's raid; however, people, PLEASE keep in mind that, as officers of the law, we must ourselves follow those laws and act in a manner worthy of the badge on-duty-wise, off-duty-wise, and otherwise. In other words, no more "Pin a Tail on the Bunny". Okay, let's roll, and HEY!... Let's be careful out there!"

"Oh, Bobby, remind me tomorrow to ask you what happened last night."

"You don't want to know, Cowboy."

"BELKER!"

"Hey, Mick, what is this guy charged with?"

"Indecent exposure...SIT DOWN, HAIRBAG!! Name?"

"Glute."

"FULL name, Roman Dog Breath?"

"Gluteus Maximus..."

"Excuse me, Captain, you wanted to see me?"

"Yes, Henry. Listen, I don't care what it takes, but find out who's idea it was to put raw sewage in my locker last night."

"Yes, the smell was offal, wasn't it?"

"Henry, when I find out who it was, that person will be doing a week of patrolling the sewers. If you're not going to take this as seriously as I am, you better be prepared to keep that person some company under the streets for that week."

"Yes, sir."

"Captain, may I have a tête-à-tête with you?"

"What is it now, Howard?"

"Frank, I wholly feel that it is every red-blooded American citizen's Constitutional right to read anything he covets. However, I am discordant that anyone would even dare partake in a study of a publication that promulgates what I consider to be the most unelevated amative philosophy on coition one could hold, and I am indignant that some miscreant sociopath would bequeath such a veneral periodical on an area of executive work."

"Howard, would you please say it in simple English!"

Chemical Tech and Medical Lab. Cabaret

The hall was packed on Friday night with a crowd in the normal NAIT Friday mood. Included in the crowd were some of the bowling teams that came up to our fair city to compete in the ACAC tournament that took place this weekend.

The music was provided by Crystal Clear, a DJ outfit that had a good selection of dance tunes that kept the crowd hopping and bopping all night long. My only question is when are DJ's going to convert to cassettes? It is very annoying to be on the dance floor and try and keep beat to the needle as it bounced along the various records, keeping time with the enthusiastic crowd. However, you just made the best of it and everyone must have because the floor was packed all night and everyone yelled for more at the end of the night.

The beer alternated from warm to hot and was always in plentiful supply. As far as I could tell there were no major problems with crowd control so the bouncers had an easy evening. The only crowd problem was on the dance floor because a few people seem to think that they were the only ones on it and continued to dance appropriately. My hat is off to one of the NAIT bowlers who found it easier to dance on a single chair then trying to make it out to the dance floor, (her rendition of the bird dance was great).

As cabarets go, this one rated about a 7.5 on a scale of 10. It seemed to be well organized and well planned out. Keep up the good work gang and I look forward to the next one.

NAITS' RETURN TO THE GOLDEN GARTER

Last Friday, the students of NAIT had a choice of three cabarets to attend. One of these was the Golden Garter beerfest sponsored by NAITSA. This is the first time in two years that the students of this school have been allowed to hold a function at the Golden Garter, so there was some apprehension before hand as to if we would be invited to return again.

Generally, if you arrive at a cabaret after 8:30 the choice of seating available is very limited. At this event however, you could still find a chair at midnight, as there was only about half the number of people there that there could have been. Perhaps this was because of NAITSA's decision to only allow two guests per NAIT student member.

The "Cosmetics" who have been a drawing card for other cabarets, put on a good show. They are always able to get the crowd onto the dance floor and keep them in a party mood. Their major downfall, as with many bands who have been around for a while, is that they take very long breaks (45 minutes) between sets.

But, even though the place was not even close to full, the five hundred or so people that were there did have a good time. The dance floor was not overcrowded, and there were no lineups for tickets or for drinks. There also was not a repeat of the beer fight that occurred at the fall beerfest. We were able to show the people who manage the Golden Garter that NAIT students are capable of having a good time and not destroying wherever they hold a major function. It is just too bad that there were not more of us there to prove this.

CHARIOTS OF FIRE.

This is a story of 2 men who run...not to run...but to prove something to the world. They will sacrifice anything to achieve their goals...except their honor.

SHEE MOOSE WEEK

The male revenge is now taking place. Tired of being sexually discriminated against and left out of beauty pageants, Mr. Teen Canada events and most important NAIT's own Queen contest, the male population now has a chance to even the score. The function is the Shee Moose will pick the male first year student who is to sit beside the new queen for the upcoming year. This is a new activity at the school and has been met with a rather mild response from the student population. This is either do to a lack of interest on the part of the female students of the school or a lack of knowledge of the events. The first of the events staged to separate the men from the real men was the canoe packing race. This involved getting 8 people, both male and female, into a canoe and paddling it through a course. The difference is they had to use their hands for paddles. The winner of the first event was Dan from dental, second was Pat McFee from BCET & Sec. and in third David from Earth Resources. In the second day of action the contestants and their groups were involved in the dreaded back pack run. This involves putting a 20 pound pack on your back and running through an obstacle course. The course includes a rope swing over a certain distance, high stepping through a set of 6 old tires, crawling under two short tables, jumping over a pommel-horse, running around a course set out on the floor, and eating three marshmallows. The winner of this event was Peter from IHET in second was Jeff from Architecture and in third was Pat from BCET & Sec. If the fun that prevailed at these two initial events is any indication of how the rest of the events are going to go, be sure to get out and catch some of the action.

ACAC BOWLING TOURNAMENT

This was the last tournament for the bowling team and the NAIT team was out for victory. The tournament started on Friday Feb. 11, 1983 at Plaza Bowl, and continued on the 12th, a total of ten games were played spread out over the two days, with 6 games Friday and four on Saturday.

Teams arrived from SAIT, Medicine Hat College, Grant MacEwan, and NAIT. The atmosphere was friendly but competitive and the noise level was set by the first team cheer and rarely dropped to anything lower than a dull roar. The pace was set after the first game and everyone did all they could to keep their teammates relaxed and encouraged to keep up, anyone who fell behind on the first day found it to be a tough struggle to catch up. By the end of the first day it was fairly close between the first and second place teams in all three divisions. With sore throats and tired bodies everyone looked forward to a night of rowdy drinking and partying. Most of the teams took advantage of the cabaret tickets that were laid aside by Chem Tech and Med. Lab especially for this event, thanks guys, they were really appreciated.

On Saturday the teams returned to finish off the battle, however everyone did not look as healthy the day before, in fact the place looked like a funeral home, however the NAIT team overcame their hangovers and started off another day of chanting and cheering, much to the disgust and pain of the other teams. All it took was one team to start and soon everyone got into it, and the noise level matched and sometimes became louder than the day before.

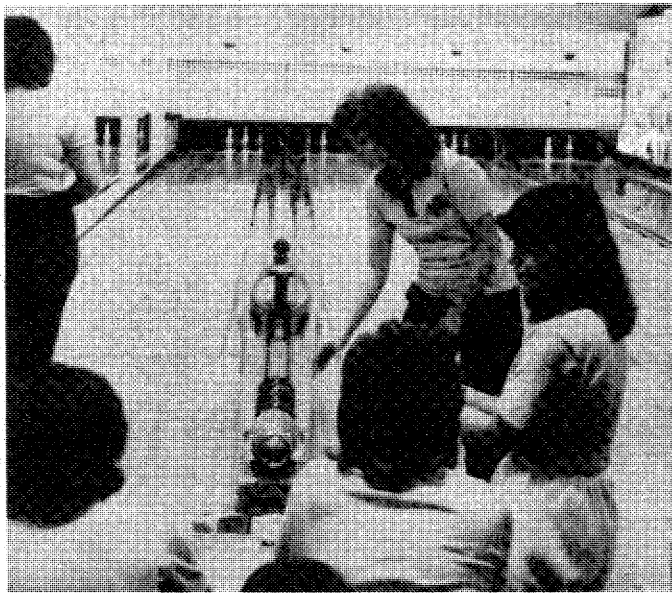

Competition was just as heavy and it was down to the wire finish except for the men's division in which Medicine Hat pulled out in front and stayed there despite NAIT's attempts to catch them. The scores however started to reflect the night before however were high enough to make the tournament that much more competitive.

At the end of the tournament the long wait for the final results began, some teams sat and talked quietly among themselves while other masochists like NAIT continued cheering, cheering for the opposition, the coaches, beer, the 118th St. liquor store, and sex were among some of the things that were cheered for.

The moment of truth came when Barb Hanson approached the mike and began announcing the winners. In the Men's division: The Bronze was won by SAIT, the Silver went to NAIT, and the Gold went to Medicine Hat. In the Women's division: The Bronze went to NAIT, the Silver went to Red Deer College, and the Gold was taken by SAIT, for the fourth time in four years. In the Mixed division: The Bronze went to SAIT, the Silver went to Medicine Hat, and for the first time in 7 years the NAIT team won the Gold medal, by only 23 points over Medicine Hat.

Congratulations go out to all the teams who found the time to come up here and participate. Next year the tournament will be held in Grande Prairie, so all you first year students who like to bowl start planning to try out next year.

Of course the NAIT victory party Saturday night will remain a closed affair, seeing that it was a private affair and I don't remember all that much except arriving home some time the next day. For more info check out the Rumor Has It column.

Wednesday, February 9th at Camrose NAIT Oaks 8 Camrose Vikings 4

Six second period goals on the way to a 8-4 victory over the Camrose Lutheran College Vikings on Wednesday, February 9th at Camrose.

Camrose gained a 1-0 lead on John Walker's powerplay goal at 8:04. One minute and 45 seconds later, NAIT's Ken Ludwig scored the equalizer.

In the second, CLC jumped in front with the man advantage on Ian Hutchison's tally at the 3:06 mark. Fifty-seven seconds elapsed before Randy Repchuk brought NAIT even. The NAIT powerplay capitalized at 5:44 when Brian Hermanutz found the net. With 7:33 elapsed in the frame, Randy Repchuk notched his second of the night. Forty-seven seconds later, CLC's Don Lauweryssen cut NAIT's lead to 5-3. NAIT's Gary Hoekstra increased the Oaks advantage to 7-3 by picking up a pair of goals at 9:59 and 14:25 respectively. NAIT rearguard Dean Burles collected his first goal of the season at the 16:38 mark to round out the period's scoring.

With his second goal of the evening, Dean Burles widened NAIT's lead to 8-3. Darcy Younghans of CLC closed out the games scoring with eight minutes and three seconds left in regulation time.

In the Camrose nets, Alan Skip redirected 41 NAIT shots. His NAIT counterpart, Cleo Rowein blocked 20 Mount Royal drivers.

The key to the win was NAIT's forechecking in the second period led by the line of Ken Ludwig, Randy Repchuk, and Garth Hayes. Throughout the frame, NAIT hemmed Camrose in their own zone and outshot the Vikings 23 to 3.

Saturday, February 12th at NAIT Arena NAIT Oaks 10 Mount Royal College Cougars 0

The NAIT Oaks extended the Mount Royal College Cougars winless streak to 21 games with a 10-0 blanking of MRC on Saturday, February 12th at the NAIT Arena.

Dean Burles and Rick Karst paced the NAIT attack with a pair of tallies each. Gary Hoekstra, Warren Sanregret, Ken Ludwig, Kevin Imrie, Darrell Hughes and Brian Hermanutz rounded out the night's scoring.

NAIT gained a 4-0 lead after one, and increased the advantage to 7-0 following two. The final NAIT 10, MRC 0.

The star of the contest was Brad Breakell in the NAIT nets who turned away 20 shots in collecting the shutout. The shutout was the first for the Oaks this season.

Sunday, February 13th at NAIT Arena NAIT Oaks 6 SAIT Trojans 4

The NAIT Oaks completed a weekend sweep of their Calgary rivals with a 6-4 triumph over the SAIT Trojans on Sunday, February 13th at the NAIT Arena.

Kevin Hayes of the Oaks scored first on the powerplay at 1:26. SAIT's Dave Kinklater tied the game at 1-1, 3:13 into the contest. The Trojans gained a 2-1 lead two minutes and 30 seconds later on Curt Hunter's marker. Goals by Dean Burles at 8:49 and Gary Hoekstra at 16:45 gave NAIT a 3-2 advantage following 20 minutes.

SAIT's Chris Orban evened the score at 3-3 with 5:10 elapsed in the second frame. At 9:29, Randy Repchuk netted the go-ahead goal for NAIT. The lead was short lived as SAIT's Kelly Davis made the score 4-4 less than a minute later.

Jeff Hendricks notched the winning goal for the Oaks at the 15:27 mark and added an insurance goal with 21 seconds remaining in the period. There was no scoring in the third.

The SAIT duo of Scott Webster and Wade Corbiell stopped 28 NAIT drives. Cleo Rowein of the Oaks was tested 33 times by SAIT shooters.

In the contest, SAIT scored three of their four goals on the powerplay. Each and every NAIT player must realize that they are no good to the team in the penalty box. In post season play, the team which takes fewer penalties will come out victorious. NAIT cannot afford to lose any of its players by spending time in the sin bin. The Oaks must also realize that fighting has no place in future games.

Each and every player on the NAIT Oaks must place team goals ahead of individual goals in order for the team to do well in post-season play. Encouragement in practice and game situations will assist in building confidence and strengthening the squad.

ON THE BENCH: The Oaks have a record of 15-8, and have clinched second place in the ACAC...There are no major injuries on the Oaks, just bumps and bruises... Forward Jeff Hendricks is starting to get things together as the season comes to a close...The Oaks complete their regular season schedule on Saturday, Feb. 19th when they host the CLC Vikings at the NAIT Arena. Game time is 7:30...Post season play starts the following week with NAIT meeting SAIT or CLC in the first round of the playoffs.

In the last week the girls have been very busy and have played a total of 7 matches. Their first action came on Wednesday, Feb. 9, when they played Red Deer College in a league game. They came up with a performance that was below the level they are capable of and were defeated in three straight games. They were close to winning one of the games but a late rally by RDC salvaged the win for them.

On the weekend, the girls were at Grant MacEwan Community College for an 8 team tournament. The tournament was set up in a rather unusual way and had the girls play three sets on Saturday. In the 3 matches they played 7 games and lost only one. They beat the Jr. Panda's 2-1, the Calgary Volleyball Club in 2 straight, and the Eagles, a city league team, in 2 straight games. These victories advanced the girls to the playoff round along with the Jr. Panda's. In the playoff round they were assessed on a total wins system. They played 2 sets that were both the best 2 out of 3 matches. They split the first set against a senior women's league team, the Red Wings. In the second set, they played their cross town rivals and tournament hosts GMCC. In 2 close games they were unable to obtain a victory with scores 15-13 and 15-12. After this part of the tournament, the girls were in third place. After a 10 minute break from the GMCC game the girls had to face the Jr. Pandas again to establish third place overall for the tournament. The team was emotionally and physically drained and lost to the U of A team in 2 games straight. They may have only placed fourth in the tournament but their win loss record was 7 wins and 6 losses. Their next action is this weekend here against Grande Prairie.

Volleyball Ookchicks

Ookpiks

The guys have been busy in the last week. They have played in one regular season game and were in one tournament.

The guys faced Red Deer College on Wednesday Feb. 9, and came away from the match the losers 3 games to 1. Each team managed to blow the other team away in one game but the determining factor in the set was the fact that Red Deer won the close games.

On the weekend the guys were involved in a 6 team tournament. At the end of the round robin segment of the tournament NAIT was in third place having only lost two sets to GMCC and Drumheller. The rest of the standings were a Camrose league team in fourth, the team from CFB Namao in fifth, and in last was the team from Hinton. In the playoff NAIT faced Drumheller but lost 3 straight. After eliminating NAIT, the Drumheller squad went on to play the winner of the other playoff action, Grant MacEwan, and gave them the same treatment that they gave our guys. In our final action of the tourney we had to play the team from Camrose. By the time this game came around, the team was tired and were not emotionally ready. Subsequently they went on to lose the match in 3 straight. The scores in the games were 15-12 and 15-13. This shows that if the guys would have been up for the match they could have easily finished in third place. Loris Campagnolo played very well for the whole weekend and was a major factor in all the teams wins. The next action for the guys is this weekend in home sets against Grande Prairie.

Basketball

Neither team had any official league action in the last week but still they have been busy. Besides the regular practices the teams go through, there has been some other action to make mention of. The girls played in an exhibition game on Monday, Feb. 14. The competition was supplied by a senior women's team from Ryley. The team played an impressive game with all members of the team getting time on the floor and all but one got on the score sheet. The NAIT offence was too much for the opposition and we opened an early 12 point lead. The girls tried to sit on the lead and this allowed the Ryley team to close the score. At the half time break the score was 29-21 in favour of the Chicks. In the second half, NAIT showed their superior abilities and slowly but steadily pulled away from their opponents. By the end of the game we had opened a 19 point lead and finished with an impressive 63-44 score. High scorers for the Chicks were Janet Weech 14, Marcy Hurlburt 12, and Jody Herbert 8 points. Although she only got 6 points Jeven Pannu played a good game for the Chicks as did Leanne Undershute.

The guy's team did not see any action as a unit but three members of the team were playing for the conference All Star team. Scott McLaren picked up after one of the other players was injured, Murray Proctor and Phil Bartlett were in action against the U of A Bears on Sunday and the U of C Dinosaurs. In the Sunday game the All Stars came away on the short end of a 74-51 score but Phil Bartlett, from the Oaks, was the high scorer with 13 points and Murray played very well. On Monday, they were in Calgary and again lost this time by a 93-70 score with Phil netting 12 points and Murray 6 more.

On a weekend that saw the Chicks win their initial league game of the season, they were led by the outstanding performances of centre Robyn Lee and forward Marcy Hurlburt. The pair combined for 50 points and 23 rebounds while anchoring a solid zone defense that limited two high scoring teams to 50 points a game. Robyn made her presence felt on offence with strong work on the boards and some excellent passing while Marcy shone on defence - forcing many turnovers and making many steals. Both first year students, Robyn (Business) and Marcy (Respiratory) have shown steady improvement in adapting to play in the A.C.A.C. We congratulate them for their weekend effort and wish them continual success through the remainder of the season.

Dean capped a outstanding week of play by scoring one goal and adding two assists as the Oaks downed Sait 6-4 on Sunday, February 13, 1983, thus clinching second place. In his week's play Burles fired a total of 5 goals and 5 assists for 10 points in three Oaks victories.

Dean is a former player with the Prince Albert Raiders of the S.J.H.L. and is a first year Building Construction Engineering Technology student. Dean has just returned to the Oaks lineup after missing 7 games with an injury. His brilliant play of late should prove very significant as the Oaks head down the play-off road.
