

ANSWER TO CAR POOLS

EDITOR'S NOTE

The world leaders are bent on total destruction of life as we know it today. They are playing a deadly game of one-upmanship, a game that has no ending but one. One that will leave mother earth nothing more than a nuclear desert. A monument to man's incredible powers of self annihilation. A frightening thought, right?

A more frightening thought in my mind, is that while all the peace movements have focused their attention on the United States and more recently Canada, with the new arms testing treaty, who is watching the U.S.S.R.?

It is all very good to say that if the U.S. destroys it's nuclear stockpile first, Soviet Russia will be good guys and follow suit. I really don't think that they will, nor do I think that no matter how many treaties are signed, how many promises sworn, the Russians have any intention of reducing their arsenals by even one megaton.

Canada itself cannot remain a nuclear free-zone. It cannot keep up it's head-in-the-sand attitude either. When you are living between two super powers it is impossible to think that just by declaring this country a nuclear free-zone that it is going to stay that way. Canada also has an obligation to NATO. We are obligated to allow the testing of UNARMED cruise missiles in Alberta, as well as any other military paraphernalia that is in need of a testing range. We also have the right to protect ourselves. Let's not kid ourselves, Canada is a prime target already and stopping the cruise will not change anything.

I agree with the protestors on one point. A nuclear war is a no win situation, everyone will be the losers. However, I feel they should start looking more in the U.S.S.R.'s direction and find out just how fast they are moving to disband their nuclear weapons. How well are the peace movements over there doing, how much have they succeeded? Nothing of course because the Kremlin does not have these concerns to worry about. They have no one to play the role of the governments conscience, they do not have to justify themselves to anybody. So while the protestors carry on making things difficult for the democratic governments of the western hemisphere the Russians go merrily along developing more weapons and placing them in the outer ring or curtain countries and then scream when NATO plans the same thing to protect their own territory, and everybody listens and demands the removal of the NATO missiles.

There is a need for equality in this serious situation. It is time that protestors stopped turning a blind eye to the east asian block, and their military buildup. If peace is ever to happen it will start when the U.S.S.R. is made to realize that the rest of the world is watching them and will no longer condone it's military policies. No more will we stand still for takeovers in small countries or interference in such countries like Poland. It is time for NATO to get tough with Russia and make the threat very clear. And once they know that we will not back down they and only then can peace talks and disarmament talks take place. If and when a disarmament is agreed upon by both sides then it must take place under the scrutiny of an impartial country who will have unlimited access to all countries involved and will be above corruption.

Nuclear warfare is a sobering thought, but one we have to live with in this age of technology. As long as stable heads are in control of these powers the earth will remain in one piece. However both sides will have to bring it under control in the very near future, or one accident is all it will take. Until the day that peace can be settled we must keep a close eye on both sides and be vigilant against further military build ups inside or outside of the two super powers as well as with the third world countries who have taken to playing with these deadly toys.

LETTERS

Dear Editor:

We would like to answer the letter written in the last issue of your delightful paper.

In response to Steward F. Duncan's letter we the E.F.F.U. would like to dispell some of the filthy rumors that he has started about us.

1. The E.F.F.U. is nothing more than a group of people who are terribly camera shy and like to keep our meeting secret out of fear of attracting undue attention to ourselves.

2. Just because we like to dress in khaki clothing, wear berets and carry funny looking walking sticks, does not necessarily mean than we are a paramilitary unit.

3. The E.F.F.U. abhors violence and bloodshed and try to avoid this whenever possible.

4. We have no connections with any of those terrorist groups that he mentioned nor do we have any intentions of making connections with them.

5. We have no 'dirty plans'. In fact our plans are open to anyone who wishes to look at them(As long as they can keep their mouths shut!).

In closing we would like to say that people like Steward are the kind of people that encourage terrorist activities and fuel their egos. We promise that you will not be hearing from this fellow again, in fact we guarantee it.

Signed

E.F.F.U.

Dear Editor:

I find the editing quality of your student paper disgusting. In fact it is a mark against the technical institute. If the quality of education is the norm as to what is printed in the paper?

The worst crime evident is your spelling. I would expect an excuse from a junior high level education, but not from the calibre which you would so highly place yourself. So all I can say is shape up or retake your "english" course. There may be possibilities for you yet. Respectfully
Mr. Hinz

DR. R.C. RAT-TRAP

Greetings

It is time again for my space wasting address to the public, students, and staff and anyone in between. Finals are approaching pretty fast and it is time that I gave a few hints on how to use those extra days when school has been canceled. For you keeners read no farther, just go back to your books and be boring. However for you party-hardy people pay attention. It is considered really jam-tartish to fall asleep at any time after your final final. The goal is to remain awake for a minimum of 48 hours. Of course what you do during this time is up to you. The "women" of 105 st. have a special on for the month of March and also have special rates for virgins and students. I would really recommend booze and drugs though seeing that they are safer in the respect that you cannot catch any little "surprises" from them.

In the area of drugs, Columbian Gold is at it's prime but this does depend on who you buy from, try to find someone with reliable references. Coke is always a hit at any party but be careful that you are not buying "Comet". Make sure that some of the unfamiliar faces at the party are not "Narcs", this does tend to end the party just a little earlier than planned.

Now for the topic of booze. This is a very good month to stock up on Four Roses, it's sparkling bouquet is a mixture of turpentine and a hockey player's armpit. Having been aged for at least a month it allows the true flavour of raw alcohol to come through. In the cheap wine department it is a toss up between Double Jack and Three Feathers. They are both around the three dollar mark and have the options of a clean paper bag and straw, ask for it at your local liquor store. As for beer it really does not matter what you buy as long as it is not that pitiful American stuff. Try to stick with Old Stock as it is the highest in alcohol content and the smoothest in taste.

With these options open to you there should be no complaints about nothing to do during our short holiday. Try something different each day and for a grand finale mix them all together on Sunday night and really be prepared for the new quarter. Always remember that there are more nutrients in a gallon of beer than in a glass of milk.

Dear R.T:
I think only a rodent of your high intellect can help me with this difficult problem. Why is it that I have to either go all the way to the tower lounge or the North Cafeteria for a simple bag of chips. I am afraid of leaving my own area of the school for fear of getting lost or worse, but my addiction to potato chips is a strong one and I feel that we people in the normal part of the school should have our own chip machine. Who do I have to see about getting either a chip machine or having some delivered.
Signed,
An Addicted D.A.

Dear A.A.D.A.
First of all have you ever considered A.A.D.A.C. I hear that they have worked miracles with your kind of addiction. Potato chips are pretty powerful stuff and if you don't watch out you could wind up with a pretty mean monkey on your back.
The people that you have to talk to are the powers that be, sometimes known as NAITSA. However, I hope that you are a first year because it will take at least a year of committees, surveys, forums and general red tape before you can get a firm decision, and even then all you might get back is a "maybe".
About the only thing that I can suggest to you is that you kick your habit and try men. They are alot more available and alot more fun, try it, you just might like it.
Signed,
R.T.

Dear R.T.
I have this serious problem that only you can help me with. I live with this foxy looking female who is everything that a girl could be. She cooks, sews, keeps a bed warm, etc...But all of a sudden I find myself being attracted to my lab partner, 6' 2", good looking and it is also a guy. What am I going to tell my roomie, what am I going to tell my lab partner, what is he going to tell his wife.
We really need your help R.T. because we can no longer go on meeting in the mens locker room after hours, the strain is beginning to show as well as some of the guilt. Please help me as soon as possible.
Signed,
AC/DC Problems

Dear AC/DC Problems:
There are two ways that you can solve this:
1. You can kill yourself and your partner.
2. You can tell your roomie and she will most likely kill you herself.
Signed,
R.T.

FOR YOU:

I gave you a sunset to close your day and a cool breeze to rest you-and I waited. I saw you fall sleeping last night and longed to touch your brow, so I spilled moonlight on your pillow and face. You awakened late and rushed off to work-my tears were in the rain. I try to tell you in the blue sky and in the quiet green grass. I whisper it to you in the leaves on the trees, breathe it in the mountain streams and give the birds love songs to sing. I clothe you with warm sunshine and perfume the air with nature scents. Oh, if only you knew how much I want to walk and talk with you. My love for you is deeper than the ocean and bigger than the biggest want or need in your dreams. Just call on me-talk to me, I have so much to share with you.

LOVE AND DESPAIR

Quite a time has gone by since you went away, And I admit I had hoped that it was to stay. For when you left, my heart went with you, And from the depths of despair I tried to curse you. But I could never fully vent those emotions, Without touching on the love which had first caused the emotion,

And it served to soothe my writhing soul. After months of despair, at last I was whole. The world, I was ready to face again, And when we met in passing, I may have seemed the same. But the surface doesn't reveal what is hidden below, And only the most drastic changes might show. But you have taught me no human is ever complete 'Til of love and despair he(or she) has drunk deep.

Stephen Whistance-Smith

P.S. Here ends the series I started with the first issue this month.

The Liberators

Always persisting in our eternal madness, we slew the martyrs of our time with poisoned words, and one by one they fell, like dominoes in the wind. Their bloodied corpses succumbed with time and became one with the earth, leaving behind only their skeletal remains and the cause they were fighting for. The men are forgotten, but their words remain.

The Couch Potatoes

The Couch Potatoes is a group in the States which only aim in life is to watch at least eight hours of television per day (is that all?). The more mindless the television is, the better. For example, soap operas are okay; "Nova" definitely is not.

Why watch so much television? There are two excellent reasons. First of all, true couch potatoes feel that they can become worldly without much effort. Second, all couch potatoes are seeking a perfect state of "transcendental vegetation".

There are only two physical characteristics of couch potatoes. They have many eyes(they're able to watch two or more different programs at the same time), and they have long fingers that look like tubers(Which come from clutching the arm rests of their couch all day); hence the name "Couch Potatoes".

To see if you qualify mentally, answer these questions from the Couch Potato Questionnaire:

"TV is better than sex."

"If you watch TV with the lights off, you'll go blind."

"I feel guilty when I don't buy products advertised on my favourite shows."

"The people on TV actually live inside the set and wait for me to turn it on."

"The Russians hate us because they're jealous of our TV productions."

Couch Potatoes enjoy watching "The Tonight Show". The reason is that, even though your favourite TV characters are often presented as real people (which unbalances your sense of reality), it's a pretty mindless show - you don't have to think to watch Johnny Carson.

Like sending in your dues for the Procrastination Club, the best way to join the Couch Potatoes is to put it off. Just sit down, relax, and watch more television!!

Vernon R.J. Schmid

P.S.: There are two shows you should see during this week.

First, "The 1982 Cannes Commercials" is showing at the Citadel Theatre's Ziedler Hall. Admission is $4.50, and showtimes are 7:15 on Thursday (the 24th) night, and 7:30 and 9:25 on Friday night. This is a compilation of the world's BEST, FUNNIEST commercials. It includes all the honourable mentions up to the Grand Prize winner at last year's commercials competition of the Cannes Film Festival. PLEASE see it to learn how commercials should really be.

Second, DO NOT miss the final episode of M*A*S*H. It starts on the night of Monday the 28th at 9:30 on cable 6 (KREM). There will be a final 30-minute episode and a two-hour movie. (WARNING: Do not watch CBC, as they will cut at least two-to-four minutes from this event for more "Canadian content" i.e.: commercials!) Find someone who is going to videotape it if you really, truly, honestly need to study for your finals...

ELT/DA CABARET Doug Smith

The Dental Assistant/Electrical Engineering Cabaret had 350-400 people, make an appearance at the 700 wing (the place behind the Chateau Louis with a stuffed airplane parked on the front lawn).

The 700 wing, boasts of a large dance floor (used quite often that night) and a split level design. All head bangers could get an earful by sitting up front. Other features included a pool room, 2 (count 'em) bars dispensing COLD beer, draft, wine and liquor. There was even a balcony for those who wanted to...inhale fresh night air/or other substances as well as catch a cold or a girl...in the process.

The band was called Secret Society, they put on a tight high energy set which was well received. Some Bass heavy mixing was eventually straightened out and short breaks were appreciated. The band has about ten original songs that were also well liked.

Secret Society mixed up the show with popular new wave numbers by the Clash, Generation X and the Romantics. The songs that got everyone going were the old fifties and sixties songs. Covers of vintage Kinks, Stones, and the Who were well done. Secret Society will be adding keyboards in a month or so and this should round out their songs.

Plenty of drinking and dancing; as a certain 2nd year Electrical Engineer who shall remain nameless (but who does play defense for the Ooks) put it: "The neuro Toxic under-congruency of the situation pertains to the interest of those who pursue a country background and a few more Trolkas" "which means"...? I asked? "TAXI"!! Enough said.

BIO-SCIENCE CABARET

by Gord Ellis

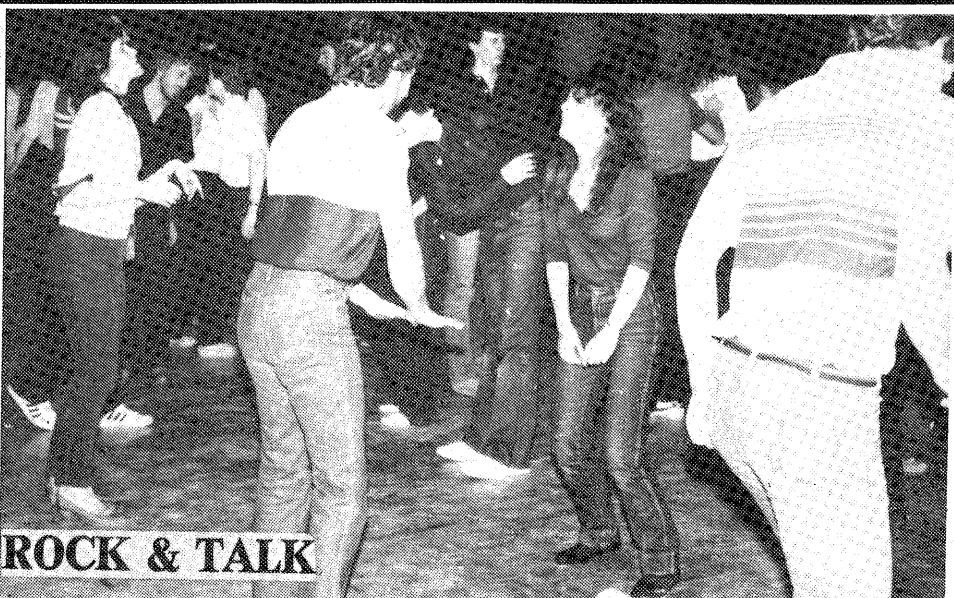

Welcome to the Bio-Science Cabaret. By 9:15 on Sat Feb. 19th there was 250-275 people in attendance. They had sold 250 tickets before hand and 50 were up for sale at the door. Excluding those that worked at the event, there was about 300 people dancing and enjoying themselves.

The band "Informer", like most bands started playing later but once they began playing they were good. During the first song about 30 people got up to bop to the new wave beat. After that there was no holding them back. Song after song everyone danced and got higher and higher (I'm not just talking about the drinking either. I'm talking about the music and the spirit of the crowd). My only complaint about the band is that they take one half hour breaks which causes a little unrest among the restless. However, a bunch of guys did keep us entertained with song. "Informer" did play a straight hour long set which is unusual for cabaret bands.

All in all it was very well run and enjoyable. There were no hassles at all and the security force was quite visible. The free hotdogs were also a plus. If anyone is interested, the male-female ratio was about 50:50. I would personally give this cabaret a nine out of ten rating. Bio-Science might not agree!

ROCK & TALK

On Friday, Feb. 19, 1983, the finalee for Shee-Moose Week was at the Rock and Talk. The music was supplied by D.J.S. Music Productions. The first dancers hit the floor about 5:00 p.m. and the floor was crowded thereafter. The music was excellent in variety, but there seemed to be quite a bit of distortion.

One of the highlights was a boat race between Animal Health and B.C.E.T. It was very close all the way through but Animal Health managed to pull off the win with a little help from their number 2 drinker (strange why she dumped part of it out). Then Peter Young, of Animal Health, winner of Shee-Moose Week got to dance with NAIL's new lovely Queen, Brenda Harrison in a special dance for them.

Rock & Talk ended about 8:00 p.m. with the usual shouting for domination and it seems as though the table of girls from Animal Health seemed to be the loudest. All in all it was a good time to be had by all who were there.

HOCKEY NEWS

by Brian Stein

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 19TH AT NAIT ARENA CLC VIKINGS 3 NAIT OOKS 1

The NAIT Ooks closed the regular season on a losing note dropping a 3-1 decision to the Camrose Lutheran College Vikings. With the loss, NAIT finishes in second place with a 15-9 record, while Camrose takes third place with 12 wins and 12 losses.

After a scoreless first period, CLC's Yvon de Champlain beat NAIT's Cleo Rowein on a breakaway to make the score 1-0 at the 2:30 mark of the second.

NAIT came back to tie the contest at 1-1 with 3:17 elapsed in the third when Dale Kolada poked in the loose puck. The assist went to Kevin Hayes. At 6:09 of the frame, Brad Chaffey notched the go-ahead goal on the powerplay for the Vikings. Fifty nine seconds later, Bryan Schultz added an insurance goal to increase CLC's lead to 3-1.

Camrose netminder Wayne Fisher blocked 29 Ook shots, while NAIT's Cleo Rowein redirected 27 Viking drives.

The key to the victory was discipline. NAIT could not resist the opportunity to retaliate when they received a hit or a slash. More often than not, the referee penalized the Ooks player for his action.

NAIT must acknowledge that Camrose plays a bump and grind style of hockey, and realize that retaliation is not the answer. Rather, take the player's number and hit him with a hard clean check later or in the contest.

With the loss by the Ooks, the ACAC semi-final pairings have been determined. In one of the best-of-three series, the first place Red Deer College Kings take on the fourth place SAIT Trojans. The other series pits the second place NAIT Ooks against the unpredictable third place Camrose Lutheran College Vikings.

In commenting about the NAIT-CLC series, CLC Coach Mike Johnston is expecting a defensive series. Coach Johnston added, "NAIT has a good club, and we can't go into a shootout. The games will be fast skating, and physical." NAIT Coach, Perry Pearn stated, "Forechecking is an important part of the Ook game plan and is essential in post-season play".

The winner of the series, will be the team that displays consistency and common sense. To win, NAIT must put aside differences and work together for team goals. Each and every player must go out each and every shift and do his very best.

ON THE BENCH: The NAIT Ooks go into the best-of-three series with no major injuries...In six meetings during the regular season NAIT downed Camrose in 5 of the 6 encounters...The schedule for the series is as follows. On Thursday, February 24th, the Ooks host the Vikings at the NAIT Arena. Game time is 7:30 p.m. Game 2 will be on Saturday, February 26th at the Camrose Rec Center with an 8:00 p.m. face-off. If necessary, a third and deciding game will take place at the NAIT Arena on Sunday, February 27th. Action would start at 2:00 in the afternoon.

Chicks Basketball

On Friday, February 18, the Chicks returned to action with a vengeance. The victims of their wrath were the girls from Grant MacEwan. The girls have been playing the kind of ball that we knew they were capable of playing. After the smoke had cleared and the screams subside, the girls were on the winning end of a score. The girls started working hard early in this game and it allowed them to open an early lead. Although we looked like we didn't know what rebounding was and made far too many poor passes, we still came out of the half with a 38-35 lead. This was obtained by a aggressive effort on defence and a lot of hard work on offence. In the second half GMCC regained their composure and took the lead but NAIT were not going to give in to the pressure. The lead changed hands many times in the second half of the game after NAIT had dominated the lead for the first half. The girls got into foul trouble early in the second half as their early aggressiveness caught up with them. Three of the star players for the Chicks were fouled out with three minutes left in the game and only a one point lead. The girls continued with their lack of rebounding in the second half but made up for it with some good shooting from the outside by the two NAIT high scorers Janet Weech and Jami Bering who each finished the game with 18 points. With 3 seconds left the scores were only separated by a single point. In a last ditch effort to gain control of the ball a GMCC player fouled one of ours. They picked the wrong player to foul as Janet did not fold under the pressure being applied by their fans and made both free throws. These two points secured the NAIT victory in a game that we played very well in. When asked what he thought of the game, an excited coach, Greg Meropoulos commented, "This is the first game in which we have played two good halves. The girls handled the pressure very well, shot well from the field and the bench and came on to play well after the three girls fouled out."

The next action for the girls is next weekend when they travel to Calgary to play SAIT and Mount Royal College.

GWYNETH BUCHANAN LADIES CURLING

1ST YEAR BUSINESS HI-LITES ALBERTA HIGH SCHOOL CHAMPION 1978 ALBERTA JUNIOR LADIES CHAMPION 1980 ACAC LADIES CHAMPION 1983

The ladies team went through the competition with a perfect 5-0 record.

Without question this is the best team ever to play in ACAC ladies competition.

Much of the credit has to go to skip, Gwyneth who not only can make all the shots but understands the game completely and can match skipping skills with the best.

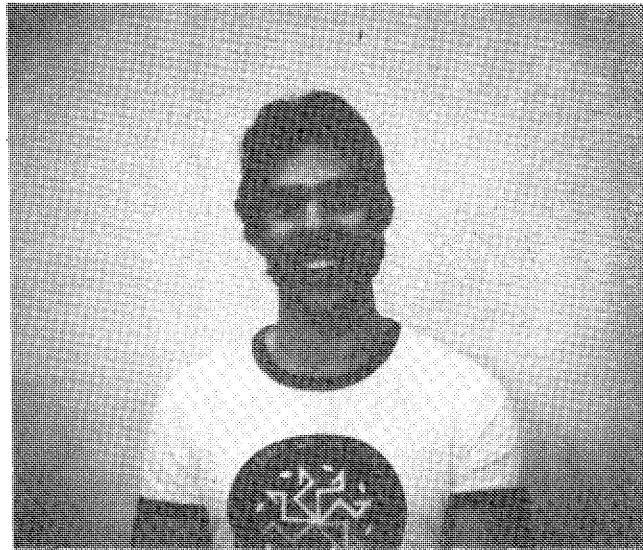

She provided the kind of leadership on and off the ice that made this team appreciated and respected by all who curled against them or watched them.

The team is off to Brandon March 9-13 for the Canadian College Invitation Championship.

Ooks Basketball

On Friday night the Ooks made it a clean sweep for NAIT in the basketball events over the cross town rivals from GMCC. The game was never in doubt as NAIT finished with a 16 point lead. The game was close in the early stages but by the half way mark of the first half NAIT had opened a 25-10 lead. Everyone on the team was playing well. The competition that was provided by GMCC has been greatly improved since we last saw them. This may be because they are getting better with practice or the players they picked up after Christmas are just what they needed. The Ooks kept the 15 point lead intact until the end of the half and finished with a 45-30 score. NAIT came out slow after the half time break and with some good pressure and shooting GMCC managed to pull with in 4 points. Just when it looked like we couldn't buy a hoop Scott MacLaren was given the ball on a steal and he walked in and slammed home the dunk. Immediately after this, GMCC tried to go in for a lay up but NAIT forward Tim Schrader stood his ground and they were called with the offensive charge. This was all the team needed to get them fired up. They quickly turned the shrinking 4 point lead into an overwhelming 20 point lead. They continued to play a strong game until the last minute when with the win already counted they let up in intensity and allowed GMCC to get a couple of unanswered hoops. The final score was 86-70 in favour of the Ooks. High scores for NAIT were Scott MacLaren 21, Pat Gangl 12, Harry Blacker, Murry Proctor and Luc Naccarato each with 10 points. Ook coach Dave Hoy's thoughts on the game were, "We played good transitional ball. We worked well on their players in foul trouble to try and break Scotty free inside." The next action for the guys is this weekend when they travel to Calgary for a couple of tough games against SAIT and MRC.

NAIT CURLERS WIN GOLD & BRONZE

NAIT curlers were very impressive in the ACAC Curling Championship held in Camrose this past weekend. The ladies team won the gold medal and the mixed took the bronze. The three teams won a total of twelve games and lost only three.

The NAIT ladies team skipped by Gwyneth Buchanan were not only described by coach Jules Owchar as the best ladies team ever assembled but the best team ever to play in ACAC ladies competition.

Gwyneth with teammates Denise O'Pheim, Laura Strok and Charlene Willick lived up to their advance billing by finishing the competition with a perfect 5-0 record. In round robin play, they edged SAIT 6-5, destroyed Olds 15-1 and crushed Medicine Hat 12-3. In the semi-finals they struggled a little in beating Red Deer 9-8 and then totally dominated SAIT in the finals in winning 10-3.

The mixed were a little unfortunate in not winning a gold medal. They were impressive in finishing first in round robin play with a perfect 4-0 record. they were totally in control in beating SAIT 12-3, Olds 7-3, Medicine Hat 7-5 and Grande Prairie 7-6. They lost the semi-finals 7-5 to Camrose and beat Red Deer 6-3 for the bronze. Congratulations to skip Brent Knudslein and his teammates Roxanne Loeffelman, Colin Huseby and Sherri Boe.

Erratic shooting plagued the men throughout the round robin and their 2-2 record left them in a three way tie for second. In the tie breaking formula used, NAIT and Medicine Hat were eliminated from further play. The team skipped by Greg Hill and teammates Randal Huseby, Dennis Kryzalka and Doug Flash defeated Olds 5-4 and Grande Prairie 7-6, and lost to SAIT 11-4 and Medicine Hat 2-5.

The Nait Ladies, Camrose Mixed and Lethbridge Men are now off to Brandon, March 9-12 to represent Alberta in the Canadian College Invitation Championships. Congratulation ladies and the best of luck in the Canadian.

GOING FOR THE BALL

VOLLEYBALL

Both the men and the women were in action last weekend here at NAIT. They both played sets Friday night and Saturday afternoon. The competition for both days action was supplied by the teams from Grande Prairie.

In the Friday night sets a victory went to each school. The girls won their set in four games. After losing the first game by a 15-12 score the girls displayed their talents and went on to beat the opposition in the next three games by score 15-12, 16-14 and 15-9. the guys were not so lucky in their set as they lost 3 games to 2. After losing the first game they came on to overpower the opposition in the next 2 games by scores 15-13 and 15-2. After the third game they seemed to have lost the winning attitude and lost the final 2 games by scores of 15-10 and 15-6.

The next day saw a complete turnaround for both teams. The girls were not playing their usual style and lost to an inferior team by scores of 15-10, 15-7 and 15-9. the guys on the other hand came out with a positive attitude and with some strong play beat the G.P. team in three straight games. The scores in this set were 15-5, 15-8 and 15-9. The last action the volleyball teams will see this year will be at the Interlocking tournament that will be played at SAIT on the March 4 weekend. Good luck at the tournament and enjoy your after exams holiday.

NAIT BADMINTON TEAMS WINS AT OLDS TOURNEY

BY KELLY YOUNG

To say the least, they were awesome. Representatives from the NAIT Badminton team were in Olds over the weekend. Again they proved beyond a doubt that they are supreme masters of this difficult sport. Colin Chow and Corinne Peers, the mixed doubles team, were phenomenal, as were Kelly Young and Yvonne Jones, the ladies doubles duo. Both teams won respective events. In men's singles, Peter Webster was in much the same devastating form, picking up a first place finish in the finals after suffering a disappointing set back earlier in the day. Turning in almost awesome performances were Sunil Valdyk, and Joe Antoniuk, placing third in men's doubles, Michelle Deschenes came up with an identical placing in ladies singles. Caudy Wong also participated in the ladies singles event. She was unable to place in the top finishers, but nonetheless put in a valiant performance.

Our special guest star for the weekend was Peter, the girls volleyball coach at NAIT. I'd like to take this space to acknowledge and applaud both his badminton skills and his uncanny knack for able to ease out troubled minds with talk of psychological stimulation. Coach Eileen Harle accompanied us to Olds and her enthusiastic comments of "way to go" and "nice work"!!! were thoroughly appreciated by all. The badminton team is currently involved in rigorous training for an ACAC tourney next month.

RUMOR HAS IT!

Rumor has it...

Eyespy has told us that a certain tower executive who was supposed to be guarding the cash box and treasurer at the last R&T was heard snoring away while the treasurer counted the cash. Does the snoring keep the burglars away? Was that REALLY water in your glass?

Rumor has it...

A dedicated tower member by the name of Jake seriously engaged in mouth to mouth resuscitation with C.V. Did he revive her or did she need a lung massage?

Rumor has it...

A borrowed 114st apartment will be the setting for this weekends "Study Session". We can hardly wait for the exam results! Will she pass with honours as usual?

Rumor has it...

After performing his duties as a security person, a certain individual by the name of Gonzo was noted as being a member of the Nod Squad at an after party. Could it be that he found being a security guard an INTOXICATING experience? Or, was he making up for lost time (and booze)? P.S. Gonzo, you owe Wilber one!

The Love affair between the Electric Checkerboard Jacket and the PDP11, has come to a tragic ending. Was it due to "Basic" religious differences? What ever the reason PDPII seems to be "Down" about it.

A NAIT sports team is planning an informal gathering to commemorate the upcoming close shave which is expected to occur shortly. Congratulations to the lucky winners.

The infamous Dr. R.C. Rattrap will be making a guest appearance on a local radio station. The reason behind this has not yet been made known but we hear that he is planning a special presentation about his unique lifestyle.
