THE BOSS SPEAKS

Having had input from the past FARTSA Resident on the quality of the editorials of the recently deceased Nugget we decided to write something that would keep him happy and fulfill all his thoughts that he has had about this paper and those who work on it.

First paragraph, will contain lots on misinformation, garbage, and all kinds of crap.

FARTSA swindles 6000 students out of $75 a piece.

Yes folks FARTSA has done it again, all that cash you put in and what is there to show for it? Nothing but a Yes folks FARTSA has done it again, all that cash you put in and what is there to show for it? Nothing but a yearbook, a few copies of the ill-fated Nugget and perhaps the memory of the last hangover from the beerfest. That's right, that is all you have to show for $75, and the only ones to blame is the FARTSA Rejectives for the job they should have been doing.

So much for the first paragraph. Wavid has been pushing for his name in the paper all year but the glory seeking editorial staff have refused to do this, but now we will just to show we are not as bad as we seem.

Wavid Dalen, Wavid Dalen,

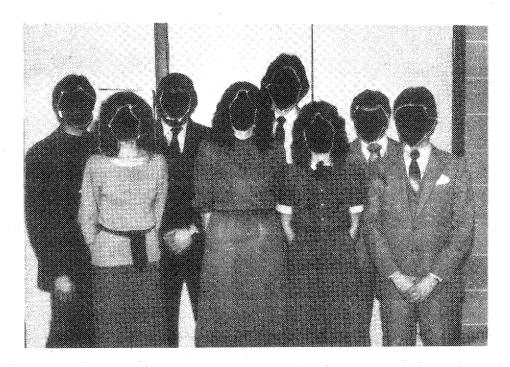

Dalen, Wavid Dalen

Wavid Dalen, Wavid Dalen.
Well that should be enough to soothe his feelings.
Now for the third editorial, this is where they normally strike out at some social issue.

Teddy bears should be allowed at FARTSA General Sheep Council Meetings, this important part of rejective equipment has been banned from the meetings. The sheep themselves banned them saying that it gave the council a bad reputation and made it look childish. Wavid Dalen replied that they were a necessity especially if the rejectives do not get their own way. The council retorted that since they never questioned the rejectives proposal anyway why did they need to have teddy bears. The rest of the meeting degenerate into a name calling sessions with such statements as "Oh Ya" and "My father is bigger than your father". Many commented that its just another typical meeting. My opinion is that if the rejectutives feel they need these furry critters then they should be allowed to have them.

So much for the important social issue. Now we come to the conclusion of the whole thing and try and make it make sense. This can be very difficult because they are sometimes like Sheep Council meetings which rarely make sense.

To conclude this whole thing I would say that students have the right to drink anytime and anyplace on campus, FARTSA Rejectutives have the right to milk and cookies at bedtime and the staff of the Nugget should be let free from their bondings of cocaine and beer. Or the least FARTSA could do is but enough to keep them going for the rest of the year. This concludes an editorial the way Wave Dalen would like to see stopped.

GONE BUT NOT FORGOTTEN(??)

these were the valiant people worked(?) so hard on FARTSA Rejecutive Council. We, who are the "FUGGET" salute them and wanted to let students know who they are.

Right to Left: Uh...well...this is embarassing...but we can't remember their names.

THE FUGGET

The "FUGGET" is the creation of warped minds for the apathetic students of this institution. It is published once a year(maybe) without the knowledge or blessing of FARTSA and they hate us for it. Although it is meant to entertain and amuse people we warn you that all names are fiction and any resemblance to any person living or dead is truly a co-incidence, by printing this also saves humongus law suits. Including the Boss Speaks none of this paper is the opinion of the paper staff who were out getting hammered while this paper was put together. Contributions from students are far and few between but are welcomed anyway. The FUGGET offices are located across the street from the nearest bar because we hate to walk very far, our phones were disconnected a month ago due to lack of cash.

HERIOC SIX YEAR OLD BOY CONQUERS LIFE INCH BY INCH

by Paul Crassman Urinal Wall Writer

Timmy Torseau's mother wipes away a few tears as she recounts her son's incredible courage in coming to terms with his handicap.

Two years ago Timmy, now six, suffered a near fatal accident in which he lost accident in which he lost both his legs and his arms. The accident also cost Timmy his head.

"I cried the moment I saw him lying there in the hospital bed because I never, ever thought he would be able to fit in with all the other kids again." all the other kids again, said Mrs. Torseau.

But despite his severe handicap Timmy struggled back and now even plays goalie for a local hockey team.

"It fills me with such joy when I see his team-mates dragging his little headless torso onto the ice and propping him up in front of the net," she said with a wry smile.

And Timmy does a respectable job of stopping the puck from entering the net and is carrying his team to a play-off position this Timmy is philosophic about his handicap. When asked whether he felt that being just an abdomen made fitting into society difficult he wagged his upper body in disagreement.

Timmy's mother quickly interjected, "No, the other kids in the neighbourhood are really good and come to pick him up to play British Bulldog and all those other nice little games."

'It's so nice to see his headless shoulders dodging tackles or watching Timmy throwing a block with his stomach."

Timmy attends classes and with the aid of a tape-re-corder strapped to his chest, manages to keep track of all the notes. And getting to class did present a problem at first until he mastered an inch-worm motion that he performs by bending his body in the middle and then straightening out.

"His father and I tried to get him to use a cane at first but he wouldn't have it,' said Mrs. Torseau.

"He literally quivered with rage whenever we gave him the cane and it was really hard to watch him learning to move."

Timmy must keep trying says his mother determinedly, and when he makes up his spinal cord that he is going to do something nothing can divert him.

"He wants his father to buy him a motorcycle now,' said his mother, "but I say no, I don't want to see him get hurt again.'

AT FAIT

We all know that computer chips are taking over the world but the chips at FAIT are so advanced that they are beginning to eat this institute. It started a month ago when out infra-red cameras took the above shot.

This shot shows how the computer chips are eating up sections of the school, taking byyes out of different sections and have already devoured the activities centre. It all started when Medical X-Ray got their own computer and their computer chips were exposed to vast amounts of radiation, they started to mutate. They tried to kill them with chemicals but this only made them grow faster and mean, it was at this time they startd to eat holes in walls and lockers. They started to multiply at a tremendous rate, there are now fourteen of these mutant chips at the last count. All attempts at containing these chips have failed and Red Adair had been called in.

It is his expert opinion that the mutants are living off the residue toxic waste from the Amoco well blowout that has accumulated on the sides of the buildings. At present there has only been two victims of the mutants, first was a chemistry student who tried to poison the creatures, and the second was a computer student who tried to adapt them to his Trash-80.

Unless this situation is brought under control the fall session will have to be cancelled. The FAIT Ooks who have lost their arena already are looking for suitable locations to hold summer bookey camp. The summer hockey camp. The X-Ray student who was involved in the initial screw up was unavailable for comment at time of publica-

Basketball Up Date

There has been a security leak at the girls try outs and the other teams in the conference have been calling all week, continually, to try and confirm the story. The story leaked when one of the star players of last years team was replaced on the summer training squad by a giraffe. That's right a 12 foot high brown spotted tree eating giraffe. When asked to comment on the appearance of the giraffe at camp the coach commented,

"Who said she is going to play for us, don't giraffes deserve a chance to get away from it all every once in a while. Besides if Grant McEwan can have trained apes play for them why can't we have a giraffe." If the giraffe does indeed come out for the school team next year we will strengthen up some of our weaker areas both defensively and offensively She will give us the extra height we need under the boards to get rebounds and block shots. Her size will also be a big asset in keeping control of the key area as she can put a hoof on each corner of the key and still cover the whole key area. Although things are looking good for the giraffe there are a couple of small troubles reguarding regula-tion size basketball shoes and it is also rumored that the Ookpik is revolting at the idea of having to share his office with this potential new superstar.

Sports

We all know that the Ooks had the most powerfull team in the ACAC, but they were defeated in their bid to repeat as National champions. A secretive confession had cleared up some of the mystery as to there abnormal disappearance from the play off scene. I was sitting here in the office late one night after returning from the K wing and I heard this loud knocking on the door. After opening the door and finding nobody there, I was about six short four letter words into my reply to this type of humour when I noticed a hockey puck on the floor in front of the door. I picked the puck up and placed it on the desk and that is when I discovered that hockey pucks are more than hard black rubber but they do indeed have a conscience. This puck was not your every day run of the mill FAIT puck but a real Red Deer special. After cracking us both a couple of cold ones we started shooting the breeze and as things go when one talks to a hockey puck the topic turned to hockey. By this time we were well into our second case of the morning and the puck was talking very freely. Pucks have a low tolerance to beer. It seems that this puck, who I shall call John, was a member of the group of pucks that was involved in the playoff series against our own Ookpiks. In his drunken stupor, he blurted out the fact that there was indeed a

Exclusive

conspiracy to get FAIT out of the play offs. The story goes that the goal posts were fitted with electric terminals that could be turned off and on by members of Red Deers fan club that were in attendance at the games. The terminals set up a positive electrical field across the front of the RDC net. The pucks were also fitted with steel plates that had a positive charge to them. This was very effective in repelling many of the Ook shots that the goalie missed. I questioned him as to the scores of the games and the fact that we did infact score on the Red Deer team and the reply was to the fact that, "Those FAIT Ookpicks shot a guy so hard that not even an electro-magnetic field can stop him." The puck went on to say how they would purposely jump off FAIT sticks when the Ooks would try to make a pass. The pucks would also hang onto Red Deer sticks so they could stick handle with out even have to keep their sticks on the ice. This confession went on for about another three hours and during this time we got pretty close. I also found out that for the games that were played here the Red Deer team brought their own pucks up the night before and substituted them for our own very loyal pucks. In light of this new information I feel that we have grounds to appeal the play offs and ask for a rematch.

ROBIN DEHOOD INTERMURAL ARCHERY

AGE: 27

Robin is a first year team member who is in his fifth year of Pre tech and comes to us after a short summer vacation in Oliver. After last weeks archery events, Robin came out with an outstanding 2 arrows on the target and 3 more in the wall behind the target, 2 in his coach and only shot himself 5 times. This is a great increase for this amazing twit who when he started could do nothing but shoot himself and was so stupid he didn't even hit the floor when he fell over. His coach commented on the increase in Robins accuracy and consistency, "It is due to his turning the bow around so it is pointing the other way now". We hope that Robin continues to practice and that the coach recovers quickly. After all it was only a flesh wound.

THE REAL MANS SPORTS CONTEST

On the May 6th weekend the real men of FAIT were involved in the first annual beer drinking Olympics down in Calgary. The team came home with the gold medal and a hell of a hangover. Teams representing SAFE, U of ED, Lethtunnelll and Big Prairie were there to try and supply the competition. After parying on the bus for two days before they left town, the team, lead by Dr. R.C.Rat Trap, was infirst rate shape for the events. The team started quickly in the boat race event and took a commanding 23 point lead into the second event. The FAIT team was so fast in fact that they all finished their beer and had to help he competitors finish theirs.

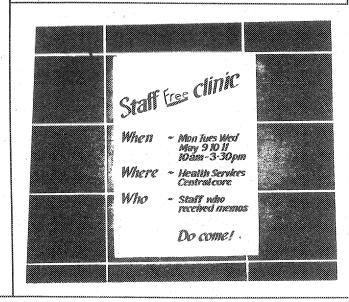

The next event of the day was the label peeling

The next event of the day was the label peeling contest. In this the last place team in the boat races came back to win with FAIT coming in second. We should have won the contest but some animal from Bio Science kept chewing the bottles and making the labels unusable. After this event the teams went for lunch and the FAIT team continued to show what they are made of as they were thrown out of 3 restaurants and 2 gas stations for their crude remarks to the people serving them. Once they calmed down and got into a bar they proceeded to consume; 4 rolls of sausage, 2 jars of pickled eggs, six cases of beer and the table cloth in the half hour the four of them were in the bar.

In the afternoon events the FAIT team continued to dominate the games with outstanding performances in the waitress hasseling event, caps, and set a new record in the 24 beer by 4 members with an amazing time of 12:38 flat. In the last event of the day we suffered out only defeat as we were unable to compete in the great white telephone conversation event as the team was too busy drinking beer and helping the competition into their beds and cleaning up the hall. After a full day of beer drinking the FAIT team did what every other FAIT student would do-they went to a house party and drank B52's, smoked some killer grass and chased all the women in attendance. The team almost missed the bus back to town as the madame of the brotherl would not let them go as she said she has never had customers wear her girls out so badly before and would liked to have hired the team for some movie ventures she had started. The team did make it back to town and are now relaxing in the K-wing and will be around to sign autographs any day the wing is open for business. Congratualtions on doing what you guys do best.

PLAZA II NOT A GAME PRESERVE? The head of Plaza II finnally spoke out today against all those who persist in calling Plaza II a game preserve. "Those people who persist in this practice are ignorant and imbeciles", this is by far the strongest statement ever to come out of the offices over there and shows that perhaps they have been pushed too far.

This Fugget reporter went over to hear more.

Unfortunately I went over at lunch time and caught the staff as they prepared the raw meat lunches used to keep the students happy. Standing far back I did manage to get a few answers from him concering Plaza II and it's image.

F: Where did the students

F: Where did the students get the idea of naming Plaza II the Game Preserve?
J: Well perhaps it was when a few D.A. students were mauled to death but this isolated incident was overblown and really not that serious.

F: Is it true that after 3 years in the zoo the students are thought to be mature enough to come to the main campus?

J: No, that is only for exceptional students it usually takes 4 years and another year in Pre Tech. F: Who do you have come in to clean up?

J: We contract out to a fumigation company every 2 months and bring in a front end loader to clean up the mess that is covering the floor.

F: Is is true that Plaza II students eat off the same plate?

J: No, again you have improper information, they have not been trained to eat from plates yet and all gather at the feeding troughs out of habit every day at the same time.

day at the same time.

Well thank you for taking time out of your busy day to talk with me and as you slither out of the office can you tell the warden I would like to have my armed guard excort me out of the jungle.

FIVE DEAD, SIX TOWER RIOT WOUNDED IN

Wednesday April 31 marks the most violent riot in all of FAIT's history. The cause was who had priority over the computer terminals. All year long there has been friction building over who gets the first shot, the business students have been demanding equal rights but have been rebuffed by the computer students because "We need the time to play all these nifty neato games, if you have priority we can't play them' the explosion point was hit Wednesday at 4:30 when a

RTA and Chemistry Come Up

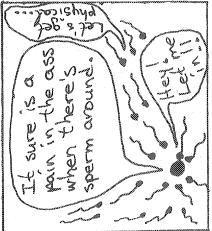

With A Major Breakthrough

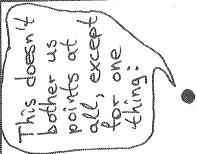

certain Business student was ordered off his terminal by a whiney first year who was late for his date with Star Trakk IV. After refusing to relinquish his post the CSS student proceeded to attack him with his Mickey Mouse pencil case. Soon it became an all out brawl between the second and third floor.

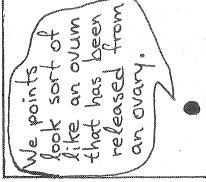

The commissionaires were called in but half of them could not make it up the two flights of stairs and the rest were held up for four hours waiting for while batteries to charge on the cruisers.

Damages ran into the hundreds of dollars, half the cost were from damaged pencils, pens and terminals that never really worked anyway. FAIT Administra-tion has declined comment saying it would have to go before committee for at least a year before a ruling could be made. Wavid Dalen, Resident of last years FARTSA, declined comment but promised to join any committee that is to be formed.

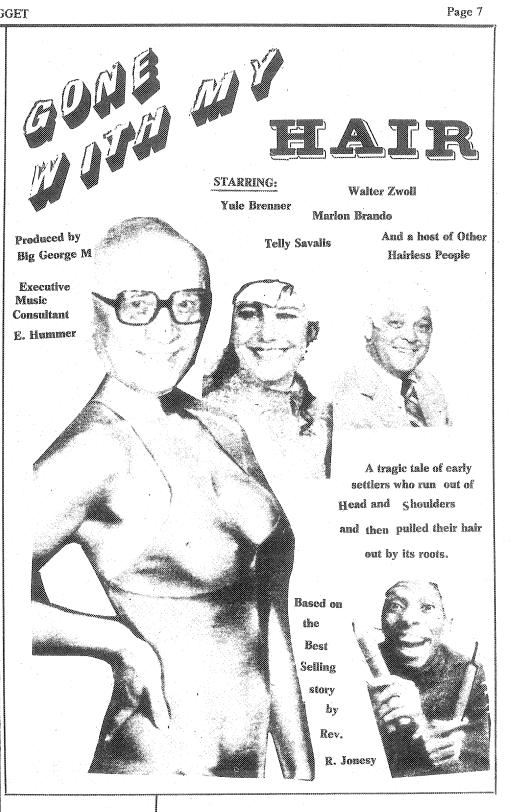

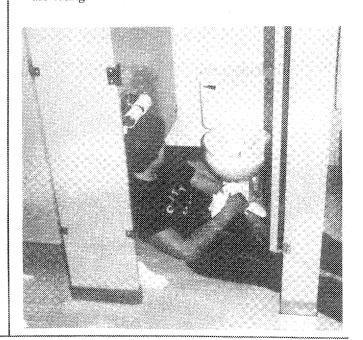

HOW TO SURVIVE ON CAFETERIA FOOD

- 1. Bring a brown bag from home
- 2. Eat somewhere else like Smitty's, K-Wing, Home
- 3. Try the vending machines
- 4. Throw food on the floor if it crawls away, bounces over 2 feet in the air, makes a hole in the floor or explodes; it was probably not safe to eat.
- 5. Bring a slow friend with you, if you don't have any slow friends use an instructor, have them test the food for you if they do not die or pass out imediately or within a reasonable length of time, 2 hours is about long enough, the food may be safe to eat. The only problem with this method is that you may starve to death while waiting for results.
- 6. Bring a big bottle of mustard, ketchup and grape jelly with you and use these coverings in great amounts to disguise the tastes.
- 7. Make a quick trip to the nearest facilities and make a deposit into the white shoe washers that are provided. 8. Bring great quantities of milk that are laced with multiple mind altering substances in capsule form.
- 9. Have an operation performed which removes all the taste buds from your mouth so you do not know what you are eating.

Artesian Revenge

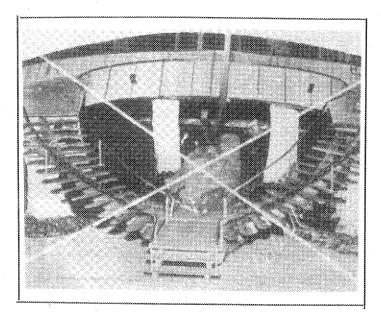

It has been discovered by a research team from Earth Resources that the recent epidemic of flue that hit the city has been caused by the Artesians. It seems that they are fed up with supplying us with water free of charge and are now doing something about it. After all it is their water. They have infec ted the city's water supply and are not going to correct the situation until the people of the city stop running over them and their families. They are also upset at the fact that they never get good seats at the Oiler games and are continually sunk at the raft races. Well in my opinion they can all take a flying leap off the high level because we don't need them or their water and as for running their families over I am not about to give up one of my favourite drunken past times just because it hurts their little feelings. And further more they can... what wait a minute what are you guys doing in here? Leave my leg alone - put me down! Help!!!

FUGGET REPORTER ABDUCTED

Fugget staff reporter is abducted. Late Monday night the Fugget lost one of its reporters. He was taken by a radical group of Artesians who were upset with his article on their polluting of the city's water system. It seems they are holding him for randsom and will not release him until they receive assurance that they will be treated as normal fans at any hockey games they go to. They also want special parking passes so they can park their Artesian mobiles nearer the colliseum for the games without getting a ticket. More to come on this as the story unfolds.

Sundial Project Scrapped

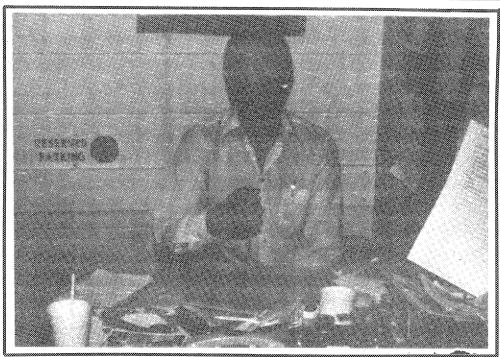

The Fugget has learned through outside forces that the sundial project that was designated to be constructed this year has been scrapped. For those first years who never heard of this project, it was decided that this campus needed something to improve it's image. A sundial was decided upon and a contest was held amongst the students to come up with the best design

Apparently at a closed door meeting of the FART-SA Rejectutives last night Resident Wavid Dalen took it upon himself to scrap the whole thing. His main reason was "If it can't have Mickey Mouse hands then what good is it?". The rest of FARTSA were in total agreement with him and will soon start work on a huge Mickey Mouse clock to commerate what Wavid has done for the students of FAIT.

When questioned after the meeting Wavid just stated that without Mickey Mouse half the students here could not tell time if their lives depended upon it. Wavid also said that the sundial would only be something else to be vandalized by the students but no one would dare take a spray can to the new statue. The rest of FARTSA was not available for comment.

MY LIFE AS A DIFFERENT APPRENTICE

You know abut the apprentices who stand in the hall gawking at the girls, well, I'm not one of them. I am gawking at the boys. I've always liked boys and it all started in high school when I dropped the soap and it kept going on and on since then. I have never really felt attracted to girls and have always telt something special for young men. My first lover was the raining drag queen at the "Cocks Roost" and was 8 years my senior. We had a happy life with me as a welders helper and him as a Proctologist. Then he suddenly died of a heart attack while we were um...well... you know.

My second lover was my age(19) and I had to teach him everything I knew. About this time, I decided to take on an apprenticeship at my job. It was so awful having to join the guys at work in making lewd proposals at girls. What was worse, I had to tell the other guys at work about my supposed affairs with different women, while secretly I would have rather taken the 4th year apprentice to bed with me. Even though it wasn't fair to my lover, I couldn't help fantasizing about that 4th year apprentice. My lover and I broke up about 1 year later due to his affiars. I went through hell when we broke up because I could hardly cope with working with straights and going home to an empty bed.

Then I met my third lover and I was in heaven. He was a hairdresser on 106 street and we met in a quaint little Italian restaurant. We were a great couple and were having a fantastic relationship until about a month

I was on a lunch break at school(2nd year apprentice), wondering down the halls sizing up possible bed mates when another apprentice in my class started talking to me. I was sort of abrupt, but then he blurted out he way gay. I didn't know what to say at first becuase of my guarded nature, but finally I turned to him hovered in uncertainty, and told him to meet me after school. I went outside and took a deep breath. So I wasn't as strange as I thought I was, I pondered. There are other apprentices like me who need to talk about themselves.

After school we talked for about 2 hours and he told me of his several horrible affairs that all ended in catastrophe. I felt sorry for him and told him of my several affairs and how they started. I offered to take him home to meet my lover and he readily agreed. We went home and my hairdresser handled it wonderfully, so sympathetic. We talked for about 3 hours then he went home feeling much better. Things were okay for a week and my friend was really happy. He asked me what the other fellows would do if they found out. I shuddered and told him I didn't want to find out. The next day at noon, I was taken aside by my classmates and they told me they found a note to me from my friend. They said it contained sick things about gays he had met. I told them that I never even hardily met the guy but they didn't listen. They beat the hell out of me and called "faggot", "queer" and "gay pervert". My classmate had betrayed me and I had to take the consequences. Somehow my boss at my job found out and fired me and of course I had to drop out of school. I never saw that classmate again as he committed suicide.

That month was the worst for me and now my current lover(a FAIT instructor) and I leading a wonderful life in a different part of the city. I have learned my lesson and I'll never be taken in my an apprentice again.

How To Spot A Lab Student

POINT SCALE

-48 to 30

You're too straight. Even a keener would be disgusted with you! Definitely not Fugget material! Go straight to University! Do not collect a diploma! Do not get a good job!

31 to 100

Congratulations, you are a genuine keener! Right now you are just one step above the straight-laced slime! You had better shape up or else the Fugget will reject you too! Keep working on it.

101 to 225 You are the average Joe. You are a good shit! However, you have to improve yourself. With a little bit of work you can reach euphoria. Go for it!

Congrats! Definite Fugget material. Keep up the good work. Obviously you have spent more time out of class than in. We want to party with you.

THE MAD RAVINGS OF AN X-RAY STUDENT

As I walked out of my 3:00 lab at 5:00 pm, I was hit by a wave of dizziness. I clung to the wall and managed to get a drink of water. This was the third time this week and I wondered if I should call my doctor. My first thought was pregnancy becuase I was 1 week late. And after all, my instructor (Mr. X), has been banging me 5 times a week for the past month. It's amazing what you have to go through around here to get an "A".

This happened to me about a month ago, and since then I found out that Mr. X is from my home town. I called Mom a week ago to tell her I was pregnant and she almost fainted when I told her the name of the father. Apparently, he and mother had a torrid love affair. before he got committed to the Alberta Hospital for Sexual Deviancy. He was my FATHER! He knew I was his daughter and seemed to be pleasured by this, I knew this because I weigh 280 pounds and am only 5'3" and men never seemed attracted to me before. Suddenly, last night I awoke to find my room bright, but the lights were turned off. I realized I was GLOWING!! I always heard that working with X-Ray equipment could bring large doses of radiation. Now I was glowing and it wasn't with happiness either! The radiation had worked its way into my uterus and would glow in the dark. Yesterday, I had my abortion and the doctor had seen a child with 2 heads, 10 limbs and a strange greenish glow. Today, I quit school and I am now on my way to the Oliver Institute.

FAIT Administration See Recession As A Good Oppurtunity

Witty Romenov revealed today that the recession is the best thing that has ever happened to FAIT. "With all these young kids out of work they all want to come to this place, and since they are willing to pay almost anything to get into this place now is the time to raise fees". Witty's main line of thinking is that the higher the fees go the higher his salary will go.

Convention Centre To Host Leader ship Confrence in 84?

Wavid Dalen and the rest of the FARTSA Rejectutives were so pleased with this years Leadership Convention that next year they have their sights set on the newly completed Convention Centre. "We must have had at least 40 people here this year so it has got to get better". Said the enthusiastice Resident, "Besides if it doesn't work out next year I won't be around to take the blame anyway!"

blame anyway!"

The estimated cost of the whole event is around the $100,000 mark. After all, to rent the whole centre does take a lot of money. FARTSA plans to leave the registration fees the same, $25, and hopes to attract a large enough crowd to cover the costs. "After all, the students of FAIT won't mind chipping in a few bucks if things don't come out as planned." Remarked Wavid

as he drove off in his new Mercedes sports coupe

Topics for discussion for next year include, How to Raise Student Fees and Offer Less, How to Control a Rebellious Student Paper, and 50 ways to Control Your General Council. Forums will be held on The Best Way to Ignore Student Needs, and Do You Really Need a Publications Chairperson on your executive.

Campus Cops

New Weapons

The security force around NAIT will be armed with the latest weapons, it was announced yesterday. The latest 007 rubber bullet air pistol will be issued to all security personnel by the end of the month. "Yep, all those students caught here on weekends who have not signed in will be shot on sight" said one cop. "We have had enough hassles with these smartass stud-on weekends who have not signed in will be shot on sight" said one cop. "We have had enough hassles with these smartass students who feel that since they paid to get in here they should feel free to destroy the place.

The main reason for the weapons is that too many of the cops have collapsed trying to chase fleeing students. They feel that being armed should be enough of a deterrent to stop all the vandalism and homework that takes place during weekends.

They were down on the rifle range two days ago so being an intrepid Fugget reporter I went down to check it out. Well one fellow hit the bullseye five for five, four shot themselves in the foot trying to load, and two were wounded by riccochets when some of them hit the floor instead of the target. I was offered the chance to try one out, it might kill a mosquito at point blank range and had the accuracy of a water pistol, but judging by the way they handled them it is just right. Next year plans include a siren and flashing lights on all carts just so they have something to play with.

The Fugget Welcomes Propaganda Officer

The FUGGET would like to welcome Witty Romenov to FAIT. He has become the new Chief Propaganda and head pencil sharpener of the FAIT Administration. We dropped in on Witty and talked to him for a few hours at gunpoint trying to find out just how he was hired and what his duties really were.

F: What exactly did you do to get this position Witty?

W: Well actually I started out for the position of Nugget editor but they found out that I could spell words and write complete sentences, but didn't like beer so was immediately disqualified. The interview board sent me down to administration to see if they had something open. After passing the Civil service exam they thought I had a talent for writing and opened up this post. The title of Head Pencil Sharpener is really only honorary, the staff use mechanical pencils which helps cut down the workload.

F: What exactly is your job around here?

W: Besides sharpening pencils one of my first duties in the morning is to verbally abuse my secretary with bad jokes and silly sayings. Then it is time for coffee. The afternoon is spent checking letters mailed by students and staff inside the institute and then doing some creative writing for the FAITLINE, a newsletter for instructors. It features articles such as, How To Abuse Students and Get Away With It, and Twenty Ways To Go For Lunch Five Times a Day. Then home I go to be verbally and physically abused by my wife and kids.

F: Do you find this type of work rewarding?

W: Yes, it is great to see my secretary cringe every time I walk into my office, and to hear the students complain about how their instructors abuse them. Snotty little kids, they deserve everything they get.

F: What are your future plans?

W: To get out of this hellhole as soon as possible and try and find a real job where people won't bother me with stupid interviews like this one.

Well we wish you luck Witty in your new position and hope that being tied up in your chair did not hurt your circulation too much.

City of Edmonton To Annex Tower Building

In a special press conference held early this morning the mayor announced the city's decision to annex the FAIT's tower building. Reasons behind the decision were the fact that too many students and staff are complaining about the jet exhaust fumes that are sucked into the ventilation system. "If the students of this city cannot be content with what they have got then we will take it away" spoke his honorable washup.

"That tower will make a great control tower to replace the old one plus the lower floors can be turned into a staff lounge and bar".

into a staff lounge and bar".

FAIT's administration declined conference but promised a committee would be set up immediately. Witty Romenov also declined comment but promised a statement would be forthcoming as soon as his secretary could come up with one. FARTSA expressed shock at the high-handeness of the city but were pacified when the mayor promised funding for the student building scheduled to be constructed in the next few years.

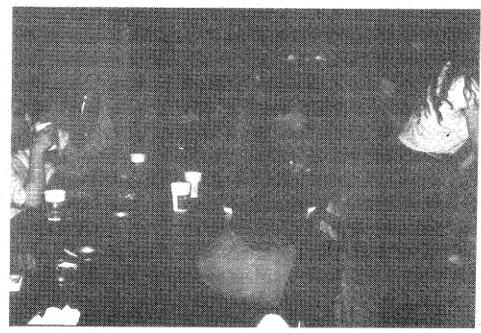

The students in the tower were not too concerned, seeing that they preferred K-Wing to the tower anyway and besides the elevators were too slow. The rest of the students although sad that they would lose the lounge at the top, in their usual style didn't really give a damn and went back to their books. As for the rest of the administration they are keeping comments to themselves and refused to talk to the press.

It is typical of the city to

It is typical of the city to pull such a stunt, first they take our parking space then the tower, now if they would just take the cafeteria then every thing would be just hunky-dory.

COLUMN

In order to find out what to change about this psychocommie establishment, this Fugget reporter went to check out the few unbrainwashed students who still walk these halls. I asked them, what their biggest bitch would be at FAIT. I had several replies, but these are the best:

Cafe food-it's cold, gross and tacky. It also looks like something I threw up last weekend. Hilda Catskinner

The stairs are so damn narrow that I can use my crutches. The same applies to those stupid blind corners.

Hopalong Cassidy

Too much goddamn homework. Blind Faith

Lack of available women. Horny Toad

Instructors who are ignorant assholes that believe that their class is ONLY class and subsequently pile on mega homework.

Pissed Hoff

Apprentices who are looking to jump anything; animal, mineral or vegetable. In fact, it has been noticed that they prey on unsuspecting vegetables, poor vegies!

Grost Hout Saladfreak

The imcompetant FARTSA rejecutives.

Smelly Buns

Lack of rooms allotted for fornication. Sam and Marie (S & M)

The strange establishment that believes they are GOD and subsequently "ask students to withdraw" when it is the students who pay the, tuition around here. Kickt Around

Its surprising how up things get when students are governed by a bunch of psychopaths who are into a bondage form of communism. Students of FAIT, unite and rebel against these wimply government officials. Hammerhead O'Connell
