GET SMART ABOUT YOUR EXAMS

Final exams for the first quarter are starting next week. I know everyone is just overjoyed. I personally can't wait to start studying for my seven subjects after this week's edition has been put to bed. But enough about my problems. This week, I'd like to include in my editorial a guide to writing exams which was given to me last year by my Economics instructor, Linda Boisvert. I hope everyone will find it as helpful as I did. I wish everyone the best of luck on their exams, and especially all first year Business students who have a tendency to brag about how easy NAIT is.

Sean O'Neill
Editor

WRITING AN EXAM

1. Before you start writing:
  - a. Glance over the whole exam. This does two things for you:

It gives you a "set" on the exam: what it covers, where the emphasis lies, what the main ideas seem to be. Many exams are composed of a series of short questions all related to one particular aspect of the subject, and then a longer one developing some ideas from another area.

It relaxes you, because if you read carefully all the way through it, you are bound to find something you feel competent to answer.

- b. Observe the point value of the questions and then figure out a rough time allowance. If the total point value for the test is 100, then a 50 point question is worth about half of your time, regardless of how many questions there are. A quick rule of thumb for a one-hour test is to divide the point values in half.

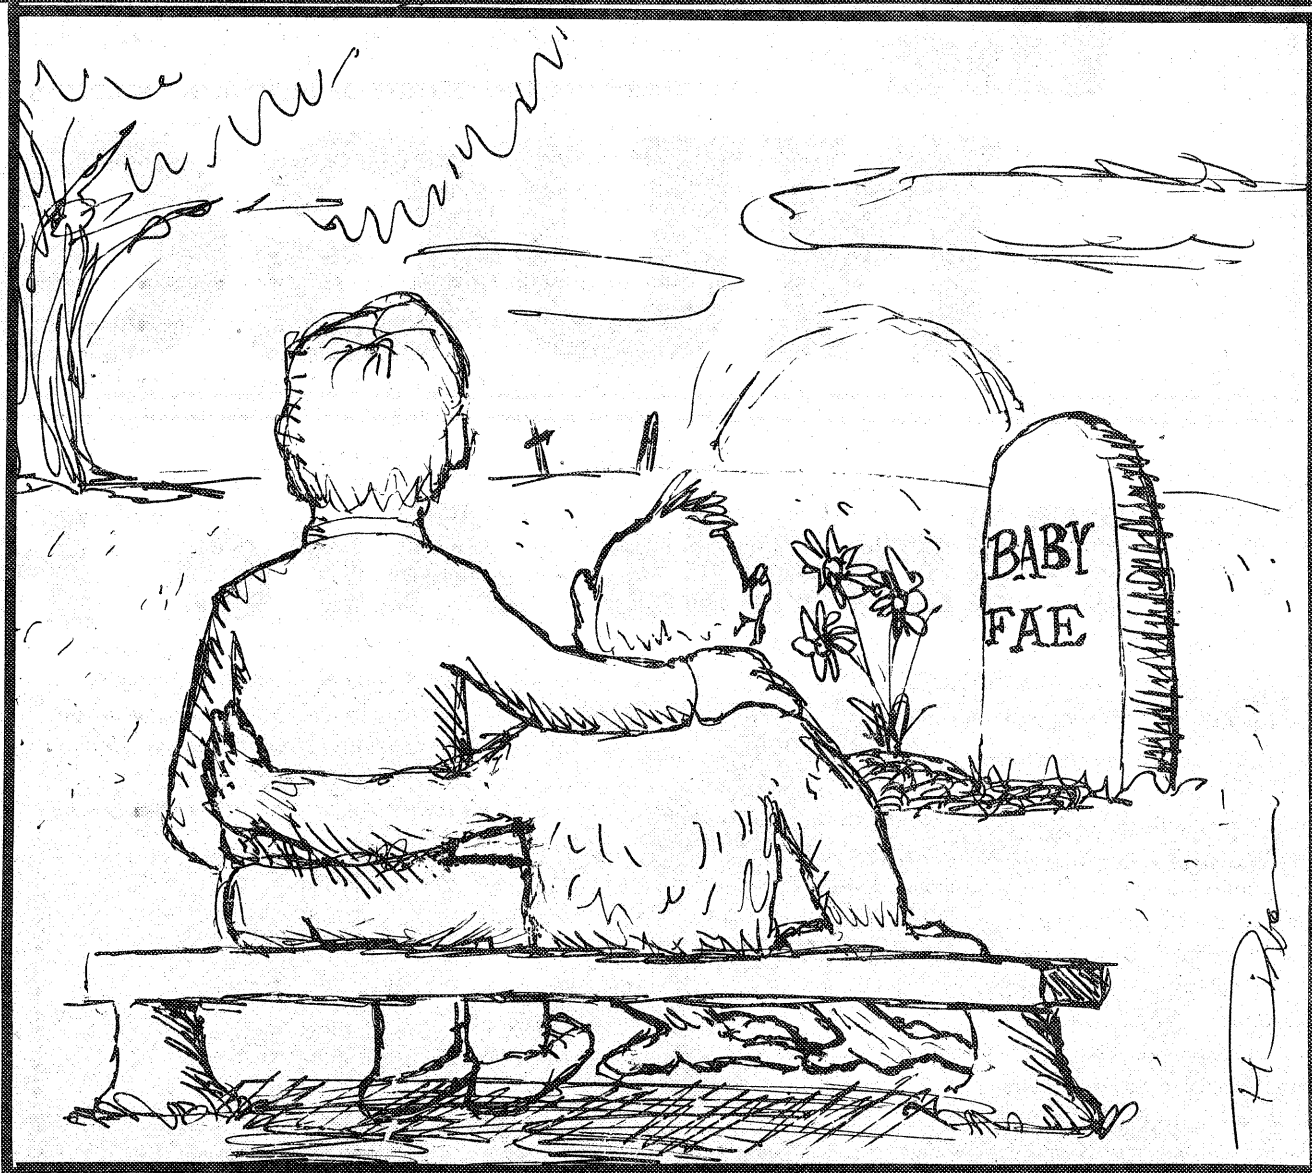

- c. Underline all significant words in the directions. Many a hapless student has penalized himself because he did not see the word "or", in "Answer 1, 2, or 3." You do not get extra credit for answering three questions in that case. If you do not clearly understand the directions, ask your instructor.

2. When you begin to work:

- a. Tackle the questions in the order that appeals to you most. There is nothing sacred about the order in which the questions are asked. Doing well on a question that you feel relatively sure of will be reassuring and will free your mind of tension. The act of writing often unlocks the temporarily blocked mental processes; when you finish that question you will probably find the others less formidable. On the other hand, you may be the type of person who wants to get the big one off his mind first, and save the easy ones "for dessert." If you are writing in an exam book, be sure to identify the questions clearly.

- b. Keep the point value and time allowance in mind. This may save you from a very common and panic-producing mistake -- such as taking twenty minutes of an hour test to answer a five-point question, and then finding you have five

UNCLE LOUGHEED

I was awakened the other morning to the sound of an Alberta Government official explaining to the station's listeners that "it is for the consumer's long term benefit that Sunday shopping must stop." This official never did say exactly how we consumers were suffering from the convenience and the price saving but she did make a good point when she pointed out that "Super Sunday" shopping is killing Albertan independent grocers. It only makes sense that people will shop at the large, relatively inexpensive and more varied supermarkets as opposed to small, more expensive corner stores. Albertans have now become used to shopping on Sundays and a politically conscious government like Mr. Lougheed's would find it very difficult to buck that trend now. What, then, can our government do to save these independent grocers?

Provincial Leader Nick Taylor said it best when he said "the Government should sell liquor in independent grocery stores." In the home of free enterprise, the Lougheed government has got to let the independent grocers sell beer and wine on their shelves. By doing this, the benefits to the Province and its consumers will be numerous.

- 1) Alberta's independent grocers will be given a new lease on life by this legislation. Now, people will once again have a reason to go to "Johnny's Corner Store."

- 2) Beer and wine sales will be taken out of control of the government and cost savings will result. The government will still be able to tax these spirits and, at the same time, they will be saving money on wages at their ALCB outlets.

- 3) Consumers will benefit from the convenience and will save money on the inevitable "beer sales."

With Sears opening just last weekend, it is inevitable that our Sundays will soon be like our Saturdays. Accept it because that's the way it is. As well, judging by the behavior of our Grey Cup crowds, Canadians proved that they too can handle more liquor more often.

Europe and parts of the U.S. have proven that good societal drinking habits result from society's long term education. By treating Albertans like responsible adults, our Government will receive positive feedback. I would think that King Peter would like the positive vibes as opposed to the public's sense of being treated like repressed children.

The NUGGET is the student newspaper of the Northern Alberta Institute of Technology. It is published on a weekly basis during the school year September to May. The NUGGET will not be published during mid-term and final exam weeks. As a supplement to our regular issues the NUGGET will publish special issues to suit particular occasions. Excluding editorials, articles do not necessarily reflect the views and opinions of the NUGGET staff. Contributions from students are welcomed. ## LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor,

The two students flaunting their naked bodies, has nullified any attempts previously made to raise the standards of The Nugget and the image of NAIT. We were shocked and disappointed in this week's issue and hope never to see a display of this kind again.

H. Bowkett

Dear Editor,

Is The Nugget so short of editorial and other content that it needs to include sensationalistic photos to be read?

Robin-Lee McFadden
Marketing 2

Dear Editor:

I don't know if you have seen any movies lately but I would strongly recommend that you don't see "The Terminator". Over the years I have seen a lot of movies and have noticed an alarming increase in "slaughter house killings", or an even larger increase in policeman killings, and believe me "The Terminator" is no exception. It makes me wonder what kind of society we live in when these types of shows get high ratings. Sure I went to see it, but let me tell you, if I would have known about it beforehand I wouldn't have stepped in the door, which I hope is the case of the other people who go and see this type of movie. But what about the other weirdos, are these the guys that "blow" policemen away or commit senseless murders . . . I mean, these shows are great for giving them ideas. Sure the movie makers aren't causing these senseless killings, but I wonder what goes through these guy's heads when they see a movie like "The Terminator"?

THANK YOU NAITSA

As Sports Editor of this paper, I would like to take this opportunity to thank the NAITSA Council for allowing and endorsing my trip to attend the Canadian Colleges Soccer Championships in Toronto. The calibre of athletic excellence at the post-secondary education level is now a firmly established fact: Canadian colleges are providing talented, ambitious young athletes with training and competitive opportunities to further their sports careers. The result is an ever-increasing number of quality sport events such as this soccer championship. NAIT is no exception in providing quality competitive and training opportunities. The NAIT Hockey, Volleyball and Basketball Programs, are consistent in producing traditionally strong and competitive teams. It has been questioned whether or not The Nugget should follow these teams as they triumph over their opponents. I am sure that the coaches and players would agree with me that The Nugget should have somebody covering these events which of course affect all of us at NAIT. A newspaper is supposed to be a valuable resource on a campus. Its intent is to inform the students of events that affect them. I strongly believe that when a team representing NAIT is doing well in their sport, they deserve the kind of recognition and exposure that The Nugget (as a campus paper) should be able to offer. Perhaps in the future there will be provisions set out by NAITSA to allow such impartial eyewitness accounts of how NAIT teams do when they compete away from NAIT.

Thank-you. Brian McDonald

All letters to the editor should be typed or written neatly and double spaced. The letter deadline is Monday at 4:30 for the Thursday edition. All letters must include a signature and student I.D. number. Anonymous letters will not be printed, but names will be withheld upon the author's request. "The Nugget" reserves the right to edit for libel and length. Letters do not necessarily reflect the opinion of "Nugget" staff.

c. Work methodically, forcing yourself, if necessary, to do so. If you tend to rush at things, slow down. If you tend to dawdle, pace yourself.

3. When you are finished:

Check over your entire paper, for two purposes:
- to see if you have left out any questions you meant to tackle later, and to see if you have followed directions.
- to catch careless errors. Note: don't take time to copy answers, unless you're sure they're really illegible. You are not graded on neatness but on accuracy.

COMPUTER INPUT

The Association for Computer Machinery contest, showed that NAIT's computer students are excellent. With it being the first time that NAIT had been in the event, NAIT had a very impressive eighth place finish, out of eighteen teams. NAIT's team consisted of computer instructor Rudy Dekimpe and four second year students. They are Dan Jessop, Bruce McKinnon, Annette Lettmann, and Shane Laschuk.

All of NAIT's contestants had a similar view of the contest. Each teammate said that the contest was enjoyable to be a part of. They said that the questions covered a wide scope. Some of the questions were easy, and some being very hard. I won't get into the questions because for me, they are too hard to understand.

Each of the NAIT contestants said that they wanted to participate in another contest. Unfortunately, the Association for Computer Machinery (ACM) will not be holding another contest until next year. By then, NAIT's fine foursome will be out of NAIT. So they suggest that other NAIT students should get involved in these contests. These contests can give you the added edge that you may need to get into the work force.

Because there were no other computer contests planned,

NAIT has issued a challenge to the University of Alberta. If you don't know, the University entered two teams in the ACM contest. One team furnished in sixth place, and the other in tenth place. The contest has not been finalized yet, but if the contest does come about, it will involve teams from Edmonton, or all of Alberta.

The contestants described their first competition as a warm-up for the next. If they do compete again, we are sure that NAIT will finish near the top, if not number one. Everyone will then know about NAIT's excellent Computer Students. Go for it! We know that you're the best.

SECRETARIAL BARGAIN

At the last (Nov. 6) NAITSA General Council meeting, a motion was passed to give the NAITSA Secretary, Deneen Miller, a new word processor. This motion was long overdue because the machine that the NAITSA Secretary previously used was approximately fifteen years old.

The machine is a Micom 2001 with a Qume printer. The machine is not brand new because these machines are not made anymore. It was slightly used, and NAITSA got it for a bargain. A brand new machine would cost approximately twenty thousand dollars. The machine that NAITSA got cost $5000.

Besides the old word processor being out of date, it also had a few other problems. The old word processor printed its material in a cluttered form, which made the reports hard to read at times. The old word processor also had a bad habit of printing lines that were not straight. Not efficient enough for NAITSA.

With the new word processor, NAITSA's reports will be of a higher quality. "This will give NAITSA a more professional image, and allow them to be treated with more consideration." said our President.

The new machine is the same type that the Secretarial Arts students are trained on. Since the NAITSA Secretary is almost always from the Secretarial Technology, it stands to reason that the machines should be similar. This means the new NAITSA Secretary should need less time to get acquainted with her job.

NAITSA president Greg Scherf said that "the new machine will not benefit NAIT students directly." The new machine benefits NAITSA instead, with better quality reports.

SOME LIKE IT RAW

The NAIT Sushi Eating Club took part in their first official competition on November 6. It was the Japanese Village's second annual Sushi-eating contest. Nait's ace Remi Chretien (5'10", 150 lbs.), gave a remarkable performance by eating thirty-eight pieces. This incredible display of gluttony earned him second place in the event. Remi was quoted as saying, "since eating sushi is now the trendy thing to do, I naturally want to be a part of it." Remi gave this tip for any up-and-comers, "You have to remember to eat with your hands. One time I was eating so fast,

I swallowed and nearly choked on my chopsticks." Mark "Iron-Gut" Dixon, did extremely well for a rookie. He ate a whopping thirty-three morsels. Mark was overheard saying after cramming down the thirty-third piece, "If I eat another, I'll puke." Fortunately, he did not attempt number thirty-four. Sean O'Neill was left back in the pack with a miserable fourteen piece showing. This was of course not a result of lack of effort. Sean paid for beer that night being so distressed by letting down his team mates. Mr. O'Neill said after the contest,

"They told me we were going for 'Sushi'. How the heck was I supposed to know that meant 'raw fish' in Japanese? I thought it was a kind of slurpee!"

Since all the members of the NAIT team are second year students, they are urging any interested first year's to join. "We think you've never really lived until you've stuffed your face with raw fish."

B.A.'S BASHES

Things are looking great for the future of NAITSA activities. The Rock & Talk on November 9 was a huge success. We hope to have the same success with the Rock & Talk on November 23.

This one will definitely be a TACKY affair because that is our theme and the best male and female students that are dressed up will win a sony Walkman each. Tech week will be held from December 9 to 14. The two main events will be the TAG game and a talent show. Watch the newspaper for entry forms or contact your student executive. There will not be a large NAITSA cabaret at the end of the week as originally planned but there will be our annual Christmas Rock & Talk to end the week. This Rock & Talk is for Santa's Anonymous, so admission is a present for a needy child. Craven A will also be present to give away all kinds of prizes. Marty Bear will be back to entertain us at the January 11 Rock & Talk.

Another very interesting development is that the Kinsmen Fieldhouse has agreed to let NAIT back on their premises. This is great news because the exhibition association won't let us back and the Convention Centres prices are outrageous.

My next step is to find the entertainment, so at a recent conference I attended, I expressed a very great interest in BILLY IDOL and a couple other groups around that caliber.

*A ticket to see BILLY IDOL for $10.00

*A huge dance floor to PUNK OUT!

*Drinks at $1.25 a shot!

This could be one of NAIT's better beerfests. By the way, the beerfest isn't until April 27. Well that's about it for now, so until next time DI BORJA?

Bruce Antoniuk

ACADEMIC YEAR CHANGE

GET YOUR SAY

Dear Students:

Academic Council will be reviewing presentations on the academic year change. NAITSA will be making a presentation to Academic Council based on the stance which will be determined at the November 20 General Council meeting. I will ask that presentations be restricted to technology clubs and that individual presentations be channelled through the respective technology clubs.

If you wish to hand in your stance, and make no in-person presentation, you may do so as well. Address your paper to Graham Toope, Assistant to the President.

PRESENTATION PROCEDURE

- 1) Notice of intent to make a proposal, and of desired time, by November 30, 1984 (G. Toope)
- 2) Proposals for Academic Council to G. Toope by December 7th.
- 3) Presentations during December 12-13.

SUBJECT:

Advantages and Disadvantages of a semester System Format for the Academic year.

WHEN:

December 12 and 13

WHERE:

Governors' Board Room

TIME:

8:30 am - 4:00 pm

FORMAT:

- 1) The time allotted to each presentation should be confined to 30 minutes (e.g., a 15-20 minute presentation, followed by a short question period or discussion).
- 2) Request for a scheduled time to be made to G. Toope (Room 102D) not later than November 30, 1984. (More than one preferred time should be given).
- 3) Copies of the submission as well as any documentation must be supplied to G. Toope by December 7th for distribution to Academic Council members.
- 4) Other interested staff members are welcome to attend these sessions.

ELECTRONICS ENGINEERING TECHNOLOGY

Electronics is one of the fastest moving, fastest changing industries of our modern times. It demands specially trained, highly technical personnel knowledgeable in a wide and complex field. An Electronics technologist must be talented, imaginative and greatly motivated to keep pace with this demanding, yet interesting, profession.

The NAIT Electronics Engineering Technology program is one of the toughest at NAIT and is recognized throughout North America for its high quality and exacting standards. We are also one of the larger techs here, with about 300 students.

Upon completion of the two years here at NAIT, the Electronics Grad will be a specialist in Communications, Computers, Audio equipment and control systems. As well, he (or she) will have experience designing, constructing, trouble shooting, and repairing all types of electronic devices and equipment. Other topics covered are telecommunications, biomedical electronics, avionics, micro-computers and robotics, as well as business management, technical english and advanced math. Graduates look forward to many exciting and varied careers: many will become engineers, more will be successful in management of industrial firms, and many will start their own companies.

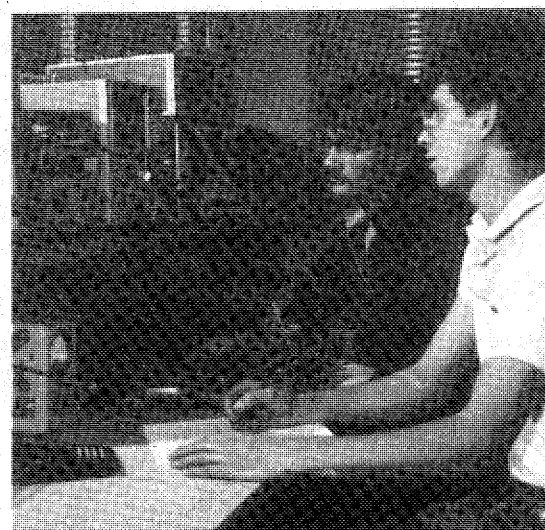

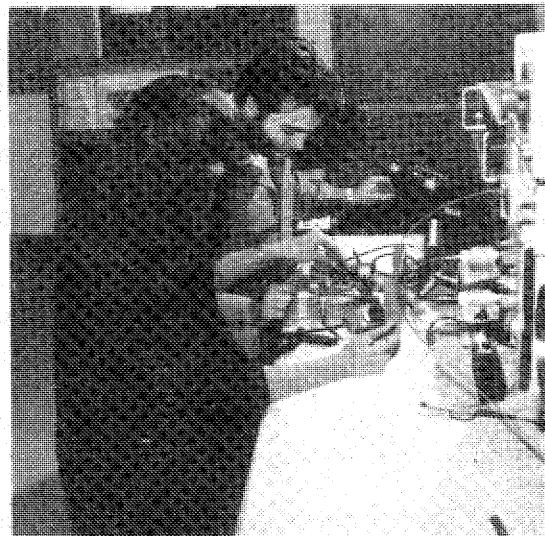

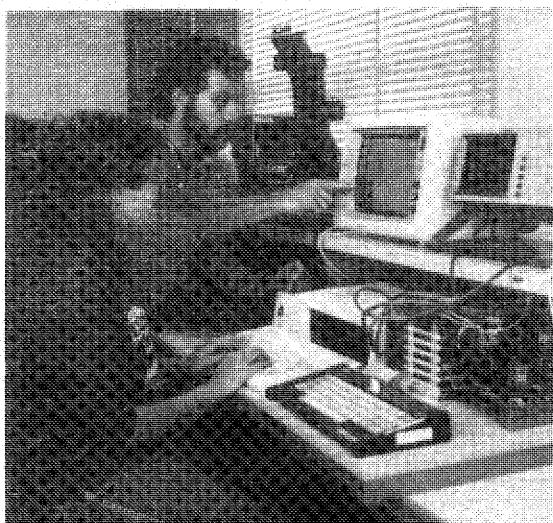

Needless to say, the course load is very heavy. But when time permits, EET students enjoy their social life, too. The Electronics Student Society runs approximately one Cabaret per month and all who come out have a great time. Also, there is the EET Christmas ski trip which is a big event every year. This year, we are going to Whitefish, Montana to enjoy the superior conditions down there. By the way, there is still space available on this trip for anyone who is interested. We also will be running 'The Assassination Game' (TAG) again this year and we participate proudly in intramurals.

We, the EET students, are proud of our program and of this institution to which we belong. We wish you success in your courses; and we'll see you all at the various NAIT activities.

Good luck on Finals to all!

John Roebuck
EET President

CHEAP THRILLS

Sometimes leisure can be defined as the absence of work. And seeing that one needs Leisure Time in order to enjoy the Cheaper Thrills in life, let's look at some ways in which to reduce the time you waste every day doing something useful!

SMALL CHILDREN sure come in handy when it comes to running small errands. They are ever eager to help out "the grownups" and can often be conned into cutting firewood or shovelling walks for a small toffee. If anyone accuses you of child labor, simply don't pay the little beggars and call it "educational".

OLD PEOPLE aren't as agile as the kids, but they enjoy the boring tedious work that we dread. Grandma will be more than happy to help you collate documents or add columns of figures (if you print them large enough). After all, they need to feel needed and useful; you'll be helping them.

ANIMALS are a little bit further down the scale as far as smarts go, but with a little effort and some starvation therapy, it's amazing what you can get poodles or goldfish to do. To get the ball rolling, start thinking about a rat-driven sleigh to drive you to work or school.

Yes, why don't we all take a tip from the nineteenth century industrialists and take the attitude that Nature is just lying around anyway, so why not exploit it? See you next week, and good luck on those exams.

IRON MAIDEN

Iron Maiden returns to Western Canada as part of a 300 date world tour that has taken them through Britain & Europe and is proceeding through the U.S.A., Australia, Japan, and even dates in Tibet!!! Iron Maiden recently became the first western rock band to take full scale production behind the iron curtain as their six semi's rolled through into Poland. Iron Maiden are on tour in support of their latest opus "Powerslave", containing the singles.... "Two Minutes To Midnight" and "Ace High".

This album boasts the best hard rock released this year and clocks in at over 52 minutes. Iron Maiden have always delivered highly energetic and involving live shows, led by charging guitars and the powerful voice of Bruce Dickinson.

TWISTED SISTER

Twisted Sister will be making their Western Canadian debut as part of this great double bill!!! Those five pretty faces have been getting an incredible amount of exposure on TV. These days, with the videos of "We're Not Gonna Take It", and "I Wanna Rock". They have a twisted sense of humour and are a highly visual and captivating live act.

Their latest album, "Stay Hungry" is way past platinum and has more potential singles. Onstage Twisted Sister are the ultimate rabble rouser, life of the party, mutant sons of Alice Cooper, and sheer entertainment band!

What's Great and What Grates

WHAT'S GREAT AND WHAT GRATES

It's almost Christmas and most people unlike myself are out buying their little presies. So in order to satisfy this demand for gifts the record companies release their annual Chrimbo offerings. The one and only asexual Boy George and Culture Club - Waking up with the house on fire. This record should only be put into the stocking of your most despised relative - remember you can choose your friends but you can't choose your relatives. This record is very, very, boring, if Mr. George had spent as much time on the record as he does on his face, hair, nails, and breasts (?) would the results have been better? - probably not!

The same applies for those pretty boys - Duran Duran Arena (Harvest Records).

A live album, demonstrating just how awful things can get when you are a pop star. First thing I noticed was that the lead singers' voice had deteriorated from passable to an unbearable whine, and whine he does throughout the entire record. The next thing is that being a pop star you don't need to write any new material because the public will buy anything you release. Don't ask me why, but they do. Last thing, if you're a male pop star, as in the case of Duran Duran, apparently the more famous you get, the more necessary it seems to conceal your face with make-up. Why don't they go all the way and use paper bags!!

Who else can I pull apart this week - How about Pat Benatar, more bubble gum induced, mind dulling dribble. I have forgotten the name of her new album probably because I made no effort to memorize it, I advise you to do the same - forget that the album and the woman ever existed.

So all I can finish by saying is that Christmas won't be lonely without these records. Give your ears a break - on no account buy these albums. If anyone feels differently about my reviews, don't hesitate to write to The Nugget, especially all you Twisted Sister fans, and all the guys training to be D.J.'s on the RTA program. Since the above records will probably be played on NAIT Radio - remember 33 p.m.!!

MOVIE UPDATE

CRIMES OF PASSION

"Crimes of Passion" is one of those movies I just can't make up my mind on. On one hand I say ok, and on the other hand, I say why. Interestingly enough, though, the critics are raving about it. Now is that because of the topic 'sex' or is it really a good movie?

Kathleen Turner plays Joanna Crane a clothing designer who's terrified of intimacy.

So she creates an erotic alter ego that allows her to have sex without intimacy, giving her all the power in encounters with men. Nightly she leaves her plush apartment and taxis to a third rate hotel where she works as a prostitute called China Blue. What happens is a discerning and ironical commentary of all intentions in our sexual games.

Enter sexual repression. Rev. Peter Shayne, a deeply troubled man, played by Anthony Perkins, has fantasies of stabbing nude women. Shayne is a sexually tormented man, haunted by strength and control of the woman he's out to save-kill-rape.

China Blue's counterpart in normal urban life is Amy (Annie Potts), mother of two, married her high school beau, respectable to a fault. Her husband Grady, played by John Laughlin, is a former football hero and a clean-cut American boy who seeks for something other than the perfect relationship with his wife.

The conflict between sexuality and intimacy, which the film is directly related with, a remnant of the 60's. It's about the modern confusion concerning single people needing to get into relationships and married people desiring to get out of them and that in the end everybody experiences pain.

On the whole, "Crimes of Passion" is hard to accept. Not as a statement on sexuality but as a statement at all. The relationships are dismal at best with overall understanding of intended concepts shoddy. However, both Kathleen Turner and Anthony Perkins performances are well worth mentioning. Without question, director Ken Russell has made a critic's kind of film instead of a film for his audience.

GARBO TALKS

Estelle Rolfe has a fantasy shared by thousands of fans all over the world. She wants to meet Greta Garbo. Estelle is the consummate New Yorker, an activist, rights crusader and general complainer but when she is not in jail for disturbing the peace she is at home plopped in front of her television set wallowing in the reflected glory of old Garbo films. She is the bane of her son Gilbert's existence. He just wants to try and get through life and make a little money as a down-trodden, picked-upon accountant, but is not meant to be. His mother, who embarrassed him all his life, imposes the ultimate burden when she becomes ill. Her final request is for a meeting with Garbo.

Needless to say Garbo Talks is a comedy. Anne Bancroft stars as the irrepressible Estelle, Ron Silver as her wimp son, Carrie Fisher his whining wife and Catherine Hicks the co-worker who makes life worth living.

Because Garbo has not been photographed, interviewed or appeared in a film since 1941, many people think she is dead, but ironically she is very much alive. She lives in Switzerland, spends time in the Upper East side of New York and the Riveria. She is not a total recluse. New Yorkers occasionally catch glimpses of her in the streets or in the back rows of a theatre, but Garbo has become an expert at dodging photographers and newspeople. So the reality of her illusive lifestyle set up the perfect 'situation' for a comedy like Garbo Talks.

Garbo Talks is a sightseeing tour of all the places the real Garbo is rumoured to haunt. Fraser Morres, the gourmet food shop, the Museum of Modern Art, Fire Island, the Delacorte Theatre, and four of the biggest book stores. With Sydney Lumet directing, they are just enough to make audiences think, 'well maybe it is the real Garbo who's disappearing out the door.'

WHEN SUICIDE MAKES SENSE

Night Mother at the Kaasa Theatre;
a Phoenix production through December 2

There are very few of us whose lives have not been touched in some way by the tragedy of suicide. But for those of us who have not encountered it first- or even second-hand, I recommend you go see Phoenix Theatre's current production Night Mother.

The play centres around two characters; Thelma, and her daughter Jessie. Jessie is an epileptic, but seems to cope with her affliction well. But she has decided to commit suicide, because she sees her life becoming an inevitable, sad progression of events from which she will never escape. Thelma, her mother, is an unkept Edith Bunker; she wanders about the house eating chocolates in a threadbare dress and ratty sweater, never really aware of what is happening around her. But she receives a rude awakening when Jessie tells her of her plans for suicide.

The play is incredibly tense, as the time draws ever closer for Jessie to go in her bedroom and take her own life.

Thelma's desperation is almost unbearable as she suddenly realizes that Jessie is not joking and tries argument after argument to divert Jessie from the seemingly inevitable. It is a powerful and sadly funny play which had me completely engrossed from beginning to end. Be sure not to miss Night Mother; it is easily the best play I've seen this year.

OOKS HOCKEY

FUTURE GAMES

NAIT vs. Camrose, 7:30 p.m., Wednesday, November 21st

Mount Royal vs. NAIT, 7:30 p.m., Saturday, November 24th

The NAIT Ooks played a single game this past weekend and faced a determined Red Deer College Kings squad. The Ooks skated away with a 6-4 victory on Friday at the Red Deer Arena.

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 16TH -- NAIT OOKS 6, RDC KINGS 4 AT RED DEER ARENA, RED DEER

The NAIT Ooks exploded for five goals in the final frame and held on to down the Red Deer College Kings 6-4 at the Red Deer Arena on Friday, November 16th. For NAIT, it was their second win over Red Deer in regular season play.

Following a scoreless first stanza, the teams traded goals in the second. Greg Pulliam of RDC started the scoring at 5:24. Mike Spencer of the Ooks tied the contest at 1-1 with his seventh goal of the campaign at the 10:21 mark. Jamie Bartman and Mike Tookey were given assists.

In the third, Mike Spencer's second goal of the contest and eight of the season lifted NAIT into a 2-1 lead. Gary Leach and Ron Amyotte set up the go-ahead goal. Hugh Alexander of the Kings evened the contest at 2-2 one minute and 57 seconds later on the RDC powerplay. NAIT pulled in front with 10:30 elapsed in the third as Ken Goodwin notched his fourth goal of the season from Murray Melnyk and Garth Hayes with the man advantage. Forth five seconds passed before NAIT's Ross Kenny netted his first goal of the season from Ron Amyotte and Sid Cranston. At 12:03, Ross Kenny tallied for the seocnd time in the match to give NAIT a 5-2 advantage. Once again, Sid Cranston and Ron Amyotte picked up assists. The Red Deer College Kings did not give up. Garth Hildebrand cut NAIT's advantage to 5-3 a short ten seconds later. At 13:31, Red Deer pulled to within one as Hugh Alexander scored his second of the night. NAIT's Randy Repchuk sealed the victory with his fourth marker of the season on a Garth Hayes set-up with 3:55 left in the contest.

Bert Brooker protected the RDC crease and faced 34 NAIT shots. At the opposite end, NAIT's Cleo Rowein was tested by RDC on 33 occasions.

The win raises NAIT's record to six wins and no losses. Red Deer has three wins, three losses and one tie. The NAIT Ooks lead the league with the lowest goals against (2.00) and the highest goals for (7.83).

The NAIT special teams are starting to improve as the players become more familiar with one another and the system. Turnovers almost proved to be disaster for NAIT Friday and will require attention as the season continues.

ON THE BENCH: The NAIT Ooks have many bumps and bruises, but only a couple of players are on the injury list. Dave Simmons is listed as probablye Rob Hrytsak is questionable and Jeff Lastiwka is doubtful . . . The NAIT training staff is one of the most talented and knowledgeable in the league. Back for the 1984-85 season are Patti Dahl, Cindy Schultheiss, and Rick Y. . . . The NAIT Ooks play a pair of games this week. On Wednesday, November 21st, the Ooks travel to Camrose to play the CLC Vikings. Action starts at 7:30 in the Rec Center. The next home game for the NAIT Ooks will be Saturday, November 24th when the Mount Royal College Cougars come to the NAIT Arena. Game time is 7:30 p.m.

CHICKS BASKETBALL BLUES

The Camrose Lutheran College Vikettes rode the hot hand of Tricia Harrison (19 points) and some tough team defense to defeat the Chicks 63-40 in the first league game of the year. Harrison turned in a strong performance on the boards as the very aggressive Vikettes often had several shots at the hoop on each possession. The Chicks were unable to gain control of the boards at either end and turned the ball over an unusual amount, the result of some tenacious defense by the Vikettes. While coach Meropoulis was disappointed with the loss he felt that it did identify some weaknesses in the Chicks game that he can work on in practice. "We lack the aggressiveness displayed by top teams in the league and this is most evident in our offensive rebounding."

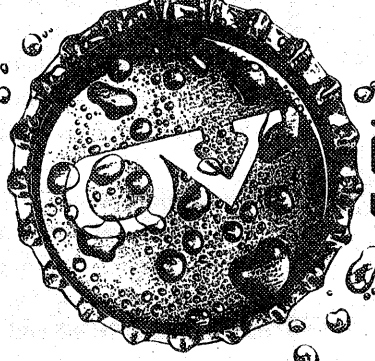

The girls trailed Camrose 30-20 at the half and the second half was much the same. On the bright side rookie guard Terri Procktor turned in a solid performance leading the Chicks with twelve points and several steals.

FROM THE FOUL LINE

The Chicks play their home opener against the Lethbridge Community College Kodiette's on Friday November 23. Tip-off is 6:30 and the game will feature the backcourt tandem of Paula Gorman and Pam McLeod - both all-stars in the Kodiettes triumph at the Pre-Season Tournament in Camrose. A trampoline exhibition will also be featured during the evening. Saturday the Chicks will tango with Medicine Hat College. Tip-off is 1:00 p.m.

NAIT OOKS MEN'S BASKETBALL

Traditionally NAIT has one of the strongest and most competitive Basketball Programs among Alberta Colleges. This season should be no different. Head coach Dave Hoy, entering his 7th year as coach of the Ooks believes this year's team could be a contender for the ACAC Championship. The 1984-85 edition of the Ooks will play an 18 game league schedule and compete in additional exhibition tournaments in Red Deer, Calgary and Vancouver. In addition, NAIT will host the 5th Annual "Blue-Gold Classic", December 21 through until the 23. On November 16 the Ooks defeated CLC (Camrose Lutheran College) 80-67.

MEN'S I-M SOCCER

There was a total of eleven teams that signed up for soccer. Three round robin leagues were set up with the top two from each league entering a single elimination play-off. Independent and Respiratory placed to a one, one tie on a meserable, cold, snowy day. They were declared co-champs.

MEN'S I-M TUG-OF-WAR

There were only six teams entered in this event. It was a double knockout tournament and there were several defaults. Mill. and Carp. blew away the competition with their awesome tugging. BCET and Respiratory came in tied for a distant second place.

NAIT FITNESS CENTRE

The NAIT Fitness Centre, located in room E121 on the Main Campus at NAIT, houses NAIT's Fitness testing facilities, a fitness counselling room and the office of NAIT's Fitness Co-ordinator (Dave Hoy). Through this office many fitness related services are offered to both staff and students at NAIT.

These services include:

- .Individual and group physical fitness appraisal and counselling;
  - .Co-ordination of fitness classes offered through the department of Physical and Leisure Education;
  - .Fitness Nutrition and Lifestyle Seminars;
  - .Stress Management Seminars; and
  - .NAIT Fitness and Lifestyle Project for Staff
- These services are described below.

INDIVIDUAL AND GROUP PHYSICAL FITNESS APPRAISAL COUNSELLING

The NAIT Fitness Centre will test and counsel both individuals and groups on an appointment basis throughout the year. The fitness test includes the following items: flexibility, grip, strength, skinfold test to determine percentage of body fat, sit-ups, push-ups and a bicycle ergometer test to determine cardiorespiratory fitness. Following the test, individuals are counselled as to fitness programs they might follow to improve their fitness. To make an appointment for a fitness appraisal, individuals should phone 471-8688 or drop in at office E124 (Student Services). Please note that we strongly recommend anyone over the age of 30 to consult a doctor for approval prior to taking the test. Any staff member not previously tested at NAIT is encouraged to a Physical Fitness Appraisal completed as part of the NAIT Fitness and Lifestyle Project as described below. "TESTS ARE FREE TO NAIT STAFF AND STUDENTS."

FITNESS CLASSES

The Department of Physical and Leisure Education offers a variety of Fitness Classes for both staff and students during each semester of the academic school year. To enroll in classes, a registration day will occur in the gymnasium during the first week of classes of each semester. Information on fitness classes offered may be obtained by reading the Physical and Leisure Education timetable located directly in front of the gymnasium. Watch for additional publicity about classes and registration in the NAITLINE and NUGGET. Some of the classes offered will include: Aerobics; Early Bird Fitness (7:15 am); Yoga; Water Aerobics; Weight Room Workouts; Womens Weight Training; Body Building; Learn to Run; and Orientation to Fitness Class. All classes are 50 minutes in length. "ALL FITNESS CLASSES ARE FREE TO NAIT STAFF AND STUDENTS."

FITNESS, NUTRITION AND LIFESTYLE SEMINARS

During each semester at the noon hour, once a week, seminars on a variety of Fitness, Nutrition and Lifestyle topics will be offered. Topics will include: Learn to Run; Learn to Stretch; use of the NAIT weight room; Exercise, Nutrition and Weight Control; Stop Smoking programs; and an introduction to Stress Management. Watch for seminar information in the NAITLINE, NUGGET and posters.

STRESS MANAGEMENT SEMINARS

The Department of Physical and Leisure Education offers a seminar introducing the participant to the concept of Stress Management and ways and means of reducing the negative effects of stress on the body. This seminar is 3 hours in length and may be scheduled for groups (usually by technology) by contacting the Program Head of the Physical and Leisure Education Department (John Reeves) at 471-7613 or at office E134. Please note for staff, Stress Management Seminars are regularly scheduled during In-Service III in June.

NAIT FITNESS AND LIFESTYLE PROJECT

The NAIT Fitness and Lifestyle project takes participants through the Physical Fitness appraisal and counselling aspect of the project. In addition participants will receive individual nutrition counselling by second year Dietary Technology students, and will be made aware of additional fitness programs, seminars and fitness information geared to the NAIT lifestyle. Staff interested in participating in this program will receive information on registration through the NAITLINE and NAIT mail in October of each year.

THE DEN OF INIQUITY
(Although late) would like to thank all who made the first monthly bash a success. The hosts had the pleasure of firing two U of A "Larrys" out on their face....and the crowd reacted.

In the wake of the evening events remained 23 doz. dead soldiers and 15 empty rye, rum, vodka and/or tequila bottles.

Special thanks to Doug P. who made use of our "overnight" facilities, James who never had the chance, and Audrey who only "hit on the walls".
Regards to Susan M. whose tequila vanished before her eyes.
