This is a guide to the various displays and attractions featured at this year's Open House. Please see the map on page 5 for additional location information.

Air Conditioning Engineering

Labs A182a and A182b will be open. Program Head Jack Aanen will discuss job opportunities, type of work, power environment, earning power, and course content in T503 at 11 a.m. on March 11.

Animal Health

There will be a surgery (static) simulation in E-210 and E-211. E-212 will also have displays. Other displays include a video tape, blood collection, and a microscope. Course descriptions will be available.

Architectural

Four strong architectural elements will be displayed in the North Lobby. There will also be architectural models of an office tower and house construction. Samples of student work from all three options and first and second years will be shown. A slide show on effective communication skills will be presented.

Athletics

There will be general information on team sports and A.C.A.C. in the gym.

Business (All areas)

There will be an interactive TV (much like "Max Headroom") in E-115 showing well-known personalities. As well, there will be a continuous showing of computers and video tapes.

Chemical Technology

Chemical technologists are employed in environmental study and research, chemical production and quality control, food industries, oil and hydrocarbon study and research, chemical sales, general chemical research, and other fields too numerous to mention. Location: G109, G110, 1st floor G-Wing.

Biological Sciences

Poster display, cell fermentation and electrophoresis setups. Location: F-202, F-206, F-210, E-201, E-102.

Building Construction

A display in the North Lobby will consist of scaffolding built by students. A mascot will also be present.

Combined Lab and X-Ray Technician

Lab equipment, ECG machine, X-Ray film, and slide presentation in gym.

Computer Systems Technology

On the second floor of the Tower Building there will be three rooms of exciting computer displays, demonstrations, films, and video tapes, all showing continuously:

demo of IBM's new PS/2
demo of touch screen and voice input displays of some equipment from NAIT's past plus possibilities for the future display showing how computer languages have changed over the years.

Dental Technologies (all)

Dental clinic open for walk through. Demonstrations of procedures, dental radiography display, nutrition and health, teaching videos. Mascot is the Tooth Fairy. Locations: F-207, E-201A, E-203, F-213, F-208, E-205.

Engineering Design and Drafting

A display in the North Lobby will consist of demonstrations and samples of student work (sample drawings, design sheets, AUTOCAD-drafting software). The six areas of E.D.D.T. will be covered:

- 1) municipal topographical
- 2) electrical
- 3) structural/architectural
- 4) heating, ventilation, and air conditioning
- 5) machine design
- 6) process piping and pressure vessel.

Geosciences (formerly Earth Resources)

Photos of student activities (labs and field trips) along with the tools of the trade (maps, cross-sections, charts, and equipment) will be displayed in the gym.

Hairstyling

On both Friday and Saturday at 11:30 and 2:30 there will be a hair show.

Theme is 60's, 70's and 80's. In addition, demonstrations of hair coloring, perming, and bleaching will be given. Location: E-232, E-227.

Industrial Heavy Equipment

"Dr. Diesel" will be distributing pamphlets. The labs from A-101 to A-107, and A-114 will be open to the public. Some of the 5 areas of this technology to be displayed are: thermo, hydraulic, power train and electrical. As well, a hydraulic loader will be exhibited.

Machinists

Computer numerical controlled machine tools will be demonstrated. The brass replicas of the Olympic Torch that will come out of this demo will be for sale to the public. Location: N110, Gym.

Materials Engineering

Equipment displayed and demonstrations include materials testing, mechanical testing, strength of materials and radiography. Major features of display are: (1) metallography - the science of examining materials under a microscope (2) non-destructive equipment - some examples of welds and castings and (3) Josephine - an arm wrestling dummy used to measure force. Location: Gym, E-216.

Motor Mechanics

In A-109, A-111, A-113 and A-115, students will be working as they normally do. Visitors are invited to walk through and ask the students questions.

Petroleum Engineering

There will be models of a drilling rig, some production equipment used in industry, and videos in E-219.

Physics

A one hour light show will be presented by "Dr. Vanderfool" in F6 (basement). Some of the 10 areas of interest to be demonstrated are: (1) a rocket propelled bicycle (2) how stress affects humans through the use of light, (3) X-rays of people and (4) the turning on of a fluorescent bulb using Dr. Vanderfool as a human conductor to complete the circuit. Times: Friday - 10:00, 12:00, 2:00, 4:00. Saturday - 9:00, 11:00, 1:00, 3:00.

Plastics Engineering Technology

Plastics will have a display in the gym and will be operating their equipment in the Plastics lab ('B' building). Products being made include: bags, bottles, dice, bus pass holders and more. Samples will be given away.

Power Linemen/Power Systems

The electrical displays are done in conjunction with the electrical technologies (rooms A183 - A187, A147). First and second year students' work will be displayed. Computer drafting and estimating software, motor control circuits and ratiometers are

Are We Having Utopia Yet?

By Peter Wilkinson
Nugget Editor

The old Victorian ideal of Utopia was simple. You take a group of the highest order of life on Earth (humans) and relieve them of all of their trivial burdens (food, shelter, clothes, money) and in a flash all their cares and worries would be eliminated, leaving them to prosper in perpetual art and intellect. The question that baffled most philosophers at that time was exactly how the relief was supposed to happen. With the bleak and often desolate world many people lived in, with 15 hour days, poverty wages and even child labour, it was felt that complete and total mechanization was the key towards that Utopia.

It is a safe bet that, compared to a hundred years ago, we have achieved a Utopia in the mechanical sense. Just count the number of times in a day you interact with a computer or a mechanical device, and you will realize that we depend on technology for more than we care to admit. So then, where is this Utopia spoken of over a century ago? Have we not developed the technology that our forefathers proclaimed would save the world? The answer does not appear to be as simple as it once was.

The stock market crash, or Black Monday, last year has been used as an example of technology causing problems. The argument is that because much of the world exchange is computerized, players sensed the crash much quicker, which aided in both its speed and ferocity. It is a valid point, but what the anti-technocrats fail to realize, is a fundamental perspective that ought to be remembered in any technological situation. Humans use technology, technology does not use humans.

South Africa, the Iran/Iraq Jihad, Ethiopia and Northern Ireland are all just a few examples global strife. Does the blame for these situations fall on the technology of superior weaponry and improved tactical information storage? No. Mechanization is not the problem, only a tool.

If it is possible to ever achieve the noble idea of Utopia, it will not come in the form of mechanization or a change in technology alone, rather it will be change in society's attitudes, politics and religions, which have all caused and continue to cause deprivation throughout the globe. It is all these plus the misuse of technology, that is preventing Utopia from becoming a reality.

There are those that argue that the nature of man dictates that he will never accept an environment like Utopia until he is utterly and completely insane. Perhaps there are those who are in Utopia after all.

Welcome

By Brian McCullough
Assistant Editor

I would like to take this opportunity on behalf of The Nugget to welcome all of our guests to NAIT. Our 25th year has been very exciting.

The events we participated in included First Class Day, the Moo Milk contest, Graffiti Wall, Beerfest with "1964", and Queen Week, Shinerama, Face Off and of course, Open House.

So, welcome one and all to the Institute that is more than just a school, NAIT!

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor:

In assessing the appearance of the NAIT Nugget, the paper's format and content has improved in all but one area--advertising.

The ads for the American Bar downgrade the whole paper. These ads are in poor taste and should not be allowed to run in the Nugget. Advertisers should have to follow a code of ethics like writers do.

With the running of these ads, one can draw one of two conclusions:

1. The advertising manager of NAITSA erred in selling the spots.
2. The Conservative government's failure to provide adequate funding for advanced education has forced institutions like NAIT to get money any way they can.

Tuesday is "the" day when I don't eat for thirteen long hours: I can't eat at least two hours before I exercise or I get "stitches" and necessity dictates that I exercise at noon, at three o'clock and again at five thirty that day. No food for thirteen hours! It's a nightmare. I have breakfast at six-thirty and eat nothing again until dinner at seven-thirty p.m. I spend all day listening to my stomach roar in protest. There's an unwritten code among my friends: don't talk to Lily on Tuesdays after noon hour and before eight at night (grrrrr....).

There are a lot of people who, on a regular basis exercise but barely eat. All in the idea of staying (or getting) trim. For them it's part of the harsh reality of life. But it's not good. It's scary. It's adding to the difficulty of keeping weight off, despite the

The Philosopher's Corner

Reveen, The Illusionist

By John Brownlee

Every few years or so, Reveen makes his appearance in Edmonton.

A friend and I saw him in action the last time he was here and were impressed enough to buy tickets for another show scheduled one week later. It was then we discovered just how much of an illusionist Reveen really is.

If you have ever seen his show you will recall that he asks for volunteers from the audience, "hypnotizes" some and has the remainder (presumably the poorer hypnotic subjects) sent back to their seats. He then has those on stage do various amusing things to entertain the audience. For instance, he has them imagine they are famous musicians playing their musical instruments to a wildly appreciative audience.

Later, and in stages, the remaining volunteers on stage are narrowed down to about a dozen or so and the real entertainment begins. It is all very smoothly done, and looks very convincing.

It was during this latter portion of the second show that my friend and I became aware of a mutual feeling of deja vu. Though we thought very little of it at first, one of the volunteers on stage seemed oddly familiar. Not only did he look very much like a volunteer we had seen on stage during the previous show, he was "playing" the same musical instrument.

By the time we had concluded he was, in fact, the same person, one or two other "volunteers" on stage began to look rather familiar, too. Suddenly it became very apparent to both of us that we were seeing the same show AND the same cast all over again. We had been had!

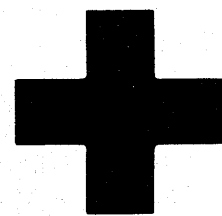

No wonder Reveen has dubbed himself an illusionist and allows no photographs during his shows. He never mentions the word hypnosis. Now the keyword is superconsciousness. It is all a sham. He IS an illusionist.

Of course there are always a few people who are easily hypnotized and do fit into the general scheme of the show, but they are soon dispensed with once the audience is convinced of the "reality" of what they are seeing.

What I find so intriguing is how easily I allowed myself to be taken in in the first place. This man Reveen has made an entire career out of making fools of people and we keep him coming back.

That reminds me, student elections are coming up and the campaigning will start soon. I hope we keep an eye out for the Reveens among us.

Thanks!

Body Language

fact that they exercise. I don't know how they do it, because body reactions vary from normal thought processes and intellectual capabilities getting tougher and tougher to maintain, to healing and disease defense mechanisms getting faulty.

Personally, I can handle almost anything except food deprivation, i.e. not getting enough food. I love to eat. I think I'm a foodaholic. I go into withdrawal when I don't eat regularly. It takes my stomach a week to get over Tuesdays even though I do eat twice that day.

Exercise and staying trim is good for everybody. But enough is enough--it shouldn't interfere with eating right--right? Right!

Not to say that exercise--especially aerobic exercise--isn't wonderful. I believe that exercise should be part of everybody's life. I sure wouldn't want to live without it. I love the music, I love getting lost in the music. I enjoy the comradery, the "up" feeling, the sense of control of my life. I huff and puff and perspire through ten classes a week along side dozens of other wise and dedicated fellow exercisers, and except for Tuesday I love it. Tuesdays happen by necessity not by choice: I have to eat the other 6 1/2 days a week. And I want to finish school, if Tuesdays don't finish me first.

Seriously--we should exercise at least three times a week (NOT three times a day). We should EAT three times a day, and responsibly eat. Not eating, or barely eating, makes life tougher than it has to be. So why not eat sensibly? And why not exercise while you're at it? Kind of like, give yourself fuel for action and then go for it.

'Cause when it gets right down to it--good is where the action is!

The World Bank Dilemma

By Brian McCullough

The following is an open letter written to the Members of Parliament as part of our continuing interest in problems outside our walls here at NAIT.

I recommend that you all write a similar letter to your MP, since it has been found that letters to politicians have a significant impact on their actions. Studies show that one letter to an MP is worth at least 500 votes to that politician.

An Open Letter to the Members of the House of Commons, Ottawa.

As the Assistant Editor of the NAIT Nugget, and as a citizen of Canada, I continually find concern for the poor of developing countries, as well as our own problems at home.

I strongly urge you to join with David Kilgour and other MPs in Parliament in signing a letter to Mr. Barber Conable of the World Bank. I am enclosing a copy of that letter for your perusal. In it, I would like to point out the second suggestion being made to Mr. Conable, that of elimination of rates on loans made by IDA (the International Development Association). This will bring the World Bank practices in line with those of Canada and other major supporters of developing countries, who are making grants rather than loans. Considering the state of the economies of most of these countries, it makes little sense, in any way, to expect them to repay this money, with the added burden of interest and an increase in their debt. Perhaps, by eliminating that worry, some of these countries can become productive members of the world community.

This proposal, while different in scope, can be viewed as similar to the purpose of the Student Loans so familiar to my readers.

Last year, a similar letter was sent to Mr. Conable and his reaction to it, and his actions following its receipt prove that he is willing to listen to suggestions for improving the effectiveness of the World Bank in its attempts to eliminate world poverty and develop the Third World.

The letter to Mr. Barber Conable, the President of the World Bank, follows:

Dear Mr. Conable:

Many of us wrote to you last year prior to the Bank's annual meeting, and we were pleased to see from your address to that gathering that you share our concerns. We note particularly your statements that:

"Our greatest goal is to reduce the poverty, misery and destitution which blights our world... rapid economic growth or the advances of modern technology seem of little consequence if nearly a billion people do not have enough food, clean water or shelter... there is little reason to expect that future growth alone will attain the progress against poverty that it has failed to secure in the past..."

"... Although we shall pursue the eradication of poverty globally, the effort in Asia, which contains more than 500 million of the world's absolute poor, has particular relevance. In the large poor countries of Asia we wish to support government strategies to eliminate the worst aspects of absolute poverty by the year 2000."

We join our colleagues from other countries in raising three issues on which progress should be made:

- 1) the use of social indicators to measure development progress;
- 2) future IDA terms; and
- 3) structural adjustment lending.

1. In light of your comments regarding eradicating the worst aspects of absolute poverty in Asia, we were particularly pleased to learn of the discussions that have been going on for some time between the World Bank, donor governments and others about the much wider use of social indicators as well as economic indicators to measure progress in development.

The conditions of the poor can best be measured by social indicators, such as the mortality rate of children under 5; life expectancy; access to safe water; the adult literacy rate, particularly among women; the proportion of children suffering from malnutrition. Public support of funding for the World Bank and other development institutions ultimately depends on their contribution to progress in key areas such as these.

We urge the World Bank to agree by its annual meeting this Autumn on the principle of using social indicators to monitor progress on development, which social indicators will be used and how these should be measured and monitored. Discussions should then begin with individual recipient countries on targets for improvements in specific social indicators, target dates for achieving these and planned bank activities to ensure that these goals are met.

2. One of the major factors hindering progress in development is the burden of debt.

Unlike the middle income countries, such as those in Latin America, whose debt is primarily owed to the commercial banks, the poorest countries, particularly those in sub-Saharan Africa, are mainly indebted to governments and international financial institutions such as the World Bank's affiliate the International Development Association (IDA).

When IDA started lending to the Third World's poorest countries in the early 1960s, its terms were amongst the most concessional of any aid donor. However, since then the governments of many donors such as the United States, the United Kingdom, and the Federal Republic of Germany have switched to providing nearly all of their bilateral aid to the poorest countries on grant terms.

In the discussions beginning this year on the ninth replenishment of IDA, we urge that you put proposals to donor governments that the funds they supply for IDA should then be provided to the poorest countries on grant terms. This would not place on the world's poorest countries the burden of having to repay additional aid loans well into the next century.

3. In the letter many of us signed last summer, we expressed our concern about the effects of structural adjustment programs on some of the poorest sections of the population in developing countries. We suggested ways in which policies could be tailored to the needs of the poor, particularly by involving representatives of the poor. We were therefore pleased to see the agreement reached last December by the major aid donor countries who constitute the Development Assistance Committee of the OECD on guidelines for structural adjustment programs:

"Ensuring that overall funding levels for structural adjustment programs are sufficient to regain growth and development momentum, and that such programs are so designed as to cushion the impact of adjustment on all vulnerable groups with special attention to women and children.

Improvement of the design and delivery of public services to poor people, with an emphasis on financial and institutional sustainability and local community involvement.

Support for policies which promote widely shared growth and, in particular, foster the creation of productive employment.

Strengthening the productive role of the poor in the economy.

Enhancement of the capacity of developing country governments to monitor and analyze the impact of policy reforms on poverty and to generate better information on poverty and nutrition.

Strengthening arrangements for consultation, coordination, and monitoring."

We strongly support these policies for future adjustment lending and welcome the special attention paid to the needs of the poor in these guidelines. On the assumption that the Bank has now adopted these guidelines for its future structural adjustment loans, you have our full support for the careful monitoring that will be required to ensure that future structural adjustment programs reflect each of these six guidelines. We urge you to prepare a poverty impact statement on each adjustment loan as part of the loan document which goes to the executive board. Such a statement should give a full account of how the poorest people will benefit from the program.

We wish you well as you seek to utilize the considerable resources of the Bank in the battle against world poverty. You can anticipate the continued support of the undersigned for the policies outlined in this letter.

some of the things which will be exhibited.

Respiratory Therapy

Display's main theme is the comparison of 25 years (1962-1987) of respiratory therapy and the progress that has been made. A projection of what might be in store for the future will be shown. Some of the articles on display are ventilators, lung testing equipment, operating room equipment and procedures. Location: E208, G211 (Lab).

Secretarial and Office Administration

There will be prizes for winners of "Secretarial Pursuit" and a grand prize draw each day. A modern secretarial work station, including dictaphone and machine transcription equipment, will be displayed. Some of the software to be demonstrated will be Lotus 1-2-3, Pagemaker, and Wordperfect. Location: Gym.

Survey Technology

In T-103 at 10:00 on Friday one of the senior instructors will discuss occupational routes and post-diploma education, including transfer to University. Electronic measuring equipment and computer drawing equipment for plans and maps will be demonstrated in the north lobby.

Telecommunications Engineering

Satellite, fibre optics, computer and cable repair and microprocessors are some of the things that will be displayed. Rooms A-170, A-171, A-175, A-176 A-177 and A-182 will be open to the public.

Famous Mistake

By Mary Poon
News Editor

Last week the Famous Players Theatre chain decided to get rid of $3.00 Tuesdays and drop the weekday price to $5.00. This came about because patrons were complaining of line-ups, limited parking space, and capacity crowds on Tuesdays.

In making this announcement, they did not say exactly how many patrons complained. I, for one, did not mind the congestion one iota, nor did all of the people I surveyed.

This society is based on a democracy because the most people benefit. In the long run, I think Famous Players may lose more from the absent Tuesday patrons than they can make up in the increased price - all because some people are never satisfied.

New Vice President

Seeth Seethram, Dean of Business and Health Sciences, has been selected to fill the recently created position of Vice-President, Staff and Student Affairs. An impressive combination of training, experience, and personal attributes make Seeth a particularly suitable choice for the position. He will assume his new responsibilities on May 1st.

In his 22 years at NAIT, Seeth has occupied a number of positions which have given him a sound understanding of the Institute and the post-secondary system as a whole. He spent eight years as Department Head of Business Administration, four years as Director of the Business and Applied Arts Division, and nearly four years as Dean of Business and Health Sciences. One year on secondment to Alberta Advanced Education broadened his understanding of the provincial system.

"NAIT has been a very good employer, one which provides great opportunities for any individual who has the ability and drive to excel," says Seeth. His appointment is proof of the accuracy of this assessment.

Transfer Program

A two year university transfer program at Grant MacEwan Community College has been approved by Advanced Education. In order to provide greater accessibility for university-level entry in the greater Edmonton area, a total of $1.6 million will be provided to the College in 1988/89. The initial approval is for a three-year period.

Beginning in September 1988, the College will admit up to 300 new students each year into university-level programs in Arts, Science and Commerce. Courses will be offered at the Grant MacEwan College Mill Woods and downtown (Seventh Street Plaza) campuses. The College will work closely with the University of Alberta and the Alberta Council on Admissions and Transfer to ensure students receive course credits for entry into the second and third years at the University.

The establishment of a university transfer program in Edmonton will provide a greater range of options for students who wish to initiate their university-level studies at a community college.

M-m-m- marvelous opportunity for m-m-m- marketing students.

We're looking for a princess with a good head for business.

The Dairy Princess will represent the Alberta Dairy Industry this summer. Major duties will include the co-ordination and implementation of a retail restaurant promotion throughout the province which builds on the popular "M-m-moo cows m-m-m-make milk" television campaign. The Dairy Princess will also act as a goodwill ambassador at special events throughout the province.

It's the perfect opportunity to gain valuable marketing experience with a superb product.

The successful candidate will receive full-time employment from June 1 through August 27, 1988 and represent the industry at a limited number of events throughout the province from September 1988 to June 1989. Benefits include an attractive salary, travel expenses and the use of a car.

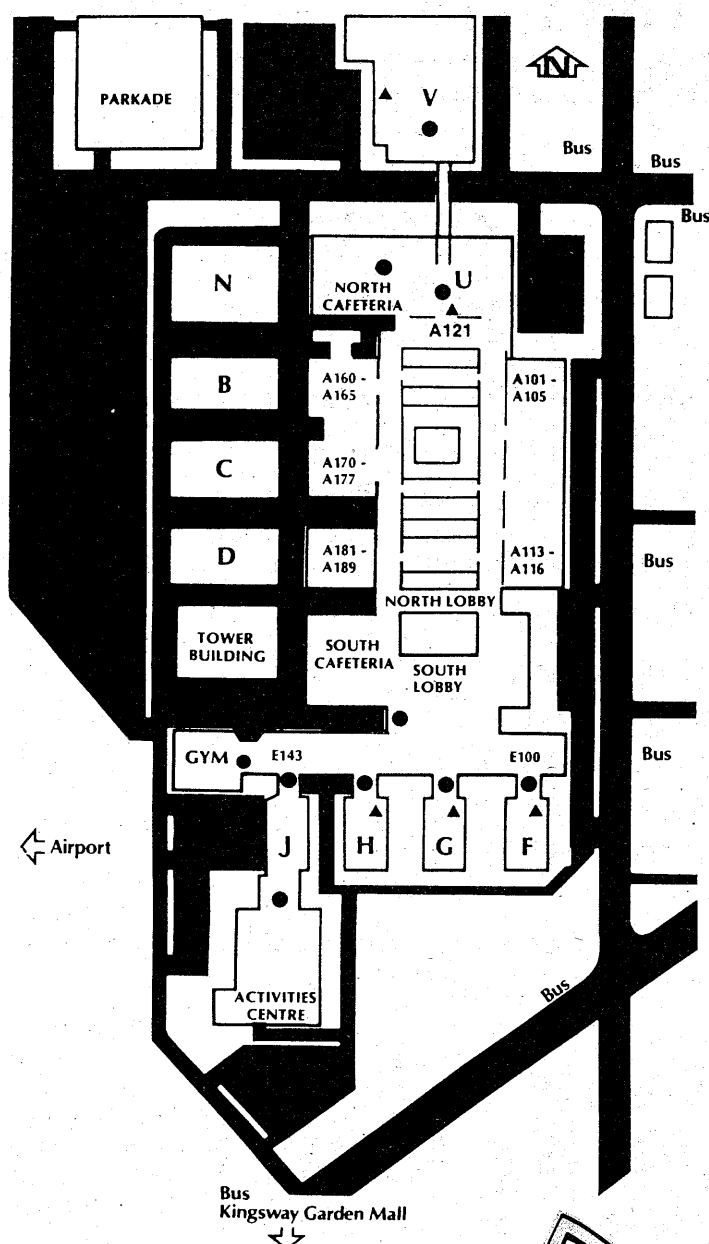

Applicants should be women 18 to 25 years old.

Experience in the Dairy Industry would be an asset. Resumes, including education, interpersonal skills and a personal profile must be received no later than April 22, 1988, at the following address: Milk Producers of Alberta, 14904 - 121A Avenue, Edmonton, Alberta, T5V 1A3. Or phone (403) 453-5942 for information. The selection will be made by May 15.

If you've got the right head for our business, we'll give you a crown for it.

Amity House Dance

Amity House is a non-profit agency which sponsors programs for low-income families. The emphasis is on providing, at low cost, activities that are done as a family unit. Specialized summer programs are offered for children between the ages of three and ten. Although the majority of the participants are single mothers and their children, the only restriction on participants is that they are needy.

The organization raises approximately 2/3 of their budget while the other 1/3 comes from Family and Community Support Services. A 50's fund raising dance is open to the general public. There will be door prizes, contests, and refreshments, so pretend it's a cabaret and support a good cause.

Place: Evansdale Community Hall, 93 St. and 150 Ave.

Plaza II Locker Break-Ins

Eight lockers at Plaza II were broken into recently. Coats were the only major items taken. It appears that these items were selected based on value, since nothing was taken from some lockers while a fur coat and leather jackets were taken from others. It is not known if the burglar is from outside or within the Institute.

Access was gained by either cutting the locks with a bolt cutter or the students leaving their lockers open. All break-ins occurred between 1 p.m. and 4 p.m. while the students were in class.

NAIT Security has increased its patrols of the area, and City Police are keeping their eyes on pawn shops and consignment/resale clothing shops.

Students can help by reporting to Security any unfamiliar persons loitering around lockers. Students can help themselves by pulling on their locks to ensure they are locked, and not just pushing the shank back in.

For Your Information

Descrambler

The descrambler for the NAITRIUM has been purchased. Cable will be restored either late this week or early next week after the adjustments to the receiver have been completed.

Westwood TV

Westwood campus now has cable for their TV. Congratulations!

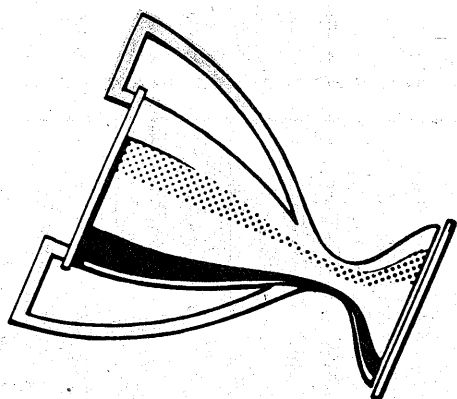

Plaza II Library

The library in Plaza II will still be open next year. In order to meet budget restrictions, it will only be open for four hours per day, not eight hours per day as it now is.

Fan Award

Congratulations to Petroleum Engineering which received a certificate from NAITSA for being the best fans at Face Off '88.

Chemistry Challenge Cup

The Chemistry class of '86 donated a challenge cup to NAIT to be awarded to the winners of Challenge Sport games between the Bioscience and Chemical Technology programs. It was the hope of the '86 graduating class that the cup would help to increase the interaction between the students in the two technologies, and to help foster a spirit of comraderie and co-operation that would benefit both groups of students after they graduated.

In 1987 the two technologies split the season, with Bioscience winning in slow pitch and broomball, while the Chemistry students won in volleyball and hockey. Since Chemistry won the final challenge game of the year, the cup now rests in the display case in the Chemistry area (G wing).

The Bioscience students this year have been somewhat slow to get their act in gear, but finally the challenge has been issued. This year the week ending March 19 will be the challenge week, with three sports being contested. The winner of the majority of the games will get to keep the challenge cup in their technology showcase. May the best team win.

Academic Council

This group is required by the Technical Institutes Act and exists chiefly to advise the Board of Governors on academic matters. These include programs of instruction, academic awards, and standards and policy respecting the selection and admission of students. In practice, the Board may refer any matter it wishes to Academic Council, and the Council may make any recommendation it chooses to the Board.

NAIT's Academic Council consists of 15 members: The President, who is Chairman; the Vice-President, Instruction; two chief academic officers; the Registrar; five members of the academic staff, elected by their Association; four students, elected by the Students' Association; and one additional member appointed by the Board. Their terms of office may vary.

Meetings of Academic Council typically occur on the second Monday of each month, and, with the permission of the Chairman, any member of the Institute community may attend. Any such member who wishes to make a representation to Council must do so in writing to the Chairman at least five days before a meeting.

Members for 1987 for the Academic Council were Pat McEwan, Michael Chew, John Brownlee and Graham Dobson.

Nominations for the Academic Council close on Monday, March 14, 1988.

Student Representative

By Ken Kendall

In 1982 NAIT became a Board-governed Institute. With the change to Board governance came the need for two student representatives to act as Board members. These students are needed to provide input on matters which affect the student body.

The Board sets policies and Institute direction. Therefore, students who are voted to these positions should consider each issue seriously and in a mature manner. Board meetings are held once a month; generally the meeting runs three to four hours. Also, membership to subcommittees such as Finance and Audit, Campus Development or Public Affairs is suggested.

The positions held by students are that of full Board members. Therefore, you have input on all issues and are allowed to vote on these issues.

Being a student representative this year has allowed me to attend many functions, meet interesting people and travel to Calgary, Banff and Jasper. Pay for this position is $1,200 for the year plus $100 per Board meeting attended.

If you feel that you would like to be actively involved in NAIT, then I strongly recommend that you seriously consider this position.

Activities At NAIT

By Shirley Lee
NAITSA Activities Director

Greetings to all visitors and prospective students. To help you get a better idea of the social side of NAIT, I'd like to give you a condensed view of the different activities that we have during the year.

Movies

Almost every week on Saturday and Sunday, we show movies in the Little Theatre. Prices are $1 for students and we've had such movies as Crocodile Dundee, Star Trek IV, Secret of My Success, Lady And The Tramp.

Rock 'n Talks

These are cabarets that happen about once every 2 weeks. This is one of the few on campus dances that we have. Rock 'n Talks have been proven to be very popular with the students and are virtually always sold out.

Common Hour

Common hour usually occurs every Wednesday from 1:00-2:00. During this time period NAITSA will try to put on some kind of entertainment. This varies from comedians and speakers, to talent shows. It's a good way to see quality entertainment for free.

Queen Week

Every year NAITSA searches high and low for a representative that will do us proud as Miss NAIT. Technologies that wish to sponsor a candidate put up their best in a contest that includes such events as pool events, an obstacle course, a fashion show, and lip syncs. All students are welcome to come and view the events and to cheer their favorite on to victory.

Beerfest

This year there were two Beerfests. The first one was with the Parachute Club and the second was with the Beatles tribute band "1964". Both brought top entertainment, an excitement to the students that attended.

Cabarets

As you might have noticed as you look along the hallways, NAIT technologies like to throw cabarets. There can be as many as five cabarets per week with themes varying from a Beach Bash, Toga party, to an Alf Bond theme. They're a great way to unwind and meet some other students from various other technologies.

Games Room

For students with some spare time in between classes we have a Games Room. It contains various equipment for your leisure time pursuit such as pinball machines, billiards tables, foosball, and bowling lanes.

As you can see, the activities that the Students' Association puts on for you are wide and varied. All students are encouraged to come out and participate in all events.

The Board Of Governors

This is the principal body of the Institute; it sets the policies and determines the direction of NAIT. It was created according to the requirements of the Technical Institutes Act, which in 1981 was enacted to provide for the conversion of NAIT, SAIT, and Westerra (the new institute at Stony Plain) from provincial to board-governed administration. This means that the President now reports to the Board instead of the Deputy Minister of Advanced Education. It also means that every staff member of NAIT is an employee of the Board, not government.

Even though NAIT gained considerable autonomy in the conversion, it is still a public, not a private, institution. It is funded by public money. Its budget, though determined by the Board of Governors, must be approved by the Minister of Advanced Education. The Board must submit an annual report to the Minister. Thus is NAIT's accountability to the public established.

The Board of Governors, which is appointed by the Provincial Government, is composed of 16 people: ten public members, four staff members, (two from the academic staff, one from the support staff, all elected, and the President), and two students, elected by the Students' Association. Their terms of office vary from one to three years. Regular meetings of the Board are held usually on the first Monday of each month and begin at 4:00 p.m., the open sessions occurring between 4:30 p.m. and 6:00 p.m. Any students, staff member, or member of the public is entitled to attend the open sessions.

Board of Governor members for 1987 were Curtis Dobush and Ken Kendall.

Nominations for the Board of Governors close on Monday, March 14, 1988.

These are some of the winners, finalists and just plain good examples, of NAIT's Graffiti Wall, that was erected during First Class Day earlier in the semester. The graffiti you see to the right, is the winner of this special competition, to honor NAIT's 25th anniversary as an educational institution. Some of the others are finalists and all are just fantastic examples of the awareness and intelligent sense of reality that is the trademark of every NAIT student.

Student Life, something much heard about yet rarely captured. This is a montage of some of the best moments of life here at NAIT, because pictures speak volumes.

The collage features several distinct scenes: students cheering with their arms raised; a group of students running outdoors; a woman looking down at a piece of paper; a young child's face; a man wearing a ski mask; three women in athletic wear posing together; a large crowd of people; and a group of students lying on the ground. The photos are cut out and arranged in an overlapping fashion.

How We Make

Although the Edmonton Sun beat different enough, and unique enough, to make a "Nugget".

Since we produce a weekly newspaper, our production schedule is a

Each week starts on a Wednesday. For the next three days, editorial meetings take place, plans are being made for the next paper, and administrative details are being finalized. Editorial meetings concerning special issues take place among the editors, and between section editors (News, Entertainment and Sports) and their staff. Section editors consult with the Editor or Assistant Editor regarding stories that might be run in the next issue, and make assignments to their reporters. Stories are commissioned or written by staff writers. The Manager of the Photography Department consults the Editor and Assistant Editor regarding pictures that may be needed for the next issue. The Production Manager and the Editor or the Assistant Editor consult as to special problems or opportunities for a particular issue, such as this, the Open House paper. The Advertising Manager informs the Editor regarding advertisements expected for the next paper.

Plazas.

During the weekend, editors and reporters write their stories, and typesetters do some typing to reduce the load as the week finishes.

No Idiots Need Apply!

The Nugget is looking for some non-idiots, and even a few serious minded people, to fill positions which will be vacant at the end of this term.

Positions available are:

- Editor
- Assistant Editor
- News Editor
- Sports Editor
- Entertainment Editor
- Production Manager
- Production Assistant
- Typesetter

If you are interested in any of these positions, come by the Nugget office (E128) for an application form, or phone 471-7615 on Mondays or Tuesdays.

You will:

- Be fully trained on a Desktop Publishing System
- Attend free movies and NAIT events
- Be paid an honorarium each month!

Nugget Lord High Lunatic

It is now time for complete truth between you readers and I. My colleague Brian McCullough originally refused to print the true story of how we get a paper out each and almost every week, but he is only a High Lunatic in the hierarchy and my words are louder than his, so I get my way (usually).

We give everyone the impression that we start work on a Thursday paper on the Wednesday following the last one (whew!). The reality is that we don't actually think about what we are doing until sometime after dinner on Tuesday night, and then we just panic. So far we have been lucky in that we have actually printed a paper each week that we say we will. There is a venerable rule in our constitution, that states "thou shalt not forsake the watching of Moonlighting each weeketh justeth to putteth outteth a silly newspaper". Fortunately, we have yet to miss an episode this year, and the rule has not been challenged. Maybe if David and Maddie get married? Our lawyers are working on that one.

There is also the myth that we are the ones who do the actual work on the Nugget. HA! Little do most people realize that we have a staff of elves that work night and day in the back room, prepar and editing typesetting gift from Foundation, people came with the war are very tight where they c we suspect th NAITSA Ex were turned the wicked n Plaza II, bu sure.

members of the staff enjoy the task of presenting your Nugget to you for your weekly reading pleasure.

If you are planning to attend NAIT next year, come on by the Nugget office, room E128, and inquire about what you can do to help.

Our Open House display can be found in the NAITRIUM.

Tuesday, the final assembly of the paper is done, all pictures are sized and positioned on the appropriate page. All advertisements that require layout or typesetting have been prepared, and are now placed on the page assigned. Articles and other material is attached to the page layout forms using adhesive wax. All completed pages are packed for shipment to our printer and all other materials such as photographs and cabaret posters are packed and labelled.
This package is then taken to the printer by courier Wednesday morning.

Basketball Ooks Host '89 Nationals

The always strong NAIT Ooks men's basketball team has earned a spot in the 1989 CCAA National Championships by virtue of NAIT Athletics hosting the Nationals in March of 1989.

With the large turnover in athletes each year in the Alberta Colleges NAIT will need four to six new players for the 1988-89 season and Coach Dave Hoy, in his eleventh season, will once again make every effort to recruit top-calibre student-athletes from the High School ranks.

The team practices three to four times per week and visits local High Schools once a week to put on a slam-dunk demonstration. The season starts in September with training camp and will conclude on March 18th at the Nationals. NAIT will play approximately 40 games in the 1988-89 season, including five exhibition tournaments across Alberta and Canada.

Although the Ooks program is attractive and strong, it takes a dedicated student athlete to be successful. Athletes interested in basketball should be committed to working hard in school and in athletics. For those athletes who can take on this commitment they will be rewarded with an Alberta Heritage Trust Fund Jimmy Condon Athletic Scholarship of $1,000.

Ooks Basketball Coach Dave Hoy is interested in speaking to all prospective players. Athletes may contact Coach Hoy at the Athletics Booth in the gymnasium during open house or by phone 471-7621. Athletes may also write to Coach Hoy at NAIT.

NAIT Volleyball

The NAIT volleyball program is coming off a successful season. The NAIT women's volleyball Ooks finished fourth in regular season play and qualified for the playoffs.

Both the men's and women's teams play in a pre-season tournament as well as 18 regular season matches. The season begins in October and ends in March. Jimmie Condon Athletic Scholarships are available for team members.

For information on women's volleyball, contact Grant Campbell at 471-8532 or see him in E137. For information on men's volleyball, contact Ian Allen at 471-8532 or see him in E137.

Hockey Ooks Preparing

The NAIT Hockey Ooks are now preparing for the 1988-89 ACAC hockey season. In 1987-88, the Ooks finished first in the regular season, but were eliminated in the first round of the playoffs.

The coach of the NAIT Hockey Ooks is Perry Pearn. Perry is a graduate of the University of Alberta and is in his tenth season as the coach of the NAIT Hockey Ooks. Under Perry's leadership, the Ooks have captured three CCAA National Hockey Championship titles (1981-82, 1984-85, and 1985-86).

The Ooks compete in a 24 game ACAC hockey schedule against Red Deer, Camrose SAIT, and Mount Royal.

Prospects who make the NAIT Hockey Ooks are eligible for a Jimmie Condon Athletic Scholarship if certain criteria are met. The scholarship recipient must be an Alberta resident, enrolled for full-time study, and maintain a satisfactory academic standing.

If you're interested in becoming a member of the NAIT Hockey Ooks please contact Perry by seeing him in S-113 or by calling 471-7424 (office) or 458-9427 (home).

NAIT Basketball

Playing intercollegiate basketball at NAIT offers the student an excellent opportunity to receive an all round educational experience, but it is not without a price. Athletes are asked to train three to four times per week, play twice a week, usually on weekends, and to maintain a personal fitness program on top of the demands of course work. It requires a great deal of personal discipline and time management. In many ways, athletics train students how to cope with problems similar to those they will face in the work force.

NAIT competes in provincial competition against eight other colleges with the winner advancing to the national championship. The team is selected in September and will play over 35 games before March.

All team members are eligible for Jimmie Condon Athletic Scholarships of $1,000.00 if they meet the scholarship criteria. The Athletic Board provides first class treatment of its athletes in all areas of the program, travel, accommodation, equipment and training facilities.

The NAIT coaching staff is always looking for athletes who are willing to make that "commitment to excellence". In return, the athletes will receive the full support of a mature basketball program.

For more information, contact Gregg Meropoulos in Room E-137 or call him at 471-7601 during regular office hours.

Cross Country Running

Cross-country running is a fall sport which begins the week after registration and finishes with an Alberta Colleges Athletic Conference meet in the third week of October.

Training sessions with the NAIT Cross-Country Running Team are 3-4 times per week in Edmonton's river valley parks and trail systems. Competitions with other city runners are held weekly.

Exhibition meets are held with other college teams in late September and early October.

The Cross-Country Team consists of 6 male and 6 female runners, who compete at distances of 8km and 4km, respectively. For more information, contact:

John Reeves
Office E134
471-7613

Cross Country Skiing

The NAIT Cross-Country ski training begins in early November and finishes in February with an Alberta Colleges meet.

Training sessions vary according to weather and snow conditions, but are usually two to three times per week. Competitions are held every weekend for those who think they are ready.

Soccer Program

The NAIT "Ooks" made history in 1987 by being the first Alberta and Western Canadian College to win the National Soccer Championship. The "Ooks" also won the ACAC College Championship with a 7-1 record.

NAIT has an excellent soccer program coached by Stuart Brown. If soccer is your game and you will be attending NAIT, then we invite you to try out for the Ooks.

Badminton

NAIT has a very strong badminton team that participates in two major and two regional tournaments against the other nine Provincial Colleges.

This year, the NAIT Badminton Team won one gold, two silver and one bronze at the final ACAC Tournament that was held in Red Deer. The doubles team of Rick Kosowan and Bruce Clarkson won their event and advance to the CCAA finals in Sydney, NS.

The team consists of four men and four women plus two alternates, that participate in doubles and singles events. For more information, call:

Frantic

By Jay Jones

There are few redeeming qualities about the movie Frantic. Starring an aged Harrison Ford, Betty Buckley, Emmanuelle Seigner, and several others with small parts, this movie gets its acclaim from writer and director Roman Polanski.

The story is about an American surgeon who is to speak at a convention in Paris, but spends all of his time looking for his kidnapped wife. The movie is about beauracracy, terrorism and governments. There was absolutely nothing Frantic about this movie. No suspense, no action, and a very usual plot combined with the bizarre antics of the Paris underground made this movie slightly tedious. Could Emmanuelle Seigner as Michelle be Roman Polanski's flame? Is that how she got her part?

Very arty, nice scenery, but a thriller it is not. It is only for fans of Harrison Ford or those who want to see a beautiful young girl in tight clothing. Enjoy!★★

"A Joint Exhibition" marks the first time that photographer Jacques Hurabielle and weaver Conchita Hurabielle have exhibited together. While the husband and wife team share similar formal concerns (a fascination with geometrical shapes) the medium and final product are as different as...well, man and woman.

Jacques is employed by the NAIT Learning Resources Centre as a staff photographer.

In his series of silver prints, Jacques has chosen to deal with "subject matter usually considered to have little visual appeal..." Intriguing and strong abstract compositions are the result.

Conchita's work draws on her Spanish heritage for its color, while her own enthusiasm for texture and experimentation take her work beyond the realm of traditional weaving.

"A Joint Exhibition" will be on display in Profiles Gallery from March 11 until April 2. Profiles Gallery is the friendly public gallery on the second floor of St. Albert Place.

STREAKING EPIDEMIC HITS CAMPUS

Police yesterday arrested four more students, including two women for indecent exposure. "This is the largest number of people arrested for this offence since '69" police spokesperson Lori Naty stated.

When asked whether Tom T. Wilbur, whose recent streaking escapades have been well documented in this paper, was associated with this latest outbreak, Naty replied angrily "We believe so. Wilbur has been a pain in the butt with his inflammatory actions and comments. He's clearly sparked what we believe to be the beginning of an epidemic on this campus. The Allstar American Bars' Spirit of '69 nite is obviously to blame also. How their management can continue to offer such enticingly low prices while watching these degrading consequences escalate is beyond me!"

In reply, Allstar American Bar General Manager Mr. Bill McBain had this to say. "We make no apologies for our extremely low prices. Spirit of '69 nite obviously offers such overwhelming value and fun that students are flocking to the American Bar every Wednesday in record numbers. Students will always be welcome at our establishment whether they're clothed or not."

Sports Comment

by Brian Stein,
Sports Editor

When an individual looks at an educational institute, many factors are involved in deciding where to go including the quality of the program, the atmosphere of the institution, the size of classes, and the cost of tuition.

At NAIT, an excellent intercollegiate sports program exists. NAIT is a member of the Alberta Colleges Athletic Conference. The ACAC sanctions numerous sporting events throughout the school year. These events range from team sports such as hockey, basketball and volleyball to individual sports such as cross-country running, badminton, and racquetball.

Over the years, NAIT has developed one of the finest college sports programs in Canada. The NAIT Hockey Ooks won national championships in 1982, 1985, and 1986. The NAIT Soccer Ooks won a national title in 1987.

The success of the NAIT sports program has been due in part to the work of the highly skilled coaches. Perry Pearn, the NAIT hockey coach, is also the coach of the under 17 national squad. Stuart Brown, the NAIT soccer coach has coached the Edmonton Angels and the NAIT Ooks to national titles

The athletic facilities at the institute are excellent. On campus, NAIT has a swimming pool, a hockey arena, a multi-purpose gymnasium, a weight training facility, and racquetball and squash courts.

In considering an educational option, the students must not just look at the courses offered. NAIT is one institution which offers the student more than just courses.

Turn Out The Lights...

As Dandy Don would say, "Turn out the lights, the party's over. All good things must come to an end..."

The NAIT Hockey Oaks reign as Alberta Colleges Athletic Conference Champions, is over. The Red Deer College Kings eliminated the Oaks from the playoffs this weekend with a two game sweep of the best-of-three playoff series.

Going into the series, the Oaks were looking to win a fifth straight ACAC hockey title. The Red Deer College Kings derailed the Oaks plans with strong forechecking and rigid discipline.

On Thursday, March 3rd, the Oaks hosted the first game of the best-of-three series. The Red Deer College Kings emerged from the game with a 5-2 win and a 1-0 lead in the best-of-three series.

In the first period, the Oaks gained a 1-0 lead on Kent Maltais' goal at 2:53 from Al Cherniwchan and Blaine Peerless. The Kings tied the game at 15:14 when Jay Glass found the mark. Cam Bowles lifted the Kings into a one goal lead with 92 seconds left in the period.

In the second frame, Dan Hart pulled the Oaks even at 3:40 completing a quick break out which was set-up by Bill Davidson and Wayne Bosse. The Kings moved in front at 15:28 as Jeff Leyer tallied for the Kings. Brendon Black increased the Kings lead to 4-2 at 17:24.

In the third stanza, Tim Willoughby rounded out the scoring with a goal at the 15:37 mark.

NAIT goaltender Bill

Clyne stopped 29 of 34 Red Deer shots. At the opposite end, Rich Plester blocked 32 of 34 NAIT drives.

On Saturday, March 5th, the Oaks needed a win to stay in the series. The Oaks fell one goal short dropping a 7-6 decision to the Kings in double overtime.

Red Deer jumped out to the early lead in the first period. Jay Glass and Dan Gunton scored at 1:10 and 5:43 respectively to give the Kings a quick 2-0 lead. Craig Cripps of NAIT cut the advantage to one at 8:31 as he completed a play with the help of Kent Maltais and Wayne Bosse.

Penalties proved to be the downfall of the Oaks in the second period. The Oaks tied the game 2-2 at 1:19 when Al Cherniwchan scored short-handed from Murray Melnyk. On the same penalty, the Kings regained their lead as Jay Glass tallied 13 seconds later. Cam Bowles of the Kings made the score 4-2 at 3:26 as NAIT was killing off another penalty. The Kings moved in front by three goals when Mike Kadar scored at 7:42. Murray Yewchuk of the Oaks closed out the period scoring at 19:50. Assists went to Mario Sicolo and Kent Maltais.

The Oaks staged a rally in the third. NAIT's Nigel Cripps completed a scoring play with Wayne Bosse and Lubo Dzurilla to cut the deficit to 5-4 at 6:20. At 10:17, Nigel Cripps netted his second of the game to move the Oaks on even terms. Dan Hart and Wayne Bosse assisted on the play. The Oaks gained the lead 26 seconds later as Al

Cherniwchan potted his second of the game. Pat Mohrmann was credited with an assist. The Oaks lead was shortlived as Red Deer's Brendon Black forced the game into overtime with a goal coming at the 17:25 mark of the third.

Following a scoreless first overtime period, Tim Willoughby of the Kings lifted a shot into the NAIT net at 2:03 of the second overtime period to end the game and the series.

Both teams decided to stick with their goaltenders of the first game. Red Deer outshot NAIT 44 to 34.

NAIT coach Perry Pearn reflected on the loss. "You can't be successful when you don't play well defensively. The reason we did not win this series is that we lacked discipline. We took too many bad penalties."

Although the officiating was weak in the series, it cannot be blamed for the Oaks' defeat. At NAIT, the game was out of hand before the referee attempted to gain control. At Red Deer, the Oaks had two goals called back on questionable calls. In regards to the refereeing Coach Pearn stated, "The level of refereeing was below the level of play exhibited by both teams."

ON THE BENCH: The Oaks would like to thank the administration, the athletic department, and the fans for their support of the NAIT Hockey Oaks this past season. The Oaks look forward to your support in the fall of 1988 when the 1988-89 hockey season begins.

Great Finish For Women's Volleyball

By Grant Campbell
Women's Volleyball Coach

This year's edition of the NAIT Oaks women's volleyball team has a lot to be proud of. They competed in the first year of a complete home and home series with the whole Alberta Colleges Athletic Conference. The ACAC women's league was the most competitive ever, with the top 6 teams being of national calibre.

In late October the Oaks made it to the finals in the ACAC pre-season tournament losing to Red Deer College. This brought promise for a very successful season. Two early losses to Grant MacEwan gave the lady Oaks 2-5 record at the Christmas break.

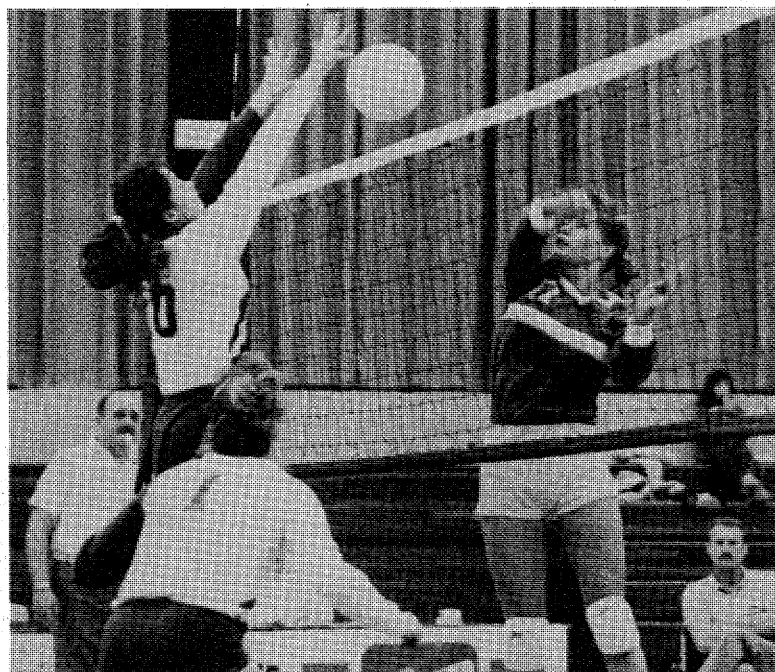

A shot at the play-offs seemed a long one. With the start of the second half of the season and the birth of a new desire, the team lived up to initial expectations by completing the second part of the season with a 9-2 record.

The Oaks' final record was 11-7. The 1987-88 Oaks became the first women's volleyball team at NAIT to make the ACAC play-offs, finishing four points out of second place.

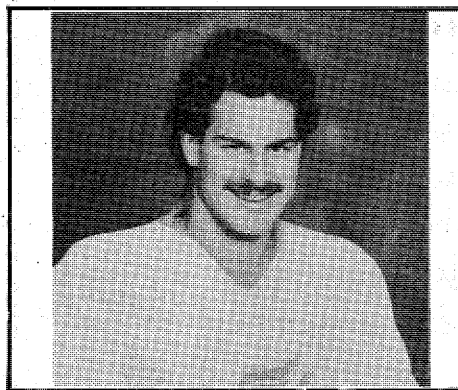

In the playoffs the ladies' first match-up was against the Red Deer College Queens. The Queens are ranked 2nd in Canada and undefeated in league play. The lady Oaks put together some of the best volleyball they have played all year only to come up a little short in the end losing the best of three matches 2-0.

In my opinion, this is probably the toughest test that the Red Deer Queens have come against this year and they showed why they are favored to be in the National final.

All of the team members of the NAIT women's volleyball team should be congratulated on a job well done this season, as well as the fans that followed the team.

ATHLETE OF THE WEEK

Wayne Bosse
Hockey

Wayne led the Oaks in playoff scoring with four assists. The 22-year-old defenceman is currently in Pre-Tech and joined the Oaks after stints with the Sherwood Park Crusaders and the University of Alaska (Anchorage). Wayne is a solid, hard-hitting defenceman who makes his presence known with his ability to play well defensively and offensively. Wayne will be returning to NAIT in 1988-89 and will be one of the leaders on the blueline.

To all Calgary Flame Goofs:

We do enjoy the exhibition of tiny Calgarian minds at work. Did you all send out your nice little responses to a professional writer because you couldn't think of some multi-syllable words? It was enlightening, during the game in Edmonton, to see a mature section of Flame Fans. The ten year old leading a group of adults(?) in the "whiner" whine is, of course, indicative of how Flame outs think. The boy is no doubt a member of Cowtown's city council. Take a TOL of how many Stanley cups and talk to us about success when you have won three.

TOL, The Oiler Loyalists

Everyday you gossip, displays your outstanding social expertise. But you've been quite naive to the hottest item. Visible before your eyes are a man and women, appearing as nothing more than great friends. But when your backs are turned, or your eyes are diverted, intimate (and sometimes sexual) caresses are exchanged. We gaze, wink and smile in class. We even play footsie under the table in the cafeteria. Sometimes we're obvious, but you social know-it-alls never notice. Considering how popular and attractive we both are, it would astonish you to find out about us. Your evil little minds would twist and bend our relationship to suit your story. Therefore, you will never know about us until we tell you. In the mean time we will continue to laugh at your naivete.

GRADUATION CEREMONY

Saturday - May 7, 1988

NAIT Jubilee Auditorium NAIT

CONGRATULATIONS GRADS

PHOTOGRAPHS

The Students' Association has endorsed the wearing of gowns during the graduation ceremony. This traditional apparel adds dignity and formality to the occasion and, at the same time, eliminates the need to spend money on new suits or dresses specifically for this event. To participate in the ceremony, you must wear an academic gown. Arrangements have been made with a rental firm to supply the gowns at a cost that covers cleaning, handling and shipping. Please note the following conditions for ordering your gown.

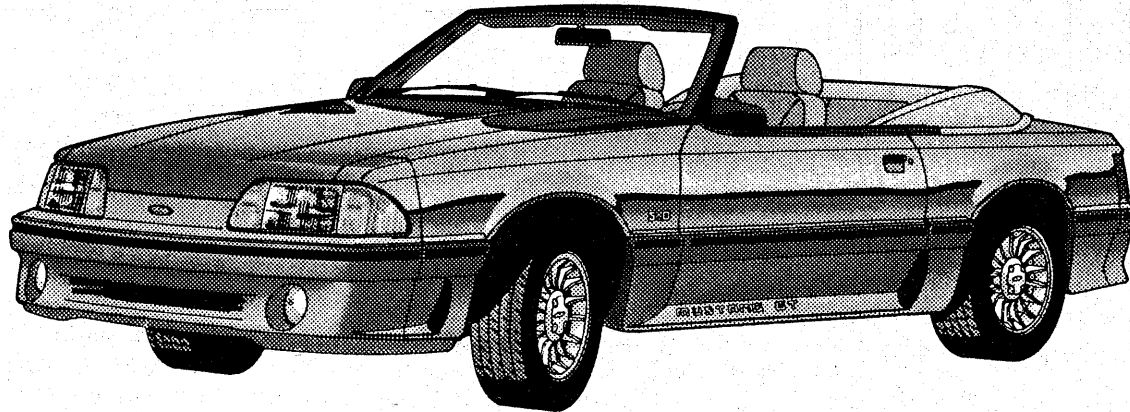

- Orders will be taken at NAITSA Stores - Room E123
- Deadline for ordering gowns - March 18
- Cost - $9.00 (NAITSA assumes all additional costs)
- Gown pickup - at the Auditorium coat-check starting at 12:00 p.m. on May 7

Arrangements have been made with the NAIT Learning Resources Centre to take graduation portraits of those students wanting them. The exact cost of this service will depend on the package the student selects. An initial $25.00 charge — payable at time of booking — covers the sitting fee, five colour prints, and negatives. Beyond this, 6 different packages are available at additional costs of $10.00 or $20.00 or $25.00 each.

- Bookings must be made in person:
 - from February 15 - March 31, inclusive in U213 from 8:00 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.
- Sittings will take place from March 1 to March 31, inclusive.
- Graduation gowns are supplied for the sitting.
