W. V - Ball, Hockey
Ooks In Playoffs!!!

By Peter Wilkinson

Yes, Open House 1988 is fast approaching. All over you see the excitement building and the tension mounting, as NAIT gears up for its 25th Anniversary, and consequently, the 25th consecutive Open House. While students and instructor coordinators have been working on this project, NAIT's administration has been thinking and working towards March 11 and 12 since early September. As a preview to the big event, several key NAIT individuals were interviewed to find out their reaction and feelings toward and about NAIT's Open House.

What do you think about this year's Open House so far?

Gord Matthew, NAITSA President.

"It will be just as good if not better than previous years, because of the 25th Anniversary. It has and always will be an attraction to the Edmonton community."

Garry Meadus, Dean of Student Services.

"It seems isolated. Little things happen all over and in the end it all seems to come together."

Dr. Stan Souch, President of NAIT.

"I have met with the Open House Committee and I follow their progress. I am aware of the effort involved and it amazes and impresses me how people volunteer their services toward NAIT. We get such rave reviews (of NAIT in general) and it is to the credit of those programs on display."

As it approaches, what are your feelings towards Open House each year?

Wally Romenko, Director of Public Affairs.

"This is the time of year when the adrenalin flows. Those of us involved with Open House get pumped, but the students are the ones who get us hyped! We really count on the fresh ideas from students each year because they have not done it a hundred times or so."

Gord Matthew.

"Open House, year to year, is important because NAIT is changing so fast. It's also important to keep NAIT in the eyes of the community."

Dr. Souch.

"This year the theme is set. 'Achieving Together' is the theme and is an extension of all the other things happening, which adds to the atmosphere."

Any complaints thus far?

Gord Matthew.

"I guess that the only thing we can do is improve on that which we already do so well."

Dr. Souch.

"I don't think so. Last year, the storm prevented people from attending, yet they still turned out. Our numbers were down, but not like you would expect. This year, we are expecting a huge turnout."

What, in your opinion, is the best feature of Open House?

Garry Meadus.

"The presentation of factual material, by students, in fun and exciting ways."

Gord Matthew.

"The best feature is showing all the programs in a way that is attractive to the public. All the displays are (always) impressive, even for a student here (being that he is exposed to NAIT every day)."

Dr. Souch.

"The involvement of students and staff together, the effort that is put forward. The enjoyment the people have talking about their program. (All) that builds a stronger bond between the students and their technology. (Open House) reinforces the idea to the students that 'I have made the right choice.' This is consistent in all areas of NAIT."

What do you think about the "student apathy" towards Open House?

Gord Matthew.

"That is forever going to be a mystery. Different students have their own priorities. We can only do our best to appeal to the students to get involved. There is no 'magic formula.'"

Garry Meadus.

"(There are) only so many meaningful contributions that can be made. Not everyone is interested in the same thing. On the whole, the NAIT student body is not apathetic because apathetic people would not make cabarets or Rock 'n Talks or Open House work."

Dr. Souch.

"The students that are involved make up in quality for those that do not make up the huge quantity. Students are very honest and can give the down side as well as the advantages. (With them), it becomes a good, honest display of NAIT."

Why does Open House work?

Wally Romenko.

"It is like anything else, it comes together because of planning and coordination. It's an activity that involves everyone at NAIT. Every time NAIT is mentioned or heard (on radio, television and other media), potential employers are listening and that helps everyone."

Gord Matthew.

"First and foremost, people are interested in NAIT and come to see NAIT. They are interested in what NAIT is about. There are always students that wish to better themselves."

Dr. Souch.

"That's part of the magic about NAIT. All kinds of planning goes into (Open House). If you lost it for a year, you would lose that magic. The Open House Committee builds on the experience its people gather every year, and that is part of why it works. There is no other place in Canada, to my knowledge, that has a two day Open House. Other institutions come here to see how we do it, and then they try it on their own. Our position is very strong (in the business and Edmonton community). The public is becoming aware of the difference between NAIT and other institutions, and we intend to sharpen that difference."

With the countdown now down to just days and, in some cases hours, NAIT is once again preparing for those two hard, impossible, back-breaking, nerve-wracking and wonderful days known as Open House. With all that is scheduled to take place during the 25th Anniversary edition this year, it is certain that these gentlemen would not be caught any place else during March 11 and 12. The message is quite clear. No matter what your role will be in the 1988 edition of NAIT's Open House, you have a right to be proud.

In - Verse Reaction

By Peter Wilkinson (#2)

The following editorial is a poem written by someone with the same name as the editor, who is busy this week with midterms.

It was the day before Midterms, and all throughout NAIT, not a Commissionaire was stalking, no one at the bus stops to wait.

The Tower elevators all sat, their doors almost smiling agape, waiting to trap some late seventh floor students and not let them escape.

The Exam Schedules hung on the peeling walls with disdain, ignored by those who realize they will be changed again and again and again.

The invigilators were nestled all snug with the knowledge, that those students they hated most will soon unwillingly seek another college.

With all the Plaza's now dark, who but students could tell, that in less than 24 hours they would wish they were in Hell.

With the midnight oil burning and the coffee pot on high, poor Zeigfried of Basket Tech was beginning to wonder "Why?"

It was approaching Ziggy's 7th hour, and still three text books in store, and he knew that should he fail to read one, his instructor would ask those questions all the more.

As his engine ran dry and Ziggy's mind went blank, he started to imagine all those he should thank.

Thanks Mom, you Dad and the Big Guy too, maybe I can get out of some exams if I fake with the flu!

But through his caffeine haze, there came with a clap, the sound of thunder that made Zig's head snap back.

It was a beautiful she-goddess the like he had not seen, all through his extensive travels of the Civil, Plastics and Business cab. scene.

"It's good I'm not your fairy godmother.", she spoke with a sigh, "That means you get any wish, or at least I will try..."

After Ziggy awoke, a pleasant smile on his face, he found his lovely princess had vanished without a trace.

As Zig scratched his muddled head, (the one on his shoulders), he glanced at his calendar and what he saw came down like a ton of boulders.

The date had been changed to read April the last, he had slept through midterms, now well in his past.

But the moral of this tale, be it ever told true, is as soon as you reach its end, you just might just have wasted a minute or two!

(Ha Ha! And you thought this poem was going to be profound! Catch you all after midterms!)

Philosopher's Corner

By John Brownlee

For long time now, maybe five six months I write something every week in Nugget. Sometimes I not so good sometimes I be a lot better but it takes lots and lots of practice. Maybe some day I get much better and can write book. Nugget is real good because they help me and say keep on writing to me.

Last week someone name of Adrian Leonard write letter to editor and say what bad man I am. He say my column only have one-side, poorly research, incorrect data, mislead information, atrocious grammar, atrocious English. He say I hypocritical, have some kind of diarrhea, I incense some peoples, awe some other peoples and confuse everyone and make up words. Worst of all I begin sentence with word "and". He say something like I help Nugget be jumble of incoherent letters but he not surprised cause he expect it of me. Ouch.

Maybe I too sensitive, but he hurt my feelings little bit. He say he not want be all negative. I sure be glad about that because I sure don't want to be around if he start to get serious!

My friend Joanna, she laugh and say I bet you check up you find no one there has name Adrian Leonard. She say no one named kid name like that else they jump off High-Level Bridge. Whoever he be you sure make him mad. I think she just say that so I'm not feeling so bad. I said he probably not such a bad guy, he probably just wake up with bad smell under his nose. She say yeah maybe he need beer-bottle massage in face to help him relax.

Joanna said only last week you said maybe no one read your column. Now Mr. Leonard saying EVERYONE upset. I sure wish he say what HIS sources be. At least then you know SOMEONE is reading.

She say to me wait a minute now. I don't know where Mr. Leonard do his grammar course, but when you write "And just how illogical the statement was can be easily demonstrated" it IS a complete sentence. Maybe Mr. Leonard think when "and" is first word this make sentence not complete. If he just get down from high horse a little bit and research HIS data (try definition of "and" in Random House Dictionary) he might see that it is nothing wrong with way you write. Then maybe HE would not be passing on incorrect data, using misleading information and atrocious grammar and making everyone confuse.

Joanna says you know what? I think Mr. Leonard do everything wrong he say you do only it took you five month and he can do it in one shot! Well, we sure have good laugh about that. She tell me you tell this to Mr. Leonard so he can see it sure is a lot harder to put something together right in first place than to be smart-aleck critic.

But I have last laugh anyway because I know I write real good and talk real good like this all of the time. It be editor who change everything I write. It be his English no damn good. And now I tell him if he see sentence that start with "and" he just leave it be!

P.S. Mr. Leonard I call truce. You phone me and I buy coffee, OK?

Body Language

By Lily St. Germain

Editor's Note: This column is continued from last week's edition

They hurried off to try again. A time later, they came before the king-with just one written volume in hand.

The king's response was the same as before. "This will not do!" he exclaimed in frustration, "I must have something short; something that anyone, young or old, can understand!"

Once again, the wise people retired to their chambers. When they once again appeared before the king, they had but a single sheet of paper upon which were written eight words. The king nodded in approval as he read the words: "THERE'S NO SUCH THING AS A FREE LUNCH."

Like all else in life (academics, career, business or personal), being good at something takes hard work, commitment, energy and perseverance.

These days in February or March are especially the days where keeping active is most important and yet most difficult.

There are a lot of committed, hard working people at NAIT. It might be said that NAIT's philosophy is "there's no such thing as a free lunch." NAIT has a lot of special people. People dedicated to being active. People committed to being good at what they do. Good athletes with a lot of heart and potential. Good sports. Great participants. So, we should be proud. And keep our chins up.

Hang in there, gang. Good is where the action is!

Impress Your Friends At Open House!

We are looking for real people to write their impressions of NAIT for our Open House edition. These articles, comments, letters to the Editor, poems or whatever you like, are to be your impressions of life here at NAIT (your "home" away from home).

We don't want stories about what classes you go to, or how your last midterm was. We are looking for those things that happen at NAIT outside of class, or how some instructors really are. Other topics might be Cafeteria food, Cabarets, Rock 'n Talks anything that someone else might be interested in that will show the complete life we lead here.

Please leave your submission with us at the Nugget office, (E128) with your name and ID#. Deadline for Submission is Friday March 4, 1988.

We Are Sick Of "Litter Box"!

So we are looking for a different name! That's right, if you think you have a better name for the section now called "Litter Box", submit your idea to the Nugget (room E128). The best entry will win $75.00 in cold cash, and have the name printed with a picture of its originator!

Student Position On Academic Council

By Graham Dobson

The existence of Academic Council at NAIT is required by Provincial Statute under the Technical Institutes Act. The purpose is primarily to serve as an advisory body to The Board of Governors on matters concerning the academic environment at NAIT. The Council is made up of representatives from administration, academic staff, and four student members.

Topics that are discussed and dealt with have a significant impact on students' access to the quality of education that is now and will be provided by the Institute. Such subjects as the instructor evaluation program, examination scheduling, library hours, transferability of courses and the role of the Continuing Education Department are a few of the more important areas under constant review.

Student involvement in the Council is not only a requirement of law, but essential to ensure that the interests of all of us are represented before important decisions are made.

This past year I have had the opportunity of bringing the concerns of the NAITSA Council and those of individual students to The Academic Council. The input from the student body is both welcomed and encouraged.

My year on the Council has been a challenging and rewarding experience. My involvement on the Instructor Evaluation committee gave me a feeling of satisfaction and accomplishment.

I strongly encourage any students that are interested in the long-term well-being of NAIT to get involved and to get nominations in for a position on Council. There are still a lot of issues that have to be settled and their impact on students can often only be assessed by students.

Correction

In the February 25th Nugget, the Dean of Business and Health Sciences was incorrectly reported as Seth Seethram. It should have read Seeth Seethram. We apologize to Mr. Seethram and for any problems this may have caused.

Cry Freedom

By Peter Wilkinson

One of the things that I enjoy about a Richard Attenborough film is his use of the old "epic" style. His previous movie, Ghandi, is famous for spectacular crowd scenes that literally take your breath away. While Ghandi took place over forty years ago, Attenborough's latest film, Cry Freedom, is set in South Africa, and is continuing to happen right now.

I have always been the first to complain about the rising cost of films, primarily because of their general poor quality. This film is one of the few I recommend being worth $6.50 and the ONLY one that must be seen in a theatre. Attenborough's brilliant use of the relatively new THX sound system is revolutionary and a VCR will not do justice to the effect.

The story focuses on the life of Steven Biko, an African nationalist and elegant spokesman for black rights in South Africa, and his association and friendship with the editor of a white newspaper. The well executed plot is based on documented truth, so I refrain from spoiling any part for those who are not familiar, but I believe an Oscar would have been in order if this film had been released earlier.

The only mark I have against it is a very subtle, yet recognizable trend. Attenbor ough is English, and all the English whites in the film are portrayed as the "good guys". The editor, most of his friends and the British government are all painted with a somewhat rosy brush as they are the ones who help the blacks, and are simply caught in a helpless situation. The Dutch whites, or the Boer descendants, are portrayed as the perpetual "bad guys". They are the terrorists, soldiers and police that use little black kids for target practice. My objection to this is that the picture is not as simple as Attenborough paints. At no time have we seen British whites leaving in droves from the atrocities in South Africa, nor has the British government condemned them officially; therefore I question his rosy interpretation of the situation.

Otherwise, Cry Freedom must definitely be seen BEFORE it comes out on video. ★★★★★

The Prisoner of Zenda

by Brian McCullough

This is another of Warren Graves' adaptations of well known stories. I will let the author tell you a little about himself and the play, before I give my opinion of it.

Warren Graves: "Mr. Graves lives in Edmonton and has written a lot of plays. This is one of them."

"When Anthony Hope wrote The Prisoner of Zenda, he had a proper job as well. When the book was so successful, he gave up his proper job and wrote another book called Rupert of Hentzau. It was awful. He was never heard of again.

Truth be known, The Prisoner of Zenda is not a very good book either, and literati have never been able to understand how it became a Classic. By the end of the book, the author has clearly lost interest in everybody and everything (except Rupert of Hentzau) and wants to wrap up this slushy romance so he can move on the villainy and the good stuff.

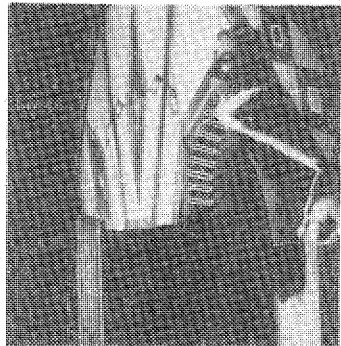

When I was commissioned to do an adaptation for the stage, I extracted from the book the characters, the locale, the situation in which they found themselves, and wondered if there was a philosophical peg on which the story could be hung. I truly believe I discovered the theme that made the book a Classic. Whether it is intended to be or not, it is a moral tale!

Obviously Rassendyll and Flavia should end up together. They are a match made in Heaven. However, admission to Heaven was never easy, and, to reach this conclusion devoutly to be wished, the rightful King must be disposed of. There is no way of doing this without corrupting the leading characters with the stains of Machiavellian self interest. As hero and heroine, they are bound by their integrity and sense of honour to do what is right, even if it means sacrificing their own inclinations and desires. In a word, just the kind of stunt God likes to pull on an admission exam. So they part, having served something greater than themselves, and it's straight "8's" all the way and two packets of Kleenex. That is Classic.

It is therefore an old fashioned play, a romance, a tribute to nobleness of spirit that is potentially embarrassing in a contemporary society where such outbursts are only undertaken by bleeding heart liberals, Pinko's and those who are completely out to lunch.

I shall watch public and critical reaction with bated breath."

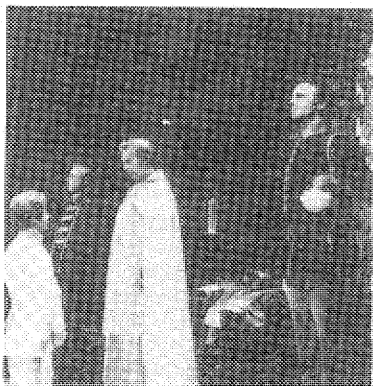

This critic's reaction is not critical of the play, and only a little of the production.

I wholeheartedly enjoyed this play, what I could hear and understand. Unfortunately, my seat was high in one of the wings, and the thick middle-European accents being used by some of the characters were sometimes unintelligible. I recommend that you try and get a seat near the centre of the theatre, where you will enjoy it even more than I did. As Warren says, it is an old fashioned play, produced with some of the style of '30s musicals, with some very amusing characters. There is also lots of action, swordfights all over the furniture, and even Sonia gets into the act with her frying pan!

The Prisoner of Zenda plays at the Citadel until March 13th, half price tickets for students, and I heartily recommend it for the whole family.

STREAKING EPIDEMIC HITS CAMPUS

Police yesterday arrested four more students, including two women for indecent exposure. "This is the largest number of people arrested for this offence since '69" police spokesperson Lori Naty stated.

When asked whether Tom T. Wilbur, whose recent streaking escapades have been well documented in this paper, was associated with this latest outbreak, Naty replied angrily "We believe so. Wilbur has been a pain in the butt with his inflammatory actions and comments. He's clearly sparked what we believe to be the beginning of an epidemic on this campus. The Allstar American Bar's Spirit of '69 nite is obviously to blame also. How their management can continue to offer such enticingly low prices while watching these degrading consequences escalate is beyond me!"

In reply, Allstar American Bar General Manager Mr. Bill McBain had this to say. "We make no apologies for our extremely low prices. Spirit of '69 nite obviously offers such overwhelming value and fun that students are flocking to the American Bar every Wednesday in record numbers. Students will always be welcome at our establishment whether they're clothed or not."

Ooks Vs. RDC In Playoffs!

The NAIT Ooks closed out the regular season with a split and will face the Red Deer College Kings in the ACAC semi-final series which starts at the NAIT Arena on Thursday night. The Ooks finish the regular season with 16 wins, seven losses and one tie.

On Friday, February 26th, the Ooks dropped a 5-3 overtime decision to the Vikings in Camrose.

The Ooks gained a 1-0 lead in the first as Craig Cripps scored his first of the night at 9:20 from Murray Melnyk and Lubo Dzurilla.

The Ooks dominated the second, outshooting the Vikings 17-6. After the period was over, the Ooks trailed 2-1. The Vikings received goals from Dave Corrigan at 6:37 and Neal Isnor at 13:38.

In the third, Craig Cripps scored his second of the game at the 5:51 mark. The Vikings moved ahead with 15:41 gone in the frame as Scott Jackson tallied. John Curran tied the game with eight seconds left in regulation to send the contest into OT.

In overtime, Pat Seeley scored at the 28 second mark to give the Vikings a 4-3 lead. CLC's Neal Isnor sealed the game with a goal at 6:04 of overtime.

Ken Weiss faced 55 shots in the Camrose nets. At the opposite end, Gates Genereux was tested 35 times in the NAIT crease.

On Saturday, February 27th, the Ooks closed out the regular season with an 8-4 win over the Vikings at the NAIT Arena.

The Vikings gained the early lead on Neal Isnor's powerplay marker with 3:05 gone in the first. The Ooks rebounded as Kent Maltais set up Craig Cripps at 12:23. Cripps scored his second of the game at 16:21 from Maltais to give the Ooks a 2-1 lead.

In the second, the Vikings tied the score at 2-2 on Rick Dietrich's powerplay goal at 4:06. Dave Corrigan gave the Vikings their only lead of the night 26 seconds later. Darren Schmidt of NAIT, the leading scorer in the ACAC, evened the score at 3-3 at 6:19 from Blaine Peerless. Twenty-five seconds followed before Schmidt gave the Ooks at 4-3 lead on a play with Marty Volcan and Brian Powell. John Curran increased NAIT's lead to two goals at the 8:44 mark. Assists went to Nigel Cripps and Lubo Dzurilla.

In the third, the Vikings cut the margin to one on Dave Corrigan's second of the night at 2:21. The Ooks regained their two goal lead fifty seconds later as Murray Yewchuk found the net. Lubo Dzurilla assisted on the marker. At 6:01, Brian Powell widened the margin to 7-4. Craig Cripps and Kent Maltais were credited with assists. Vince Ashton rounded out the NAIT scoring at 10:05 on a play with Rick Chauvette and Blaine Peerless.

Ken Weiss blocked 42 of 50 shots in the Camrose net. Bill Clyne turned away 23 of 27 shots in the NAIT crease.

ON THE BENCH: The NAIT Hockey Ooks open up their best-of three series with the Red Deer College Kings at the NAIT Arena on Thursday, March 3rd at 7:30. The Ooks then travel to Red Deer on Saturday for a game at 8:00 p.m.. If a third game is necessary, the Ooks would play host to Red Deer on Sunday, March 6th for a 1:30 start.

Badminton Tourney Sweep

The NAIT Badminton Team won one Gold, two Silver, and one Bronze at the final ACAC Tournament held in Red Deer this past weekend.

The doubles team of Rick Kosowan and Bruce Clarkson won men's doubles over the Mount Royal team. Rick Kosowan won the silver medal in the men's singles.

A strong team of Christine Duxbury (X-Ray) and Shirley Su (Business) won the silver in ladies' doubles after taking MRC to three games. Robert Wong and Shirley Su lost two hard fought battles, both in three games, to capture the bronze medal in mixed.

In other action, Timothy Yu and Robert Wong reached the semi-finals of the men's doubles. Cathy Barker (Med. Lab.) and Maureen Nowicki, (Secretarial) were strong players to help NAIT capture 4th place overall in team supremacy.

Rick Kosowan and Bruce Clarkson head off to Sydney, N.S. to compete against the other men's doubles team that represent the other six provincial conferences in the CCAA Championships from March 15-19.

Basketball Ooks Finish Fifth

In their last regular season game, the NAIT Ooks were defeated 74-68 by the Grant MacEwan Griffins. The loss gave the Ooks a final regular season record at 11 wins and 7 losses, good for 5th place and out of the playoffs.

The Ooks came out prepared to play in this game and took a 48-36 lead into half time. The second half turned out to be a nightmare for the Ooks as they were outscored 38-20 by the Griffins. The team could not hit the open shots and the Griffins capitalized on NAIT mistakes. Leading the way for the Ooks were Dexter Amour with 19 points, Bryan Lazariuk with 13 and Frank Morkonjic with 12 points.

The final loss was a disappointing end to a promising season for the Ooks. Going into the game they had won 11 of 13 games. As it stands, the team will have to use the experience gained from 1987-88 as a learning experience as they prepare to host the 1989 CCAA Championships, to be held at NAIT in March of '89.

Volleyball Ooks Split To End

The NAIT Men's Volleyball Ooks ended their season with a split of their southern road trip to Medicine Hat and Lethbridge.

NAIT edged the Lethbridge Kodiaks three games to two (8-15, 15-9, 15-13, 12-15, 15-8) on Saturday, February 27th. The Medicine Hat College Rattlers then downed the Ooks in three games (15-3, 15-6, 15-10) on Sunday, February 28th.

Sports Comment

by Brian Stein,
Sports Editor

The most exciting time for the Alberta Colleges Athletic Conference teams is here. The playoffs in the sports of hockey, basketball, and volleyball start this weekend.

To make the playoffs is an achievement. Unfortunately, the NAIT men's basketball team did not qualify for post-season play although the team performed well in the second half.

Two teams from NAIT have qualified for post-season play, the NAIT Women's Volleyball Oaks and the NAIT Hockey Oaks.

The regular season is over and a championship team must realize the past 18 or 25 games do not mean a thing. A new season begins with the first playoff game. The will to win and patience to persevere are often the keys in success and failure.

The NAIT Women's Volleyball Oaks are playing well. The team will be looking to upset the Red Deer College Queens who haven't lost a match all year. The Oaks appear to be ready as the team has won nine of their last eleven matches.

The Hockey Oaks start their trek for a fifth straight ACAC title this weekend when they meet the Red Deer College Kings in the playoff. The Kings have not played up to par in the second half, but the playoffs can bring out the best in a team.

In regards to the hockey playoff series, the games should be entertaining and hard hitting. Both teams want to do well. The Kings want to prove they are a better team than they showed in the second half. The Oaks want to prove the team has what it takes to go on to bigger and better things.

Game one in the hockey playoff series goes on Thursday, March 3rd at 7:30 p.m. in the NAIT Arena. Game two in the volleyball playoff series goes on Monday, March 7th at 7:30 p.m. in the NAIT Gym. The stands should be packed to the rafters as the Oaks provide one of the best entertainment values in the city. Admission is free with a NAIT ID card. Be there.

Volleyball Oaks in Playoffs

The NAIT Women's Volleyball Oaks are playoff bound. The Oaks gained a split on their road trip to Lethbridge and Medicine Hat to advance to the final four.

NAIT defeated the Lethbridge Kodiaks three games to none (15-9, 15-5, 15-12) on Saturday, February 27th. The Medicine Hat College Rattlers then downed the Oaks in four games (15-11, 14-16, 15-6, 15-11) on Sunday, February 28th.

With the split the Oaks advance into the ACAC playoffs. The Oaks received some help in gaining the final playoff spot from the Grande Prairie Nordic Wolves who swept a pair of matches from Grant MacEwan over the weekend in Grande Prairie.

NAIT Coach Grant Campbell is looking forward to playing Red Deer. "I think it will be an advantage for us to play Red Deer as there will be less pressure on us going into the series."

The Oaks will take on the Red Deer College Queens in the best of three ACAC semi-final series which starts on Friday night in Red Deer at 8:30 p.m. The second match will be at the NAIT Gym on Saturday, March 5th at 7:00 p.m.. The third match, if necessary will be back in Red Deer on Monday, March 7th at 6:30 p.m.

Chicks Drop Crosstown Match

The NAIT Basketball Chicks ended the season on a losing note, dropping a 47-43 decision to the Grant MacEwan Community College Griffins on Friday, February 26th at GMCC's Mill Woods Campus.

Rupertia Minott led NAIT with 13 points. Kathy Prochnau added 11 for the Chicks to close out her career with a total of 1,038 points.

NAIT coach Gregg Meropoulis was not happy with the loss. "Any loss is bad. This one is devastating. The game decided crosstown bragging rights. In addition, the game is also used for recruiting. Neither team had anything on the line except pride. The sad thing is I have to live with this loss over the summer."

FROM THE BACKCOURT: The NAIT Women's Basketball team would like to thank all those who supported the team this past season and the Chicks look forward to your support in 1988-89.
