If You Missed Bridge Building, You Missed Out

What can you possibly do with 150 feet of rope, a murky old creek, twenty students, and a stretcher? Leave it to NAIT's Construction Engineering Technology to organize a successful 19th annual Bridge Building contest.

It was a sunny Saturday morning on September 28th, when 8 teams of twenty adventurous men and women took up this challenge: "To construct, cross, and dismantle a suspension bridge across Whitemud Creek in the shortest time possible. It looked like an early morning army drill. However, even the bravest of the marines would think twice of crossing these bridges, nothing more than long ropes tightly wound and knotted around two trees on opposite sides of the creek.

Probably the most treacherous part of the crossing was the attempt of two of the team members to carry a third member on a stretcher, simulating a MASH exercise.

Much to the dismay of both Construction Engineering and the BCET Alumni team, Civil Engineering team was the only team to escape the pleasure of stirring the still waters of Whitemud Creek.

The contest winners were announced, after everyone dried off, at the equally successful cabaret held at the Castledowns Recreation Centre.

I would like to take this opportunity to thank everyone who participated in the event and attended the cabaret. I hope you had lots of fun!! Thanks goes out to the rest of the Bridge Building committee: Dallas Miles, Lange Knudson, and Garry Sigurdson. As well, a special thanks to NAITSA Accountant Linda Hood, and Dan Merkowsky of Molson Breweries, Ltd. Their help was invaluable.

Thanks again.

Council to Vote on Increases

By David Harvey
News Editor

The Alberta College and Technical Institute Student Executive Council (ACTISEC) may raise its fees substantially next year in order to fund new projects and a research staff, says the ACTISEC Vice-Chair of the Growth and Development Committee, Dan Lachambre.

Presently, each student association pays thirteen cents for every full-time student to belong to ACTISEC. This puts NAITSA's present contribution at approximately $1200.

Lachambre wants to increase the dues up to two dollars per full-time student. This would up NAITSA's portion to about $19,000.

ACTISEC's budget would then burgeon to approximately $95,000 from the $8,092 where it is now.

Lachambre says that the increases are justified because they are urgently needed to correct the shortcomings of ACTISEC in the areas of lobbying and information sharing.

According to Lachambre, since its inception seven years ago, ACTISEC, "has not been very successful." It has not been able to effectively lobby the provincial government. He points to the recent Bill C31 that allows corporations a tax break on donations to universities while the deductions on gifts to technical institutes remain at a significantly lower rate. Without a full-time staff, ACTISEC often learns about government policy only after it is passed. Lachambre asserts that such a situation is "chaotic" and "has to change".

The Growth and Development Committee proposes to rent an office and hire ACTISEC's first full-time salaried positions, one researcher and one administrative assistant. The committee hopes that these additions will vastly improve ACTISEC's contracts and influence with the provincial government.

Secondly, more money would be needed to set up a proposed computer system that would allow all ACTISEC members to access information for their campus.

Finally, additional revenue would be used to help out smaller colleges that cannot presently afford to send members to ACTISEC conferences.

Further to the proposed per student increase, Lachambre is looking at corporate sponsorship and a "gift in kind" from member student associations. University of Lethbridge students have already given $2000 and Mount Royal donated $10,000 to further the committee's plans.

Of course, General Council must pass any increased NAITSA contribution to ACTISEC. At next week's General Council meeting, Lachambre will be seeking a motion to approve the increases and a flat out grant to ACTISEC.

The final proposals must also be approved by the entire ACTISEC directorship. A vote is expected during ACTISEC's meeting November 15-17 in Vermillion.

To Split a Man

On Sandeep Dhir's Two Student Roles

By Tim Pasay
Editor

After three hours of debate, ACTISEC decided to allow Sandeep Dhir to hold the position of vice-chair and remain the Alberta representative for CFS, believing that possible conflicts of interest could be overcome.

Two weeks ago, NAITSA General Council voted against becoming members of CFS themselves, believing that ACTISEC must be allowed to grow independently, if it was to become a political force in this province.

Now, it seems that NAITSA, and the other institutes and colleges, feel that Dhir's experience from CFS is an invaluable resource for ACTISEC. This may be well and true, but it raises some unsolvable problems.

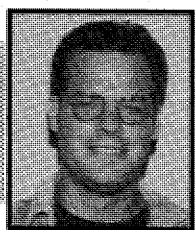

Where will Dhir's loyalty lie? His membership in ACTISEC depends upon his allying himself with ACTISEC whenever conflicts arise, but surely, a man with ten years of experience is too valuable to sit on the CFS fence whenever the two groups collide.

I will not call Mr. Dhir's ability to perform, or to perform well, into question. That is for ACTISEC to decide.

Two weeks ago, there seemed to be too many ideological differences between CFS and ACTISEC for NAIT to become a CFS member. From General Student Council minutes, part 5.0.2 "If Naita joins (CFS), it would take a lot of time and energy to get out if it turned radical". CFS was moving in a political direction contrary to NAITSA's. Now, it seems that NAITSA's opinion has changed. They feel that an integral member of the CFS is an asset to ACTISEC.

NAITSA voted to retain Mr. Dhir as the vice-chair in the only student organization we belong to. If they believe there will be no conflicts of interest, why didn't we join the CFS in September?

Overtaxed Students

By David Harvey
News Editor

If you are a recipient of a Canada Student loan, you will have noticed something new in this year's package. A three percent tax has been assessed on all federal loans.

To some, it may seem small, yet this tax is just the latest change to Canada's tax system. Along with other taxes, like the Goods and Services Tax, this levy strongly reflects the federal government's philosophical break with the Canadian tradition.

At least in theory, Canada has had a progressive tax system since the early years of this century. People paid taxes according to their wealth. It seemed only fair that the affluent paid the largest percentage of the tax burden.

Unfortunately, this conception of justice seems defunct. Now, some of the economically weakest groups in society, like students, carry a tremendous proportional load. Not only do we pay the same GST rate as the richest Canadians, but we now pay taxes for unavoidably going into debt!

Who's to blame for this fundamental turn about in the fortunes of students? Clearly, the new fiscal environment is one of survival of the fittest. Obviously, we can no longer rely solely on the government's sense of fair play for an equitable student tax load. We have done far too much of this in the past. As a result, students have become complacent targets for taxation. More must be done to fight these injustices in the arena of public relations.

Despite our current government's philosophy, there remains many Canadians who firmly believe in a progressive tax system. Unless student apathy is overcome and an effective opposition is formed to restrain the government, it will continue to overtax the politically weak and allow the powerful to escape their fair share.

Movies - Are They Worth It?

By Lori Holmes
Assistant Editor

No wonder there are not as many movie goers as there were a couple of years ago. Movies have become too expensive to go to any other time than half-price Tuesdays (or go only once a month). But most of us who enjoy going to movies cannot go on Tuesday nights because of other commitments.

With the two theatre companies in town, Cineplex Odeon and Famous Players, prices are averaging around $8. I don't frown at paying $8 provided that the movie is worth it. However, if the movie lacks in content and acting ability, then I really question the $8 price tag.

But not only do you have to pay $8 for the movie, if you want popcorn and a pop be prepared to pay a lot more money. This past weekend at the Paramount Theatre, it cost $11 for a large popcorn, a large pop, a small pop and a bag of licorice.

The Meadowlark Theatre recently dropped their movie prices to $1 for all movies and are going to rely solely on their concession sales to pay the bills. After paying the $11 for food, I presume that the concession sales are going to grow dramatically for Meadowlark, while all the other theatres are going to suffer.

With the recession, people just don't have the money to spend on movies. Not many people are willing to pay the $8 when in a few months they can pay $2.99 (plus G.S.T.) at the corner video store to rent it, and pay $1.79 for 2L of Coke, $1.49 for a bag of unpopped popcorn and 99¢ for a pound of margarine. All of that totals much less than the $11 and in the end there is much more than you would ever get at the theatre.

I know for the next little while I'll be waiting for the videotape to come out for most movies. At least I can afford $5 as opposed to $20 for a two hour night out at the movies, except I'll be in the comfort of my own home. And hey, I might as well buy a stereo TV and hook it up to my stereo system and have better surround sound than at the theatre.

ACTISEC Vice Chair Stays On

By David Harvey
News Editor

Last week, the vice-chair of the Alberta College and Technical Institute Student Executive Council, Sandeep Dhir, easily survived a movement that aimed to expel him from his position.

At the ACTISEC meeting in Fort McMurray last week-end, questions were raised about a possible conflict of interest between Dhir's role on ACTISEC and his position as the Alberta member on the national executive of the Canadian Federation of Students.

Some members of ACTISEC, including NAITSA, have expressed concern that a small, relatively inexperienced group like ACTISEC could be unduly influenced by such a large student association-like CFS. Clearly, Dhir's links to CFS did nothing to quell member's apprehension.

Nevertheless, after a three hour debate among ACTISEC'S sixteen campuses, it was unanimously decided to maintain Dhir as the vice-chair of ACTISEC.

The reason for the resolution was explained by NAITSA's Academic vice-president Dan Lachambre as there simply being "more pros than cons". Lachambre said that Dhir's ten years of political experience and his "phenomenal" knowledge of student issues would be hard to replace.

Lachambre indicated the ACTISEC consensus that despite their reservations about Dhir, "no one could do as good a job".

AIDS: It is a People Issue

Staff Writer

As of June 1, 1991, the Federal Centre for AIDS has received reports of 4959 cases of AIDS in Canada. This includes 4643 males, 255 females and 61 pediatric (under the age of 15) cases.

It is because of statistics like these that the AIDS Network of Edmonton Society is organizing the Third Annual AIDS Candlelight Walk.

Barry Breau, Executive Director of the Edmonton Society says, "The candle symbolizes public awareness, serves as a memorial to friends and family who have died from AIDS, and it shows hope through light in the midst of darkness."

The walk commences at 7:00 p.m. on Sunday, October 6, 1991 at the main entrance of the U of A hospital and will finish up at Athabasca Hall (U of A) with a social. Breau stressed that through the walk, the society hopes to "make the public realize that AIDS is a people issue and it is real people who get the disease."

Alarming statistics, like the number of reported cases in Canada is currently doubling every 27 months, are bringing more people out to the walk each year.

Breau encourages anyone with questions about the walk or other events during AIDS Awareness Week (October 7 - 11) to contact the Society at 424-4767.

MANAGEMENT

It's what separates the leaders from the pack.

If you're wondering which way to head with that new business degree or diploma in hand, why not head straight for the executive floor?

Add the CMA designation to the credentials you've already got, and you'll find yourself on the fast track to decision-making power.

CMA. Certified Management Accountant. The key word is 'Management'.

Not just preparing financial information: that's what traditional accountants and computers do. CMAs use financial information to manage, and there's a career's worth of difference.

The CMA program is a win-winner. It enables you to work full time while you develop your skills in advanced management accounting and management studies. Knowledge you can use immediately. And even while you're still in the program, you're more employable. More valuable. More promotable.

So call us. We'll give you all the information you need to make your first management decision.

It's Hoggy Joggy time!

Yes, that's right, the Hoggy Joggy Promenade will take place on October 8th with three convenient starting times of 12:15, 4:15 or 5:15 p.m.

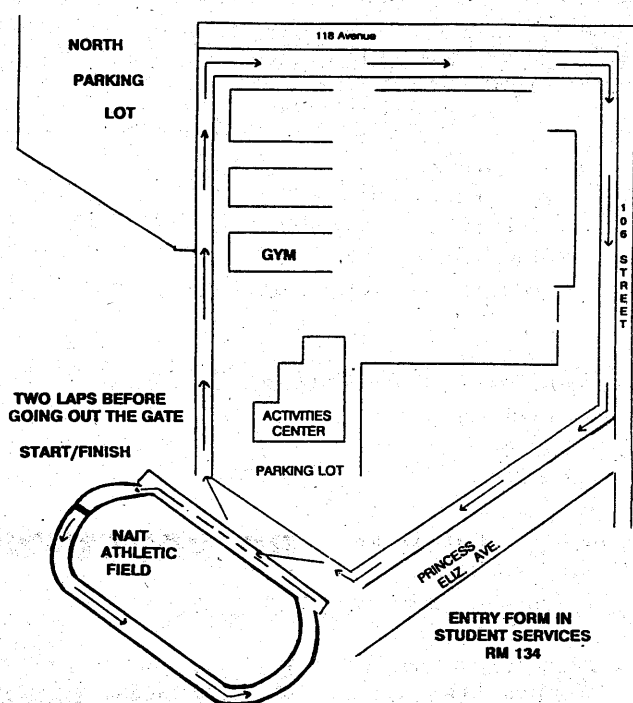

If you'd like to take part in the Promenade, all you have to do is walk, run or jog the 2.2 km course around the NAIT Campus. But first you must determine the time you think it will take you to complete the course.

After finishing the Promenade, the person closest to their predicted time is the winner.

To be a Hoggy Jogger, just fill out an entry form and return it to Student Services or bring it with you to the NAIT athletic field on October 8th.

Challenge Cup is Back

By Kathy Spennath
Sports Editor

The Challenge Cup is back for another year and the trophies and prizes are better than ever.

The Cup is officially the property of Bio Sciences (from last year), but the challenge is now on to see who'll be reigning champions for 1991-92.

To take part in the Challenge Cup, the Technology holding the Cup must place an official challenge to a rival Technology. The challenge must also be submitted to Athletics VP, Shane Warawa.

A meeting will be held with both technologies to discuss all the details such as the time, date and rules for the event.

But remember, the challenge doesn't always have to involve sports. Use your imagination and think up some sort of event that will stump other technologies.

Challenges must take place at or near NAIT and must be approved by the Athletics Chairman.

We'll update you throughout the year on who's challenging who, and more importantly, who's winning.

A victory in a Challenge Cup match is worth 5 points to the winning technology, while a loss is still worth 2 points.

At the end of the year, the technology with the most points will receive lots of great prizes (inquire within!) along with the Challenge Cup Trophy, which is presented at the Awards Night Banquet.

Swim Team is Ready to Go

By Kathy Spenrath
Sports Editor

The NAIT Swim Team is getting ready for another season of ACAC competition. This will be only the third season swimming has been considered an ACAC sanctioned sport, since prior to this swimming only had exhibition status.

The NAIT team, coached by Jeff Riddle, has been working hard since early September, and they're now in full swing, training up to five days a week.

"People seem interested in the sport again - I knew we'd get at least 60% of our athletes back from last year. This will definitely be a great year."

- Coach Riddle

The team will travel to Red Deer in mid-October for an exhibition meet which will help them prepare for the two ACAC scheduled meets during the year.

The Fall ACAC Swim Meet will take place at NAIT, while the Spring Meet will be held in Fort McMurray. The Oaks are excited about hosting the Fall Meet, which will take place on November 30th.

Swimming is definitely a growing sport, both at NAIT and within the ACAC. Five years ago, NAIT only had six people try out for the team. But this season, Riddle has 20 members (13 men, 7 women) on his roster.

NAIT has traditionally dominated the men's events but has always been one of the weakest schools in women's competition. However, because of the good turnout this year, Riddle has new founded hopes for both teams this season.

"This year, both teams will definitely be a force. Getting more people to come out for the team is exactly what we needed to improve."

- Coach Riddle

The meets are generally sprint orientated with four relay events at each competition. And although NAIT is a powerhouse in most of these events, Red Deer and Grant MacEwan Colleges have traditionally been tough competition for the Oaks.

The team is still hoping to recruit more members, so if you're interested in being a part of the NAIT Swim Team, contact Jeff Riddle at 471-7426.

Ooks Win Two of Three Against Canada West

By Brian Stein
Staff Writer

The NAIT Oaks continued their preseason with an impressive showing against CIAU competition at the Molson Invitational hosted by the U of A at the Clare Drake Arena over the weekend.

The Oaks dropped a 7-3 decision to the University of Calgary Dinosaurs on Friday night before scoring a 6-3 win over the University of Alberta Golden Bears, on Saturday night and a 4-3 victory over the University of Saskatchewan Huskies on Sunday afternoon.

On Friday, NAIT and the U of C engaged in a tight defensive battle for two periods before the offenses came to the forefront in the third. The two teams were tied at 1-1 following the first. The Dinos moved in front 2-1 after 40 minutes and then erupted for five goals in the final frame to post a 7-3 win. Tim Murphy, Bill Moody, and Kevin Lovig netted goals for the Oaks in their first loss of the preseason.

On Saturday, Mark Souch sparked the Oaks with three goals en route to a 6-3 victory over the University of Alberta Golden Bears. Darren Perkins chipped in a pair and Trevor McCallion added a single to round out the Oaks scoring.

Outshooting the Bears 31 to 29, the Oaks held period leads of 1-0 and 4-2.

On Sunday, Mark Souch netted his second of the game with 2:16 left in regulation to give the Oaks a 4-3 come from behind victory over the University of Saskatchewan Huskies. Brent Harden and Jason Yuzda completed the Oaks scoring.

The Oaks trailed 2-1 after the first and 3-2 following two before muzzling the Huskies in the third period. The Oaks outshot the Huskies 50 to 30.

ON THE BENCH

The Oaks play the Augustana University College Vikings (formerly Camrose Lutheran) on Friday at 7:30 at Camrose. The Oaks then host the University of Manitoba Bisons in a two game set at the NAIT Arena. Saturday's contest is a 7:30 p.m. start, while Sunday's game goes at 1:30 p.m.

The Oaks conclude the preseason at the ACAC Preseason Hockey Tournament in Calgary. The tourney goes from Friday, October 11th through Sunday, October 13th.

Men's Soccer Team Has Upsetting Weekend

By Kathy Spenrath
Sports Editor

The NAIT men's soccer team's winning streak ground to a sudden halt as Lethbridge defeated them in two straight games last weekend.

The Oaks traveled down South with an impressive 3-0 record, but they couldn't manage to get their offense going against the Lethbridge club, and ended up losing by scores of 4-2 and 4-0.

NAIT came out strong in the first game, scoring the first goal, but from there on it was all Lethbridge.

"We just sat back after that first goal and they took over the game. Lethbridge just seemed to want to play more than we did. They definitely wanted to beat us."

- Coach Graham Wood

Even though the score looked worse in the second game, Wood felt his club played better in this game compared to the match on Saturday.

Ironically, NAIT dominated the play for most of Sunday's game, but they just couldn't get on the scoreboard. Lethbridge capitalized on their numerous chances, "scoring nearly everytime they got possession of the ball."

Wood admits his team may have been a bit overconfident going into the week-end, but the outcome of the games have definitely put things back into perspective for his players.

"This no doubt taught us a lesson. Our heads are out of the clouds now - we're back on the ground and we'll recover from this."

- Coach Graham Wood

The team re-grouped on Monday with a lengthy practice and then went on to face the Red Deer College Kings on Tuesday night.

The Oaks will travel down to Calgary this weekend for games against the Mount Royal Cougars and the SAIT Trojans.

HOW IT WORKS

Throughout the NAITSA student handbook (you got one at registration) are quotes from songs. The following are riddles about the quotes. Each riddle contains a clue about the quote or the singer and a clue about the location of the quote in the book. All you have to do is find the quote and fill in the blanks after the riddle. Then fill in your name, ID number and phone number and drop the whole thing off in The Nugget Submission Box at E-128.

This is your last chance to enter for the GRAND PRIZE of:

- A $40 gift certificate from Grand & Toy
- A Molson Canadian Sweatshirt
- A cassette from HMV

Grab a pen and your handbook and see if you can solve these riddles.

Around exam time you'll end up working like a man's best friend here and the nights won't be soft. Check the hours of the source and the answer will appear.

Soccer
Is a Go
... For Now

A four team women's ACAC college soccer league was originally planned for the 1991-92 season.

However, in June, the league was cancelled and it appeared there would be no women's soccer in the ACAC colleges.

But, at the Fall Athletic Directors' meeting, it was decided to offer a one day Soccer Jamboree which will take place on October 5th at Red Deer College. This will hopefully maintain some continued interest in women's soccer in the ACAC.

As a result, NAIT scheduled a soccer meeting on September 24th, and a Lady Ooks team was formed to play in this one day event.

Fourteen enthusiastic, hard-working athletes have been out for practices, according to Coach Bob Buchan, and they will perform as well as possible with the short preparation.

It's expected the delayed women's division will commence in 1992-93, which will be the first ever official women's soccer league in the ACAC.

X-Country
Notes

The NAIT Cross Country team hosted the NAIT Open on September 28th.

Some 81 runners from the ACAC Colleges, the U of A, and the general Edmonton area, competed in the races at Goldstick Park.

The U of A was the overall winner, followed by Mount Royal and Augustana College, while NAIT finished a distant 6th overall.

The women's 4 km race was won by Marlene Corcoran, a Grande Prairie Regional College staff member. NAIT's Rose Martin finished in 7th place, while Maddy Daniels took the 23rd spot.

The men's 8 km race was won by Steve Peterson of Trek West. NAIT's mens team was led by Ken Riess who finished 14th overall, while team members, Brent Topilko and Paul DeGraaf finished in the 32nd and 54th spots respectively.

The race was attended by teams from NAIT, U of A, Red Deer, Lethbridge, Augustana, Grande Prairie, Keyano, Mount Royal, and AVC in Lac La Biche.

The next race will take place this Saturday in Lethbridge.

The Legacy of Lindros?
BOB PRINCE
SPEAKS OUT

By Bob Prince
The Dean of Sports Columnists

In June, the hockey world knew that the Quebec Nordiques would draft Eric Lindros. Now, the hockey world knows that Lindros and Les Nordiques are not happy with one another.

The developments of the past half year raise serious questions about the draft.

Like most things in sports, the draft limits a player's options. In most instances, a player can sign with the club that drafted him or stay in junior. Former Spokane Chief Ray Whitney was fortunate that he had a clause in his contract that allowed him to pursue the European option when negotiations with the San Jose Sharks turned sour.

Lindros has stated that he will not play with the Quebec Nordiques and he has that right. However, the precedent set by Lindros may have serious repercussions on juniors that follow. The NHL may put the gun to the heads of juniors and their parents and further restrict their options, including Europe, the Olympic team and college hockey.

The fact that Lindros has stood up for himself has taken determination. The unfortunate thing is that Lindros, in attempting to improve his situation, may adversely affect those who follow him in pursuing the national dream.

Whine of the Week

By Miller Malone
Opinion

It seems that every time someone in Hollywood reaches a certain level (low) of celebrity status (the career is in a rut or sliding downhill) they decide to write a tell-all book about their rotten childhood and go on to star in the made for T.V. movie of their book, and they play themselves. Talk about creating work for yourself.

The latest is Suzanne Sommers in "Keeping Secrets". Suzanne apparently wet the bed well into her teenage years and her dad was a drunk who ruined everything by being loud and stupid just before a beautiful moment was going to happen and enjoyed getting drunk and getting his reluctant family to box with him.

As the movie continues, we see that all of Suzanne's inadequacies such as her infidelity and cheque fraud are due to her father's boozing.

I think it's rough that Suzanne had such a rotten time but isn't it kind of lame to blame all your problems on your upbringing? Isn't everyone inevitably responsible for their own actions?

Like most tell-all books, turned into tell-all movies starring the teller of all this one makes the teller look saintly and tortured and everyone else insensitive, drunk and insensitive or just plain old mean and un-understanding.

It's going to be a long winter if every time the Betty Ford Clinic lets out a mid-level celeb, they make a movie of the week out of their life.

I'm waiting for the Diff'rnt Strokes kids' movies. There should be two of them coming up any day now.

The Tube

By Millar Malone

This season's SNL (Saturday Night Live) has a few new cast members and it's lost a couple of the venerable.

The new people shall go nameless because they have yet to prove themselves in the ring of live humor.

The venerable ones include Dennis Miller, whose biting, sarcastic wit, coupled with his goofy sense of "Huh?" humor, made SNL News a place where Bush, Hussein and Eva Gabor got equally thumped.

Miller will be doing a syndicated talk show sometime this fall, which ought to be interesting.

Jan Hooks who was a fine comedic actress, left to take a part in Designing Women as Charlene's divorcee sister, Carlene.

I caught the first show of the new season last week-end, hosted by Mike Jordan and with musical guests, Public Enemy. I liked Jordan - he was pretty funny for a basketball player and as for Public Enemy, I couldn't understand a word of their rapping.

All in all, it looks like it's going to be another good year for SNL fans.

Music Review

By Mark Sanche
Contributor

Jack Frost

1 out of 5 stars

Jack Frost is a new band whose sound is similar to The Church. Their sound can be described as easy listening, pop/alternative music.

You may be familiar with their hit from this album, "Thought That I Was Over You". I liked this song, along with another slow song called "Providence". Of the other nine songs on the album, I thought six were of fair quality and three were poor quality.

The overall style of Jack Frost is very mellow. I would probably listen to this music if I wanted to relax or if I had trouble sleeping at night. I played the tape several times to give the music a chance to grow on me, but the more I listened, the more I thought that this album was built around one good song.

Hoodoo Gurus "KINKY"

4 out of 5 stars

The Hoodoo Gurus are a diverse band who have a very clean, upbeat sound. The album is mostly "middle-of-the-road" style rock mixed with a couple hard rock and punk rock style songs. I liked all of the songs except for a couple that sounded too simplistic. The songs, "I Don't Mind", "Dressed In Black", "A Place in the Sun", "Castles in the Air", and "Desiree" are all worthy of radio air play.

I like the fact that the Hoodoo Gurus stick to the basic instruments of rock music (guitars, bass, drums, keyboards) and don't clutter up their music with drum machines and synthesizers. The result of this is a very clean, fresh sound I found instantly appealing. If you like bands such as The Pursuit of Happiness, The Northern Pikes, or Midnight Oil, you'll probably like this band also.

New Bar Opens

By Millar Malone

Last Friday night I attended a "Grand Opening"; a "revealing" so to speak.

I was invited to check out a new bar called Night Hawks located at 10355 - 105 Street, downtown. It sounded like a good deal: we were invited to see the new establishment, have free food, and generally have a good time without paying a cover charge.

The bar itself looks like Rock City inside, lots of long bars with stools and a minimal amount of tables. It doesn't look like they had a big budget for fixing the place up. It kind of had the boiler room strewn with crepe paper look.

They had Black Water Jack booked to play, but I got bored of waiting for them to get on the stage, and feeling groggy from the greasy free dinner, I made my way out of the bar into the refreshing night air.

Night Hawks will probably be the same as Rock City - lots of metal heads, a few rowdies and the odd poser trying to act like they're living on the edge, except it's not as big and parking isn't free.

Environmental Tip Of The Week

Short showers use less water than baths. If you still prefer bathing, avoid overfilling the tub; one quarter full should be enough.

SAFEWAY

Hey you! Ya, that's right,

I was talking to you! If you were a member of last year's A1/A2 lab group, then this bud's for you!

It's time once again to embark on the ceremony that became ritual to us. If you listen carefully you can hear the straining sounds of the operetic melody as it calls to us, once agin, enter into that well established Italian dwelling to do what we do best: Eat, drink, and celebrate yet another year of our captivity.

WHAT: Supper

WHERE: La Veranda

TIME: 7:30 p.m. either Fri., Oct. 11 or Sat. Oct. 12

WHO: Get in touch with Cherri no later than Tues., Oct. 8

DRESS: Please do. We wouldn't want anyone to be arrested for indecent exposure. Besides it's bound to be a bit chilly out. Come alone or bring a friend!
