Techs in bad standing

By Jennifer Cador News Editor

There was no General Council meeting on January 5 due to the fact that not enough techs showed up to make a quorum.

In lieu of General Council notes this week, here is a list of techs who are in bad standing with NAITSA.

Tech of the Week: Graphic Sign Arts

By Pam Radchenko Assistant Editor

A small technology, Graphic Sign Arts consists of about twenty students. It is an eight month course, jam packed with everything from layout at an art room on main campus, to spray painting techniques at Patricia Campus.

Previously known as "Commercial Signwriting," the name change came about this year, due to the fact, that designing and layout isn't all done manually anymore. The use of computer graphics is now employed. Students learn computer designing approximately nine hours per week.

The students start off with the basics, learning how to professionally letter. This involves extensive hours, and patience. After this comes learning layout.

Not only do the student design basic signs, limited by their own creativity, but, illuminated signs, and painting on vehicles is also included in the course description.

The students also take a business course for background. Graphic Sign Arts is not without some routine procedure though. Monitors are named from the class to remind other students to keep the shop cleaned up because a clean shop is a safe shop.

Working in conditions very close to those in the work force, the students experience a taste of the real world. Their skills will take them mostly to commercial sign shops, or perhaps to in house sign shops that some of the bigger companies have. A few will go freelance, or start their own business.

An artistic talent is recommended, and Art 30 is a prerequisite. Drafting is also recommended to enter Graphic Sign Arts.

What interested the students?

"...the length of the course...it's a fun way to use abilities..." says Rick.

Thanks to S. Cornish, Program Head, for permission to tour, and Rita Schening, Instructor, for the great tour.

Next week's Tech, EDDT.

New club on campus

NAIT students who claim the proud heritage of being one of Canada's Native peoples, can now boast of their very own club.

The Native Student Club meets every second Friday in Room T213 from 12:15 to 1:10, with the next meeting January 15. While still in the organizational stage, plans are already in process to invite elders, successful Native business people, important dignitaries from the Native community such as chiefs and political figures, and other activities still to be confirmed. Native students will also enjoy meeting new friends and sharing common experiences. Additional informal gatherings will be planned as needed, and future events will bring Native awareness to the non-Native population at NAIT as well.

Come on out and share some fun times at the Native Students Club. More information can be obtained from Heather at E103, or phone 471-8534. See you on January 15.

Help for smokers

By Jennifer Cador News Editor

Smokers at NAIT who are looking for help in kicking the habit will soon be offered a course from Health Services.

Health Services manager Dorothy Chapman says she is putting together a course for students who smoke that will be offered sometime in March. Because NAIT is going non-smoking as of July 1, 1993, she feels students should be offered help in butting out.

Exactly when the course will be offered is yet to be confirmed but it will be advertised in the Nugget as soon as dates have been set.

Nest drinking hours may change

By Jennifer Cador News Editor

NAITSA President Dan Lachambre is preparing to present a proposal to the Board of Governors that would allow alcohol to be served at the Nest from 3:10 onwards. As it stands right now, alcohol can not be served until 4:10 Monday to Friday.

Lachambre is also looking at a change in the hours when students can have a drink during exam week. Although he has not yet finalized the details on this part of the proposal, he feels that since many students during exams are out noon or so, they should be entitled to a drink afterward.

The Board of Governors had initially set the 4:10 drinking policy at the nest because of fears NAIT would be liable if a student became intoxicated and then suffered injury while working with the heavy equipment that some technologies use.

Lachambre will be making the proposal at the next Board of Governors meeting on February 7.

How to put racing stripes on your resume.

Jobs: they are out there. Good jobs, too. With aggressive, competitive, speed-to-the-top companies. The kind of iobs that are the first step in a satisfying career.

But those jobs are few and far between these days, and there's a crowd of business school grads competing for them.

So make an aggressive, competitive, speed-to-the-top move yourself. Add a CMA (Certified Management Accountant) designation to your business school credentials, and your resume will leap out of the stack.

As a CMA, you'll be part of the fastest growing specialty in the accounting profession. You'll gain bankable new strategic, financial, and management skills. Skills you can put to use immediately to enhance your on-the-job performance, which means career rewards will come to vou faster.

If you're a business school grad, with a concentration in accounting, you may be eligible to write the Entrance Exam that qualifies you for the CMA Professional Program. But call for more information today: the deadline for applications is April 9, 1993.

Who really won the Gulf War?

Editorial By David Harvey Editor-in-Chief

It's almost two years to the day that the United Nations, led by the United States, bombed the bejeezus out of Bagdad, thus starting the conflict known by the misnomer; The Gulf War ("Massacre" would be perhaps a more accurate noun).

Irak was quickly thrown out of Kuwait at the cost of only a handful of casualties and George Bush became the most popular US President of all time.

Yet here we are two years later. George Bush is days away from being tossed out of office and the "modern day Hitler" (Bush's words) is still in power in Irak and still defying the authority of the UN.

Saddam obviously has little respect for US and other Western threats and with good reason. Iraki incursions into Kuwait or the "no-fly" zone show that the UN is seemingly helplessness to stop the Iraki leader. This just adds fuel to Saddam's domestic propaganda machine.

Yet, fellow Arab countries have little enthusiasm for punishing Saddam by again killing more of the real losers of the war; Iraki civilians. Any military strike against Irak runs the risk of making Saddam a martyr and a hero in the Arab world, especially if its to punish Irak for relatively minor (yet embarrassing) incursions.

As Bill Clinton steps into Bush's shoes, he should take one giant step back from confrontation with Irak. The US should not confront Irak when it asserts its rights to keep defensive anti-air missiles or barely cross a questionable border with Kuwait. Knee jerk reactions to Irak simply underline the Americans' inability to punish Saddam himself and show that perhaps all that trouble the UN went to two years ago, killing tens of thousand of Irakis, perhaps just wasn't worth

All not well with General Council

By Pam Radchenko Assistant Editor

General Council a joke? Well, it's obviously not taken very seriously, since the last General Council was a no go when quorum wasn't met.

Was this a good time for techs to bow out of General council. Not really. The exotic dancer issue still hasn't been wrapped up. The Board of Governors has been left dangling since one student representative has resigned, and since there was no G.C. meeting, no solution could be implemented.

Out of the fifty-some technologies thirty-six are on the bad standing list. Sick! Maybe the tech reps should realize that they are the voice of their technology (all the students) whether big or small, and by accepting the job, now have responsibilities. G.C. is one of them.

My advice to the tech reps, shape up or ship out.

Party unintentionally screwed up

Editorial By Jennifer Cador News Editor

NAIT really knows how to throw a party, for kids anyway. On the cover of last week's Nugget, you may have noticed, was a photo of a very happy little boy sitting on Santa's knee at NAIT's children's Christmas party which was held on December 12.

I lucked out and managed to get a couple of tickets so I could let my own kids party down for a while at Mom and Dad's school (quite a big deal to a kid!)

The party was put on for the children of students and staff at NAIT and it was definitely a good deal. For five bucks per kid, there were train rides, games with prizes, balloons, visits with Mr. and Mrs. Santa complete with gifts (fairly decent ones too!), free food for kids and their parents, popcorn with prizes inside... well, you get the idea.

Adults were free, but then, we didn't get any presents. Still though, free food!

Overall, it was a first-rate party for kids, and a good idea since so many NAIT students are parents.

The only problem was, nobody knew about it. Despite the fact that the party is for the children of staff and students, there was no advertising whatsoever made available to the students to inform them about ticket prices, purchasing deadlines, or even that such a party exists.

When I approached the NAITSA executive a weekend a half prior to the party, about writing an informational article on it, I was told that the deadline for purchasing tickets was long past (Oct. 30), and that the whole event had been advertised in the Nugget. Student Services said the same thing.

Further research revealed, however, that no advertisement was ever placed in the Nugget. On the other hand, the NAITline, which is the staff newsletter, did contain information about the party.

It would appear that the powers-that-be somehow got bungled on this matter. Unfortunate. And because there are so very few events geared towards NAIT students who have families, this blunder was all the more unfortunate.

I don't try to lay blame on any one person. It looks as though it was a collective, unintentional, screw-up on the part of the organizers.

Certainly NAITSA president Dan Lachambre was visibly upset when he found out that the ad he thought had been run in the Nugget actually had not been, but by that time it was too late for him to do much about it.

All that's left then, is to hope that next Christmas, the advertising is as well organized as the party.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Tuity Fruity Prostituty

Dear Editor:

This is not a criticism of all the instructors at NAIT. However, I would like to voice my opinion regarding one instructor in particular who I feel deserves a rebuttal. Should instructors be allowed to hold the power to put a student's future in jeopardy because of personal feelings towards that individual? Such unprofessional behavior is atrocity to the establishment that seeks to serve the public not abuse it. Abuse of power in the past has lead to unvoiced discontent and movements against the establishment. Unions have risen from the ashes of those who have been burned by power hungry insecure individuals who seek to dominate rather than

The individual who inspired me to act against this injustice need not be mentioned. Why try and destroy someone's life to satisfy your own selfish desires?? Nobody deserves to be treated that way. Greater efforts toward understanding could go a long way in the future. Besides you're a professional aren't you?

I'm not the only one who feels this way.

> Yours sincerely, Tuity Fruity Prostituty

PRESIDENT'S CORNER

By Dan Lachambre NAITSA President

I usually dedicate this column to various issues involving student concerns but since things are slow in this area, I want to focus on something important to students internally.

This is the eighth year that the NAIT Foundation has pursued this form of fundraising and a success it has been. Last year, the car raffle benefited NAIT to the total of over $116,000.00 From this money comes new equipment and scholarships for students. By helping in the sale of raffle tickets, you are helping NAIT acquire up to date equipment for your use. Please realize that you are now receiving benefits from previous year ticket

The following is an outline of how student sales work:

-technologies will receive 10 points for every booklet sold and turned in.

-20 points will be deducted for every booklet not returned.

-one large and one small technology will win 5% of total student sales based on total points per capita (eg. $$10,000 \times 5\% = $500/each)$.

-individual students get one entry per booklet sold for prizes drawn every second week. So the earlier you sell your tickets, the better the chance of winning.

the individual students who sells the most booklets will win a prize package including hockey tickets.

-booklets may be picked up and returned to the NAITSA offices)E-133) and at General Council meetings.
ALL BOOKLETS MUST BE RETURNED NO LATER
THAN MARCH 19, 1993!

The state of education is worsening every year. Please help in keeping the quality of education constant.

President's Message

One of the highlights of the academic year at NAIT is the public recognition of students receiving academic awards. When we reflect upon the achievement of our students in their demanding programs of career training. It is always a special pleasure to recognize those who achieve excellence. The large number of awards - generously donated by government, industry, associations, and individuals - attests to the dedication of our students and the quality of our staff.

NAIT's scholarship program has grown dramatically over the years. This year nearly $350,000 has been awarded to more than 700 students. I an sure that the entire student body at NAIT, as well as our staff, join me in congratulating the student award winners for a job well done!

Stan Souch President

Student Awards Program

The purpose of the Student Awards Program is to encourage academic achievement and provide financial assistance to students who are in financial need.

Various types of awards, such as scholarships, bursaries and prizes are available to full-time students. The majority of awards are available to students who have completed their first year study and are enrolled in their second year. For the majority of awards, no application form is necessary. Candidates are selected upon recommendation of the Program Head. Selection of award winners usually takes place during the month of September and students normally receive their award by December 20th.

Some awards are administered outside of NAIT and require a special application form. Generally, selection is performed by the individual donors, and each award has a different application deadline. A list of these awards is published in the Student Awards Handbook which will be available in April.

There are some awards and bursaries which are administered by NAIT and require an application form. These awards are awarded on a competitive basis. Interested candidates must submit an application form. Application forms are available after August 1, 1993. The deadline for submitting a completed application is September 30, 1993.

Students who will be continuing their studies in the fall of 1993 and wish to apply for awards may obtain a copy of the Student Awards Handbook after April 15, 1993, at the Office of Student Awards and Financial Aid.

High stakes in Puck's game

By Chris Nichols Sports Editorial

Will Peter Pocklington move or sell the Edmonton Oilers? That's the question that's been on everybody's lips over the past few weeks. Some people believe Puck is bluffing in order to rustle up some money for his new arena. Others believe he is a greedy #@&!!! who would sell his mother for the right

Both sides of the argument have valid points. Perhaps Pocklington is using poor ticket sales as a leverage in his battle to increase profits. He wants parking and concessions from Northlands or, according to him, the team won't survive financially. Doesn't he deserve that much? He already pays rent to Northlands, so why should he get P and C money like most of the other owners in the N.H.L.? Puck says that without that money, he'll build his own $95 Million state of the art arena. The only thing is, he has to pre-sell his 75 skyboxes and a lot of season tickets before he can be sure Edmontonians are committed to supporting the Oilers.

Anti-puckers say the Oilers' owner is waiting for a poor response to his plan so he'll have an excuse to move the team. But really, does he need an excuse to move the team? No! The Edmonton Oilers are his property and therefore are his to do with what he wants.

Puck says he has a line up of people willing to buy the Oilers. Surely that point is true. The question is, why hasn't he sold them already if there are so many interested buyers? The answer is one of two things: either 1) Pocklington is lying about outside buyers or 2) he really wants to keep the team in

No matter which side of the coin you're on one matter is clear- Edmonton cannot afford to lose the Oilers. Whether you're a sports fan or not, you must realize the economic value of our hockey team to our city. Visiting teams use our airports, our hotels, our restaurants, etc...

Aside from the pure monetary value of a National Hockey League franchise in our city though, think about the emotional impact. How many of you weren't beaming when the Oilers were winning Stanley Cups? Think about all the kids who imitate Wayne Gretzky while playing road hockey! How many of you weren't emotionally affected when the greatest player to ever lace up skates was sold?

The point is simple. The Edmonton Oilers have meant alot to this small northern town that has dared to call itself the City of Champions. Five Stanley Cups, The Great One, and a collection of perhaps the most talented players in N.H.L. history.

The Oilers have meant a lot to us. Now we, as Edmontonians, must decide if they still do.

Men's Volleyball Medicine Hat 3 NAIT 0 (15-8, 12, 9) Lethbridge 3 NAIT 1 (15-5, 15-8, 14-16, 15-5)

The men's volleyball team started the season with fourteen players, but through injuries and academic problems the team is left with only eight men. They had won only two of their first seven matches - so what they needed last weekend was a solid team effort and a pair of wins. What they got was a team effort, a selfish effort and a pair of losses. So much for that idea.

"Against Medicine Hat we played well as a unit," noted assistant coach Craig Wourms. "The other team definitely had to work to get it's points."

Mark Mihal earned the Ooks M.V.P. honors by playing a consistent match, while Tim McLennan and John Huk lead the team with ten kills each.

Saturday's effort was lacking the team cohesion of the previous night, most likely a result of the youth of the squad.

Wes Hensechell lead both teams with 16 kills.

Battle of Alberta resumes for lady Ooks

A longstanding rivalry resumes this weekend when NAIT plays host to basketball teams from Calgary Colleges; Mount Royal and SAIT. The Lady Ooks are looking forward to the challenge of facing a couple of the league's strongest teams on their homecourt. While NAIT has an overall record of 15 wins -8 losses, they stand at 3-3 in league play and are in a real battle for play off contention in the tough ACAC.

On Friday night the Cougars from Mount Royal will be looking to continue a trend that has saw them win a couple of hard fought games against NAIT earlier in the year.

The Cougars are led by sharpshooter Joanne Clark on the outside and inside pivots Anne Trenholm and Donna Ingwersen. Tip off is at 6:30 pm.

Saturday's opposition is the Lady Trojans from SAIT who currently sit on top of the ACAC with a record of 7-0. SAIT's squad has used its tremendous size up front to control the boards and a balanced attack to prevent teams from keying on any one player. Game time is 1:00 pm Saturday Jan. 16.

LAST WEEKEND

from the weekend with a split, winning Friday 62-53 over Medicine Hat and dropping a 51-40 decision to LCC on Saturday.

On Friday, the Lady Ooks rode the hot hand of Michelle Dorval (21 pts) to beat the Rattlers. Saturday saw the NAIT squad play a solid first half taking a 21-18 lead to the lockeroom only to have the Kodiaks pick up their intensity and shut down the Ooks on way to a 51-40 win. (Michelle Dorval 11 pts, Jodie DeFord 10 pts).

NOTICE TO NAIT HOCKEY SPECTATORS

The admission charges for NAIT Hockey Home Games have been adjusted to be as follows: NAIT Staff & Students: FREE (with I.D. card).

Adults: $5.00

Children (12 & under): $3.00

We apologize for the mid season price change, but for the following reasons a change was necessarv:

1) Previous pricing schedule was complex in nature.

2) To be more in line with entertainment costs.

3) To be competitive with charges at other ACAC & Jr. Hockey rinks.

Ooks lose but show improvement

By Chris Nichols Sports Editor

Fri.: MHC 59 - NAIT 47 Sat.: LCC 64 - NAIT 59

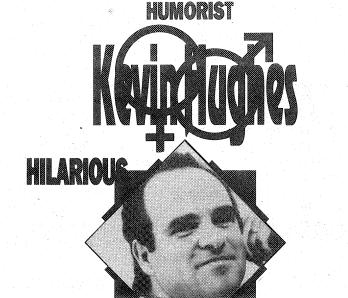

The men's basketball team is one that's young and inexperience, while its opposition last weekend was both older and more mature. This scenario resulted in two more losses for the Ooks. whose record falls to 0 and 6.

Despite the losses, coach Dave Hoy remained optimistic about his team.

"We played well enough to win," explained Hoy. "But I really don't think our team should be judged on wins and losses just yet. Compared to where we were in October, we've made a lot of progress."

Hoy's squad is still trying to gain the maturity required to win games in the ACAC, and it was probably their inability to handle the pressure of a tight game that cost them Saturday's game. The statistics say that NAIT was 11 for 21 from the free throw line while the Hat went 17 for 25 - a six point difference in a five point loss.

"We weren't as poised as we need to be," continued Hoy. "But we're starting to do some things we need to if we want to start winning."

Picard gets naked for Kardasians

By Miller Malone Editorial

My whole life has become an endless cycle of eat, sleep, school, Star Trek, study, eat, sleep, adnauseam.

You might think that I'm about to go off on a power whine, but you'd be wrong. I'm actually quite happy to be here as opposed to Somalia; chewing on weeds or in the former country of Yugoslavia; getting ethnically cleanse.

Other than the massive debt and nervous tic in my left eye, going to school is a pretty good deal. Get some education. Get a job. Make money and grow old and die. Oh yeah, and watch some Star Trek in between.

I like Star Trek. Its not too hard to follow the plot. You can usually figure out who's the bud guy in a few minutes and, hey that Deanna Troy gets me as hot as a pistol.

Those of you who have time to venture out on Fridays, wouldn't have caught the four hours of Star Trek last Friday night.

It was the mother load of Star Trek viewing. Start

Trek: The Next Generation interpersonal relationships came on at five and at seven and Deep Space Nine from eight to ten. It was a real geek fest at my house. Kind of a TV induced holiday transcended, which ended, as usual, with me sitting naked and drunk on the kitchen floor shouting, "live long and prosper," at my girl friend.

Star Trek is designed for maximum escapism. It has little base in reality so it appeals to me. My girlfriend is getting tired of being called a Klingon love machine, but hey it's a harmless term of endearment.

The only time Star Trek doesn't turn my crank is when it's all touchie feely you know people crying and all that crap.

I don't want to watch a high tech show about in the 24th century - I want to see some Romulans get photoned out of existence.

As far as I'm concerned, Willy Riker and Deana Troy should save their spats for off camera and Worf and his son should take their freak show else where. By the way, isn't it strange that evolution conspired to turn the Klingons into a species of bi peds with heads designed for butt scratching?

During Christmas there was a two parter Next Generation that saw Picard captured by the Kardasians They did this George Orwell 1984 torture thing on him and turned him into a slobbering crying wreck of a human - it was a good time, or at least it was until they showed Picard in the almost nude state and if it wasn't for a strategically placed prop we would have seen the captain of the Enterprise's photon torpedo. Thats one image I don't want burned into my phsche.

It's a sick system that subjects unwary viewers to a scantily clad, middle aged bald guy. I bet those sickies in programming were in league with Satan!

But other than a few complaints I like Star Trekkin just fine and with the addition of Deep Space Nine to the weekly line up it means I can escape from reality for one more hour.

REALLY SHORT STORIES

By Miller Malone Entertainment Editor

After his wife died, Mr. Dress Up started drinking.

He relied on the trickle trunk to satisfy his sexual desires.

His fantasies about Alligator Al threatened his sanity.

Dress Up slid further into depravity.

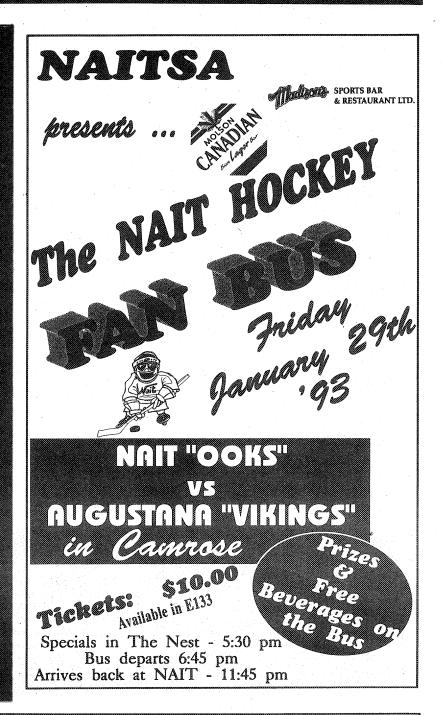

One night he went too far.

The police arrested him.

They said it was beastiality.

He said he was pushing his sick dog to the vet.

Now he's doing hard time.

The Nest reviewed

By Miller Malone Entertainment Editor

The food at the Nest really bit the big one last year, it seemed that the untimely departure of Gord Mathew as the manager had put the Nest in a culinary crisis.

I, who had once taken great pleasure in the bounty of the grill, became bitter and when the "new improved" menu came out this year I was further angered by the banal fare offered.

Now the Nest has a new,

"new improved menu" and the time has come for an objective review of the food choices at the Nest.

After sampling many of the menu selections I have to say that the new menu, coupled with the three free Pepsi refills, is a smash. Thumbs up! Way up!

The mushroom cheese burgers are mushroom chesseburgery and the wings are hot and tasty like your lovers thighs but why can't we join the 21st century and have some donairs on the menu I think the middle east is not fairly represented on the menu. It smacks of the whole Alladin thing.

The only problem I have with the food is that the portions aren't big enough. Give me more fries. Is throwing an extra potato in the deep fryer going to financially break the Nest?

I think not!

But hey, my gripes are small and my appetite is

Smell you at the Nest. mmmm. Good

NAITSA has a new business manager whom they hired over the Christmas season.

Al Morrison, (no relation to the late Jim Morrison), came aboard to help mind the store and inject a new vitality into NAITSA's businesses: We wish him luck and would ask you all to give him a big NAIT "Howdy" when you see him in the hall.

NAIT Happenings

Hopefully he won't take after the late Jim Morrison and run around naked on amphetamines berating us for our apathy.

Feb. 4

NAITSA Prez. Dan Lachambre will shoot to kill.

The cure for cancer is in your

The uncontrolled growth of certain cells in the human body results in a disease called cancer.

Thanks to the generous donations of thousands of Canadians, research has recently discovered the genes that in all probability trigger this uncontrolled growth.

These newly discovered genes are called oncogenes. And it now appears that no matter what the "cause" of cancer (chemical, viral, genetic, diet, lifestyle or some combination thereof) the oncogenes are the probable trigger mechanism.

Once we discover how to control these genes, the real possibility of a cure for cancer will be with us.

However, we need more research. We need more money. Because the cure for cancer is in your genes.

Hi. I met you briefly at the Roost a while ago - you were shy, but interesting.

I think you said you were in Elec. Eng. 1st year. I see you in the Games Room with your cap on sometimes.

I gave you my phone # so call me sometime, you rascal.
Signed,

To Laverne in Civil 2B:

We watch you across the cafeteria, but we are to shy to say hi! The way you fill out your tight jeans makes us throb.

Signed, Secret Admirer

To Honorable Intentions:

Well, "Dear" if charity is what you want, all you have to do is ask for a donation and eat your vegetables.

Signed, The Blonde on the Pier/Dock.

GRAPE SINE

Dear Guy in Civil:

Regarding the architecture pig poke; in the future, please confine your poking to the pigs in 2nd year Urban. If you wandered up to 2nd floor every now and the, you'd find that we aren't all inbred, anal-retentive fools - we reserve these adjectives for the swine in L266.

If you want to sling mud, at least sling it in the right direction. The static load of this pile of pigshit is getting a little heavy.

> Signed, A 2nd Floor Student 'Civil-ized

GRAPE: INE

I would like to apologize for my fellow Civil student on his remark about the architecture "pig poke." Perhaps his letter should have specified "Urban Planning" as the pigs needing a poke.

On another note, I would like to comment on your animal farm political structure: perhaps urban planning should stop designing farm-yards and think about the big picture. (That's you, the goat in the bottom row, second from left).
