Food Bank donation

by Christopher M. Hayes.

Thanks to all of the people who donated money or food at the "Back To Class Blast" cabaret. With your help NAITSA was able to raise $71.50 in cash and three small bags of canned goods. Al Morrison - Assistant to the Dean of Student Services said "It was enough to feed a very small girl for a very short time." The draw was held for the Molson party jacket and the winner is Rheanne Harbin. Rheanne can pick up her jacket at the NAITSA Office located at E133.

Shinerama Car Wash

by Carolyn J. Sitter

If you happened to pass the Save-On-Foods near Kingsway on Saturday September 18, you may have noticed a big splash going on. Nearly two dozen of NAIT's finest worked together and ran the Shinerama car wash. People got their cars washed, volunteers got their clothes wet, and Cystic Fibrosis got $777.00. That is definitely not bad for a few hours of volunteered time. Thanks to everyone who helped out and who will be working hard all week to bring in money for a great charity. We hope to see NAIT raise more money than SAIT this year. For the past three years we have been shamed by the other school when they have managed to raise the real big bucks.

Tansi! NAIT's Aboriginal Student Club wishes everyone success and well-being during this 93/94 school year and beyond!

There are many activities planned for this year and we look forward to presenting them on campus. First we wish to thank NAIT and NAITSA for their continuing support.

The Aboriginal Student Club (ASC) will continue to invite guest speakers onto the campus to discuss issues of North American Aboriginal interest. Everyone is invited to attend these seminars. An open invitation is also extended for the video presentations and social gatherings taking place this year. Look for posters in your area concerning these events or contact:

Romanian Connection

by Christopher M. Hayes

On Tuesday September 14 at the general council meeting a motion was passed to give former NAITSA president, Dan LaChambre and his partner, Scott Johnston (past president of Red Deer College Student's Association) $2500 to travel to Romania.

The purpose of the trip is to help set up school councils similar to ours. The trip was originally to be for one year but high costs and lack of funds has shortened the trip to six months. The total for the trip is $8900. Red Deer College has already donated $1000. Dan and Scott had hoped to get underway by the middle of October.

Not My Department

Every time I listen to the radio, read the paper or watch the news, I hear about more and more cutbacks. Last week I turned on the TV and found myself watching a rally on the legislative grounds. This rally was put on by individuals or families who are on social assistance and who are facing a cut in their monthly cheques. I truly feel bad that the neediest people in our country are having to deal with decisions that are made by those who are not so needy. Yet it is a reality that the fortunate (those who are working) must face cuts as well. Major corporations are giving out early retirement packages and cutting deals with their employees just to lower expenses and keep the company alive. But the truly unfortunate are the people out there that have been working within this system for years.

The simple fact is they are the ones who have been paying, through their labour, for the lovely social programs each and every one of us enjoy so much. Health care is a prime example. When was the last time you went to the doctor, Medi-Center, or hospital? Who paid for you to walk into the office, take up the time of the doctor and leave? In all fairness the workers of today pay for the benefits we receive. When there are few jobs, there is less tax taken in and subsequently, there is less money kicking around for programs.

My point in all of this is simply that there is an entire generation of people in our country who have worked hard, paid into the system and will never see their pension plans or retirement funds. There are people out there who have never needed to be on social assistance, and now, when the real crunch is on, and their need is apparent, the programs are closed or cut. I guess we can all thank the wonderful government system we have here. You know, that group we vote into office, pay well, and who have given themselves the title of "Not My Department or Responsibility".

The election is coming up and maybe we should take a good look at who is running and whether or not any of them are actually responsible.

Wake Up NAIT II

HAYES

So the tally is in and the students at NAIT raised a whole $71.50 for the food bank. Shinerama is already in swing and between the car washing and shoe shining NAITSA is raising funds for Cystic Fibrosis. It's funny though, I don't see a big deal being done about it. Students have this attitude that they are too busy with their courses and that they can always volunteer next year. With that kind of attitude Cystic Fibrosis and other diseases will always be here next year. Until you get involved and help out, a lot of people that you don't know will die, and I hope that it isn't anyone close to you. Once it touches someone you care about, it becomes a real disease not just something you see on the TV while you're flipping channels. So just pretend that it is personal and lend a hand, because a lot of people could use your help. You don't have to volunteer every single hour of your spare time, but a couple of hours a month won't kill you.

Students - We Do Have A Voice!

by Amanda Steenwinkel

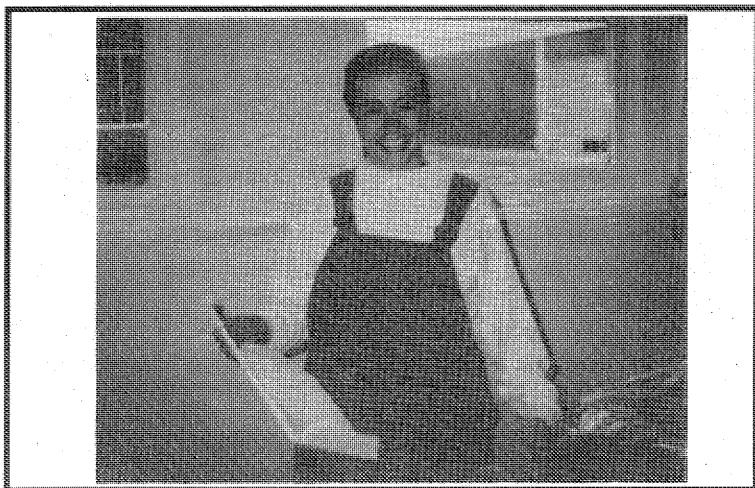

Contrary to popular belief, the Ministry of Advanced Education DOES listen to students. "This is your opportunity to be heard and to play a part in helping develop a strategic plan for the future of adult learning," says Advanced Education Minister Jack Ady about province wide sessions on adult education.

THIS IS YOUR OPPORTUNITY TO VOICE YOUR CONCERNS!

So grab a fellow student, an instuctor, a brother or a sister & get down there! Bitching among your friends is ok, but getting out there & telling the policy makers and paper pushers is what will really make things happen.

Where were you on Monday??
Myself and Aileen (Administrative VP) attended an all day committee meeting for 'FOCUS' - Fiscal Options and Challenges Under Study.

From 8:15 am - 3:45 pm, 24 people from various areas around the institute participated in a very in-depth workshop looking at external factors (positive and negative influences), as well as internal assets and limitations of NAIT. In the afternoon, we broke into smaller groups to examine some possible planning options for NAIT. Near the end we all got back together for a review and a conclusion on our days' activities.

How does this effect you? Why should you be concerned? We're talking about the future direction of NAIT anyone who would like to stay here or is even the least bit interested should care. Many ideas are coming out, but we need to here what YOU have to say. There are open forums available for you to present your ideas/plans for the future of the institute in the next week and a half.

Sept. 24 - Main Campus	9:00-11 am
Sept. 27 - Westerra Campus	2:00-4 pm
Sept. 29 - Main Campus	9:00-11 am

These can be presented in either written or verbal format. We encourage as many people to let the committee know what you think about this. If you'd like more information on the whole process either contact Aileen (-7609), myself (-7608) or John Knapp's office (471-7010). The more ideas that are presented the more options that are available for consideration. Give a lot of consideration, and come out to share your plans. Talk to ya next week.

Where Have All The Ooks' Fans Gone?

I had the opportunity to enjoy two Ooks' games on the weekend (hockey and soccer). I can't believe that the only fans at either game were player's girlfriends & the opposition. Where is all the school spirit our hardworking teams deserve? Have we as students become so apathetic that we don't really give a s__t? I like to think otherwise, but the student body seems to be proving me wrong. Is it so hard to get together with friends to attend a game FREE! I don't know about the rest of you, but I can't afford to attend any professional sports.

Come on people, GOOD SPORTS for free is hard to find. You might as well enjoy it while you can.

Signed: A Lonely Fan

Male Schizophrenia

Dear Editor:

Consider if you will the abundance of female forms now parading the halls of this noble institution. They come in sufficient shapes and sizes to tease and tantalize even the most discernible eye of the male species. During the first few weeks here I have been entertained with conversations ranging from two men while in the washroom discussing their conquests over the weekend, to two women discussing the merits of motion-lotion during their leisurely stroll past the cafeteria. Oh the things my poor ears have been subjected to. As for our brains, we are constantly being bombarded inside the classrooms with new information and yet there is so much more to learn in the washrooms and the hallways! Can we take the pressure? Just wait until exam time!!

With tongues hanging out, mouths watering, and eyes bugging out of our sockets, some of us look like a distant relative of E.T. but yet we are men and cannot help ourselves. We are driven by forces beyond our control to seek out and contact other forms of life. Oh woman, you know not what you do. Yet with great self control we not only manage to restrain this awesome force within us, but we even learn to smile and carry on polite conversations through it all. What magnificent creatures of God we are.

The single male out on the prowl may target any of the females within his view. He must use all his cunning and powers of persuasion in order to obtain that which is his goal. But be warned, having shown remarkable intelligence in gaining entrance to this fine establishment, the females are not easily fooled. However, the single male is a persistent pursuer and realizes that no matter how many failures he suffers, he will eventually succeed. What of the attached man, be he instructor or student? For him is the chase over? He has filled his cup and drunken deeply. He need not expend his energy nor spend his time in this perilous and sometimes humbling pursuit. With the skill of a chicken farmer, he has plucked his hen and she is his. As for the bounty that surrounds him, he should not partake, but the devil is everywhere and with him comes temptation. What if he should falter? Should we pity him for his weakness? Or envy his courage to sample the spice of life?

So ends this tidbit to thicken the pages of the NUGGET, I trust this tale has amused you and perhaps brought to you a new and deeper understanding as to the early causes of male schizophrenia. There is but one matter left to be decided. Is there a response from the "other side" forthcoming?

Random Sports Thoughts

Terry

sports editor

For this week, just some random thoughts: Not since the 3rd grade have I seen such a game of childish character, as the Northlands debate. On one side is Peter Puck, who without the "fellows" at Northlands would be the most hated guy in Edmonton. Peter Puck is playing the innocent victim role to the hilt. Don't forget that in 1989 he signed a TEN YEAR lease for the Coliseum. My question is if Puck got such a raw deal in '89, why did he sign it? As for the gods of Northlands, they are thumbing their noses at us, knowing that they don't have to pay the price should the Oilers high-tail it to Hamilton. They insist on turning a profit, but let me put it to them this way....The Oilers bring $100 million to the city each year. If Northlands gives Pocklington a sweet deal that causes them to lose $75 million dollars over 10 years, by my calculation they would come out $25 million ahead. Although Peter Pocklington does not deserve any favors, it is his team, and we have to give him enough to keep him here. In the big picture, it's worth it.

Just a little reassurance: Puck can't move the Oilers because the team is collateral for his provincial loans (Premier Ralph will see to that).

Thoughts: Why do the Expos always coast for three-quarters of the season then catch fire, usually too late to catch the front-runner?

- Why do the Blue Jays never seem able to pull away from teams chasing them? Every title they've won has been in the last week or even last series of the season. The nerves of every Jays fan must be shot by now.

- This year is the best chance we'll ever have for both the Expos and Jays to win their divisions.

- The NAIT OOKS soccer teams were in action (see story) on the weekend and were very impressive. The season is looking great

- The Eskimos have to be the strangest football team I've ever seen. They look great when they win and pathetic when they lose. Just this last week, they beat the "unbeatable" Calgary Stampeders, then got slapped silly by the Tabbies in Hamilton. I wonder which team will show up to play Winnipeg?

Soccer Ooks

Hammer Concordia

By Terry Larose

The NAIT soccer OOKS kicked off their season over the weekend by trouncing their opponents by a combined score of 15-0. On Saturday, the OOKS dominated the game in the first half scoring four times, then coasted to a 5-0 victory. Coach Graham Wood was happy with the team's impressive first half, but the team's less than brilliant second half was cause for concern. Wood said that he was happy about the total team effort, but that in the second half the OOKS let up defensively and started to play as individuals rather than as a team.

A trip downtown to Concordia College, however, was just what the OOKS needed to get their game plan down as their cross-town opponents were badly overmatched. NAIT won easily, hammering Concordia 10-0. Coach Wood termed Sunday's victory a "good all around job" and was very satisfied with the weekend sweep. Wood noted, however, that Concordia was in its first year of ACAC play, and wasn't really expected to be a powerhouse.

The true test of the OOKS' true ability will no doubt come against Grant McEwan Community College. With the opening of a new campus and more students to draw from, McEwan will be a team to beat, according to the OOKS' head coach. Coach Wood believes that it's no accident that both of Edmonton's major ACAC schools are strong when it comes to soccer. The wealth of local talent in competitive leagues gives both Grant McEwan and NAIT the edge over the rest of the ACAC.

Soccer Notes:

- NAIT next sees action this weekend against Medicine Hat on Saturday and Lethbridge on Sunday.

- On the weekend, Douglas Alvarado was a standout. For his efforts, Douglas earns player of the week honours (see feature)

- After twisting his knee on Saturday, Farkad Saaid came back with three goals in Sunday's romp.

- GMCC beat Mount Royal on Saturday; results were not available for Sunday's GMCC game.

- NAIT will play each north division ACAC team twice, and each southern ACAC team once. At the end of the season there will be a Northern champion and a Southern champion. The winner of the single head to head game between these two champs will earn the right to host the league championships. The OOKS' goal this year is to host the championships, so they will have to treat every game as a playoff game to ensure that no team will be able to take it out of their hands.

Mud and Waterholes at MRC

by John Reeves

The men of NAIT's Cross-Country team placed 6th at the Mount Royal Invitational Cross-Country meet last Saturday. The course was proliferated with mud and water holes which made it both slippery and difficult for every team. All runners started the race in various team colors but everyone finished the course the same shade of muddy grey.

NAIT's first race this year was not as successful as we had hoped. We had a few injuries and unfortunately a couple of our runners were unable to attend. Realistically it looked like a dog fight in the ACAC for a 3rd spot, with Augustana and Mount Royal having strong teams to finish 1,2.

The women's 4km race was won by Krista Beddoes from the University of Lethbridge. Drista also led her team to a first place finish followed by Augustana and Red Deer. Unfortunately NAIT didn't have any women on this trip.

The men's 8 km race was won by Peter McKenzie from Red Deer College. The men's team competition finished with Augustana out front followed by University of Lethbridge and then Mount Royal.

The combined Men's and Women's Trophy event was won by Augustana who edged out the University of Lethbridge by one position point. Mount Royal finished third followed by Red Deer.

The NAIT results were Allen Scharff (16th), Mark Muizet (18th), Chris Coates (26th), Josh Dunn (29th), and the Coach, John Reeves (34th with a sprained ankle).

The team is desperately looking for more women. If you can run come and see the coaches or phone; John Reeves (S105 phone 8575) or Frank McNamara (J105 phone 7042).

The team sees its' next action in Red Deer this weekend!

Golden Bears Avenge Three Straight Losses

by Brian Stein
Sports Information - NAIT Athletics

EDMONTON - The University of Alberta Golden Bears avenged three straight losses to the NAIT Ooks in the annual NAIT Blue Gold Classic with a 6-4 victory over the Ooks at the NAIT Arena on Sunday.

In the first, the U of A jumped out to a 3-0 lead in the first with goals from Scott McDonald, Paul Foisy, and Kirk Humphreys.

In the second, the Ooks cut the Bears lead to 5-3. Jamie Barnes, Dan Flaherty, and Peter Kasowski rallied NAIT with singles while Murray Bokenfohr and Scott McDonald found the mark for the U of A.

In the third, the teams exchanged goals with Archie Handel scoring for the Bears and Stacey Rayan countering for the Ooks.

The Bears outshot the Ooks 36-35. The Bears had the momentum heading into Sunday's game after scoring wins over the Augustana University College Vikings and the Red Deer College Kings.

On Friday, the Bears outlasted the Vikings in a 13-3 win. The Bears led 4-3 following 40 minutes before exploding for nine third period goals in the Vikings first preseason game of 1993-94. Paul Strand and Kent Dochuk each completed the hat trick for the Bears. Mark Souch, a former Ouk, tallied twice.

On Saturday, the Bears scored four powerplay goals en route to an 8-4 triumph over the Kings. Todd Goodwin sparked the Bears with three goals. Former NAIT forward Murray Bokenfohr also netted a pair for the U of A.

In contrast, the Ooks were an unknown commodity heading into the tournament finale as they split their first two games of the event.

On Friday, the Ooks dropped a 5-4 decision to the Kings in the coaching debut of Don Depoe.

Andrew Plumb netted a pair for the Kings including the winner at 8:28 of the third while Regan Harper, Rob Clark and Carey Causey added singles. Garek Filipchuk, Peter Kasowski, Owen Korkie, and Stacey Rayan replied for the Ooks. The two teams were tied at 1-1 following the first and at 3-3 following the second. The Kings outshot the Ooks 48-32.

On Saturday, the Ooks erased a 3-0 deficit en route to a 5-4 victory over the Vikings.

Jay Lines led the way for the Ooks with a pair of goals and a pair of assists. Trevor McCallion, Jason Sorochan, and Peter Kasowski rounded out the NAIT attack with singles. Jason Collins netted two for the Vikings. Jay Robertson and Maury Jackson completed the AUC scoring.

Outshooting the Vikings 44-25, the Ooks trailed 2-0 after the first. The two teams were tied at 3-3 following the second.

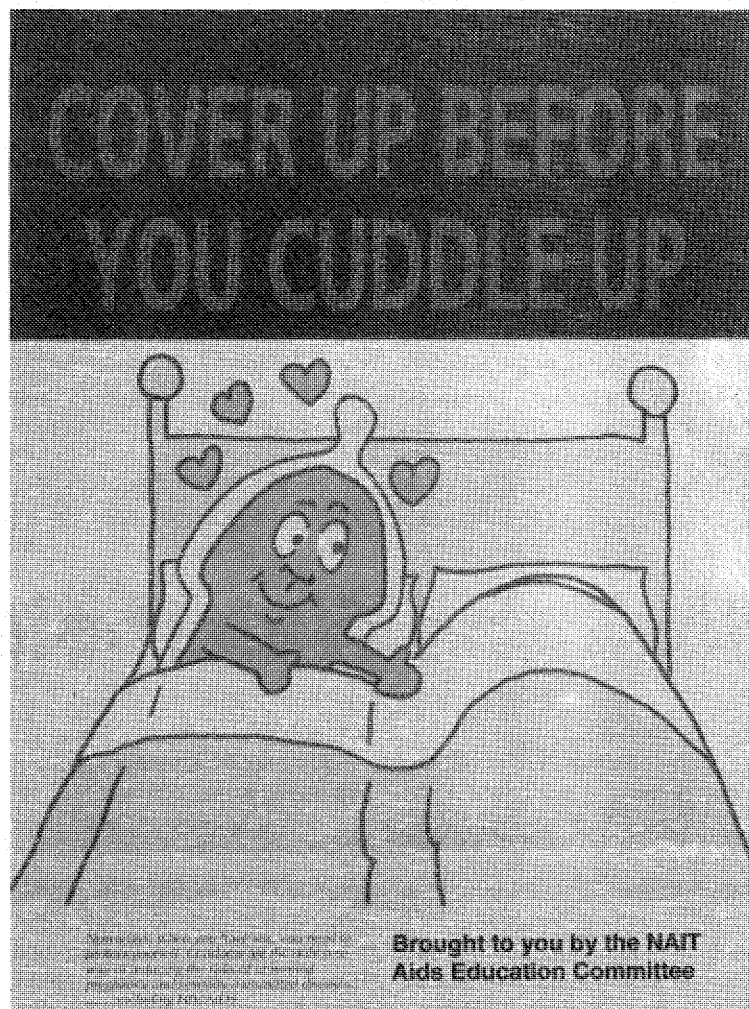

In Sunday's other game, Ryan Keller tallied twice for RDC as the Kings edged the Vikings 3-1.

ON THE BENCH: Four former Ooks are currently in the Bears training camp — Mark Souch, Murray Bokenfohr, and Craig Hawryschuk, and Derek Shybunka. The Ooks see their next action at the U of A Invitational at Clare Drake Arena. The Ooks meet the University of Calgary Dinos on Friday at 4:30 p.m., the University of Alberta Golden Bears on Saturday at 7:30 p.m., and the University of Saskatchewan Huskies on Sunday at 11:00 a.m.

Hemp - Nature's Perfect Gift

by Trevor Wince

"Only after the last tree has been cut down, only after the last river has been poisoned, only after the last fish has been caught, only then will you find money cannot be eaten."

Cree Prophecy

In 1938 before it was outlawed cannabis hemp, also known as marijuana, was described by Mechanical Engineering Magazine as "The Most Profitable and Desirable Crop That Can Be Grown" and by Popular Mechanics as "A New Billion Dollar Crop". Versatility makes hemp such a desirable crop, every part of the plant can be utilized. The stems, once separated into fiber and hurds are used for textiles, paper, pulp, plastics, and energy production. The seeds are used for food and oil while the flowers are utilized for medicinal and recreational use. Even the roots are of value in anchoring soil against erosion.

Hemp fibre is the strongest, most durable natural fibre known to man. Hemp was the fabric of choice for thousands of years for rope, sails, clothing and fine linen and fabrics. This is because hemp is softer and warmer than cotton and has three times its tensile strength.

Hurds are the remains of hemp stems once the fibre is removed. Since 1937, about half of the forests in the world have been cut down to make paper. Hemp hurds are 77% cellulose which makes hemp the ideal choice to replace the harvesting of trees for pulp and paper. USDA Bulletin No. 404 states that over a 20 year period one acre of hemp produces the equivalent to 4.1 acres of trees. It is interesting to note that using hemp for paper not only saves trees can be used to form construction panelling effectively replacing dry wall and plywood. Cellulose is a basic chemical feedstock and can be used by the chemical industry to produce a wide variety of materials renewable plant sources. Carbon rich biomass is burned for energy directly, or undergoes pyrolysis "cracking" using technology currently employed by the petroleum industry to produce fuel oils. With existing technology this biomass conversion process can be adjusted to produce charcoal, fuel oils and process steam, methanol as well as chemicals important to industry such as acetone, ethyl acetate, tar, pitch and creosote. Biomass is also less expensive than fossil fuels especially once environmental costs are figured in.

The seeds and oil of the hemp plant are an excellent source of nutrition. They are high in protein and are among the lowest in saturated fats. They also contain the highest amount of essential fatty acids of any plant. These fatty acids are responsible for the bodies immune response and have been used to treat a variety of health problems such as cancer, kidney degeneration, as well as immune deficiency. Hemp seeds and oil contain very little THC so there is no danger of getting stoned from eating hemp bread.

Hemp flowers have traditionally been used for medicinal and recreational uses. THC is the active ingredient that produces the "high" from marijuana but there are also over 60 other compounds with therapeutic potential in hemp. Some of the major therapeutic uses of hemp include the treatment of asthma, glaucoma, epilepsy, and tumours. As well as a pain reliever and a muscle relaxant, it is also excellent for use with arthritis, muscle spasms, and as a replacement for valium type drugs for sleep and relaxation. It has been used as a relief for nausea most notably in cases of cancer treatment involving chemotherapy, as an added side effect the "munchies" help these patients avoid excessive weight loss due to lost appetite. Hemp is also a traditional remedy taken to lessen menstrual cramps and is one of the most effective, safest medicines for migraine relief.

In Hemp we find one of nature's most perfect gifts. Hemp yields useful items from every part of the plant, is the best hope to save our forests, and is a viable, ecologically preferable alternative to fossil fuels. It has enormous potential to heal as a medicine for a wide variety of ills. It also promises economic benefits as an extremely profitable crop. Unfortunately this wonder plant is still illegal regardless of its potential benefits.

If you would like to find out more about hemp, including the real reasons it was outlawed I suggest you buy a copy of THE EMPEROR WEARS NO CLOTHES by Jack Herer, it was my primary source of information for this article. It is available at Earth's General Store located on Whyte Avenue between 108th and 109th streets.

The cellulose from hemp has many uses other than paper. It

"Homegrown Dynamite"

Editorial by S. Gett
Entertainment Editor

Recently the Gateway, The Edmonton Journal, and in this issue of The Nugget have had features on marijuana but, it was The Edmonton Sun's Sunday feature "Homegrown Dynamite" that fascinated me. While the other publications took a definite stand pro or con, the Sun decided to combine the two by writing an "antidrug" piece that managed to convey every important piece of information a first time buyer needs. For instance they compare the content of homegrown vs. foreign dope. They also tell you what you should expect to pay for an ounce of local drug vs. import drug, and stress that the police are very hard pressed to find small homegrown hydroponic operations.

My favorite quote from the article taken (slightly) out of context "these burned out hippies...smoked too much dope. Marijuana's not a soft drug anymore". No, maybe not but we can be assured that the Edmonton Sun will continue to be "soft" journalism for some time to come.

Gunther's Psychic Predictions - 1994

by Gunther G. Grunwald

- Having conquered world peace, Yasser Arafat will quit as PLO leader to host his own exercise video and hit the talk show circuit. "Stairclimbing with Yasser." It will go platinum.

- $3000 will be allotted to finance a goodwill tour to Hawaii for the entire Nugget Staff. While on the beach, they will help to establish a student union there to justify the expense.

- Unable to make up her mind, Jan Reimer will choose to close both of Edmonton's airports and outlaw air travel.

- Peter Pocklington will receive 5 different offers from Northlands, hold 27 news conferences, whine in public, and threaten to leave Edmonton 131 times. (not necessarily in that order).

- Slayer and Mel Torme will win a grammy for their collaboration on "Have one F _ _ of a Christmas."

- Roseanne Barr will retire from TV to take up Sumo wrestling cally, The NAIT OOK, (the school's respected mascot), will be fired after a scandal. Investigators will find that the OOK got into a fight with SAIT's mascot and bit his ear off. Unable to live with the guilt, the OOK will turn to a life of cheap beer & fast women (or was that the other way around?) The end comes when Ookie is found, sloshed, at Rusty's being obnoxious. The administration replaces the OOK with a replica of Bullwinkle and sends OOK to the Betty Ford Center For Recovering Mascots.

Tragedy, surprise & good times are just around the corner. The year ahead will be very interesting. Take these predictions to the bank, because they will happen...they will. I'm serious.

Gunther G. Grunwald is a semi-respected and almost gifted psychic type guy. For last year, he predicted that Michael Jackson would still be weird, and that the Oilers would suck.

"Unable to make up her mind, Jan Reimer will choose to close both of Edmonton's airports..."

Crazy Red Leather Pants

by S. Gett

Lecia played at the Nest this past Monday. For maximum value potential I'll review the whole experience. Band, food, service and even mood swings, the whole 9 yards.

First things first (obviously), the band Lecia was 90% covers but having said that, they covered most of them thoroughly including Jefferson Airplanes classic "White Rabbit". They managed to produce a lot of sound with only 3 members: guitars, lead singer & Streethearts former drummer Bob Ego. Disappointment for the night (mood swing #1) Mike Reno did NOT show up. I really wanted to see if he'd still fit into those crazy red leather pants. (Although Elvis did pop by and sneak a bite from my teriyaki chicken burger.) Speaking of which, the teriyaki chicken burger was fairly okay but it was the teriyaki chicken salad that was really good. The kitchen screwed up and both came to the table-cheapo hint- immediately take bite of each, they'll let you keep them. The service was confused but fairly efficient. If Duane serves you, tip him heavily- he has to put up with newspaper hacks.

High points (possible mood swing), very short shorts on lead singer, free food, & ALCOHOL. Low point, when some idiot treated us to his cow impressions between songs. All in all a pretty good time. Did I mention that they serve alcohol?

Fantasy Island Revised

by A Long Haired Hippy Freak

It was a hot day on beautiful Fantasy Island when Ricardo Montebalm and his faithful sidekick Tattoo walked towards the landing pool. The native girls were dancing seductively, and the mariachi band was mariaching, but there was no water-landing plane. "Tattoo, where is that damn plane with those useless, whining tourists who pay outrageous sums of money to live out their pitiful fantasy's?"

"Boss...Boss, I cancelled that flight weeks ago." "You did what? You walking toadstool...do you know how much it costs to run this freakin' island? What in hell were you thinking about?"

"Boss...Boss, I've been your errand boy for 39 years now and not ONCE have you ever given me a fantasy. Well, now its my turn." Ricardo's face darkened, he knew of Tattoo's secret fantasy and was unwilling to grant it. Unfortunately, it was cheaper than the severance pay he would have to dish out. "Alright you little bastard...hop on." And with that Tattoo got on Ricardo's back and he got the grand tour of the island, piggyback style.

After the 26-mile tour, Ricardo dropped dead in the wading pool. A smile crossed Tattoo's face as he was the sole recipient of Ricardo's will. "Now it's mine...all mine hahahahahaha..."

Dear Mr. Advice Guy:

Dear Mr. Advice Guy:

Even with a student loan it can be very hard for a guy to make ends meet, by the time tuition, books, and rent etc..are paid. There is very little money left over for entertainment. Any Suggentions?

Advice:

Two words: Used Pornography

Dear Mr. Advice Guy:

I got into an argument recently with some friends of mine over the relative value of marijuana vs. alcohol and we agreed to let you solve this one. Please help, I've got a 6 pack riding on this one.

Advice:

No contest, definately dope. Consider this;

1. Volume discounts
2. A little goes a very long way
3. Still illegal, therefore NO TAX

Only possible drawback is that your food bill may go up slightly once those munchies hit.

GET WET WITH GARRY

Uncle Garry is a master stroker, but he has unfulfilled desires. Maybe you could help?

Garry needs energetic WOMEN and men to become part of his master stroking team. No experience is necessary. He will provide all the tools needed; from transportation to the bent sticks used to stroke. Garry stresses that representing NAIT can be a climatic experience, and he wants more people to enjoy his form of pure uninhibited pleasure.

The team is subdivided into groups of two stokers. These groups can be all male, mixed, or all female. The stronger member takes the front position and sets the pace, while the rear stroker is responsible for directing the action. To accomplish this, he/she/it calls such commands as "HUT", "FOR", and "POST". Needless to say, the team adopts these positions without hesitation. All stokers use these same calls; this facilitates partner swapping and eliminates uncoordinated stroking.

There are four practices a week. Morning practice is at the NAIT pool. Here the stroking team coordinates their rhythm as a large group. Uncle Garry urges the group to maintain at least 60 strokes a minute. Public displays, (which are approved by the city!), are done for the amusement of the residents of Lake Beaumaris.

Unfortunately, stroking has a short, premature season in Alberta. Plans for at least two group social gatherings are foremost on Garry's mind. During these exhibitions, there is fierce competition between stokers, since every team wants to dominate and win the provincial champions.

If all this stroking gets you excited, thin come rise to the challenge! Contact Uncle Garry at 1-800-476-3681.

NAIT's Most Popular Credit Has Only 2 Minutes of Required Reading

And you've already begun the reading. Browse through this short chapter summary for a minute and 25 seconds longer and find out why the NAIT Bank of Montreal MasterCard card is rapidly becoming NAIT's most popular credit.

CHAPTER ONE

This Credit Makes Life Easier

A NAIT MasterCard can make your life as a student much easier. On campus, you'll avoid the cash-machine line ups, and do away with the need to carry your cheque book wherever you go. Off campus, you'll finally be able to get a video club membership, order concert tickets by phone and have a reliable source of emergency funds.

Your Own Credit Record

This is your first step to building a healthy financial future. Sure, you can continue to use Mom & Dad's credit card or get by without one. But when your school years are over, you'll want to rent an apartment or buy a car and someone will be checking your credit record. A credit card will establish your credit history.

To make this step easier the Bank of Montreal grants all NAIT MasterCard cardholders a special rate of interest on outstanding balances (1% lower than regular bank of Montreal MasterCard cards).

CHAPTER TWO

Makes You Popular

Using the NAIT MasterCard shows others that you care about your school and its traditions. Each time you buy with your card NAIT benefits. At no extra cost to you, a percentage of your purchase goes to NAIT, funding highest priority projects that continue NAIT's traditions and strengthen its development.

CHAPTER THREE

How to Get Your Card

To sign up for your NAIT MasterCard pick up an application from the bulletin boards located on campus, the NAITSA Student Store E-123 or from the Alumni Relations Office O-101. To ensure your acceptance follow the application instructions carefully; being sure to include all the information requested.

SUMMARY

The NAIT MasterCard is NAIT's most popular credit. Popular with you because it make your life easier. Popular with your friends because it shows you care for your school.

Optional Tutorial Booth

Should you have any questions or need help filling out your application form please drop by the Alumni Relations Office. The NAIT MasterCard tutors will be glad to help you. They'll tell you things such as "You don't need a Bank of Montreal account to apply for a card!"
