The Crime's Continue

by Heather Johnson

Crime on campus continues. If you park in the parkade, your car and its contents are still not safe.

Last week there were another three counts of theft from vehicles. This brings the total to eight counts of theft since the beginning of school about a month ago.

Seven of the eight incidents have occurred in the parkade in broad daylight while students and staff are in class.

In every case, the thief steals electronic equipment such as a stereo or the car alarm itself.

There was no suspect identified in any of the thefts last week. However, the Edmonton Police Service believe the thefts may have been committed by the same perpetrator(s).

If you know anything about the thefts or see anything suspicious, please contact NAIT Security.

Once again, Head of Security, Dick Maertens-Poole pleads with staff and students who park in the parkade to not leave valuables in open sight within the your vehicle.

In response to the break-ins, NAIT now has two full-time security guards patrolling the parkade.

One of the thefts from a vehicle is Crime Stoppers September Crime of the Month (please see below). Crime Stoppers is currently in the process of producing a video reenactment of the crime which will be broadcast on the local news in early October.

CRIME OF THE MONTH SEPTEMBER

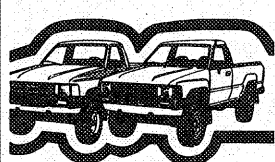

THEFT FROM VEHICLE

On September 14, 1995 at 11:20am, a 1994 Yellow Ford Ranger XL, parked in the Parkade, level 3 was broken in to. The perpetrators gained entry by breaking the driver's side door lock. The hood release cable was cut, disabling the alarm.

STOLEN:

- siren for security system
- face plate for radio and tape deck

SUSPECT VEHICLE:

- 4x4 Toyota
- 1986 - 1988
- flat black in colour with rust showing on body
- stickers on the back window
- spare tire in box
- equipped with Big Mud snow tires

SUSPECT #1: (Operating Vehicle)

- oriental male
- 17 - 20 years
- short, heavy build
- short dark hair
- wearing - black T-shirt and jean jacket

SUSPECT #2:

- white male
- 17 - 18 years
- 5'6", slim build
- dark hair
- wearing - black T-shirt, hanging out of pants and blue jeans

On September 13 1995, there were two similar incidents in the Parkade where vehicles were broken in to. Tapes and personal property were stolen.

On September 15, 1995, a 1986 red Mazda pick up was broken in to and approximately $12,000 worth of electronics stolen. The vehicle was parked on the roof of the Parkade. Entry was made after defeating the alarm system.

Prevent valuables from being stolen by locking them in the trunk of your car, or out of sight when leaving your vehicle. Always keep your window rolled up and the doors locked when your vehicle is unattended.

If you know anything about these or any other crimes, call Campus Crime Stoppers at the number below. You do not need to reveal you identity, and if your information leads to an arrest, you may qualify for a cash reward.....

The most fun you can have with your boots on

by Richard Ozero

COWBOYS is the latest addition to self made success story Paul Vickers' business empire. Tuesday night is the grand opening. Grand is the proper definition. From world champion bronc busters, to everyday cowboys, everybody is here. There is hardly room for another car to even park.

The interior is simple. The walls are brick. The floor is wood. Very rustic. The names branded on the bathroom doors are "Cowboys" and "Cowgirls." An in-house video system displays Canada's largest country dance floor onto a huge viewing screen. A quick walk to one end of the bar causes astonishment. The other end of the bar seems non-existent. Could it go on forever?

In all likelihood, 10102-180 street will probably be your new address if you are a country music fan. This bar is taking it to the limits. It is said to stand alone in sound, light and overall size. The best way to describe "Cowboys" according to Vickers, is calling it "biggest and best country bar in Canada". Vickers promises NAIT students the "hottest, newest up tempo music in Country today."

The live bull that was on location for the grand opening is an example of the something new, something different approach to promotions that COWBOYS is taking. Bar owner Paul Vickers says that live bull riding will start next May. If it is happening in the country music scene, chances are it will be happening at COWBOYS. With its "giant removable stage," COWBOYS is geared for shows by some HOT country acts. Patricia Conroy will grace the stage October 11th. Other hopefuls are Prairie Oyster, Shania Twain, Mark Chestnut, and Carlene Carter. Vickers is guaranteeing at least one of these acts in the very near future.

What I saw when I left COWBOYS was a smile on everybody's face (especially Paul Vickers').

Maybe COWBOYS is the most fun you can have with your boots on!

With all said and done, COWBOYS is definitely not my kind of bar, but if you are looking for a fun country atmosphere, the search is over.

COWBOYS is geared for shows by some HOT country acts.

AIDS Awareness Week

AIDS Awareness Week is one of Naitsa's finer accomplishments. Although AIDS and the HIV virus have been on the scene for over a decade, many people forget how human they are. Instead, they believe they are infallible and a disease so frightening couldn't hurt them.

This year, Naitsa invited Sue

Johanson to entertain students and answer their questions. She will be appearing on Tuesday, October 3 at noon in the gym. You can also listen to Johanson's talk show Sunday nights on Power 92.

Students will also be selling red ribbons on the main campus, at Plaza II and Westwood Campus.

The price of the ribbons is whatever you are willing to give. The proceeds will go to the AIDS Support Network.

There will also be a display in the main lobby manned by health services staff. They will be available to answer any questions you may have.

AIDS

by Melanie Szepevolgyi

Most of us are familiar with the story of how the HIV virus was transmitted to the human race. It is thought that African monkeys crossed the host species barrier and the virus, which was harmless to monkeys, began its deadly march on humans. It is difficult to verify this account though and some sources say that the HIV virus could have existed, undetected, among the human race for almost 900 years. Regardless of exactly how HIV was introduced to humans we do know that it is an epidemic with no foreseeable cure. The following is a brief history of AIDS in Canada:

February 1982, AIDS first reported in Canada

September 1983, National Advisory Committee on AIDS established in Canada

November 1985, Blood screening for AIDS virus antibodies begins in Canada

May 1986, Minister of National Health and Welfare announces $39 million, 5-year plan to support activities dealing with AIDS.

March 1987, Canadian Public Health Association launches AIDS information campaign.

Since that time public and private programs have increased in order to cope with the emotional, physical, and economical aspects of AIDS.

The Red Cross, Blood, AIDS and YOU

by Richard Ozero

Next week is AIDS Awareness Week. AIDS is an acronym for Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome. AIDS is caused by a virus that can destroy the body's immune system. The AIDS virus can be transmitted through bodily fluids from an infected person to an uninfected person. Semen, blood, or vaginal secretions are all considered carrier vehicles for in transmitting AIDS. Blood is the issue that the Canadian Red Cross Society has had to deal with. With AIDS being as serious as it is, the Red Cross has across to potential blood donors. Barb Smith says that AIDS has affected the number of donors. Smith believes that "people hear the word BLOOD and they associate it with AIDS and they want nothing to do with it."

Nationally, the number of donors is down by 11%. In Edmonton, the number of donors has decreased by 8% within the last two years. Smith attributes the decrease to the increased length of the screening process and that some may be offended by the current questionnaire. The health assessment questionnaire has to be filled out before any blood can be donated. The questionnaire deals with, in part, the risk activities for AIDS. The risk activities, according to the Red Cross, include: males having sex with another male, even once; sharing needles or taking street drugs by needle; receiving regular treatment with had to introduce some stringent measures.

Fear is being spread about AIDS. The Coordinator of Blood Donor Recruitment at the Red Cross Barb Smith, says people should not be afraid of donating blood. Smith says that the equipment used to collect blood is sterile, and used only once before being discarded. The Canadian Red Cross Society states that there is no risk of contracting AIDS or any other infectious disease by donating blood. This message does not seem to be getting donated blood is found to be AIDS positive, the Red Cross informs the donor in confidence. According to the Red Cross, the name of the donor's physician will be requested for amedical follow-up. To help inform the public of AIDS, the Red Cross has set up the FRIENDS FOR LIFE CAMPAIGN. Barb Smith explained that the campaign is used to help educate students. If you have any questions about AIDS you can call the FRIENDS FOR LIFE CAMPAIGN toll free at 1-800-668-2866.

Maybe Muni

By Richard Ozero

There is an on-going debate between Edmonton's two airports, the International and the Municipal. For the second time in three years, the issue is looking for resolution at the ballot box. On October 16th, Edmontonians will be asked to decide the fate of the Municipal Airport through a referendum at this year's civic election.

Air Services of Tomorrow (AST), and the Edmonton Regional Airport Authority (ERAA) are two groups that are diametrically opposed on the matter.

AST is a pro Municipal Airport, and wants to keep air services as is. The ERAA is pro International Airport, and wants to consolidate air services.

Generally, a referendum is supposed to remain in effect for a minimum of five years. Campaign coordinator for AST Karen Lynch, says that the City found a loophole that enabled them to "... force another referendum." Both sides of the issue have launched campaigns, each in hope of winning the public's support on the referendum. Lynch, says that AST's campaign is "capitalizing on anger." If people are angry, Lynch urges them to "vote NO." She describes the ERAA as focusing only on serving the southern part of Edmonton and says that they do not "care about the north." "The other side," says Lynch, "has a lot more money for this campaign," while she describes AST as a "grassroots organization." The International Airport is basing their campaign on Edmonton needing consolidation to remain economically viable. Business activity is a major factor in the airport issue. Nichols Applied Management prepared a study of economic activity at the Edmonton Municipal Airport for the Kingsway Business Association in 1994. Some businesses were shown to be less significantly dependent of the Muni than others. A representative of the Save-On-Foods supermarket by the Muni suggested that the airport has a minimal effect on that store's business and reductions in air passenger and airline service would not be consequential to its operations. On the other hand, businesses operating right at the air terminal were found to have almost 85% of their volumes linked to current operation of the Muni. Supporters of the International airport believe Edmonton is losing money every time a passenger flies out of Calgary instead of Edmonton.

The 1995 referendum question is as follows: Do you direct City Council to repeal "The Edmonton Municipal Airport Referendum Bylaw" (No. 10205)? That bylaw requires the City to operate the Municipal Airport and promote that airport's air passenger service. A YES vote means that the City will promote moving scheduled air passenger service to the Edmonton International Airport. A NO vote means that the City will promote maintaining scheduled air passenger service at the Edmonton Municipal Airport. There are spaces for a person to check off their answer, yes or no. The question ended with: Under both options the City will continue to own and offer general air services (e.g. private planes, small charters, air ambulance) at the Municipal Airport. Basically, a YES vote will mean consolidating air traffic to the International, and a NO vote will see the Muni remain as is. In 1992, the total votes cast were 206,339. Of that, 56.1 % voted YES, while 43.9% voted NO.

The referendum will be held on October 16th as part of the Civic election.

The McNally Library will be open for regular hours of service the weekend prior to the Thanksgiving holiday (Fri., Oct. 6; Sat., Oct. 7; Sun., Oct. 8). The library will be closed on Monday, October 9 for Thanksgiving. Regular hours will resume on Tuesday, October 10.

Tagged and Towed

WARNING TO STUDENTS

The Edmonton Police Service would like to warn students they will be tagging and towing vehicles in residential areas surrounding NAIT. If you park in an illegal or two hour parking zone, your vehicle may be towed.

Kingway Garden Mall would also like to warn students they will be tagging and towing student's vehicles from their lots if the student's are not shopping in the mall.

Locker Break-ins

There have been nine locker break-ins reported since the beginning of the school year. Most of the break-ins have occurred in E-wing, or adjacent hallways. In most of the break-ins, the lock was not damaged. Head of Security, Dick Maertens-Poole would like to warn students to make sure their locks are locked by turning the dial on the face of the lock after they've closed the lock. Students should also watch to ensure other students do not know their combination. Thieves could discover locker combinations by watching students open their lockers. If your locker has been broken in to, or you have seen any suspicious behaviour, please contact NAIT security.

New Lockers

by Melanie Szepevolgyi

If you've used the recreation facilities at NAIT recently, you might have noticed a big change from last year. The locker rooms were renovated and new hydra gym equipment was installed. It was a joint effort between the Athletic Board and NAIT to renovate these facilities. Each side put in half of the cost and the result was spectacular, new equipment that was under budget as well. Coordinator of Athletics, Irwin Striffler, says, "It's a prime example of successful cooperation between NAIT and a department to accomplish something that benefits the staff, the students, and the community." Not only does the Athletics Department now have more to offer the students, staff, and community, it also will be gradually reimbursed by NAIT. From the profits generated by facility use, NAIT will eventually repay the Athletic Board for its half of the cost. One student says, "I never really considered using the Hydra Gym last year because it was like a dungeon, I'm a lot more comfortable working out there now." So make sure to take advantage of this great new stuff!!

HEATHER JOHNSON
EDITOR-IN-CHIEF

Next week is AIDS Awareness Week here at NAIT. Naita has organized an array of information and events meant to be interesting and informative.

On this occasion, it's appropriate to do a little investigating into how NAIT promotes AIDS awareness.

Basically, the Nugget went on a condom hunt. The results are a little surprising.

NAIT only has two sets of condom machines. A set means one machine in the men's washroom and one in the women's.

One set of these machines are located in the Nest, which happens to be the most logical spot for them. Alcohol and sex go hand in hand. The condoms cost a dollar and these machines worked perfectly.

The other set are a little more disappointing. They are located just off the main foyer. Unfortunately, these machines did not work.

Manager of Health Services Chapman, explained the machines get vandalized regularly.

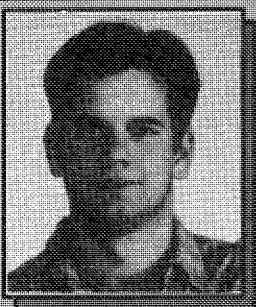

It's great to see that condoms are available at NAIT at all... especially since they are available at almost every other public school in Edmonton.

However, it's a little disappointing to see that the only place they are available is in the Nest.

The other thing which is disappointing is there was no pamphlets on AIDS or Sexually Transmitted Diseases available in the Health Services office.

Just hope, you won't need a condom in a hurry if you're at the opposite end of campus... or at least that your will power holds out.

If you are left up in the air with the airport issue, you are not alone. The Muni issue affects all NAIT students. What would classes be like with out the intermittent roar of the nearby airplanes?

From the Keillor road debate to the Airport Question, Edmonton is pounding itself into the ground. Most Edmontonians are fed up with the political confusion the City is going through.

Calgary is booming, and Edmonton barely has a pulse.

There are fewer people using either of Edmonton's two airports now, compared to only three years ago. At the same time, Calgary's air traffic levels have soared. Since 1992 Edmonton's air traffic has plummeted six percent, which equals 163,000 fewer people.

Calgary, on the other hand, has gained 425,000 more passengers, increasing their percentage nine points. Edmonton's business community is worried that in the future, all out-of-province air travel may originate from Calgary.

'This time it will be a
NO vote that keeps the Muni operating as a passenger service airport.'

Some business people feel that in this case, all would be well. Edmonton mayor candidate Paul Earley disagrees. Earley feels that taking scheduled air service away from the Muni would destroy it. Earley says it would "shift tax dollars to Leduc without a corresponding rise in international flights at the Edmonton International Airport."

Earley also commented about Edmonton's capability of supporting the International airport. He said, "Edmonton is not geographi-

Redneck Rampage

by S. White

NAIT is being overrun with Rednecks! Run! Hide! Cover yourself in soap — do anything you can to keep safe. Anyone on campus wearing a belt buckle weighing in under 6 pounds is in peril. These country-fried pieces of crap are taking over. Us regular city folks are beginning to feel like a minority. Any female with two breasts and a head cannot walk through the cafeteria (where the kings share of these slack-jawed yokels seem to congregate) without an endless and blatant series of cat calls and whistles. Any time a female or even a male that does not fit these pig farmers mold of what a man should look like (i.e.. no mustache, and jeans that fit above the equator) enters, this charming group can smell it. Stares of serial killer-like intensity are on every intruder. Decades of inbreeding have finally caught up with these crackers, it is apparent that they ran out of cousins to satisfy their carnal desires so they moved over to the nearest farm animal. How else can one explain such oafish and cromagnon-like behaviour. You slope foreheaded share croppers have been sucking from granddaddy's still for too long. So next time you want to ogle some ladies, grab your buddies or likely your cousins a copy of swank, a keg, and the nearest sheep and have a good ol' fashioned circle jerk. If you're not sure what a circle jerk is - ask you're fathers, I'm sure they'll know — so until next time, a big YEEE-HAW!

Academic Council Reg

by Edmond Duggan

The rules of this institute are not absolute. They are based upon guiding principles found in NAIT's mission statement: trust, fairness, openness and benevolence.

Consider the section on academic integrity. A first offense has a minimum (re-write) and a maximum (0 in COURSE) penalty. The sentence depends on the circumstance, and more importantly cannot be applied without the instructor first discussing the matter with you. Your instructor must also inform you of your rights of appeal and redress.

As you can see, no rules have to be broken to handle most situations. However, there can be exceptions since no rule can be made that covers every case. It is here we must trust in the wisdom of the institute to serve us, rather than an expectation to be exempt.

Also, academic regulations are not static. They are constantly evolving to meet the demands of the institute. As students, we are the reason NAIT exists; we have a strong input into what the regulations are.

Please take a look at the section dealing with Academic Integrity. Academic Council needs your input. It needs more work. Without your input it is difficult for Academic Council to represent you accurately. Please feel free to contact members of the Academic Council via the NAITSA offices.

A Yes vote means good- bye Muni cally suited nor has the population for the major airline players so profits can be realized when creating a second international airport in a province."

We had a referendum on the airports in 1992. The Muni was to remain as a air passenger terminal until 1997. It is only 1995. Maybe the City planned this from the word go. Last time around, a YES vote kept the Muni up and running. This time it will be a NO vote that keeps the Muni operating as a passenger service airport. It is said that it is much harder for a NO vote to win a referendum. Human nature avoids negativity. On October 16th, at the civic election, you will be asked to make a decision on the airport issue. Make sure you vote. Maybe the issue can be put to rest.

I've started to read the NAIT student newspaper again! Perhaps there is hope for this generation, even after all their TV addiction? The Editor-in-Chief's articles (Ms. Johnson) are a treat to read and exhibit a high level of intelligent thought. The meatless soup recipe in Culinary Corner (Mr. Paudler), and the author's glowing account, force me to go out and get the ingredients without delay.

Of course there is still a lot of material requiring only the brain of a hamster, but such has always been the nature of student publications. I want to remind these individuals, we can't be shocked. For the first time in history the former generation has seen it, done it or heard it, after all we grew up in the 60's.

#1. You could go and see a good old movie. There is always a good movie playing somewhere, my current favorite is SEVEN. Coincidentally the best theaters for sound in the city are theaters no. 1 and no. 2 at Eaton's Center. #2. You could head on down to the Space Sciences Center for some learning fun. The movies at the IMAX (3 story high screen) are always of an excellent caliber. The Margaret Zeidler Star Theater also has some great laser shows set to various musical art- there's always get to play Rock Climb-Lander, and #3. You could meal. If you're been eating Kraft Dinner months. Why self to a really good dinner out on the town. #4. Why go to the Rev or Club Malibu when you could do the unusual and go to Club Tropicano. Head on down there and enjoy a little Cuban Salsa while you rumba. #5. Specifically go to a cheesy bar with friends, where they have some mysterious live entertainment. Then let the laughs begin. #6. Yuc Yuc's is great on amateur night, heckling the newcomers is no end of fun. #7. Select Restaurant and Bar has Jazz every Saturday and Sunday night. #8. The Opera and Symphony are always a real hoot. #9. For a laugh you might try the Theater scene. #10. Nine times out of Ten there is a Hall Party you can drink yourself into oblivion at. #11. One word... KARAOKE and a whole lot of Booze... #12. Go try to Shark someone at pool. #13. Have a Poker night. Nothing alienates you from your friends more than taking away their money. #14. You may want to go to the library, then again perhaps you won't. #15. Don't forget the former Fantasy Land now Galaxy Land to burn about $80 on. #16. Before the snow flies there's always go-carts and Mini-Golf to while away the evening. #17. You and a buddy could go and test drive some cars. #18. How about you go Furniture Shopping, that's always a blast. #19. On a whim just drive out to Leduc. #20. X-Files #21. Color your hair or give yourself a home perm. #22. Buy a three man sling shot and shoot some water balloon's at your friends. #23. Pull out your Star Wars Toys and play the night away. #24. Bowl baby bowl.

Usual Suspects

The second-best film of the year

by Warren Frey

"Usual Suspects" is the kind of film you don't see much of anymore; a tautly written, tense thriller with an edge. In a sea of mediocrity, "Suspects" shines out as an example of how to write a film properly, avoiding predictability at every turn. The plot revolves around five career criminals brought together in a police line-up for a crime they claim they didn't commit. The story weaves a serpentine path from there, evolving in flashback as "Verbal" (Kevin Spacey) relates the events following the line up to a California cop (Chaz Palmentieri). No matter how hard the viewer tries to stay ahead of the drama, the film has a fresh surprise in store. The acting is first rate, with Spacey and Gabriel Byrne standing out in a cast devoid of slackers. The directing is nicely understated, stylish when necessary but always serving to up the tension as the film races towards its conclusion. The score by Kenneth Ott is exceptional, even more so because he also served as editor of the film. There isn't a bad thing I can say about this film. In fact, it's my second best film of the year, beaten out only by "Braveheart" for sheer quality. Do yourself a favor; go see "Usual Suspects". You won't be disappointed.

Usual Suspects is worth
3 out of 4 nuggets.

"Mighty Real" Battles AIDS

by Cam Weichel

Mighty Real is a definitive collection of once underground, now mainstream 70's disco. Their mandate, as found in the CD jacket, is as follows.

"LIFEbeat, The Music Industry Fights AIDS is a not-for-profit organization dedicated to mobilizing the music industry in the fight against HIV, increasing awareness regarding HIV and AIDS, and providing support for people with HIV and AIDS. The organization utilizes celebrity talent and the expertise of the music industry as a fundraising resource for existing community based AIDS service providers nationwide. LIFEbeat is committed to initiating programs that disseminate life-saving information, provide a link to AIDS related services and EMPOWER THOSE PERSONS WITH HIV/AIDS."

... memories of a bell bottom clad baby-sitter shucking and jiving ...

All the proceeds from this CD go towards the battle against AIDS. Since this is AIDS awareness week, it seemed appropriate to provide this great compilation with some coverage. This superfly T&T CD is chock full of wicked grooves. There is an almost a timeless feeling to this type of music. Memories of a bell bottom clad baby-sitter shucking and jiving to "We Are Family" stir in many of us. After taking a good long listen to this album you'll find that almost all the tunes on it are truly great ones. Artists like Cheryl, Chic, KC and the Sunshine Band, Sister Sledge, and Blondie make this little baby worth every dime. What also makes it worth the money is the knowledge that your purchase is helping people who have to cope with a living hell. Your money is going towards boosting AIDS awareness and stopping this viscous cycle of death that is gradually killing all of us. This CD is highly recommended, you get a grooven album and help fight a terrible disease. What more could you ask?

There is a passage inside the CD jacket that sums up this album and the spirit in which it was created.

"This record is dedicated to the spirits of those who have fallen. The late 70's and 80's were an amazing time of hope and love, inspired by an incredible range of artists and performers. Nowhere was this period better represented than in the spirit of its dance music. We celebrate the power and passion of this era. From the dance halls of New York, Miami, Los Angeles and beyond, the echoes of the music and the contributions of the fallen live on.

...And to Sylvester, for teaching us how to be "Mighty Real".

At least seven reasons to see SEVEN

by Cam Weichel

The new high tension, mystery/thriller "Seven" leaves the audience feeling as though they've been bonked on the head with a ham bone. Don't forget the Depend Undergarments for this seat squirmer you may need them. This dark and diabolical story has more twists than a box of glad garbage bags. Just when you think things are as bad as they can be, they get sizably worse. This plot just doesn't quit,

... A serial killer is out to kill one person for each of these sins and a pair of mismatched cops is out to stop him...

it chisels away at the viewer relentlessly. Wearing you down farther and farther until it finally strikes a raw nerve. No matter how immune you think you are, this movie will eventually break through your defenses. Even people with the highest levels of desensitization will feel the effects of "Seven". By the way this means that "Seven" is a welcome addition to the often disappointing world of mystery/thriller films.

Greed, Lust, Sloth, Gluttony,

Envy, Wrath, and Pride are the seven deadly sins and also where this film gets its name. A serial killer is out to kill one person for each of these sins and a pair of mismatched cops is out to stop him.

Morgan Freeman is excellent as William Summerset, a homicide detective with 6 days to go before retirement. His character is a quietly contemplative highly methodical thinker. With methods tried and true he pieces together the murderous puzzle. Freeman's character is portrayed with an almost divine wisdom.

Brad Pitt plays the young detective David Mills very well. His highly emotional idealistic character is very believable. Not nearly as patient or observant as Summerset, Pitt plays the perfect Yin to Freeman's Yang.

The serial killer is played by Kevin Spacey. An image is built up throughout this flick of what the killer will look like. When we see Kevin Spacey he fits the bill very nicely. Nerdy and mild mannered he plays the perfect Geoffrey Dalmer type.

The characters all mix together beautifully to form a very powerful cast. Freeman and Pitt are solid gold dynamite together, they light up the screen.

The look of this film is very well defined. It all takes place in an unnamed city where it always rains.

Most of the lighting is very dark and well done. A number of great perspectives were used in the cinematography department. These few factors aid the very dark mood this flick is set in and create an almost film noir quality to this story.

There is some great acting, some fantastic scenes and a superb plot in this movie. It's the type of show that you will think of long after you leave the theater. Dollar for dollar it's the best bang for your buck around so sit down, strap in, and hang on to your kilt.

Seven is worth 3.5 out of 4 nuggets.

Bring Me the Head of Jim Carrey

The summer is dead! Ding dong, the summer is dead, and with it goes the mindless, hollow summer blockbuster. Those films with characterized by subtlety of a neon sign and nuance of a "Family Matters" episode. One good thing about the summer film fare - Jim Carrey

New this season, 'The Jeff Foxworthy Show', this is a man whom has built a career on one and only one joke, and not a very original one either. It somewhat frightens me to realize that the most intelligent show on television is animated. Homer Simpson is the only real character on television, the Simpsons is the bar none the finest program on television today. Novels, both Tip Allen and Ellen DeGeneres had

Any man who give Jonathan Taylor Thomas any degree of fame deserves to be strung up by his testicles and made to watch Man of the House over and over for all eternity. In music, Def Leppard and Bon Jovi are the two biggest bands in the world. When I first heard "Pour Some Sugar on Me" and "You Give Love a Bad Name" the songs weren't all that bad but since then they have re-released the same songs over and over with just a few minor lyrical differences. Unfortunately the change in season does not change the quality of mu-

Hey, call me a snob, call me a self-righteous, overbearing jerk, call me a dick, but don't call me if you want to go to a Jim Carrey movie. I stopped laughing at farts when I was eight. Don't get me wrong, that whole diarrhea song was a real gutbuster in third grade. Today however it just does not have the same jocular effect. Welcome to the Cyber revolution

by Greg Scratchley

Welcome to the 90's, age of the CyberRevolution. "The What?", you ask? The Cyber revolution. Proposed in 1984 by Vancouver writer William Gibson in Neuromancer, it is a portrayal of the future of technology. Many individuals have embraced the technology, and declare themselves masters of the beast, while a larger, and vastly more skeptical groups feel that we are simply backing ourselves into a corner. The truth is, however, that anyone who has ever used a bank machine has taken part and indeed contributed to the development of the growth of networks and indeed in the globalization of "Small-town" anywhere. Armed with a personal computer and a modem, a device that allows the computer to transmit audible signals through a telephone line, anyone, anywhere may have access to a network of some type, most of them free or nearly free. This is a phenomenon not likely to last long, but one that is aiding the construction of the networks that Gibson proposed in his novel, the first of the CyberPunk genre. Along with the small local clubs, networks, and bulletin boards is a great entity of vast resources and size, the much talked about INTERNET. The internet is thousands of computers, linked together in a great lattice of electronics which pretty much spans the globe.

Information . . . from sports scores to the best way to potty train a llama is out there . . .

Al most every first world nation is involved and the second and third world nations are closing in. 40 to 60 MILLION users are now on-line, with more numbering in the thousands, possibly hundreds of thousands, using accounts too difficult count. This is the future of computing. Universities, municipalities, cities, and countries combine efforts and technology to put themselves on the "Cyber" scene, where almost all of us can get to them. Information all the way from sports scores to the best way to potty train a Llama is out there for whoever wants it, and if it cannot be found, all one has to do is ask. We wondered when the global village would exist. The answer is right now.

A Shaggy Preview

by Shaggy

This article is the first in a number of entertainment updates. It will be more of a calendar than anything else. Events that I happen to hear about and think you should too (but I may profile one type of event more than another). If you would like a club, band, or bar to be reported than please drop a note off to the Nugget. This week is not very busy, but we can find something for you to do.

On September 28 at the Rev, the Sweaters play for a $5 cover charge. Then on September 30, the Rev does a follow up to Gatorade with...Gatorade II. It's a $6 party which should only be half the event the original summer event was. It should still be a fun time, with late 80's (early 90's) techno. The big event to report is Green Day coming to play October 20. Tickets have been on sale since September 23 (a.m.) The concert should be slightly bigger than when they played at Dinwoodie.

Whyte Earls "Athlete of the Week"

Athlete of the week Ted Bretzer breezes past two of his opponents

Men's Soccer

Ted Bretzer came close to making history. Bretzer had a tremendous game against Lethbridge Community College on Sunday where he came up one goal shy of breaking an ACAC record. He scored an amazing 4 goals in the one game and helped to put on the greatest soccer show the Oaks have seen this season. He had an opportunity to add to that in the second half where he had two breakaways but came up short. One more goal would have placed him first in the league for scoring the most goals in one game by a single player.

AIDS Awareness Among Athletes

by Brandi Brownlee

Imagine being a member of an intercollegiate team if you aren't already. One day at practice, the coach approaches the team and tells everyone that a teammate has contracted AIDS. He asks how you feel. He asks if you will continue to play to the best of your ability. He leaves the decision of whether he/she should continue to play on the team up to you and leaves the room. What would you do? This is how some of NAIT's athletes and coaches reacted to this scenario.

'...What would be your reaction if you found out that a teammate had the AIDS virus...'

"What would be your reaction if you found out that a teammate had the AIDS virus?" It was unanimous that it would not make any difference to any of the athletes. However, one athlete hesitated. Brad Seward of the Men's Basketball team points out that "It depends on how he got it."

A couple of the guys revealed that they would be a little nervous if it turned out the guy had gotten the virus through same-gender sexual intercourse.

As far as a coach's stand on this, Basketball Coach, Darren Aughtry explained, "I would have to do some research to find out about the disease and it's physical limitations."

Ook Hockey coach, Don Depoe said that his first thought would go towards the infected individual to make sure he got the proper treatment. "I would then make sure it hadn't been passed on."

Volleyball Coach Mark Mahl states that he would be sympathetic towards his athlete but would leave the decision of that person's athletic future at NAIT up to the team.

When asked if, as a coach, you would keep that person on your

The Soccer Sensation Continues....

by Brandi Brownlee

The Men's Soccer team is slowly approaching the top of the national ranks. Over the weekend, the men took on Medicine Hat College (MHC) and Lethbridge Community College (LCC) and sent them home confused and crying.

This past Saturday featured NAIT vs. Medicine Hat Rattlers. It was a slow 1-0 in the first half for NAIT but picked up incredibly to reveal a final score of 4-0. NAIT'S Rod Acevedo came home with yet another shutout, placing him as the third best goalie in the North Division so far.

The real story this week is found in Sunday's game against the LCC Kodiaks. The Oaks were rudely awoken when LCC scored a goal in the first minute of play. NAIT turned that around immediately and fired back. At half time, NAIT lead 5-1. Oaks Manager Kevin Jones couldn't rave on enough about the team's performance in the first half. He called it, "A thing of beauty!"

NAIT continued to dominate the second half. They put up a brick wall of defense and held the Kodiaks to the one goal. The Oaks went on to score two more. The goal scorers for NAIT were Ted Bretzer(4), Mario Dolanjski, John Westergaard, and Rob Boyle. Trevor Hartel started in goal.

While the men are playing well, they are going to strive to maintain consistency for a longer period of time.

NAIT has always been strong in soccer but not too many people expected what they have seen thus far in 1995. The Oaks are currently number one in the ACAC North Division and they aren't going anywhere soon!

Upcoming Games....

NAIT vs. Concordia College @ Concordia 5pm tomorrow.
NAIT vs. Grant MacEwan Community College @ Victoria Soccer Field 5pm October 4.

NAIT Cross-Country Runs in Red Deer

by John Reeves, Head Coach

The NAIT Men's and Women's teams both finished 6th at the 25th Annual Red Deer College Cross-Country running races on Saturday, September 23.

The weather was beautiful and the course hard and dry, but the competition was fierce. The top teams in the men's 8 km and the women's 4 km events were: Mount Royal, Augustana and Grande Prairie. The top ACAC female was Lori-Ann Winia of Grande Prairie Regional College and the top ACAC male was Toriant Crosschild of Lethbridge Community College.

NAIT's top male athlete was Jon McFee (12th) followed by Shaun Hogg (17th), John Fisher

(42nd) Leon Matthee (48th) and Cristobal Jamett (55th). NAIT's only woman was Berthe Pelchat (31st). NAIT's team manager Roxanne Stolarchuk finished 27th and the two NAIT coaches, John Reeves (40th) and Frank McNamara (46th)

The competition is going to be tough this year if this first meet is any indication. Two of NAIT's top men were competing at Melissa's Road Race in Banff on Saturday. When they return we should be better off on the men's team. The women's team is still lacking for runners so if you can help us out, please come to S-105 and talk to me (phone 471-8575) or J-105 Frank McNamara (phone 471-7042).

Ooks Finish U of A Tourney With Win

by Brian Stein

The NAIT Ooks hockey team posted a record of one win and two losses in their first three games of the preseason. In competition against the Canada West at the Brick Golden Bear Invitational, the Ooks lost 7-2 to the University of Calgary Dinosaurs on Friday and 5-3 to the University of British Columbia Thunderbirds on Saturday before scoring a 3-1 victory over the University of Lethbridge Pronghorns on Sunday.

On Friday, The Ooks dropped a 7-2 decision to the Dinos in their first action of the preseason. Jarrod Saffarn and Scott Townsend each chipped in a pair of goals for the U of C while Rick Eremenko, Kevin Schmalz, Todd Johnson and Trevor Couldwell added singles. Darby Walker and Brett Phare replied for the NAIT. Outshooting the Ooks 33-29, the Dinos held period leads of 3-0 and 4-2.

On Saturday, the Thunderbirds netted three second period goals en route to a 5-3 victory over the Ooks. Ryan Douglas, Steve Williams, Louis Mellios, Shea Esselmont and Jon Stewart tallied for the T-Birds. Sean McFatridge, Derek Robinson, and Stacey Rayan replied for the Ooks, outshooting NAIT 40-21, UBC trailed 2-0 after the first and led 3-2 following the second.

On Sunday, goaltender Rick Nichol turned away 38 of 39 shots as the Ooks shaded the Pronghorns 3-1. Stacey Rayan, Sean McFatridge, and Kelven Hall tallied for NAIT while Wade Fennig added a pair of assists. The Ooks held period leads of 1-0 and 2-0 despite being outshot 39-34.

The Ooks now host the Concordia College Thunder, the Augustana University College Vikings, and the Red Deer College Kings in the 1995

Invitational Blue Gold Hockey Classic. On Friday, the Ooks host the Thunder at 4:30 p.m. while the Vikings and the Kings tangle at 8:00 p.m. On Saturday, the Kings battle the Thunder at 4:00 p.m. while the Ooks entertain the Vikings at 7:30 p.m. On Sunday, the Thunder and the Vikings square off at 1:00 p.m. while the Ooks meet the Kings at 4:30 p.m. All games are at the NAIT Arena.

Women Soccer Split Weekend Games

Southern Alberta Colleges invaded NAIT last weekend.

On Saturday, the Ooks started slowly and gave Medicine Hat some great scoring opportunities. The Ooks were lucky to be at 0-0 at the half. However, in the second half the Ooks regrouped and played superb soccer and were unlucky to lose 1-0.

On Sunday, the Ooks hosted defending National Champions, Lethbridge. Lethbridge had lost a vast majority of its national championship team from last year. The Ooks dominated this game and the score should have been greater than 1-0. Tracie Herwander scored NAIT's one goal. Lizainne Wheeler, goal keeper, got a shut out.

The Ooks next action's in Red Deer on Wednesday. Although NAIT defeated Red Deer at NAIT, Red Deer always play hard at home. The Ooks record is 3-1
