Watch your back.....literally

By SHANT CHAKMAKIAN

Personal security can be a tricky thing, especially when there are lots of tuffguys, creepers and thieves lurking the streets. But if you make a few small habits a part of your everyday life, you'll find the world around you to be a safer place.

Theft is a common problem that affects us all, from being mugged to someone breaking into your car or locker. Unfortunately the months of September and October at NAIT are the highest times of car and locker theft. Generally locker theft happens in smaller more isolated hallways during class but it also frequently happens in busier high traffic areas...like the freaking E wing! Generally theives watch one insert valuable contents into their locker, such as a laptop or iPod, and then they return later with a handy set of bolt clippers to claim your property.

Textbooks are also a very hot item because reselling them is as easy as standing outside the bookstore, so please always put your name and number on your textbooks. Some of you may notice your lock was cut off, and your locker is open among others, please report this to security immediately, and also after locking your locker, give it a tug to ensure it is secure.

And unfortunately, I hate to say that even your ride is > a prime target, and as hard as it is to find parking here at NAIT, try to get a well-lit high traffic area, especially if you'll be here into the night. Also please ensure you leave NOTHING visible from the outside, and if you need a place to put your valuables, your car or locker should not be an option. If you're getting a car alarm for your car, keep in mind that people generally ignore those, although it does scare off most thieves especially if they know they're really being heated out...but keep in mind a car alarm sticker may also be as effec-

...unfortunately, I hate to say that even your ride is a write about this, prime target...

But what if you see some ass breaking into a locker or a car? Or any other threat to the campus for that matter? Well the most prudent method of action is to note the individual(s)' description, clothing, body type, height and location then phone security at extension 7477 on any internal phone within NAIT, or on your cell phone at 471-7477. Also please don't stare at or provoke the individuals in any way, we want you to help make the NAIT campus > a safer place but not at your own expense and safety.

And as unfortunate as it is that I have to even even the women's washrooms are not safe in terms of privacy. Although security may take whatever reasonable measures it can against peeping toms placing a tiny camera in a vent above one's stall, it is impossible to have them all locked down. My tip? Take good look around and above you, especially of you see a vent. And as much as I don't want to make you paranoid I want you all to be security savvy, because the only person you can always depend on to watch your own back is you!!!

Please feel free to visit my blog at shantc.blogspot.com or to email me any comments or suggestions at shantc@ htomail.com I value and look forward to your input.

High hopes for NAIT athletics

By JASON JONES

Another year of school means another year of expectations and hope. With fresh-faced students proving themselves to teachers, their selves, and potential employers, a portion of those students are also doing that twice over – with NAIT athletics. Last season had mixed results with some teams winning it all while other rebuilt their teams with hopes that this year will be different.

Like in classes, everyone starts at zero. Everyone's equal until they take the test or play the game. But before anyone can succeed or fail, plenty of preparation happens. Here's a look at a few of the NAIT teams and their prospects for this season.

Men's Hockey -Terry Ballard

After finishing 6th in their division last season and losing in the first round of the playoffs, the men's hockey team is looking for much improvement this year. With captain Ben Stokes, leading scorer Adam Ferrante, and Brandon Hill returning, the coaching staff is confident that they can build off their good nucleus from last season.

The team also aggressively recruited in the off-season, nabbing Cameron Breitkreuz, Mark Thompson, Guillaume Martel, and Cedrick Duhamel. Coach Ballard says "we want to make this the most competitive camp we have had for several years, starting off with a bang and building each week into a stronger and better team." Look for the Ooks to be better this year."

Women's hockey -Keith Garner

Coach
Garner
says,
"I am looking forward to my 6th season with the NAIT
Ooks women's hockey

program. Entering my second year as the head coach, I hope to build on the success of last season. A core group of returning athletes combined with a number of solid prospects will continue the momentum from 2005/06 into this new season. Players and coaches are excited to get the season underway."

The team has made a number of additions to the coaching staff. Former NAIT Ook Lindsay Ferguson, a recent graduate from the NAIT personal fitness program, has signed on as the Ooks trainer. Also new are: assitant coach Adrianne VanderZalm (former 5 year U of A Panda player), goalie coach Sean Hallonquist, and assistant coach Stephen Garner.

Men's Volleyball

-Craig Wourms Said coach Wourms: "Big change

this year.
Only two or three players are returning from last season's bronze medal team.
However,

that strong finish last year has developed into the team's strongest group of recruits I've ever had. There is a very strong mix of Provincial and National Champions.

"The coaching staff has also added some depth. Jared Bonnett is moving from the court to the bench after playing three years for NAIT. Bryan Risselada is also joining the coaching staff after playing three years at NAIT and two years at the University of Regina.

"This big, young, powerful team is going to be fun to work with and I look forward to the type of product we can potentially put on the court." Women's Volleyball

After finishing first in their division last season, there are high expectations for the club this year. The team is returning six players: Erin Kerschbaumer, Pearl Grabski, Jaimie Swanson, Jamie Bloxham, Angela Maheden, and Natasha Milberry. Kerschbaumer's play will be key to the team this year as she was the outstanding female athlete last year and an All-Canadian (one of two players selected).

The team is also adding to that core with these recruits: Britney Allen, Ellen Rushton, Janelle Ewen, Kaila Philips, and Jana Champagne.

One notable change is that # there is a new league format so the Ooks will be competing against some quality programs. They will play Macewan, King's, Red Deer, Mount Royal, Grande Prairie and Briercrest four times each. Coach Turner says, "overall it will be an exciting season with

FERTAINM Rock and hop at Ookfest

By YURI WUENSCH

Ookfest represents NAIT's opportunity to welcome students, new and old, back to school with a night of rockin', rollin', rhymes, beats and beer.

And who better to greet them than one of the city's favourite and most-successful college dropouts Edmonton's preeminent hip-hop artist, Cadence Weapon.

Joining him on the Ookfest bill is Metric, Yellowcard, Danko Jones, Thornley and more than a dozen other acts.

Last year, more than 6,000 students, alumni and guests took to NAIT's soccer field for Canada's biggest campus party and this year's event will be even bigger, with three stages, an expanded site, demonstrations from Freestyle Motocross and 1664 BMX Ltd. and much more.

Ookfest kicks off Saturday afternoon.

Cadence Weapon, otherwise known as Rollie Pemberton, did indeed drop out of an all-black school in Virginia a couple years ago. However, he did so with his hip-hop career in mind and envisions going postsecondary again to pursue music engineering. The 20-year-old describes his college experience as interesting, but not especially challenging.

"It was a fairly conservative and pretty strict school," he recalls. "You weren't allowed to have sex on campus and you couldn't wear a hat indoors. I wanted to go to Columbia in New York, but it was out of my

"I was also making music at the same time and I just felt like it was more important to get out there and make a run at it. I wanted to do what I'm doing now, before somebody else got to it first."

His risk paid off. The phenomenal reception to Pemberton's debut album, Breaking Kayfabe, has seen him touring across North America and receiving widespread critical acclaim.

This year, URB, an internationally recognized hip-hop and urban culture magazine based out of L.A., placed Pemberton on its Next 100 list, an influential and prestigious catalogue of the music scene's latest movers and shakers.

The album has also been nominated for the inaugural Polaris Music Prize, a $20,000 award created to honour Canada's best album based on creative quality, irrespective of musical genre and sales figures.

Breaking Kayfabe is pitted against releases by other Canadian acts like Broken Social Scene, K'Naan, Wolf Parade and fellow Ookfest headliners, Metric. The winner will be announced at a gala in Toronto on Sept. 18. "It's incredible to be placed with these bands that have such a headstart on me," says Pemberton of his album's nomination. "I never expected to get such immediate attention; I thought I'd have to grind it out in the stix.

"I'm really surprised people liked it so quickly. I thought maybe I'd end up being a fringe artist with a cult following, but now I'm popular in the mainstream, which is interesting to me." Even Pitchfork Media, a brainy and stringent website devoted to all things musicrelated, had to grudgingly give the album a positive review, despite once handing Pemberton a pink slip. He freelanced for the site a couple years ago, but Pitchfork let him go, saying his reviews lacked "clarity." Not to worry; Pemberton is still penning words locally for See Magazine.

The response he gets on tour has been anything but ambiguous, however. And interesting since the album's glitchy beats and rhymes speak directly to living inEdmonton.

Tunes like Oliver Square offer a guided tour of the city's nightlife, while the video for Black Hand features a diorama of E-town's downtown core.

While he's glad of the fanfare, Pemberton says

Cadence Weapon will have OOKFEST hoppin'.

Yellowcard is amoung the big acts at the annual party.

he's not especially surprised artist Mike Skinner) or any rhymes about Edmonton go down so well in places like Brantford and beyond.

"I feel like my audience is coming from everywhere. Anyone who's just interested in something different seems to be interested in what I'm doing. People are not interested in hearing the same old sh--," he reasons. "I feel like a lot of music is regionally specific and that's what attracts people to it. If you're a dude from Omaha, then you want to hear what it's like in other places.

That's why I like stuff like the Streets (U.K. hip-hop rap from New York – there's a real sense of regionalism there and I really appreciate hearing that.

"Obviously, there are more underground hip-hop types who are immediately attracted to it and indie kids, just by virtue of what the beats sound like. But there are a lot of people who you wouldn't normally expect to listen to rap that are listening to it."

Pemberton says he's already hard at work on a follow-up album and given the rather rudimentary way he crafted it, using very basic production programs, he's confident it will be technically superior to the first. It's also going to remain a made-in-Edmonton affair. With his success, he says most people logically assume he'd head for greener pastures, music centres like Toronto, L.A. or New York. But he says if it ain't broke (and this province is far from broke), don't fix it. "I feel pretty good about doing hip hop in Edmonton," he says.

By TIM STEPHENS

SEPTEMBER 10 – 16, 2006

Aries March 21-April 19 Do what's necessary, no more. Don't become anyone's slave (and that includes your children!). Chase money or buy/sell Sunday afternoon and Tuesday morning, but be financially cautious Monday, when items might be flawed. You travel and communicate easily and swiftly mid-week, but don't express an opinion Thursday. Home sweet home beckons Friday/Saturday, but a work snafu or legal barrier might keep you away. Now to late October, relationships of all kinds intensify. September signals affection with coworkers, while October will bring "pure attraction." But both months need diplomacy!

Taurus April 20-May 20

Romance lifts your mood. You're vibrant, attractive Sunday noon (sleep the morning away) to Tuesday. Even after this, you keep a nice level of energy and spirit the whole week. Sunday night, especially, seems made for love. Remember my caution: don't step too deeply: keep a sense of perspective, and refuse to chase a bouncing ball. Love that deserves you won't run from you. (Means reject coy people.) Money concerns turn out luckily Tuesday and Wednesday p.m., but neither morning. Expect messages that hint of alienation late week.

Gemini May 21-June 20 Lie low, rest and contemplate Sunday noon to Tuesday noon. Your home and family – and Mother Nature – will be supportive, restful. Your energy and charisma surge nicely Tuesday noon through Thursday – and beyond. Spend money and make money Friday/Saturday - but don't involve computers, electronics, or any high tech (including car, other engines). A relationship is coming to one of its annual "strained phase" – it might pass, or it might cause a work or home adjustment. In two years, these "strained phases" will disappear. Meanwhile, your romantic courage is rising!

Cancer June 21-July 22 Short trips, communications, paperwork, reports, details, errands, curiosity, casual friends and siblings fill this week. People like you now! You could start a casual, friendly love affair, but you might later wonder why you "tied yourself down." Friction or tension enters your home until late October. DON'T set up housekeeping with a "casual lover." Something more real will arrive around November. Turn that "home energy" to renovations, repairs, landscaping, construction, etc. You're popular Sunday to Tuesday. Rest, withdraw Tuesday eve to Thursday. You're magnetic, effective Friday/Saturday! Work changes loom.

Leo July 23-Aug. 22 Chase money, but do nothing unethical for it, and drop any financial goal that has you jumping through too many hoops. (More than one is too many.) Now through 2007, "buy and hold" on the stock market; don't be a "trader." Short trips, communications, details, paperwork and casual meetings proliferate – by October these will yield a nice little bit of luck for you, so charge ahead! Be ambitious (not profligate) Sunday eve to Tuesday noon. Friends, popularity and happiness visit mid-week! But retire to solve a romantic/creative puzzle Friday/Saturday.

Virgo Aug. 23-Sept. 22 Your energy, charisma and effectiveness continue high. Start significant projects, seek favors; be there "in person." Others find you charming all September; you'll attract love, or love's opening gambit. Respond – it will benefit you, in more ways than are apparent. Until late October, money will flow swiftly to you - and through you, unless you save. Reject unnecessary purchases. Sunday noon to Tuesday afternoon brings wisdom, fine cultural affairs, higher learning, legal and travel opportunities. (Sunday and Tuesday are best). Be ambitious midweek. Your popularity spikes Friday/Saturday, but you sense "deeper needs."

Libra Sept. 23-Oct. 22 Continue to lie low, rest, withdraw from the bustling world - contemplate and plan. Visit your soul, see a counselor, meditate, attend church, be charitable, and deal with red tape in business and government. Despite your lowered energy, your mind is active and sharp (through October 1) and your personal, sexual magnetism is rising (through October 23). That magnetism will serve you better when your birthday period starts (Sept. 22 onward) – for now, it gives you courage and will power, two good attributes to use in ambitions, security quests, and research.

Scorpio Oct. 23-Nov. 21 Social delights, popularity, flirtations, light romance, optimistic plans for the future – these fill September, but take what comes without chasing it. Enjoy without building upon what happens. Work, duties, and involvements with tools (including cars) will intensify through late October. Be "double" safety-conscious. You'll be dealing with red tape, large organizations, and you might be entrusted with a "secret mission." Make sure collusion isn't part of the deal – honesty and integrity maintain your long-term value in the world. Relationships excite Sunday to Tuesday (careful Monday). Mysteries intrigue mid-week!

Sagittarius Nov. 22-Dec. 21 Relations with higher-ups and VIPs, ambition, prestige and career directions receive two mildly lucky little boosts in September, but don't chase nor build upon them – just accept your good luck. (Chasing would cause them to crumple or fade.) Until late October, you'll grow more social, hopeful and flirtatious. This starts with a one-on-one situation, with a romantic or partnering intent, but it soon spreads to encompass a whole group. (E.g., you could start a love affair, and be drawn into his/her group of friends.) Life's exciting, uplifting – more so, later!

Capricorn Dec. 22-Jan. 19 Legal, educational, travel, cultural, love, publishing, advertising and statistical involvements flow easily and with mild luck all September, but don't try to deepen your position in these - if anything, turn toward the "small." E.g., in advertising, excuse yourself from the concept; instead, handle procurement, copy, visuals, etc. Through October, you'll grow more determined, assertive and impetuous in career, prestige situations and dealings with VIPs. Be diplomatic – "showdowns" could spell "endings!" Romantic, creative, pleasure urges arrive Sunday (great night!) to Tuesday. Tackle chores mid-week. Relationships are "all or nothing" Friday/ Saturday.

Aquarius Jan. 20-Feb. 18 Mild luck lifts your financial, investment, sexual, intimate, research, health and investigative interests – accept this luck without trying to build upon it. Chasing it, attempting to deepen your rewards, could cause them to evaporate – or could nudge you in a subtly wrong direction for future efforts. If in doubt, take the money (or the sweet interlude) and let the "promise" go! Through late October, avoid legal hassles. You'll be determined, assertive and effective in higher learning, far travel, cultural venues, advertising/publishing...and love. Home's sweet Sunday. Romance, creativity midweek!

Pisces Feb. 19-March 20 Relationships prove pleasant, affectionate. You might be offered love, or seek it. Good, but stop short of any lifelong commitments. Be wary, also, in contract negotiations, relocation, litigation, and public dealings – it's not that others are acting in bad faith, but that conditions might be adverse "down the road." The antidote: a healthy independence. Now to late October, secrets, mysteries, investment urges, financial involvements, sexual and intimate commitments and consequences intensify. You'll be courageous, even aggressive. That's okay - stay honest! A sudden attraction, and a career challenge, September 15/16.

Grage Dines

Classifieds

OK ya'll we know Grapevines is probably the most popular feature in the Nugget. But we need some damn submissions. You have a crush on someone on campus? Send them an anonymous message. Wanna mouth off about something bugging you? Send it our way. We're free and easy on this feature but we won't put up with submissions that are threatening or racist. Other than that, go for the gusto. Send your e-mail to nuggetgrapevines@hotmail.com and we'll publish a selection of the best ones every week.

Calling all Clubs!

Do you have an idea for a club on campus? How about a "Please, someone help me navigate my new cell phone (all 3,000 functions)" Club or something a little less ulcer-inducing like, oh, say, a Bird Watching Club? Whatever your idea for a club, we can help you get it started and we'll also help you keep it going. All clubs must be NAIT-SA sanctioned in order to be recognized as a club at NAIT. So call Rita right away at 471-8960 or email me at ritac@nait.ca and we'll discuss the tools you'll need for your club to run smoothly and successfully.
