

Recommendation for the Medal of Valor or Courage Award

The Medal of Valor is a special award for any Royal Ranger who has saved a life at the risk of their own.

The Medal of Courage is a special award for the Royal Ranger who has saved a life at no risk of their own.

Both of these medals require that the act of saving a life be done outside of a professional occupation which may require such action as part of their job. This would mean that doctors, firefighters, EMT's, etc. are not eligible for either of these awards while on duty. If they perform an act outside of their profession or while off duty they may be considered for one of these medals.

Please fill out all parts of this recommendation. Attach any documentation you may have concerning the event. Newspaper articles and statements signed by doctors, firefighters, etc. are helpful in determining which medal will be awarded. The national Royal Rangers Office must approve all medals before they are awarded.
