

Hunt named to lead Royal Rangers

Hunt

commander.

Hunt was appointed to succeed Johnnie Barnes, who helped begin Royal Rangers in 1962 and served as national commander until his death in June 1989.

A 1972 graduate of Evangel College, Hunt also spent time

Ken Hunt, editor/promotions coordinator for the Royal Rangers ministry since November 1988, has been named Royal Rangers national in the Army, worked for Southwestern Bell Telephone Company in Springfield, Mo., and owned and operated his own commercial/residential building firm.

As a layman Hunt has served as a deacon, Sunday school teacher, men's director, and Royal Rangers outpost commander. He and his wife Sharon attend Oak Grove Assembly, Springfield, Mo.

"Each day Jesus' message, 'The harvest is come,' echoes more strongly in my mind," Hunt said of his new responsibilities. "The Word has gone forth; harvesters are hearing the plea. And I am privileged to labor alongside faithful Royal Rangers workers, together planting and reaping for our Lord.

"Our task is still the same: to serve boys and build them into Christ-serving men." □
