We were in our annual church business meeting when David Erie stepped to the microphone. With tears in his eyes he said, "I should not be giving this report—it should be Al's." Al Sequeira had been Royal Rangers senior commander at New Life Center in Rancho Cordova for 13 years before passing away in August 1990.

Al had one daughter; however, he became a father figure to many boys in our church. One was my son Matthew.

When Al died, the responsibility of molding boys' lives through Royal Rangers passed to David. Now, because of Al, David, and other com-
