

National Royal Rangers Patch Series

Last Updated September 1, 2018

1. What is this patch set for?

This patch set is designed to commemorate all 61 US districts that have Royal Rangers at this time. We will be using the net proceeds from these sales to benefit Camp Eagle Rock, specifically for the construction of a facility to help house our historical items that we have, and ultimately our goal is a place to display our history to visitors to Camp Eagle Rock.

2. Can I pay for the entire set at once and receive them all at the same time?

You can pay for the entire set at once, but we are only going to produce three patches a month for each of the 21 months of this series. If you buy the entire set, we will automatically send you the next three patches each month when they are produced. We are only producing the number of patches that are ordered, with very few extras, so that the value of each set is maintained. Thus, we cannot produce all 61 patches until we have the monthly orders.

3. Can you ship the patches to a foreign address?

Because the goal of this patch set is to maximize the amount of money for Camp Eagle Rock, we cannot incur the higher shipping costs to ship to other countries. Also, all of the labor in this effort is volunteers, and shipping to international addresses increases the time and effort needed to ship.

4. I don't have PayPal; is there some other way I can pay for these patches?

Yes, you can print out the paper form at www.royalrangershistory.org and mail it, along with your check, to the address on the form. Be sure to mail your form in time for your order to be included in that month's patch order.

5. Who designed these patches? Since I cannot see all 61 patches, how do I know I will like them?

Most Rangers will recognize most, if not all, of the names of our patch designers. They all have many years of experience designing high-quality patches for their districts, regions, and the US national Royal Rangers. The designers are: Richard Mariott, Ted Schmidt, Jason Bone, Anthony Hubbard, Mark Craft, and Brian Miller.
