

WOLFPACK SPORTS NETWORK

The Wolfpack Sports Network, one of the strongest collegiate sports networks in the nation, will be heard for the 58th year throughout North Carolina and globally via GoPack.com's All-Access multimedia channel during the 2017 football season.

The network is managed by Wolfpack Sports Properties, a joint venture between Learfield Sports and Raleigh's Capitol Broadcasting Company. It covers three of the 45 largest radio markets in the country and is made up of over 20 affiliates that effectively blanket the state from the mountains to the coast. The flagship station is the powerful WRAL-FM, MIX 101.5 in Raleigh.

All the action is brought to the devoted Wolfpack listeners by veteran play-by-play man and former North Carolina Sportscaster of the Year, Gary Hahn, who is in his 28th season as the voice of the Wolfpack. Joining Hahn in the booth is former Wolfpack All-American Johnny Evans, who provides color commentary. Manning the sidelines will be NC State alumnus Tony Haynes, now in his 18th season covering NC State football.

Following each contest, the network follows the Pack into the locker room for live interviews with head coach Dave Doeren and NC State's players.

For more information about the Wolfpack Sports Network, contact Wolfpack Sports Properties, 4000 West Chase Blvd, Suite 475, Raleigh, NC 27607, or call (919) 831-9653.

ALBRIGHT SPORTS MEDICINE CENTER

In July, the Wolfpack's totally redesigned sports medicine facility - the Albright Sports Medicine Center - opened for use by the Pack. The 6,000 square-foot area, located across from the locker room on the first floor of the Murphy Center, features state-of-the-art features and equipment to ensure the health, safety and well being of the football team.

Among the new equipment in the facility is an anti-gravity treadmill, which allows for longer, safer and more sustained body movement.

Another addition is a Vision Therapy area, which helps with visual clarity, depth perception, eye-body coordination, hand-eye coordination, ocular motility (eye tracking), peripheral vision (side vision), visual reaction time and visual concentration.

In addition to all new equipment throughout the facility, The hydrotherapy area has been completely renovated, exam rooms have been updated and expanded and a steam room has been added.

The facility is named in honor of Andy and Jane Albright, proud supporters of both athletic and academic initiatives at NC State. Andy, a 1986 graduate, is a member of the NC State Entrepreneurship Initiative's advisory board and is the co-founder, president and CEO of National Agents Alliance (aka The Alliance). The Albrights are also the namesake of the Albright Entrepreneurs Village, the first named living and learning village at the university. Andy was named the Man of the Year by the Old North State Council of Boy Scouts of America in 2018.

NC STATE ATHLETICS BROADCAST CENTER

Located at the main entrance of the Wendell H. Murphy Football Center at Carter-Finley Stadium, the new NC State Athletics Broadcast and Production Center is a state-of-the-art facility where the NC State Athletics Broadcast and Video staff will tell the stories, promote the brand and create the narrative of NC State Athletics. The facility features working broadcast studio space, multiple modern production control rooms, a green screen studio and editing / production suites

The facility contains a main studio and control rooms for the production of game day video and year-round programming that meet the content creation and live game production requirements of the ACC Network, which will launch in August of 2019. Live broadcast operations will be observable by students, faculty, staff and fans, creating a hub of activity at the studio year-round, as NC State's 23 varsity teams are featured on programming that will be seen digitally and via the ACC Network.

It serves as the home for production and on-set filming of NC State Athletics television and internet broadcasts and programming, as well as the game day operations center for in-venue display board productions for all NC State Athletics venues. The control room is the hub for NC State athletics over the airwaves, with fiber optic connections coming in from every arena and stadium on campus.

The project includes a vanity station for preparation/makeup space for talent and studio guests, housed adjacent to studio space.

The 20-year partnership between ESPN and the ACC will provide fans unprecedented access to live events via a comprehensive, multi-platform network. It also provides for the extension of the conference's existing rights agreement with ESPN to 2036. ESPN is the ACC's exclusive worldwide rights holder.

Fans can access more than 600 exclusive live events from across the conference via a digital live-events channel 'ACC Network Extra', immediately available to users who have access to ESPN3 via WatchESPN and the ESPN app, with that number growing each year. More than 1,300 ACC events will be distributed across the platforms in 2019 when the linear network launches.
